Let there be Harmony in things Essential—Liberality in things not Essential—Charity in all.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 2, 1869. No. 52.

Your Mission.

Hark! the voice of Jesus crying,
Will you come and work to-day?
Fields are white, and harvests waiting;
Who will bear the sheaves away?
Long and long the Master calleth,
Rich reward he offers free;
Who will answer, gladly saying,
"Here am I, send me, send me"?

If you cannot cross the ocean,
And the heathen lands explore,
You can find the heathen nearer,
You can help them at your door.
If you cannot give your thousands,
You can give the widow's mite,
And the least you give to Jesus
Will be precious in His sight.

If you cannot speak like angels,
If you cannot preach like Paul,
You can tell the love of Jesus,
You can say he died for all.
If you cannot rouse the wicked
With the judgment's dread alarms,
You can lead the little children
To the Saviour's waiting arms.

Let none hear you idly saying
"There is nothing I can do,"
While the souls of men are dying,
And the Saviour calls for you.
Take the task he gives you gladly,
Let His work your pleasure be;
Answer quickly when he calleth,
"Here am I, send me, send me."

THE FENIAN PRISONERS.

LONDON, June 30.—In the House of Commons last night, Mr. Moore called attention to the treatment of the Fenian prisoners, and moved a resolution that the Government ought to institute a public enquiry into the subject of penal discipline, and the classification of prisoners, to enquire how far political prisoners should be regarded as a separate class, and to consider how far the severity of past punishment may be regarded as reasonable ground for the favorable consideration of their cases. Mr. Moore said he believed the majority of the Irish people sympathized with the Fenians, though unwilling to subvert the existing Government, and contended to "bear their present ills rather than fly to others they know not of;" but no class was contented with the present state of affairs. He strongly condemned the harsh treatment of the Fenians, both before and after trial, and urged public enquiry thereinto.

Mr. Bruce, Home Secretary, was not prepared to defend the treatment of the Fenians; but said that in general the law was insufficient to deal with political offenders. The statement of cruelty were, however, exaggerated; at present their treatment was extremely lenient. They were separated from other prisoners, and were not compelled to do anything degrading, or submit to any humiliation.

Mr. Sullivan defended the conduct of the present Government respecting Fenianism, and not the endeavour to make political capital by pandering to the passions of those who have been convicted. He hoped the time will soon arrive when such discussions shall cease, and no political prisoners remain in custody.

On a division, the first part of the resolution was lost by a vote of 51 to 173.

Mr. Maguire admitted the general sympathy of the Irish with Fenianism, but thought no harm would result if the Government extended its clemency and relieved those of the prisoners still in custody.

The latter part of the resolution was then negatived.

The House adjourned at 2:40 a.m.

The Times this morning commenting on the debate in the House of Commons last night, says the main consideration of the Government is the effect which the release of the Fenian prisoners will have. It must be remembered that all those who were guilty in an in ferior degree have been set free. Only prime movers remain, all of whom have been sentenced to long periods of imprisonment of which a small portion has elapsed. The misery brought upon individuals and society, and the check to the prosperity of Ireland which they had caused forbids their release. If justice requires satisfaction men who deliberately planned, and in some cases executed murder, cannot be set free, while others whose offences are nothing in comparison, drudge on in slavery. The distinction between political and other offences cannot be admitted in the case of men who, with insufficient cause and no prospect of success, carried out their design with treachery and cruelty. There was nothing connected with the murders committed or attempted by the Fenians which should give the perpetrators the dignity of the insurgents.

LONDON, June 30.—John Bright and William E. Forster have resigned their membership in the Reform Club, in consequence of the failure of the Committee to elect as honorary member a gentleman whose name they had proposed.

THE IRISH CHURCH BILL IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

LONDON, June 30.—Last evening the House of Lords went into Committee on the Irish Church Bill, and discussed the question during almost the entire sitting. The Earl of Carnarvon moved the substitutes of the words "One thousand eight hundred and seventy-two" in the 13th clause, in place of "1,871," as the date of the disestablishment of the Irish Church; much discussion ensued, and at length the Lords divided, and the amendment was carried as follows:—For, 130, against, 74. Clauses from 2 to 12 inclusive were then agreed to without discussion.

PARTY PROCESSIONS.

In the House of Commons to-night, the Home Secretary, Mr. Bruce, alluding to the demonstrations expected in Ireland on the 12th July, said party processions were always provocative of disturbance and ought to be prevented. He informed the House that the Government was determined to enforce the law against them and prevent any breach of peace.

A report which comes from Brazillian sources states that Gen. Lopez has offered through Gen. McMahon, American Minister, to condition that his personal freedom and be permitted to leave the country without molestation.

A NEWSPAPER.—A newspaper is a window through which men look out on all that is going on in the world. Without a newspaper a man is shut up in a small room, and knows little or nothing of what is happening outside of himself. In our day, newspapers keep pace with history, and record it. Nothing can long be kept secret where newspapers are allowed freedom in expression and enterprise. They range the world for materials. They unlock the most secret rooms, and pry into the portfolios of ministers and diplomatists. They proclaim the king's words the acts of Parliament, the laws of Congress, and the deliberations of Courts of Justice. They follow in the wake of ships of discovery, and report all new things found out. They bring back from the wilderness the scout's report, the details of murders, battles and of the whole campaign. They are the servants of commerce, of manufacturies, and of all industrial enterprise. They are full of the discoveries of science. They record the progress of art. They catch up the wisdom hidden with skill and experience, and spread it abroad to all the people.—H. W. Beecher.

Potato bugs are so troubling Wisconsin farmers, that a sermon on their viciousness and worthlessness is inserted in one of the papers of the State. The writer censures Noah for having preserved a pair of potato bugs and a pair of fleas in the ark, and thinks it was a mistake. He also censures the farmer and the whole of an effort to utilize these insects:—"A year or two since, an enterprising manufacturer of liquor tried crushed potato bugs to color wine. He gave them a fair trial, but at the end of six months found that they didn't colour the wine a particle better than the juice of bedbugs does, and that the flavor given the wine was not as good as that given by the bed-bug juice.—There was one more objection. He could catch bed-bugs all seasons of the year, but could not find potato bugs only about six or eight months of the year. He has pronounced curses upon potato bugs, and declared them good for nothing."

The London Times of the 17th inst., says, —Her Majesty's screw troopship Simoom, Capt. T. B. Lethbridge, which arrived at Plymouth, has received orders from the Admiralty to sail from Portsmouth on the 24th inst, for Quebec, discharged dockyard workmen and other emigrants on board, in lieu of the troops, previously selected for that duty. On arrival at Quebec, after discharging her emigrant freight, the Simoom will convey thence four batteries of the 3rd brigade of Royal Artillery to Halifax, returning to Quebec with the artillery relieved there. From Quebec the Simoom will return to England with the 19th Hussars and Royal Artillery.

—Not since the glorious days of Luther, when Divine truth electrified the blind subjects of the apostate church into life has there been a more marked exemplification or its potency than is witnessed in Mexico at present. The precious truth of God's word is taken into the inmost heart. All ages and conditions are influenced by its power. Mexico is ripe for the gospel, and God is wonderfully raising up native agencies to cultivate the field.

TWO GREAT PROVERBS.—There are two great proverbs, one among the Turks, and the other among the Spaniards, both of which contain much which is true. "A busy man is troubled with but one devil; but the idleman is troubled with a thousand." "Men are usually tempted by the devil; but the idle man positively tempts the devil."

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, JULY 2.

EXCURSION TO OSWEGO.—The steamer Rochester has reduced the fare from here to Oswego for the 4th of July Excursions to one dollar, making a veryeheap trip.

GRAND TRUNK RIFLES, BELLEVILLE.—We observe the following in the Gazette of June 26 :—To be Captain: Lieut. Wm. Crow Ther, vice Murphy, left the limits. To be Lieutenants, provisionally, John Teal, gentleman, vice Phipps, transferred to 3rd Battalion. James Marshall, gentleman, vice Crowther promoted.

FOR EUROPE.—Three more of our townsmen have left for a trip to the old country. Hon. R. Read, M. P., M. Bowell, Esq., M. P., and Thos. Wills, Esq., left Belleville today, and will take the Austrian, which leaves Quebec to-morrow morning, for Great Britain. We hope they may have a pleasant journey and return safely to their homes.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—An accident occurred at the Grand Trunk Railway Station, Trenton, on Wednesday morning, by which a brakesman, named Belford, lost his life. It seems that while attempting to get up between two freight cars while in motion, he fell between them, the wheels passing over both his legs, crushing them badly. Drs. Day and Williams were immediately sent for, but he died about 1 p. m.

Dominion Day.

Yesterday was generally observed as a holiday. Although there was no public celebration, all places of business were closed, a liberal display of bunting was made, and everything presented a holiday appearance.

The Good Templars' pic-nic was the chief point of attraction. At 9.30 o'clock the Prince Edward took down to Massassaga Point about 300 excursionists, and at one o'clock about 600 more; had another trip been advertised for three o'clock, there would have been two or three hundred more. The weather was delightful, and as a great variety of sports and amusements were provided, the party had a pleasant and merry day of it. The Committee of management did everything in their power to contribute to the enjoyment of those present.

The Irishmen's pic nic at Bleeker's Grove was also very largely attended. There were races and games of various kinds, and everything passed off pleasantly. This pic nic was followed by a Ball in Ontario Hall, about 200 taking part in it. The whole affair passing off with great [illegible] Crowe, of the Grand House, provided the supper, which was served up in first-class style.

The new Fire Company turned out in the morning, and headed by the Band marched through the principal streets, presenting a fine appearance.

It was an expression of general regret that no public celebration had been provided for. It is to be hoped that the same disgrace will not attach to Belleville next year, and from what was said yesterday by some of our public men, we have no doubt that next first of July we will have one of the most imposing demonstrations ever witnessed in Belleville.

The Irish Protestant Benevolent Society of the County of Hastings.

The adjourned meeting of the above Society, met in the Town Hall, Front street, Belleville, on Wednesday evening last at 8 o'clock p. m., Francis McAnnany, Esq., in the chair. The attendance was very good, but not so large as expected, the members present however were a fair representation of the Protestants of the Town. A few gentlemen were also present from the country. The object of the meeting, as announced by the chairman, was the adoption of the Constitution and By-Laws submitted by the Committee appointed at the previous meeting. Through the kindness of the Secretary of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Association of the city of Ottawa, who forwarded through Mr. J. J. Harrison, a copy of the Constitution of that Society, the Committee at a second meeting convened for that purpose unanimously resolved to submit the Constitution of the Society in Ottawa to the meeting for adoption—one or two sections were amended and alterations made to suit the Society of this County; and after deliberation and friendly debate, the Constitution submitted was read over section by section and finally adopted unanimously.

When the name of the Society that had been agreed on at the previous meeting was announced by the chairman, it was moved by Mr. James Macoun, seconded by Mr. W. H. Scholes, that the name i. e., "The Hastings' St. Patrick, Benevolent Society," be adopted. It was moved in amendment by Mr. Shillington, seconded by Mr. Charters, that the name be called "The Irish Protestant Benevolent Society of the County of Hastings." In debating the amendment the gentleman alluded to the more appropriate name of the Sister Societies of Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and other places, stating that we could not expect to be acknowledged by those Societies in the event of our pluming ourselves with a different name, such as was implied by the word "St. Patrick." These views were confirmed by Alfred H. Charles Fox, Esq., a gentleman from Montreal, and a member of the Society in that city.

The amendment being put from the chair, it was carried unanimously.

The election of officers being the last order of business, for prudential reasons it was decided to elect the President, only for the ensuing year, and the Secretary and Treasurer pro tem, leaving the remaining offices to be filled at a subsequent meeting, at which the gentlemen who were unavoidably prevented from being at the meeting, should have an opportunity to be present. It was accordingly moved by Dr. Potts, seconded by A. R. Dougall, Esq., and carried by acclamation, that Francis McAnnany, Esq., be the President for the ensuing year; Mr. Robt. Galbraith was elected Secretary, and Mr. W. H. Scholes, Treasurer, pro tem. After a vote of thanks to the Chairman the meeting adjourned to Wednesday evening, the 7th inst.

Albert College.

The third Annual Convocation of this Institution was held on Tuesday, 29th ult., in the hall of the College, which was crowded to excess by an attentive and deeply interested audience. The proceedings excited a high degree of interest, which was well sustained throughout, and which answers well for the future utility and prosperity of the College. After prayer by the venerable Bishop Richardson of the M. E. Church, Mr. H. F. Gardiner delivered an excellent oration on "Superstition," being his thesis for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Mr. D. Macintyre read his essay on "Attila," to which was awarded the prize for English Composition; and Mr. R. C. Clute read his prize poem on the subject of "Dante." Both these compositions were highly creditable to their respective authors, and were loudly applauded by the audience.

Next in order was the admission to degrees. The degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon Mr. J. H. Bell, and Mr. H. F. Gardiner was admitted to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Certificates of Honor were given to

P. L. Dorland, 1st Class in French and Italian, Second year.
R. C. Clute, do do do
P Barkey, 1st Class in Mathematics, Matricu'd.
J. B. Barton, 2nd do do
R. B. Alguire, 2nd do do

The prizes in the various departments of knowledge were then given as follows:—

Proficiency, 2nd year	P. L. Dorland.
Proficiency, Matriculation	P. Barkey,
Metaphysics, 2nd year	C. Rice.
Mathematics, 1st year,	P. Barkey.
Modern Languages, 2nd year,	P. L. Dorland.
French, 1st year,	C. A. Kingston.
English, 1st year,	D. C. Macintyre.
English and History, Matric.	J. P. Wilson
" " " 2nd	C. Rice.
Zoology	C. Rice.
Chemistry	M. R. Mordeu.
English Prose	D. C. Macintyre.
English Verse	R. C. Clute.

On delivering each certificate and prize the President, Rev. A. Carman, addressed a few words of advice and encouragement to the several recipients; and, at the close of the proceedings, addressed the assembly in a short, but highly effective and patriotic speech, setting forth the advantages of a higher standard of education, both in letters, art, and science, and the manifold blessings we enjoy under the rule of our Most Gracious Queen, and the shadow of the British Constitution.

On Wednesday, Prof. J. T. Bell communicated to the Board of Management the action of the County Council of Hastings, in endowing a chair of Mines and Agriculture in the College; and the conditions accompanying the grant, which were accepted by the Board, and Professor Bell appointed on the regular staff of the Institution. The Professor also informed the board that he was commissioned by a gentleman of the town to offer for competition among the students of the ensuing year, an elegant copy of the works of one of the first poets, as a prize for the best composition in English verse, to be used at the Convocation of 1870.

Provincial S. S. onvention.

At the meeting held on Wednesday evening to organize the Local Committee, the following schools were represented :—

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—Andrew Thomson, Esq., W. A. Shepard, Esq., S. S. Lazier, Esq.

JOHN STREET PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—A. G. Northrup, Esq., G. V. N. Relyea, Esq., John Forin, Esq.

BRIDGE STREET WESLEYAN METHODIST CHURCH.—James Ross, Esq., Wm. Watt, Esq., E. Miles, Esq.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of the representatives from the other Schools, it was decided to adjourn to meet on next Monday evening in the vestry of John Street Presbyterian Church, at 8 o'clock.

—Messrs. Grant, Elliott and Whitehead are said to be making satisfactory progress on the two sections of the Intercolonial Railway which they have under contract. The whole extent of their two sections—fifty-one miles—have been cleared and a good deal of it grubbed and graded. Work on the other sections is also going forward at a rapid rate.

Old World Correspondence.

ROYAL HOTEL, GLASGOW,
June 12th, 1869.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—As I am about realizing the dreams and aspirations of early boyhood, in personally seeing what fancy so often painted in glowing colors—the Old World and its varied attractions, I thought a few lines respecting the many places of interest in this fine old city, in which we have been comfortably quartered for the last three days, and a few incidents concerning our voyage might not prove uninteresting to some of your many readers, and more particularly to those who have some intimacy with Glasgow and its surroundings. After leaving that little world in miniature, New York, with its busy thousands, its bustle and din, its Broadway fashions and confusion, the blue hills soon disappeared with the sun behind the ocean, and we were fairly out at sea invigorited by the ocean breeze. I felt somewhat nauseous, and having taken my place at the dinner table, prepared for a hearty meal, but premonitions of sea sickness soon manifested themselves and drove me upon deck, and for seven days I was prostrated with that abominable affliction, while my friends were well and hearty. There is very little sympathy for the sufferer by those who have the good fortune to escape illness; but the kind attention of Dr. Flenaigan our ship Surgeon, and a brother-in law of friend Taunahill, the assistance of my comrades, and divers applications of "Pain Killer" furnished by a passenger, I was restored, and enjoyed the latter part of the voyage exceedingly. During the early part of the voyage we had a succession of fogs and adverse winds and a gale for a day and night during which these gambolled and tumbled over our decks, frequently dashing against the top of the smoke stack. The last three days were, however, very calm and the time expended very pleasantly. Much amusement was afforded by the game of shuffle-board on deck, and during the long twilight the sailors and steerage passengers engaged in a variety of Scotch dances, in which some of the cabin passengers vigorously joined. On Wednesday afternoon, after being eleven days out, land—long wished for—was distinguishable in the horizon, and the soft outline was soon broken into the wild and bold precipices of "Tory Island" with its light house on the north western coast of Ireland. I must admit that I could not suppress an emotion of joy in once more gazing upon "terra firma;" hearing that that curiosity the "Giant's Causeway" would probably be reached during the night, many of us resolved to remain up for the purpose of seeing it between three and four o'clock. Several bold and grand cliffs of cliff were visible, and shortly after a rough triangular and octagonal mass of columnar shaped rocks were pointed out as the causeway; they compose the Lady's seat, Giant's Loom, and Giant's Organ, from the resemblance to that instrument. I cannot give a detailed description owing to the distance. My purpose visiting it in passing through "Erin's Isle," on route for home.

[illegible] gers at Moville, we soon found our good ship in the Frith of Clyde, and here the scenery burst upon us in all its grandeur from the Frith. Passing the Isle of Bute, upon which we saw for the first time the "yellow broom," and Loch Fine on the left, until we reach Glasgow, the view on every side is [illegible] charming. It [illegible] morning, and the air was mild, a contrast with the cold ocean breeze, a few light clouds occasionally crossing the sky, chequered the hills with sun and shade. The glassy winding stream, the mossy old woods, the picturesque vales, the handsome villa and castellated tower, green with ivy, the luxuriant vegetation and Ben Lomond's blue peak and the undulating hills in the back ground, comprised a panorama never to be forgotten. Greenock on the right with numerous sugar refineries and the deafening clatter from the ship-builder's hammer, is a very busy city, but cannot well be appreciated owing to the dense smoke in which it is enveloped. From this point to Glasgow the river on either side is covered with boats and ships in course of construction, from the tiny yacht to the huge steamship. Some of the finest ships in the world are now being launched from the Bank of the Clyde. Glasgow reached, after disposing of the Customs officers, who were very important in searching our trunks for tobacco and whiskey, we arrived at our hotel, refreshed ourselves with a good bath and dinner, and proceeded to visit the great commercial metropolis, the third in the United Kingdom, in point of wealth, population and commercial importance. The population is over 446,000, and it contains upwards of 100 miles of paved streets. Our first visit is to the Cathedral, built in 1138; it is a gloomy and massive construction, of Gothic architecture, and well preserved. The glass stained windows are exceedingly fine, and enhance the beauty of this ancient edifice.—A sensation of awe came over me as I walked through the aisles and crypt, underneath which lay mouldering the ashes of the nobles, statesmen and philosophers of seven centuries ago, and who were worshippers at that altar. The old graveyard is peculiar, the monumental stones lying flat, and resembling a floor—most of the inscriptions being effaced. Passed through a gateway of Italian style, we enter the Necropolis on a rocky eminence of 300 feet, covered with rich shrubberies and containing many beautiful and chaste monuments; among others, that of John Knox, from the base of which you get the finest view of the city. The next object of interest is Glasgow University, a venerable pile, erected some 300 years ago, and which has sent out many whose names have shed a lustre on the civic and literary history of Scotland. It has been sold, and like many other old landmarks, will be torn down; the Union Railway Company convert the premises into a station. The new University, a magnificent block, lately constructed on Gilmour Hill, takes its place. Across the road is the house in which Thos. Campbell lived. The Royal Exchange, built in 1829, cost £50,000, is worth a visit, in front of it is an equestrian bronze statue of Wellington, exhibiting on the pedestal the battles he fought. Argyle and Trongate streets, about three miles in length are the principal ones in the city. The buildings are rather plain, however, without uniformity, and like everything else here are black with coal smoke. They are always thronged, and the business done is enormous. Travelling is generally on three horse omnibuses, for which you pay one penny. High street is a dingy row, containing the most venerable buildings in the city, inhabited chiefly by the lower classes. It is a point of interest for here in 1300 a severe fight took place between Wallace and Percy, in which the latter was killed; some of the old women are ready to show you the exact spot for, a bawbee. Drygate and Rottenrow are at the top of the ascent, and some of the quaint old dwellings still remain. Saltmarket which was the domicile of provosts and civic dignitaries in the time of Bailie Nicol Jarvie, may be considered no more, it was once inhabited by the most respectable of men now the abode of the lowest order of trades people, and the poorer class. The Museum and Broomielair Bridge, from which can be seen the forest of ships, and vessels in the Clyde will repay a visit. "George Square" upon which the hotel is situate, has some very fine monuments to the Queen and Prince Consort on horseback, an immense Grecian Doric column with a life size figure of Sir Walter Scott, a pedestrian statue of Sir John Moore, bronze figure of James Watt, and another of Sir Robt. Peel, rendering it very attractive; the Queen's Park is prettily situated in the West, and the Green Park in the East end of the city, in the latter is a very fine monument to Nelson; it is a favorite resort of working men; yesterday, (Sunday) afternoon, I met thousands there listening to sermons, and gathered in knots together discussing political, historical, and local questions, the favorite being that of the "Irish Church disestiment." The weather here is fine, though chilly, and a strange peculiarity is the late twilight. I am writing now at 10 p. m., and it is still quite clear. I will not weary you with anything further at present, but may write from some other point in my travels. We leave to-morrow morning via the Highlands, viz. Loch Lomond, Katralee and Trossachs en route to Sterling and Edinburgh.

Yours truly,
A. R.

The Peterborough Examiner receives from all parts of the county the pleasing intelligence that the crops are looking well, and promising the industrious farmer an abundant reward for his toil and care. The weather that has been wet and cold heretofore has taken a sudden change, and its continuance is desirable. The hay crops will be unusually heavy. The harvest may, perhaps, be a week or two later than in the past years, but our farmers have become able to provide the best machinery to assist in taking it off, so that on the whole it will not be later being settled.

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless, landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

FROM SPAIN.

The Cortes to-day passed the revenue budget and authorized the Government to expend such sums of money as may be necessary for public service for the next three months. During the debate Admiral Topete said he was willing to allow private parties to carry on the work in public streets if any were willing to undertake it. Senor Zoulla declared that a political revolution was an accomplished fact, but the economical revolution remained to be achieved.

IRISH CHURCH BILL.

LONDON, July 1.—In the House of Lords to-night, the consideration of the Irish Church Bill was resumed in Committee, clauses 11, 12, 13 and 14, were agreed to without amendment, except as to date, when the property of the Church shall pass into the hands of Commissioners, which was charged from January first, 1871, to January first 1872. It was promised on the part of the Government, that an additional clause should be framed, providing that the Irish Bishops may retain their seats in the House of Lords.

The Bishop of Peterboro's amendment, that all compensation be paid without deduction therefrom of the income-tax, was adopted by a vote, 79 to 59.

Clauses 15, 16, 17 and 18 were then agreed to and the consideration of clauses 19, 20, 21 and 23 was postponed.

Lord Carnavron's amendment, fixing the continuation of life intercsts at 14 years purchase, was adopted.

NEW ALBION HOTEL,
McGILL STREET,
MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really, first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travelers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve little more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Firmly the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and systematic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Rooms and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Acts of Benevolence" and Mount Royal and the Villages in the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public.

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the whole history of medical discoveries no remedy has performed so many or such remarkable cures of the numerous affections of the Throat, Lungs, and Chest, as this long-tried and justly celebrated Balsam. So generally acknowledged is the superior excellence of this remedy that but few of the many who have tested its virtues by experience fail to keep it on hand as a speedy and certain cure for sudden attacks of COLDS—fully believing that its remedial powers are comprehensive enough to embrace every form of disease, from the slightest cold to the most dangerous symptom of pulmonary complaint.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY.

From REV. FRANCIS LOBDELL, Pastor of the South Congregational Church, Bridgeport, Connecticut.

"I consider it a duty which I owe to suffering humanity to bear testimony to the virtues of DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. I have used it—when I have had occasion for any remedy for Coughs, Colds or Sore Throat—for many years, and never in a single instance has it failed to relieve and cure me. I have frequently been very hoarse on Saturday, and looked forward to the delivery of two sermons on the following day with sad misgivings, but by a liberal use of the Balsam my hoarseness has invariably been removed, and I have preached without difficulty.

I commend it to my brethren in the ministry, and to public speakers generally, as a certain remedy for the bronchial troubles to which we are peculiarly exposed."

Prepared by SETH W. FOWLE & SON, Boston, and for sale by Druggists generally. 17a35.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

From MR. E. TUCKER, Depot Master at Salisbury, Mass.

"I have been troubled for years with a bad humor; sometimes outwardly and sometimes inwardly. During the past summer it manifested itself more than usual outwardly, and I used your Salve. All signs of it have since disappeared, without effecting me inwardly, indicating, I think, the eradicating nature of the Salve. SETH W. FOWLE & SON, Boston, Proprietors.

FOR 1870-71.

THE SUBSCRIBER proposes to issue a SEPTEMBER, 1870, if sufficient support by SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS can be obtained to cover the cost of Publication, a CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY, comprising the Province of ONTARIO, QUEBEC, NOVA SCOTIA and NEW BRUNSWICK, to which will be appended the Provinces of NEWFOUNDLAND and PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND. The Directory will contain the names of Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants in the Cities, Towns and Villages, together with a large amount of General information, including Alphabetical Directories of Post Offices and Postmasters, Banks, Governmental Departments and Employees, Houses of Parliament, Law Courts, Educational Departments, Custom Houses and Officers of Customs, Ports of Entry, Tariffs of Customs, List of Patents of Inventions, Canals, Railways, Railway and Steamboat Routes, Benevolent and Religious Societies, Clergy of all Denominations, Registrars with their Divisions, Newspapers and Periodicals, &c., &c.; also, Statements of Imports and Exports, Revenue, Expenditures, Trade, Population, &c., &c.

To be corrected to August, 1870.

The Canada Directory for 1857-58, published by the subscriber, contained the names of the Principal Inhabitants in 1,339 Cities, Towns, and Villages in Upper and Lower Canada. The CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will contain a short description of at least 2,500 Cities, Towns and Villages in the Dominion of Canada, and the Provinces of Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, together with the Names of the Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants.

The flood of poetry let loose in the Craig-Sprague breach of promise trial at Weston is so vast that any verses which have not been there ventilated will doubtless be a literary curiosity. The following stanzas have not as yet been offered in evidence:

THE FAIR AMANDA.

Amanda's mother said one day—
"A-man—a-man, Amanda!
Why should you still live single, say,
When husbands are so handy?

I know a man, Amandy dear,
A man, a man, Amandy,
Whose income's forty thousand a year,
He'll keep you, oh, so grandy."

"And what's his name, mamma?" "Tis
But he's no gay young dandy." [Sprague,
"No matter, I'll make him rhyme with Replied the fair Amanda. Craig,

A SCHEAM OF LOVE WHICH DIDN'T RUN SMOOTH.

Amanda Craig
And Lisha Sprague.
They fell in love at sight;
He liked her style,
She liked his pile,
And everything went right;
'Twas bill and coo,
And "I love you;"
"My duck," "my dear delight."
Alack! Alas!
It came to pass
That hope should suffer blight,
And love which trusted
Too much, he busted—
In a breach of promise fight!

Mistaken Jealousy.

It is not often that people are mistaken on a mere question of indentity, but sometimes such things will occur. A very amusing incident arising from this cause occurred recently.

A lady, about entering a street car, saw as she supposed, her husband taking tender leave of another woman on a street corner near by. Having heard repeated rumors of his gallantries, she determined to settle the matter definitely. With rather nasty judgment, she rapidly regained the street and approached the lady, who standing on the corner, was still looking after the gentleman, who had gone into the store.

'You seem to be very well acquainted with that gentleman!' was her sudden and unexpected salution.

'Madam!' was the surprised rejoinder, accompanied by a look which clearly denoted her suspicious of the questioner's sanity.

'I say you appear to be acquainted with that gentleman!'

'Well, yes—somewhat.'

'How long have you known him?'

'A number of years. He's my husband!'

'Indeed! He's mine too.'

'What do you mean?' cried the lady, evidently greatly excited.

'Just what I say. He's my husband!'

The lady darted into the store, and the next moment reappeared with the unfortunate Benedict.

'William, this lady says you are her husband!'

One glance, however, was sufficient; the lady saw her mistake, and crying with vexation and shame, frankly confessed her mistake.

—Little sins have a fearful power of eating out the Christain heart. The ants in tropical climes surround their prey, and destroying it, eat it out so thoroughly, yet so delicately, that at a distance it appears still alive. Yet when the storm comes, it crumbles. So falls the professed disciple whose inner life has been destroyed by little sins.

—"Look here, Squire, where was you born?" said a persistent Yankee to a five minutes acquaintance. "I was born," said the victim, "in Boston, Tremont street, No. 44, left hand side, on the 1st day of August, 1820, at five o'clock in the afternoon; physician Dr. Warren, nurse, Sally Benjamin." Yankee was answered completely. For a moment he was stuck. Soon however, his face brightened, and he quickly said, "Yeas; wa'al I calculate you don't recollect whether it was a frame or brick house, dew ya?"

Published After Every Meal,

As if saying more a crime, the dyspeptic seeks temporary relief from stimulants which only tend to render his complaint viewed by their debilitating reaction. Abandon them at once. Seek relief by using Brisbly's Sugar-coated Pills, in which are combined the three vegetable elements essential to a cure. They tone the mucous membranes of the stomach and intestines, carry off the undigested matter which obstructs the fecal discharges, and restore regularity and harmony of action to the secretive organs. Headache is removed; the food turns to wholesome nutriment instead of to acrid gases; all the pangs of indigestion cease, and health and comfort replace weakness and torture. The sugar envelope renders the pills tasteless, and being secured in air-tight vials, they retain their medicinal virtues in all climates.

preration is warranted to no matter how strong money will be refunded. Perfectly safe and harmless. It will take off the use of tobacco, the will. Something is inveroming a habit or help of the Preparation trouble. Hundreds have to bear witness to the fact that Orton's Preparation completely destroys the appetite for tobacco, and leaves the person entirely free from the habit, from the moment he commenced its use. The Preparation acts directly upon the same affected by tobacco and glands and secretions through these upon the blood thoroughly clean ing the poison of tobacco from the system and through these upon the natural cravings for to- bacco. No more hanker after Orton's Preparation. Recollect it is warranted.

The time required to cure all desire for Tobacco by the use of this Preparation varies slightly in different persons, the average time being about Five days. Some in less than two days, others in three days. After Health and Purse of every Tobacco user in the country call loudly, ABANDON THE USE OF TOBACCO.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that we have used Orton's Preparation for the purpose of destroying the appetite for Tobacco, and can assure all suffering from this habit that Orton's Preparation will certainly destroy the appetite for Tobacco quickly and permanently, without any bad effect upon the health, and without creating an appetite either for the Preparation or any substitutes.

W. P. Heald, Bangor, Maine; J. Moody, Southport, Indiana; E. W. Adkins, Knoxville, Tenn.; John Hall, Bangor, Maine; J. Bunch, Springfield, Tenn.; W. T. Harrington, West Point, Georgia; E. W. Boyd, Portland, Oregon; C. Verrill, San Francisco, California; O. H. Waldron, Pittsburgh, Pa.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and all articles purporting to be like this, of the same name or otherwise. The great popularity of Orton's Preparation has induced unprincipled persons to attempt palming upon the public counterfeit and inferior articles. Purchasers will please order direct from the proprietor, or his duly authorised Agents.

The price of Orton's preparation is $2.00 per box, or three boxes for $5.00, sent by mail to any part of the country, securely sealed from observation, with passage paid on receipt of price.

HOW TO SEND MONEY BY MAIL.—Enclose the amount in a letter, seal carefully, register the letter, and take a receipt for it of your Postmaster. Money sent by mail as above directed at my risk. An Agent wanted in every town.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our tea and coffee in bottles, at an expense of at least four times what we pay now?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which are the simple extracts of herbs or plants and roots, and are as readily prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medicine than can be procured in any other form for four times the amount of money.

We have on file numerous unsolicited testimonials as to the practicability of, as well as the benefits derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt rheum, scrofula, king's evil, white swellings, tendency to boils, old sores, pimples or eruptions of the skin. Straightens the stomach and bowels; it tones the liver, and promotes the general vigor of the system, without reducing the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6.

OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds, such as cold chills, chills and fevers, headache, pains of the joints or limbs, neuralgia, rheumatic pains—in fact it may properly be called PAIN KILLER, as it may be used in all cases where pain exists. Every family should be used, such as cramps in the stomach, colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, summer complaints, children teething, female complaints or obstructions. It may also be used with great success in fevers. Sold at 25 cents per package.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present condensed style of putting up the medicine in packages, as he is thereby enabled to supply double the amount of medicine for one-half the regular price of similar preparations.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic Bitter ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

A Street Arab.

Ragged the jacket and trowsers he wears,
Ragged the shoes on his feet;
For shoes or jacket little he cares,
This Arab of the street.
"Pitching pennies," here in the Park
Along with a noisy crowd,
All of them ragged and dirty like him,
Wrangling and shouting aloud.

I wonder whether he has a home,
This ragged urchin, and how
He earns the coppers he's tossing there
With those other Arabs now;
If mother or brother or sister has he,
If ever a father he knew;
If he sleeps in a bed like you and me,
And eats—the rest of us do?

Scarcely human he seems, somehow,
With his semi-savage shout,
As he kives each nickel a curious toss,
And capers wildly about.
Yet the same God made him that made us all,
The God that dwells above,
Who watches even the sparrow's fall,
In the fullness of His love.

All at once, as twelve o'clock drew near,
Our Arab leaves his play,
Gathers together what nickels are his,
And suddenly darts away.
A moment more and his shrill voice sounds
Shouting the news in the street,
With flying more, like a pack of hounds,
Following close at his feet.

In and out of the cars he springs,
He heeds neither hoofs nor wheels;
His ragged feet seem knitted with wings,
Like famous Mercury's heels;
Never stops a moment a paper to sell—
To some one passing by,
Then away he goes on a rapid run,
With a wild halloo and a cry.

High up past the dizzy roofs his voice
Ascends on its sky-ward way;
A moving shadow he flits along
In the garish light of day.
Twixt the rows of buildings on either side
With their windows, staring down
Like so many giants, Argus-eyed,
Sleepily watching the town.

I wonder if ever in thought he sees
The rows of buildings fade,
If ever in fancy he conjures up
The desert without shade?
If ever, winding before his sight,
Long caravans appear,
If the Bedouin child of the sands he sees
In himself and those others here?

For to me to-day as I stand in the Park,
Watching them here at their play,
Like a bright mirage, in the distance seem,
Seem the buildings on Broadway;
And I almost forget that this half-famed boy,
With the ragged shoes on his feet,
Is not the schelk of some wandering tribe,
But an Arab of the street.

—N. Y. Sunbeam, in Harper's Magazine for July.

The Courteous Mother.

During one of last summer's hottest days I had the good fortune to be seated in a railway car near a mother and four children, whose relations with each other were rarely beautiful. It was plain that they were poor. The mother's bonnet alone would have been enough to have condemned the whole party in any of the world's thoroughfares, but her face was one which it gave a sense of rest to look upon—it was earnest, tender, true and strong. The children—two boys and two girls—were all under the age of twelve, and the youngest could not speak plainly. They had a rare treat; They had been visiting the mountains, and were talking over the wonders they had seen, with a glow of enthusiastic delight which was to be envied, and the mother's pale, worn face all the while with such equal interest and eagerness, that no one not seeing her face would dream that she was any other than an elder sister. In the course of the day there were many occasions when it was necessary for her to deny requests, and to ask services, especially from the eldest boy, but no young girl, anxious to please a lover could have done either with a more tender courtesy. She had her reward; for no lover could have been more tender and manly than was the boy of twelve. Their lunch was simple and scanty; but it had the grace of a royal banquet. At the last, the mother produced with delight three apples and a fourth orange of which the children had not known. All eyes fastened on the orange. It was evidently a great rarity. I watched to see if the test would bring out selfishness.—The mother said:—"How shall I divide this? There is one for each of you; and I shall be best off of all, for I expect big tastes from each of you."

"O, give Annie the orange. Annie loves oranges," spoke out the oldest boy, with the sudden air of a conqueror, at the same time taking the smallest and worst apple for himself.

"O yes, let Annie have the orange," echoed the second boy, nine years old.

"Yes, Annie may have the orange, because it is nicer than the apple and she is a lady, and her brothers are gentlemen," said the mother quietly. Then there was a merry contest as to who should feed the mother with largest and most frequent mouthfuls; and so the feast went on. Then Annie presented to want apple, and exchanged thin golden stripes of orange for bites out of the cheeks of Baldwins; and as I sat watching her intently, she suddenly fancied she saw a longing in my face, and sprang over to me, holding out a quarter of an orange, and saying, "Don't you want a taste too? The mother smiled understandingly, when I said, "No, I thank you, you dear, generous little girl; I don't care about oranges."

At noon we had a tedious interval of waiting at a dreary station. We sat for two hours on a narrow platform, which the sun had scorched till it smelt of heat. The oldest boy—the little lover—held the youngest child and talked to her, while the tired mother closed her eyes and rested.

The other two children were toiling up and down the banks of the railroad track, picking of every daisies, buttercups and sorel. They worked like beavers, and soon the bunches were almost too big for their little hands. They came running to give them to their mother. "O dear," thought I, "how that poor tired woman will hate to open her eyes; and she never can take those great bunches of wilting, worthless flowers in addition to her bundles and bags." I was mistaken.

"O thank you, my darlings! How kind you were. Poor, hot, tired little flowers how thirsty they look! If they will try and keep alive till we get home, we will make them very happy in some water; won't we? And you shall put one bunch by papa's plate, and one by mine."

Sweet and happy, the weary and flushed little children stood looking up in her face while she talked, their hearts thrilling with compassion for the drooping flowers, and with delight in the giving of their gift. Then she took great trouble to get a string and tie up the flowers, and then the train came and we were whirling along again. Soon it grew dark, and little Annie's head nodded. Then I heard the mother say to the oldest boy, "Dear, are you too tired to let little Annie put her head on your shoulder and take a nap? We shall get her home in much better ease to her papa if we can manage to give her a little sleep." How many little boys of twelve hear such words as these from tired, overburdened mothers?

Soon came the city, the final station, with its bustle and noise. I lingered to watch my happy family, hoping to see the father.—"Why, papa, isn't here!" exclaimed one disappointed little voice after another. "Never mind," said the mother, with a still deeper disappointment in her own tone; "perhaps he had to go to see some poor body who is sick?" In the hurry of picking up all the parcels, and the sleepy babies, the poor daisies and buttercups were left forgotten in the corner of the rack. I wondered if the mother had not intended this. May I be forgiven for the injustice! A few minutes after, I had passed the little group, standing still just outside of the station, and heard the mother say, "O my darlings, I have forgotten your pretty bouquets. I am so sorry! I wonder if I could find them if I went back. Will you all stand still and not stir from this spot if I go?"

"O mamma, don't go don't go. We will get you some more. Don't go," cried all the children.

Here are your flowers, madam," said I, "I saw that you had forgot them, and I took them as momentoes of you and your sweet children." She blushed and looked discomfited. She was evidently unused to people, and shy with all but her children. However, she thanked me sweetly and said—

"I was very sorry about them. The children took such trouble to get them; and I think they will revive in water. They cannot be quite dead."

"They will never die!" said I, with an emphasis which went from my heart to hers. Then all her shyness fled. We shook hands, and smiled into each other's eyes with the smile of kindred as we parted.

As I followed on, I heard the two children, who were walking behind, saying to each other: "Wouldn't that have been too bad? Mamma liked them so much, and we never could have got so many all at once ago's."

"Yes we could, too, next Summer," said the boy, sturdily.

They are sure of their 'next Summer,' I think, all of those six souls—children, and mother, and father. They may never again raise so many eye-eyed daisies and buttercups 'all at once.' Perhaps some of the little hands have already picked their last flowers. Nevertheless, their Summers are certain. To such souls as these all trees, either here or in God's larger country where there are Trees of Life, with twelve manner of fruits and leaves for healing; and it is but little change from the Summers here, where suns burn and taste weary, to the Summers there of which 'the Lamb is the light.'

An old bachelor picking up a book, exclaimed, upon seeing a wood cut representing a man kneeling at the feet of a woman, "Before I would kneel to a woman, I would encircle my neck with a rope and stretch it." And then turning to a young woman, he inquired, "Do you not think it would be the best I could do?" "It would undoubtedly be the best for the woman," was the sarcastic reply.

The Duty of a Mother.—She should be firm, gentle, kind always ready to attend to her child. She should never laugh at him, at what he does, and is causing; never allow him to think of his looks, except to be neat and clean in all his habits. She should teach him to obey a look; to respect those older than himself; she should never make a command without seeing it is performed by the right manner. Never speak of a child's faults or foibles, or repeat his remarks before him. It is a sure way to spoil a child. Never reprove a child when excited, nor let your tone of voice be raised when correcting. Strive to inspire love not dread; respect, not fear. Remember you are training and educating a soul for eternity.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, JULY 3.

INWARDS.—A telegram from Father Point this afternoon says that the steamship 'Dacia' passed inwards at noon, with 307 passengers.

RESUMED.—The steamer Bay of Quinte has resumed her trips between Belleville and Kingston. The Rochester we believe is to ply between Hamilton and Toronto.

GRAIN FOR OSWEGO.—On the 29th ult. there were afloat for the above port from the Upper Lakes 26 vessels, two of which were laden with 29,666 bushels of corn and twenty four with 891,516 bushels of wheat.

HAMILTON RACES.—At the Hamilton races on Thursday, "Johnny Moore" won the first trotting race for a purse of $200. There were four entries; mile heats; best 3 in 5. "Johnny Moore" winning the first, fourth, and sixth heats. Time, 2.47 ; 2.46¼, 2.48¾.

FOURTH OF JULY.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the steamer Ottawa is to leave Belleville for Oswego on the 3rd inst., touching at all the ports, and arriving at Oswego in good time to witness the celebration of the Fourth in that city.

IN CAMP.—We understand that the 15th Battalion will commence their annual drill on Monday next, and it is the intention to camp out in tents on Mr. Ponton's farm, Front of Sidney during the performance of the drill. We hope to see every man in his place, so that the 15th may sustain its reputation as being one of the best Battalions in the country.

EXTRAORDINARY WEATHER.—We have had some extraordinary weather in Canada this spring, but nothing equal to that recently prevalent in the North of England and Scotland. A heavy snow storm covered the hills in Westmoreland on the 16th June, and in some places the drifts were three and four feet thick. The oldest inhabitant says that the fall is quite without a precedent in the whole range of atmospheric phenomena.

GORED BY A BULL.—The Picton Gazette of the 2nd inst., says :—" We regret to learn that on Saturday last five horses, the property of Wellington Boulter, Esq., of Demorsville, were badly gored by a bull, two of the most valuable animals of which having since died. The others will probably recover. We may also add that Mr. Boulter was considerably injured by one of the horses while in its death struggles.—This should be a warning to farmers, to see that such animals are properly secured, as until the time of the accident this bull was considered quite harmless."

SIR GEORGE E. CARTIER.—The Toronto Telegraph says there has been a report in circulation for several days—to which, however, we do not attach any very great importance—to the effect that Sir George E. Cartier will be the first Chief Justice of the Dominion, and that on the occasion of his elevation to the Head of the Supreme Court, he will receive a patent of nobility from the Crown, which will entitle him to a seat in the House of Lords, with the title of Baron Cartier of Verchères. The report, we may state, came hither through a London and not through an Ottawa channel, and we give it for what it is worth, remarking, at the same time, that nearly a year ago the London Spectator nominated Sir George to a Peerage.

The Press Association.

The following is the programme for the annual meeting and excursion of the Canadian Press Association. The meeting takes place in Cobourg on Tuesday, July 20th, at 11 o'clock, a. m., in the Victoria Buildings. Business of a formal character, including election of officers, naming place of next meeting, &c., will engage attention until one p. m.

At two p. m., the Association will accept an invitation from the Corporation and citizens of Cobourg and proceed per special train to Rice Lake, to enjoy the beautiful scenery in its vicinity—returning to Cobourg at six o'clock.

At 7:30 p. m., a Conversazione will be held, when an original poem will be read by Mrs. James Somerville, of Dundas ; an Essay, by Mr. John Cameron, of London ; with music by ladies and addresses by members of the Association.

Wednesday morning, July 21st, at seven o'clock, the members of the Association will leave for Rochester, N. Y., per steamer Norseman, (Capt. Carter,) arriving about two p. m., where they will be met by the members of the City Press and citizens, who have kindly undertaken to arrange a programme of places of interest to be visited during the visit of the Association.

Thursday morning, July 22nd, the excursionists will proceed to Oswego, either by Lake steamer direct or via. Syracuse per N. Y. Central Railroad, remaining at Oswego till 10 p. m. The members of the press and citizens of this place have also kindly undertaken to arrange a programme for the occasion. At 10 p. m., the excursion will proceed per steamer Rochester for Kingston, Picton and Belleville—reaching the latter place on Friday evening.

Smith vs. School Trustees.

A telegram from Toronto this afternoon, informs us that judgment in this case was given to-day in favor of Smith.

From the first we felt confident that if there was any equity in the Court of Chancery, Smith would win the case, and although it is greatly to be regretted that the case was ever taken to the Court, we are certain the people of the Town will be gratified to learn that Smith, who was the duly authorised agent of the Board in the purchase of the Blackbrook lot, has been sustained by the Court. Meanwhile the Town will have to pay the piper, and a pretty sum we fancy the Trustees will be obliged to pay for the costs already incurred. We shall have something more to say of this case hereafter.

Registration Act.

The Act providing for the correct registration of Births, Deaths and Marriages, came into effect yesterday. The Act is a very important one, and in order that our readers may understand its more important provisions, we give a brief summary thereof :

Regarding the duties of the public with respect to the requirements of the Act, these may be briefly summarized. In the matter of a birth, the father, or in case of his death the mother, or in case of the death of both, any person standing in loco parentis, or the occupier of the house, or the nurse, shall, within thirty days, give notice of the birth to the District Registrar, with additional information, as to the name and sex of the child, the name and surname of the parents, with their rank and profession, &c. Parties refusing or neglecting to give such information render themselves liable for each offence, to a fine of not less than one, or more than twenty dollars and costs. In this schedule there seems to be an omission which ought to be supplied, viz., the place and date of the marriage of the parents. For as one of the aims of the system is a history of the lineage of each individual, it strikes us that without such an entry on the birth schedule the aim will in many cases be by no means satisfactorily attained.

In cases of death, the occupier of the house, or some person residing therein, or any person present at the death, or the coroner in case of an inquest, shall, within ten days, give information of the death to the District Registrar, with full particulars of name, age, &c., of the deceased. The penalty for neglecting to give such information, is the same as in the case of birth.

Relative to the registration of a marriage, this devolves upon the clergyman who celebrates the same; and he is required within ten days to give full particulars to the Registrar of the same, &c., &c., of the parties within ninety days of the celebration, under a penalty as before. A fee of ten cents is required by the Act to be paid by the parties giving the information in each case, an arrangement which may with great advantage be dispensed with, if the thorough working of the system is kept in view.

School Trustees.

FRIDAY, July 2nd, 1869.

A special meeting of the Board was called for the purpose of considering the Report of the Finance Committee.

PRESENT.—F. McAnneny, Esq., Chairman, and Messrs. Sisson, Tennent, Robertson, Falkiner, Colemen, Sawyer, and Shepard.

In the absence of the Secretary, Mr. Falkiner was appointed Secretary pro tem.

The following Report of the Finance Committee was submitted, and after considerable discussion was unanimously adopted.

To the Board of Common School Trustees of the Town of Belleville.

The Finance Committee beg leave to submit the following Report :—

While regretting that there is no money in the hands of the Treasurer to pay the salaries of the Teachers now due, the Committee beg to lay before the Board a brief statement of facts, by which it will be seen that the Town Council, and not the Trustees, are responsible therefor.

In July 1868 a Requisition was made upon the Corporation of the Town of Belleville for the requirements of the Board for 1868-9. The sum asked for was $9,306, of which $8,680 was for salaries ; $9,693 for addition to School No. 2, repairs, fuel, cleaning, &c. ; and $3,000 for a School Building in Baldwin Ward. The last item was abandoned by the Board, as it was supposed that it would not be required this year. The amount therefore which the Board claim, and which the Board assumes was levied upon the town, is the sum of $6,306. This sum is made payable by the terms of the Requisition as follows :—$2,626 due on the 16th Dec. 1868 ; $950 on the 1st of January, 1869 ; $920 on the 1st of April ; $920 on the 1st of July ; and $960 on the 1st of October. The amount received by your Treasurer, as appears by his own books, and as also appears by the Town Treasurer's books, is $4,150, which would leave due on the 1st of April, 1869, the sum of $316, and on the first of July the sum of $1,036. Of this sum $250 was received on the 29th day of June, leaving a balance of $986 due on the 1st of July. This amount your Committee claim is belonging to the Board, and could not be legally used for any other purpose.

The Government grant is declared to us on or about the first of July, and in the last of that month the Board sends to the Town a Requisition to raise by taxation a certain sum, deducting the Government grant. In July 1868 when making up our estimates, this $950 of Government money was considered as so much funds on hand, and our estimates were made up for the balance required. This system has been acted upon ever since the Board obtained its money through the Town, and any other system would be needless effort, for this Board would not be justified in asking the Town to raise $500 by taxation, which was received from the Government.

But it is claimed by the Chairman of the Town Finance Committee, that the Government grant of $950 should be charged against us and applied on the amount claimed on the Requisition. If your Board will examine the Town Treasurer's Books you will find that the Government grant is credited to us separately, thus supporting the ground clearly that it should not be deducted from the amount of the Requisition.

And further, your Committee beg to report that the salaries of the School Teachers amount to $4,180 and not $3,680, the amount demanded by the Requisition on the Town Council, but your Committee, when making the estimates for 1868 and 1869, allowed the sum of $500, being the Government grant, and which sum has nothing to do with the Town funds.

To show further that the principle has been acted upon your Committee append a copy of the account between the Board and the Town for 1867-68, as shown on the Town Treasurer's Books.

We find the Requisition made in July

1867-8 was credited to the Board	$ 4,000
By Government Grant	500
Total	$ 5,000

The Board is debited with the following sums:

Government Grant	$ 500 00
Dec. 12, 1867, to cash	381 50

Thus showing that the account for the year 1867-8 balanced, and that the amount of the Government grant was not included in the amount of the Requisition. It will also be found on the Town Treasurer's Books that the Government grant for 1868 is credited and distributed to this Board, and entered separately from the amount of the Requisition.

Your Committee would beg to lay these facts before the Board, and request that such action may be taken as will afford relief in the matter.

Respectfully submitted,

The Riefflenstien Case.

OTTAWA, July 2.—It is rumoured that at the examination with closed doors, the Hon. J. H. Cameron and Mr. Scott, acted as Rieffinstien's counsel, and Mr. Lewis for the Crown. After Deputy-Receiver Gen. Herrington, and Messrs. Mowbray and McMorty, of the Ontario Bank, had been examined, the Police Magistrate adjourned the case until to-morrow, at 9 o'clock when he will give his decision in reference to the case. Mr. Cameron is said to have agreed that the evidence adduced was not sufficient to warrant Rieffinstien's committal. From Herrington's evidence it was understood that the other departments were responsible for checking.

Shocking Suffering among the Cubans.

HAVANA, June 30, via Key West July 1. —An American engineer from Puerto Principe has arrived here, via Nuevitas, which place he left on the 26th, and makes the following statement :—He left Puerto Principe on the 17th. At that time trivial results had been obtained by operations against the insurrection of the troops that attacked. 10 garrison were dreaded, and their numbers were subject to constant depletion, from casualties and disease. Hospitals were full with an average of 10 deaths a day. On the 14th a foraging party had left the city, 150 strong; but were driven back, and forty of them were sent to the hospital sick. On the 18th a few patriots entered the city in disguise, and tried to capture the sentinel, but were discovered and retreated with the loss of two. On the 22nd, the patriots captured a detachment of 100 regulars at the first station from Principe. The regiment of Catalan volunteers had lost 200 from sickness. General Quesada, Commander in Chief of the patriots, was in the vicinity, and became more active and bolder in his operations. The Spaniards attribute the recent success of the patriots to the presence of Americans. They admit that 4,000 more troops are arrived, and they expected large reinforcements had arrived with General Rodn.—The garrison in Principe are disheartened, while the Cubans are in terror, and fleeing to the United States.

Terrible Tornado on Sunday!

BARNS DEMOLISHED ; HOUSES UNROOFED ; WOODS LAID LOW ; CROPS DESTROYED ; AND OTHER DAMAGES.

From the London Free Press.

A tornado, terribly destructive in its effects, and the like of which has not occurred in the West for many years, passed over the townships of London and Nissouri on Sunday afternoon last. Of the numerous disasters we give our readers a few samples. The first intimation which the inhabitants had of the impending storm was the appearance in the northwest of an intensely dark and wild column or cloud, which shed an ominous gloom over that portion of the sky, and gave out a peculiar sound such as that heard near the sea-shore during a storm. At length, this cloud, after gathering all its fury, burst with terrific violence upon the northern part of London township, about the Proof Line road, 16th concession. Everything more or less yielded before its dreadful march. Houses were unroofed, and their terrified occupants rushed forth in dismay ; barns were blown down, forests uprooted, fences scattered in all directions, crops torn up by the roots as with a mighty hand, and fields completely devastated, while the frightened cattle ran wildly bellowing through the fields, and all nature in the remorseless track of the tornado presented a scene of absolute chaos. A barn belonging to Mr. Chas. Wells was uprooted, the fences being lifted into the air and wasted a considerable distance. The dwelling house of Mr. McMechan was also unroofed, and a shed of moderate size lifted bodily from its foundation, and whirled in the air to a height of some twenty or thirty feet.

The farm of Mr. Jas. Scott next obstructed its course. Here a knoll was laid waste, the trees being picked up and hurled forward with a deafening crash, the fences also being completely thrown down.—Mr. Thomas Taylor's farm was similarly treated ; his woods and fences were levelled. Mr. Robt. Nicholson's house was unroofed, and a new frame barn entirely demolished. The whirlwind had by this time reached the 13th concession, and here its fury was exerted in its powerful and buried high in the air a distance of three quarters of a mile or more. The house of Mr. John McRoberts was unroofed, and his fences swept away like straw. The bush and fences of Mr. Edmond Jackson and John Evans were uptorn and scattered ; Mr. James Dickson's farm buildings were blown in pieces, and Mr. Richard Needham's suffered little less. Crossing the concession here, the roof of Mr. Charles Dickenson's house was blown off, and a new frame barn demolished, besides other damages of no inconsiderable nature. From this point, the storm passed into Nissouri, and a farmer named Moore, while running for shelter from its approach, was caught and dashed forward with tremendous violence and received serious injury. Flocks of sheep were whirled in a moment into the air and carried headlong with the tempest, fence rails and cordwood sticks were snatched up and sent through the sides of dwellings, or wedged so deeply into old stumps as to require the united strength of several men to extricate them. Much more damage has no doubt been done, the reports of which are as yet indefinite. In all likelihood, it was the same storm unmercifully visited its fury, which visited the town of Woodstock.

American Despatches.

FROM CUBA.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Recent advices from Cuba sources state that after their recent repulse the Spanish forces in the Circo Valley have been reinforced by 2,000 more regulars and volunteers, which increased the Government forces to nearly double that of the Cubans, and they were compelled to retreat. Several small bodies were captured by the Spaniards—but no body attacked them. Among the late arrivals were a number of Americans, some of whom are reported to have been executed by order of Gen. Lesca, who it is said is commander of the expedition, immediately on their capture. Nearly all the plantations in the district have been destroyed. It is reported that the Cuban General is concentrating his forces to meet their column under Lesca, and news of a [illegible] THE STORM IN KANSAS.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—In the neighborhood of Junction city, Ks., and West of there, the late storm was greater than any other since the settlement of the State. At Chapman's Creek several houses were carried away and thirteen lives are known to have been lost. Many of the residents of Valley were obliged to clamber to the hills in order to escape the sudden overflow of the neighboring streams. At Manhattan four dead bodies were passed floating down the river.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

NEW YORK, July 2.—The Tribune says—"The decrease in the public debt of $16,410,139,54, was a great surprise to the Secretary Boutwell, for only 24 hours before he did not expect the decrease to be over $10,000,000. It was not known till yesterday that the decrease would be so large. Within the last 30 hours over $6,000,000 have been paid into the Treasury from miscellaneous sources which was unexpected."

THOMAS.

NEW YORK, July 2,—Advices from St. Thomas to the 17th ult. announce that Sir Arthur Rumbolt, Governor of the Virgin Islands, died suddenly on the 12th ult. The general opinion is that slow poison was administered to him by some of his political enemies in Tortola.

THE OCEAN BANK ROBBERY

NEW YORK, July 2.—There are $200,000 of the Ocean Bank money in the hands of the thieves. The Bank officials have offered a reward of $25,000 for the arrest of the thieves although they claim that the Bank did not lose that amount.

STEAMBOAT COLLISION.

CLEVELAND, O., July 2.—Last night the tug-boat Ripon, while steaming up the river, struck a small ferry-boat containing ten or twelve passengers. The ferry-boat was shivered to fragments, and from three to five persons supposed to be drowned. Only one body, that of Martain O'Donne!, has been recovered. The names of the others lost are unknown.

AYER'S AMERICAN ALMANAC, for 1870, has been received by all Druggists for delivery gratis, to all who call for it. This number contains proofs of more than some of the stars have existed for sixty million of years. We had not supposed such proof possible, but the Doctor gives it in a shape which seems indisputable. His witticisms have long made his book acceptable ; his medical advice makes it indispensable to families, and now he adds the most startling problems of abstract science to its attractions.

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless, leased proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came ; the room was crowded with anxious expectants ; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonic complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has ever become better known, and more highly appreciated for its virtues. Where its character and composition are not familiar, it has gradually established, here and there, a reputation for its cures, which has become more and more extended, until it is now known in almost every community in the land. There is no section of country, no town, no village, scarcely a neighborhood, where some person cannot be found, publicly known, who has been cured of some distressing complaint, by this remedy. Hence, when we say to the sick and suffering, that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will cure them, we only refer them to their neighbors, and to the certain experience of their own friends.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to complete health by the Cherry Pectoral. It is compounded with the utmost skill that the science of medicine can furnish, and no pains or expense are spared to render it perfect in its power over the diseases of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

FOR Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Periodic Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is nowise injures any patient. The manifest importance of its cures in the Ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in the obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either visiting in, or traveling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public need scarcely be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its horrible forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease suggest it. For Scrofula, Ulcerous Diseases, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Erysipelas, Boils, Pimples, Blotches, Sores, and other complaints arising from the impurities of the blood, it is the best remedy that can be taken. Also, for St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Ulcers in the Throat and Stomach, Rheumatism, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Mercurial Diseases, Sores, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tumors in the Womb, Uterine Complaints, Dropsy, and the various complaints arising from Habits of Dissipation, Exposure, Infection, Scrofula, Neuralgia, Debility, and nervous ailments.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Uterine Diseases, are more commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are to be found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when arising, as they often do, from the making poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great resource for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Dispondent, Sleepless, and Apprehensive or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

IRISH CHURCH BILL.

LONDON, July 2.—The House of Lords to-night continued the consideration of the Irish Church Bill in Committee. Clauses 24 and 26 were agreed to. The Marquis of Salisbury moved to strike out clause 37, which requires that portions of tithe be for the attention of ecclesiastical resources by churches.

The Duke of Cleveland moved an amendment subscribing grants to Catholics and Presbyterians. After a long debate the Ministry divided, and the amendment was lost by a vote of 134 to 105.

THE ALABAMA QUESTION.

LONDON, July 2.—[Per Times this morning in 1866 when the revenue returns seen no reason for despatches on account of the relations between Great Britain and foreign countries.—The most important matters in business men on the state of relations with America on the Alabama question, and the present condition of France. The Alabama difficulty is not more threatening now than it was a year or two since Mr. Johnson's negotiations were not entirely futile; they have demonstrated England's willingness to make reasonable concessions.—It will be impossible to extract a grievance from her acts of demesnor. The Americans feel this, and at present have no desire to push the question in a hostile manner.

CABLE ALL RIGHT AGAIN.

BREST, July 2.—Communication with the steamship Great Eastern through the cable was restored at noon to-day. Despatches received from her explain the suspension of communications as follows. A fault was discovered on the cable on Wednesday, and the Great Eastern was obliged to stop, locate and remove it. A heavy gale prevailed and in order to avoid the probability of a serious accident to the cable, it was decided to cut the buoy which was successfully done. The weather to-day having become fine, the cable was recovered, the fault removed and the work of paying out recommenced. All well on board at noon to-day.—The Great Eastern was in lat. 47, deg. 55 sec. long. 30 deg.

EARTHQUAKES.

ST LOUIS, July 2.—Quite a shock of earthquake was felt here between one and two o'clock yesterday morning. Windows and crockery rattled, and in some instance furniture. The wave was north to south and lasted ten seconds. The shock was felt in a number of intermediate towns, here and at Cairo, West Kentucky.

ANOTHER $1,000,000 FROM PEABODY.

NEW YORK, July 2.—At a meeting of the Trustees of the Peabody Southern Educational Fund, at Newport, R. I., on Thursday last, a letter was read from Mr. Peabody, donating an additional million dollars for educational purposes to the Southern States.

NEUTRALITY LAW.

The Times Washington despatch says: Concerning the rigid enforcement of the neutrality laws, of which we had such a recent illustration, it may be stated that the action meets with a hearty approval of Mr. Fuller, and that in this question he is in full accord with the President and Secretary of State. The Cuban belligerency in the present situation of affairs on that Island is a humbug, and the country must look to see the action of this Government towards Cuba controlled, and by the attitude of our relations towards England in the Alabama question.

NEW ALBION HOTEL,
MCGILL STREET,
MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really, first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and systematic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the whole history of medical discoveries no remedy has performed so many or such remarkable cures of the numerous affections of the Throat, Lungs, and Chest, as this long-tried and justly celebrated Balsam. So generally acknowledged is the superior excellence of this remedy that but few of the many who have tested its virtues by experience fail to keep it on hand as a speedy and certain cure for sudden attacks of COLD—fully believing that its remedial powers are comprehensive enough to embrace every form of disease, from the slightest cold to the most dangerous symptom of pulmonary complaint.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY.

From Rev. FRANCIS LONDELL, Pastor of the South Congregational Church, Bridgeport, Connecticut.

"I consider it a duty which I owe to suffering humanity to bear testimony to the virtues of Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. I have used it—when I have had occasion for any remedy for Cough, Colds or Sore Throat—for many years, and never in a single instance has it failed to relieve and cure me. I have frequently been very hoarse on Saturday, and looked forward to the delivery of two sermons on the Sabbath with real misgivings, but by a liberal use of the Balsam my hoarseness has invariably been removed, and I have preached without difficulty.

I commend it to my brethren in the ministry, and to public speakers generally, as a certain remedy for the bronchial troubles to which we are peculiarly exposed."

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

From Mr. E. TUCKER, Depot Master at Salisbury, Mass.

"I have been troubled for years with a bad humor; sometimes outwardly and sometimes inwardly. During the past summer it manifested itself more than usual outwardly, and I used your Salve. All signs of it have since disappeared, without effecting me inwardly, indicating, I think, the eradicating nature of the Salve. SETH W. FOWLE & SON, Boston, Proprietors. The Maple Leaf.

Let John Bull boast of his Christmas cheer,
His prime roast beef and his foaming beer,
But his fogey land can no'er compete
With the sparkling wines and the bracing air
Of the land of the maple leaf so bright,
Of the land of the maple leaf.

Let the Frenchman boast of his flowing wine,
And the clusters rich where there entwine
The land of song and the land of wavers,
Where the raspberries ripen the leafy bowers,
By the shade of the ripening wheat so bright,
By the shade of the ripening wheat.

But he knocks his Government upside down,
And he shakes in his shoes at a tyrant's frown,
Then he feeds like a dook on frogs and snails,
And to genius his land it nought avails,
In the land of the maple leaf so bright,
In the land of the maple leaf.

Let the German boast of his famous Rhine,
And the castles old which its banks do line;
But his pigsty river's a brook beside
Our swift St. Lawrence's foaming tide,
In the land of the maple leaf so bright,
In the land of the maple leaf.

The Italian may boast of his country old,
Where the tide of Empire once has rolled,
And Cæsar's war-horse paved the ground,
While he placed the Forum newly crowned,
In the land of the laurel leaf so green,
In the land of the laurel leaf.

He may show his volcano's flaming crest,
And lava surging in wild unrest,
But Niagara's flood for an hour let down,
Would all his red volcano drown,
In the land of the laurel leaf so green,
In the land of the laurel leaf.

Now, cousin Jonathan's slick and tall,
And he sells his blue-nosed cousin so small,
And he says that in winter his chance is lost
In a long-necked bottle bunged up with the
In the land of the maple leaf so bright. frost,
In the land of the maple leaf.

But the frost-corked bottle no more shall be,
When we've worked our way to the open sea,
And our iron horse o'er the snow and plain
Was sought the Nova Scotian main,
In the land of the maple leaf so bright,
In the land of the maple leaf.

Old Seward bought from the Russian bear
The cold fog-and of his icy lair.
Now Seward feels big; but the bitter's bit,
The bear of his icebergs has well got quit,
In the land where there's never a leaf so green,
In the land where there's ne'er a leaf.

But Cartier's bought us a great Nor'-west,
As smooth as a table and land of the best,
Where his name the children's mouths shall fill
Of unborn millions who then shall till
This land of the maple leaf so green,
This land of the maple leaf.

Now in vain henceforth let Jonathan cry
"To the West, to the West, let the sells fly,"
For he's met his match in the far-off Nor'-west,
And his coffin is taxable when he dies;
Not so in that land of the leaf, so green—
That land of the maple leaf.

So here's to the land of that tree so sweet,
Where boundaries soon shall that ocean meet,
Where the stormiest waves have no angry crest
As they wall our barquet in the gorgeous East!
Let us sing of that maple leaf so bright,
Of the land of the maple leaf.

The Care of Sheep.

HOW TO GET RID OF THE TICKS.

Some farmers instruct each shearer to cut each tick's head off at the time of shearing. It takes a little time, and although this process accomplishes the desired result in the case of each animal thus summarily served, a few may escape—enough to make a respectable show for the next year.

We have adopted the following plan for years, and at some shearings we have not seen a single one of them. Tobacco parasites. Fill an iron two-pail kettle with water, into which place one pound of the best plug tobacco, torn into small fragments, and then placing the mixture in a half-hogshead tub, add say six pails of water. If you have waited one week after shearing, nearly every tick will be on the lambs. Having separated them from the flock, let one man take hold of the fore legs and nose, and another the hind legs, and then dip them all under, being careful not to let any of the decoction get into their eyes. The men having charge of the head should then hold them up by the neck and fore legs, and the other beginning at the uppermost part, press all the water possible out of the wool into the tub. The process will require about two or three passes down the sides and back of the lamb. This is to preserve the fluid for succeeding baths, otherwise a dozen lambs would carry it all away in their wool, and the addition of water might so dilute the mixture as to render it worthless.

Eight pails will be sufficient for forty lambs, and no flock thus carefully served will need the operation oftener than once in three years.

SALT.

Sheep should be salted at least once in each week. If the expenditure is not of essential benefit, it is something that gives satisfaction to the animal; and why should we not seek to make sheep happy as well as men?

We once knew a man, long since passed to the better and beautiful land, who always did it after meeting and after supper. With a wooden salt dish under his arm, and a staff in his hand, he sought the pasture where the flock was kept. They literally 'knew his voice,' and would run from all parts of the field to receive from his hand the morsel they craved, as they understood it, his blessing. A dozen could eat out of the dish he held in his hand, and the only strife observable was as to which should get the nearest to the grey-haired man.

Afterward came the reading of the bible and the voice of prayer in the house; but of all the scenes of those blessed Sabbath days, salting the sheep seems to us now as among the most fitting and beautiful.—Hearth and Home.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our pills and coffee in bottles, at an expense of at least four times what they now cost?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in refference to our medicines? The simple extracts of herbs or plants and roots, and are so readily prepared as tea and coffee.

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medical properties than can be procured in any other form, and hence the unequalled efficacy.

We have in our possession numerous testimonials as to the practicability, and the benefits derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt-rheum, scrofula, king's evil, white swellings, tumors, ulcers, blood diseases, pimples on the face, &c. It regulates the stomach and bowels; it tones the liver, and promotes the general health of the system, without reducing the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per bottle.

DR. THOMPSON'S

Stomachic Bitters,

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Indigestion. For costiveness, Piles and Jaundice, it is a mild and safe astringent and corrective for delicate persons; a gentle cathartic for general family purposes; a powerful recuperant after the fevers has been reduced by sickness; an excellent as well as agreeable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility, and diseases having their origin in the imperfect digestion or a deranged state of the stomach. Sold at 50 cents per bottle.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6. OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds such as cold chills, chills and fever, headache, pains in the joints and limbs, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c. &c. It may properly be called PAIN KILLER, as it may be used for all purposes for which PAIN KILLER or RELIEF are used, such as cramps in the stomach, colds, diarrhœa, dysentery, summer complaints, colic, tortures, fevers, complaints of children, &c. It may also be used with great success as a Liniment. Sold at 50 cents per package.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present condensed style of putting up the medicine in packages, as he is thereby enabled to supply double the amount of medicine for one-half the regular price of similar preparations.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS

OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1868, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite with the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every point.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in Canada.

Prepared and sold wholesale by the Proprietor.

VOL. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, MONDAY EVENING, JULY 5, 1869. No. 54.

Sitting on the Shore.

The tide has ebbed away;
No more wild darkings 'gainst the adamant rocks,
Nor swayings amidst sea-weed false that mocks
The hues of garden gay;
No laugh of little wavelets in their play;
No lucid pools reflecting heaven's clear brow;
Both storm and calm alike are ended now.

The rocks sit gray and lone;
The shifting sand is spread so smooth and dry,
That not a tide might ever have swept by.
Stirring it with rude moan;
Only some weedy fragment idly thrown
Yo ret beneath the sky, tells what has been;
But desolation's self has grown serene.

After the mountains rise,
And the broad estuary widens out,
All sunshine; wheeling round and round about
Seaward a white bird flies.
A bird? Nay, seems it rather to these
A spirit, o'er eternity's dim sea, [eyes
Calling—' Come thou, where we glad souls be.'

Oh, life, Oh, solemn shore,
Where we sit patient. Oh, great sea beyond,
To which we turn with solemn hope and fond.
But sorrowful no more!
But little while and then we too shall soar,
Like white-winged sea birds on the Infinite deep;
Till then, thou, Father, will our spirits keep.

Some Giants.

In 1718 a French academician named Henrion endeavored to show a great decrease in the height of men between the periods of the Creation and the Christian Era. Adam, he says, was 123 feet 9 inches high; Eve, 118 feet 9 inches; Noah, 27 feet; Abraham, 20 feet; Moses, 13 feet.—The allegation about Adam is moderate compared with that made by early Rabbinical writers, who affirm that his head overtopped the atmosphere, and that he touched the Arctic Pole with one hand and the Antartics with the other. Traditionary memorials of the primeval giants still exist in Palestine in the form of graves of enormous dimensions; as the grave of Abel near Damascus, which is 80 feet long; that of Seth about the same size; and that of Noah, in Lebanon, which is 70 yards in length.

Pliny says by an earthquake in Crete a mountain was opened and in it was discovered a skeleton standing upright, 46 cubits long which was supposed to be that Orion or Otus. The same author relates that in the time of Claudius Cæsar there was a man named Gabaras, brought by that Emperor from Arabia to Rome, who was 9 feet 4 inches high, "the tallest man that has been seen in our times." But this giant was not so tall as Posio and Secundilla, in the reign of Augustus Cæsar, whose bodies was preserved as curiosities in a museum in the Sallustian Gardens, and each of whom measured in length 10 feet 3 inches.

The Emperor Maximus (very much of a man) was nine feet high, and was in the habit of using his wife's Bracelet for a thumb ring. His shoe was a foot longer than that of any other man, and his strength so great that he could draw a a carriage which two oxen could not move. He generally ate forty pounds weight of flesh, and drank six gallons of wine each day. Not at all a desirable or profitable guest or the "St. Nicholas," even at the current price of board (though not so tall as one of whom Josephus tells, viz.: Eleazar, a Jew, who was one of the hostages whom the King of Persia sent to Rome after a peace. This giant was over ten feet high. But these are pigmies compared with him of whom Kircher writes (though this is what a Yankee philosopher would denominate a whopper). The skeleton of this giant was dug out of a stone sepulchre near Rome in the reign of the Emperor Henry II., and which by an inscription attached to it, was known to be that of Pallas, who was slain by Turnus, and was higher than the walls of the city! The same author tells us that another skeleton was found near Palermo that must have belonged to a man 400 feet high.

In times more modern (1613,) some masons digging near the ruins of a castle in Daphne, in a field which by tradition had long been called "The Giant's Field," at the depth of 18 feet discovered a brick tomb 30 feet long, 12 feet wide and 8 feet high, on which was a gray stone with the words "Theutobocus Rex" cut thereon.—When the tomb was opened they found a human skeleton entire 26½ feet long, 10 feet wide across the shoulders, and 5 feet deep from the breast to the back. His teeth were about the size of an ox's foot, and his shinbone measured 4 feet in length.

Plot, in his "Oxfordshire," 1679, says that a skeleton seventeen feet high was then to be seen in the town hall in Lucerne. It had been found under an oak in Willisau, near the village of Reyden. He instances numerous gigantic bones which had been dug in England, and adds: "It remains that (notwithstanding their extravagant magnitude) they must have been so, provided it be clearly made out that there have been men and women of proportionable stature in all ages of the world, down even to our own days."

Old cotton Mather held the belief that there had been in the antediluvian world men of very prodigious stature, in consequence of the finding of bones and teeth of great size, which he judged to be human, in Albany. He described one particular grinder weighing 4¼ pounds, and a broad, flat, foretooth four fingers in breadth; also a bone, supposed to be a thigh bone, 17 feet long, which, with the others, crumbled to pieces as soon as it was exposed to the air.—W. A. Seaver, in Harper's Magazine for July.

Story of the Moon.

Translated from the Danish by Mary Howitt.

Yesterday I looked down upon busy Paris. I gazed into the chambers of the Louvre. An old grandmother, wretchedly clad, and who belonged to the lower class, entered the large, empty throne room, accompanied by one of the under servants of the palace. It had cost her many small sacrifices, and very much eloquence had she used before she could be admitted here. She folded her thin hands, and looked as reverentially around her as if she had been in a Church.

"It was here!" she said, "here!" and she approached the throne, which was covered with a cloth of rich velvet trimmed with gold. "There!" said she "there!" and she bowed her knee and kissed the crimson velvet—I thought she wept.

"It was not that velvet," said the attendant, while a smile played round his mouth.

"But still it was here!" said the woman, and it looked in this room just so!"

"Just so," replied he, "and yet it was not just so either. The windows were beaten out; the doors were torn off their hinges, and there was blood upon the floor! You can say, however, for all that, that your son's son died upon the throne of France!"

"Died!" repeated the old woman.

No more was said; they left the hall; the shades of, evening fell deeper and the moonlight streamed in with twofold brightness on the rich velvet of the throne of France.

I will tell thee a story.

It was in the revolution of July, 1830, towards evening, on the most brilliant day of victory, when every house was a fortress, every window a redoubt, the people stormed the Tuilleries. The same combat, the same fougher among the combatants, they thronged through the chambers and halls of the palace. A poor, half-grown lad, in ragged clothing, fought desperately among the elder warriors; mortally wounded at length by the thrusts of many bayonets, he sank to the ground; this took place in the throne room. They wrapped the velvet about his wounds; the blood streamed over the royal purple. It was a picture! The magnificent hall; the combatting groups, a rent banner on the floor; the tri-coloured flag floating above the bayonets and upon the throne the poor lad, with his pale glorified countenance, his eyes turned towards Heaven; his limbs stiffening in death; his uncovered breast; his miserable garments, and around these the rich folds of the velvet embroidered with silver lillies!

As the boy lay in the cradle, it had been foretold that he should die on the throne of France! His mother's heart had dreamed of a new Napoleon!

The moonbeams have kissed the garland of everlasting upon his grave; her beams this night kissed the old grandmother's forehead as she dreamed of this picture—The poor lad upon the throne of France!

There were thick clouds over the sky; the moon was not visible; I stood in two-fold solitude in my little room, and looked out into the night, which should have been illumined by her beams. My thoughts flew far away, up to the great friend who told me stories so beautifully every evening, and showed me pictures. Yes, what has she not seen! She looked down on the waters of the deluge, and smiled on the ark as she now smiles upon me, and brought consolation to a new world which should again bloom forth. When the children of Israel stood weeping by the waters of Babylon she looked mournfully down upon the willows where their harps hung. When Romeo ascended to the balcony and the kiss of love went like a cherub's thought from earth, the round Moon stood in the transparent atmosphere, hail concealed amid the dark cypresses. She saw the hero on St. Helena, when from his solitary rock he looked out over the ocean of the world whilst deep thoughts were at his breast.

Yet, what could not the Moon relate! the life of the world is a history for her!

HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN.

A LAUGHABLE FIX.—Two printers in Chicago thinking they could make an improvement on the velocipede, and at the same time avoid paying the exorbitant price asked for them, began their labors, one furnishing the money and the other the inventive skill. A large three-wheeled affair was secretly constructed in a basement, and when finished, it was found to be several inches wider than the doorway. The two printers are consulting whether to tear down the house or the velocipede.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, JULY 5.

BAY OF QUINTE.—Those interested will remember that the Bay of Quinte starts on Wednesday morning at 2½ o'clock, her usual time.

THE MAYOR.—The friends of Mr. Conger, Mayor of Belleville, will be glad to learn that though his condition on Saturday was extremely dangerous, the disease has been checked, and he is slowly but gradually improving.

ONTARIO HALL.—James Taylor, the champion comique of Great Britain and America, with his musical Burlesque Troupe, will perform at Ontario Hall to-night. Mr. Taylor is spoken very highly of by the Toronto papers.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.—Both the Rochester and the Ottawa took a large number of excursionists from this section of country, to witness the celebration of the Fourth in Oswego. Probably not less than 300 were on board both steamers when they left this port.

THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST for July is a capital number. The information it contains for the farmer, the gardener, and the household is alone worth the price of the monthly for a year. Indeed it seems remarkable how such a fund of information can be furnished for such a small sum. The Agriculturist is published by Orange Judd & Co., 245 Broadway, New York, at $1.50 per annum.

THE ATTACKS UPON MR. BRYDGES.—The Railway News of June 19th, contains a correspondence between Mr. Croak who has been the chief agitator in Grand Trunk Railway affairs, and Mr. Brydges. Mr. Croak addressed a number of enquiries to Mr. Brydges respecting various points in the management and economy of the Grand Trunk. These enquiries Mr. Brydges answered in a clear, explicit and satisfactory manner. The News, in commenting on this correspondence, says: "No impartial person can, we think, read the answers given by Mr. Brydges to the questions put to him, without feeling satisfied of their completeness, and that the charges so habitually brought against him by Mr. Croak in these matters, have been fully and completely disposed of. We hope, in the interest of all parties, that this ridiculous attempt to revive an agitation which can be productive of no possible good, and which may lead to considerable injury, will not be persevered in."

PERSONAL.—Professor Macoun, of Albert College, started this morning en route for Fort William, Lake Superior, on a Botanical expedition, under the auspices of the Natural History Society of Montreal. The Professor carries with him letters of introduction to the chief officials of the Hudson's Bay Company, and the most influential persons of that Region. He intends to botanize over the neighborhood of Fort William, and to visit Nespigon, Michipicoten, Thunder Cape, and other prominent localities. His attention will be chiefly devoted to the Cryptogamous genera, mosses, ferns, lichens, &c. From the well known energy and success of Prof. Macoun as a collector and observer, we anticipate on his return a rich harvest of specimens, and a valuable contribution to the Natural History of that most interesting and hitherto little known region.

The Press Association.

The City Council of Oswego have appointed a Committee to make arrangements for a public demonstration in honor of the Canadian Press Association on the occasion of its visit to that City during the present month. The Board of Trade is also to co-operate, and a grand reception is evidently to be given to the Association. The character of the demonstration will be decided when the Committee reports to the Council sometime this week. The Oswego Times in giving an account of the proceedings thus refers to the visit of its Canadian Brethren: "As the visit of our Canadian friends will be an event of no ordinary importance, representing as they do the worth and intelligence of the Dominion, we trust that the effort thus instituted by the Common Council will meet with the co-operation and assistance of our citizens, who should not only be glad to shew our beautiful city to all comers, but should bear in mind that their kind offices and attention may not be without its influence in moulding a healthy public opinion, and thus in some small degree strengthen the friendly relations which have ever existed and still exist between the two countries."

On their route the Association will visit Belleville on Friday, and it has been suggested that some steps be taken to get up a demonstration on the occasion. As the Council meets this evening probably some action will be taken in the matter.

—Bakers must find it hard to please. Is their bread "light" they are justly fined; is it "heavy?" away flies their custom.

Provincial Exhibition for 1869.

We have received the Prize List of the Provincial Exhibition to be held in London in September next. The following is a programme for the week of the Exhibition, which parties interested would do well to cut out and save for future reference.

1. MONDAY, Sept. 20th, will be devoted to the final receiving of articles for exhibition, and their proper arrangement. None but officers and members of the Association, judges, exhibitors, and necessary attendants will be admitted.

2. TUESDAY, 21st.—The judges in all the classes will meet in their respective Committee Rooms at 10 a. m., and will make arrangements to commence their duties.—On receiving their class books they will also be furnished with blank prize tickets, which they shall fill up and fix in each section as soon as they shall finally have determined their awards. The First Prize Tickets will be Red; the Second, Blue; the Third, Yellow; the Fourth, White; Extras, Green; the "Highly Commended" and "Commended" Tickets, White. On completing the class, the judges will report to the Secretary. The main Exhibition Building will be closed all this day for the purpose of affording the judges an opportunity for discharging their duties properly. Non-members admitted to the grounds on payment of 25 cents each time. The annual meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association will take place at 7 p. m.

3. WEDNESDAY, 22nd.—The judges of the various classes will complete their awards as early in the day as possible. All the buildings and grounds will be open to visitors. The mission, the same as on Tuesday. The annual meeting of the Mechanics' Institute Association will take place this evening at 7 o'clock.

4. THURSDAY, 23.—Admission tickets 25 cents. The Prize animals will be exhibited in the ring at 2 p. m. The Annual Meeting of the Directors of the Provincial Agricultural Association, for the purpose of electing auditors, deciding upon the place of holding the next Exhibition, and other business, will take place at 7 p. m., at the Court House, London.

The President will deliver his address at the Annual Meeting.

5. FRIDAY, 24th.—Admission the same as on previous days. At 2 p. m., the Exhibition will be considered officially closed after which no one will be admitted into the Crystal Palace, and exhibitors may commence to take away their property.

6. SATURDAY, 25th. The Treasurer will commence paying the premiums at 9 a. m. Exhibitors will remove all their property from the buildings. The gates will be kept closed as long as necessary, and none will be admitted except those who can show that they have business to attend.

We observe by the proceedings of the meeting of the Council of the Association at Toronto, that there is some doubt whether the Exhibition will be held this year in London or not. A deputation from the London Local Committee attended the meeting, and stated the repairs to the building would require $3,000; they only had $2,500, and wanted assistance to the amount of $500. After a long discussion the following resolution was adopted:—

Mr. J. C. Rykert moved, seconded by Mr. G. McDonnell, "That in the opinion of the Council, it would be unwise to grant any sum of money to the city of London to aid them erecting suitable buildings for the accommodation of the Exhibition, in view of the fact that a guarantee was given to the annual meeting that all the necessary accommodations would be provided."—Carried.

The London deputation explained that their County Council put them off with a paltry grant of $500. A meeting of the Local Committee would be held on Saturday, and the result of its deliberations would be telegraphed to the Secretary of the Council.

Smith vs. School Trustees.

The following letter from Messrs. Hodgins, Bull & McWilliams, Toronto, to Mr. A. R. Dougall, Plaintiff's lawyer, gives the leading points in the Vice-Chancellor's decision:—

"TORONTO, 3rd July, 1869.

"SIR,—The Vice-Chancellor says he is not prepared to overrule the argument of the Plaintiff's Counsel, that such a contract as this, as well as other proceedings by School bodies, may not be entered into or performed without a seal; but he finds that the School Trustees expressly recognized this contract under seal in the estimate sent to the Town Council in 1867, and without going further into the questions of law, he holds the Board to that contract and grants the Plaintiff all the relief he asks against them. And the Board is to pay all costs, including cost of motion for decree in Toronto, of Plaintiff and of Defendant Dickson."

Maisters.

The following order in Council respecting Malt appears in the Official Gazette of Saturday:

The licensed maisters and others engaged in that pursuit shall be, and they are hereby permitted to kiln dry damaged grain of all kinds without payment of duty of one cent per pound thereon, on the following conditions:—

1. The period of drying damaged grain shall in each case be regulated by the Collector of Inland Revenue.

2. The drying shall be done under personal inspection of the officer of the excise detailed for that purpose.

3. The owner of grain or drying kiln shall pay to the Collector of Inland Revenue such sum as shall be sufficient to cover expense incurred in the survey of drying damaged grain.

4. It will be the duty of an officer to examine closely and ascertain whether damaged grain is germinating, and if it be, to report same to the Collector forthwith.

In Camp.

According to military orders from headquarters, the 15th Battalion at six o'clock this morning began to assemble at the Armory to organize for the purpose of going into Camp for their annual six days drill. Although the orders were to be on hand at sharp six, a number did not make their appearance at that early hour, and some few required the honor of a military escort. About ten o'clock the Battalion numbering over 200 strong, headed by their Band proceeded from their Armory to the Camping ground, which is pleasantly situated on the Bay shore about a mile east of the Town.

Just before reaching the ground is the surtler's tent under the management of Mr. P. Scovill. There are forty-two tents altogether, six tents for each Company, the remainder being for officers, guard tents, &c. To-day has been chiefly occupied in arranging the tents, and it is expected the orders of the day will not be read until to-morrow. Everything is in apple-pie order, and the men appear to be well pleased with their situation.

Brigade-Major Shaw and Deputy-Adjutant General Jarvis are expected on Friday to inspect the Battalion.

For the Intelligencer.

Dominion Day in Bridgewater.

Dominion day was duly celebrated in this place. Owing to the weather being dull and looking like rain, the crowd did not muster so strongly on this occasion as on the last; but the rain never came, and the day was delightfully cool, and no doubt many who stayed away are this day regretting it, after hearing the glowing accounts which their more adventurous neighbors must have by this time given them of the day's proceedings. At six a. m., the gun fired a royal salute, which made sufficient noise to wake up any somnolent individual who wrapped in the arms of morpheous had forgotten what was to take place that day, that is if such a one could have been found in the village. Soon after vehicles of all descriptions began to find their way into the city, from the genteel buggy, or highly varnished democrat with fast trotting teams, down to the humble home-made with its one horse, whose days it was easily to be seen had been many, and those not without trouble. All seemed bent on enjoying themselves, and there was plenty of fun to enable them to enjoy their best. The morning was devoted to the game of Base Ball, and any other sport the public liked to indulge in, which were numberless, and did not lack variety. At noon there was another salvo from the artillery, when the people went in search of such comfort as the inner man required, and were in bountiful supply at the hotel, and from the [illegible] made by the [illegible] an outsider would have been compelled to admit that the viands were being supplied without stint.

Soon after one o'clock the games commenced as advertised, the hurdle race created the most excitement, the velocipede race was much relished, but the most fun was created by the three legged race, the boy's bear race, and the wheel-barrow race, (blind folded.) there being in the latter so much tumbling over the vehicles by the drivers getting off the tracks and going every way but the right way, which caused the spectators to roar with delight, but eventually some few of the competitors managed to bungle to the winning post, and in a few instances quite beyond it, and so the game was won. The games lasted till about six p. m. At dusk there was a beautiful display of fireworks, followed by a huge bonfire built of evergreens with a huge knob on the top, which looked like the face of a man, "if you fancied, a good deal" as the Marchioness says in the "Old curiosity shop". A good sized balloon was then set off and ascended in grand style, but whether this said balloon was like a great deal of the human nature we meet with, and wished to imitate its confreres, the fireworks and bonfire, this deponent cannot say, but certain it is, that after the machine had got up in air some little distance, it suddenly took fire and made a blaze and an end of itself at one and the same time.

Every one was delighted with the day's amusements, and vehicles now became in request and the people began to leave rapidly many of them giving way to song as they went home, and at midnight the village of Bridgewater had returned to its wonted quiet.

Bridgewater, July 2, 1869.

—A telegram from Port Colborne, July 3rd, says:—The captain of the propeller Prairie State reports passing a barque sunk, with top-masts out of water, between Fair Port and Ashtabula, supposed to be the barque "Garryowen" of Toronto, loaded with coal from Cleveland for Toronto. It is reported all hands were saved.

GREASE OR CARPETS.—There is nothing that annoys a tidy house keeper so much as to have her carpet spotted with lamp-oil or grease, and we therefore make known for their benefit the following extract for extracting oil or grease spots from carpets or clothes: Cover the grease spot with whiting, and let it remain until it becomes saturated with the grease; then scrape it off, and cover it with another coat of whiting, and if this does not remove the grease, repeat the application. Three coats of whiting will, in most cases, remove the grease, when it should be brushed off with a cloth or brush. So says one who knows.

The Storm at Woodstock.

The Rev. W. T. McMullen, pastor of Knox's Church, Woodstock, sends the following account of the terrific hail storm to the Globe:

A hailstorm of a very appalling character passed over our town on Sabbath evening, shortly before 6 o'clock. After about forty-eight hours of continuous and heavy rain, the sky cleared considerably about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and the cool temperature of the preceding days was immediately succeeded by very sultry heat.—Loud peals of thunder commenced in the north-west about 5 o'clock; the heavens grew very dark and threatening, as if a tornado were coming, and in the course of twenty minutes the nearness and startling reverberations of the thunder aroused the most heedless. The suspense was brief.—Immediately, as if the town were being shelled by an immense besieging army, the roofs were rattling and the windows breaking under the terrific play of volley after volley of, I shall not say hail-stones, but lumps of ice, from two to three ounces in weight, and of every variety of shape. Coming in through the windows, they bounded up off the floors and rattled about in the most frightful manner. Some families, in terror that their houses would break down, fled to the cellars, not daring, of course, to venture outside and encounter the hail. Others stood in dumb terror, or attempted to quiet the terrified children. Momentarily the fury of the descending hail would abate, and members of families could speak to one another so as to be heard; and the next instant, the house would be literally trembling under the pounding of the hail on the roof. In the six windows on the north side of the Church of which I am pastor, only seven panes remain unbroken. Chalmer's Church has suffered even more severely, being broken on both sides. The windows in the north side of Erskine Church are completely shattered. The Baptist Institute lost over seven hundred panes of glass.—The windows on the west side of the Town Hall were also demolished. All the large buildings seem to have been centres of assault; but even to the smallest, in some parts of the town, scarcely a house escaped. Sixty lights were broken in the manse in which I live, though the main part of the building is protected by a wide verandah. About half the leaves are battered off the trees, and all the branches are marked with the wounds made by the hail. Grass that was fit for mowing is not merely laid flat, but cut off and pounded to the ground, so that it is useless. Wherever wheat, or other crops, came under the action of the hail, it was totally destroyed. The gardens present a most pitiful spectacle. Branches, leaves, young apples, cherries, plums, grapes, &c., are strewn in all directions. It is to be hoped that the extent of devastation did not extend through any considerable portion of the surrounding country. Only very few farms suffered any damage.

A phenomenon of such appalling grandeur it is certainly a privilege to see once in a person's life; but no one who witnessed it, I am sure, would desire ever to see the like again. And though no evening services could be held in the Churches, I feel certain that many were impressed with their own insignificance, and the awful majesty of God, more profoundly than ever they were by any words spoken by the lips of man.

Yours, &c.,
W. T. McMULLEN,
Pastor of Knox Church.

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless, landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

THE TIMES ON THE IRISH CHURCH BILL—WHAT ARCHBISHOP CULLEN THINKS.

LONDON, July 3.—The Times to-day says that the votes in the House of Lords last evening have had the effect of rendering the Irish Church Bill more favorable to the Established Church, and more offensively partial in its provisions.

Archbishop Cullen addressed a letter to the officers of the Catholic College, saying that if the Irish Church Bill is mutilated by the House of Peers, the nation must have a fuller measure of Justice.

THE LATEST.

CHANGES IN THE MINISTRY

MADRID, July 4.—Forthcoming changes in the Ministry are freely discussed. It is rumored that Ardaveye will be appointed Minister of France, and Martos Minister of Justice. The Government has explained that Gen. Peravia, the Isabellist, was arrested on charges of military disobedience and conspiracy against the Government.

CUBAN AFFAIRS

The silence which the Government has maintained concerning Gen. Dulces' report of his administration and of the state of affairs in Cuba, causes much surprise.

REPUBLICAN MANIFESTO

A strong Republican manifesto has been published in Seville. Its appearance was simultaneous with the departure from the city of a party of Republicans numbering one thousand. It is rumored that they propose to Portugal and will re-enter Spain through Estre, Madora Troops have been sent in pursuit

ATLANTIC CABLE.

BREST, July 4.—At noon on Saturday the Great Eastern had run 1,345 knots from Brest, and paid out 1,281 knots of cable. Everything was working well

FROM FRANCE

PARIS, July 4th.—M. Meral and several other members of the majority of the Corps Legislatif, propose to bring in a motion that greater development be given to the election and authority of the Corps Legislatif. That the address in reply to the speech from the throne be established That the right and practice of interpellation be organised on a large scale. That the right to amend projects of law be extended, and that the Chamber have the right to elect its own President. It is rumored that the Government will accept these reforms

LATER

M Meral has withdrawn his motion for Legislative Reforms. The opposition in the Corps demand a responsible Ministry, and autonomy of the Corps Legislatif, in order that the country may govern the country.

The negotiations between France and Belgium for a commercial treaty has closed with satisfactory understanding on all points

NEW ALBION HOTEL,
MCGILL STREET,
MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really, first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses 2" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and system.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House

From its situation on the McGill street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from

We, therefore, request for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

A Fish Entertainment.

The flea has been caught, captured and made useful at last. We some time since mentioned that a gentlemen, calling himself Prof. Kitchingman, had been endeavouring to educate the pulex irritans, and that he had succeeded to some extent. He is now showing to such of the world of London, as care to see his exhibition, what teaching and patient labor can do in producing performing fleas. He has made fleas' furniture, men-of-war, chariots, railway engines, treadmills, tight ropes, sea-saws, and has brought his insects to such a pitch of perfection that they draw, pull, fire, and do other wonderful things when he wants them to do so. They are tied to the instruments by fine hairs or glass threads, and soon learn how to do their work. Mr Kitchingham believes the creatures have intellects. Without endorsing this or unduly triumphing at the fact that the insect which has so long laughed at man, spoiled his temper so often, and baffled so effectual by all attempts at suppression, can now be tamed and brought under the master mind we must congratulate the professor on having accomplished a wonderful task. The flea is certainly a bad master; we hope he will prove a good servant.—London Times

ASHES FOR STRAWBERRIES.—Mr. John R. Woods, of Winchester, Ill., favors us with the following account of his experience with leached ashes as a fertilizer for strawberries. "In the spring of 1868, I put the contents of my lye-hopper between three rows of my strawberries, spreading the ashes about three inches thick. The only difference I noticed between the plants of these rows and those near which no ashes had been placed, was a slight shade of yellow upon the leaves of the first, which rather alarmed me. Early in the fall, however, I discovered the appearance of new vigor in them, and they threw out runners till the frost came. This summer they are ahead of all the other strawberries in my garden. Strong stalks, laden with bloom and fruit, and the leaves are enormous. The plants in the other part of the bed are of the ordinary size.—I attribute the superiority of those I so liberally dressed with ashes, to the ashes, and to nothing else. I am now treating a bed I set out last fall to a bountiful supply of leached ashes, they effectually squelch the weeds, if left about three or four inches thick, and the cut-worms avoid them. Tell your readers that it is criminal to waste ashes upon walks or streets. If a poor family can have a very little patch of this delicious fruit, they can double the crop by using ashes as I have done."

Stock Market.

The Montreal 'Gazette' of Saturday quotes stock as follows :—

During the past week business has ruled very dull and the only movement of consequence has been an advance of 2 per cent. in Merchants' Bank.

BANK OF MONTREAL—Is dull at 160½ to 161 The transactions during the week were small

BANK OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA—Has been sold to some extent at 104 ex-dividend, which price would still be paid.

CITY BANK—Remains without material change with buyers at 98½ and sellers at 99½. The shares are now $100 each, instead of $80 as formerly, in accordance with an act of Parliament, passed during the session just closed.

MOLSON'S BANK—Continues in demand at 103½.

MERCHANTS' BANK—There has been a large speculative demand for this stock with a rapid advance in price from 109 to 111, closing very firm with sellers at 111¼ and buyers at 111. The latest transactions were at 111¼.

MECHANICS' BANK—Remains dull at 92½ to 92¾ There are buyers at the former and sellers at the latter price.

BANQUE DU PEUPLE—Has been largely dealt in at 102, closing rather firm with buyers at 103. Sellers asking 103½.

BANQUE JACQUES CARTIER—Is firmly there being to-day buyers at 107 to 107½. No stock in market.

QUEBEC BANK—This stock closes rather weak er with sellers 100½, buyers only offering 99½

BANK NATIONALE—Is asked for, but there is none offering. 107 to 108 would be paid.

UNION BANK—There are buyers at 104, ex dividend holders asking 106.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS' BANK Buyers offer 98 sellers holding for 99½ to 100

ONTARIO BANK—Sold to a considerable extent early in the week at 95, but there has since been very little demand and closed dull at 95½ to 95.

BANK OF TORONTO—There has been some enquiry for this stock and 119 ex-dividend would be paid.

GORE BANK—Is offered at 99½ with buyers at 98½

ROYAL CANADIAN BANK—Continues in demand at 50. No stock offering. The result of the ANNUAL MEETING on Monday next, is anxiously looked for CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE—Is enquired for at 100 ex-dividend, but there are no sellers to this date.

MONTREAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY—There have been no late transactions in this stock, buyers being unwilling to pay present prices. The shares are now closed for payment of dividend of 5 per cent. on the 5th proximo

CANADIAN NAVIGATION COMPANY—Buyers offer 99½ but holders are firm at 100½ to 101

RICHELIEU NAVIGATION COMPANY—Buyers at 120 to 121. Sellers holding for 122 to 123

RAILWAY STOCKS AND BONDS—Quite a small sales of Grand Trunk stock rather under quoted prices have been the only transactions of the week.

CANADA DEBENTURES—The rates in London having been so well maintained, sellers will not reduce their prices. Dominion stock is rather lower, there being to-day sellers at 107 and buyers over 106½. The amount offering is very small

MORTGAGES—Continues to be sought after at 7 to 7½ per cent

EXCHANGE—Closes quiet at 9½ to 9¾ for Bankers 60 day bills.

MONEY—Continues very abundant and some of the bankers are disposed to lend at rather low rates.

An unconscious but comical play upon words was made by a little girl not long since while relating to a sympathizing old lady the loss of two pet calves. 'What caused their death?' said the lady. 'Oh,' was the answer, 'one was hooked to death, and the other died on its own hook.

ORTON'S PREPARATION!

ESTABLISHED 1866.

[illegible] one box of Orton's Preparation is warranted to [illegible] the appetite for Tobacco, in any person [illegible] how strong they may be. If it fails in any case the money will be refunded. Perfectly safe and harmless in all cases. It is at most impossible to have the desire exercised [illegible] k of the use of tobacco. [illegible] needed to assist nature [illegible] the will. Something is [illegible] more rooted. With the [illegible] moreoming a habit so [illegible] there is not the least [illegible] help of the Preparation [illegible] trouble. Hundreds have used it who are willing [illegible] trouble. Hundreds have to bear witness to the [illegible]

[illegible] Prepa- ration completely destroys the appetite for tobacco, and leaves the person as free from any desire for it, as before he commenced its use. It acts directly upon the same affected by tobacco and [illegible] blood throughout the system, and from the system and [illegible] natural cravings for tobacco. No more hanker ing for tobacco after [illegible] using Orton's Preparation. Recollect it is [illegible] warranted

The dose, [illegible] for Tobacco [illegible] by the use of this Preparation varies slightly in different persons, the average time being about Five days. Less than five days [illegible] for Tobacco after using the Preparation Two days [illegible]

The North British Review.

AND

Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine.

THE reprints of the leading Quarterlies and Blackwood are now indispensable to all who desire to keep themselves fully informed with regard to the great subjects of the day, as viewed by the best scholars and soundest thinkers in Great Britain. The conductors of the first three, it is true, do not always agree with those of the last, but English readers prefer to judge for themselves on fair and full statements of opposite views, and all are agreed in the high literary merit and ability with which the various articles are written, whether on subjects of literature, science, religion, art and general literature and whatever is worthy of attention needs attention in the pages of these Reviews and Blackwood. The variety is so great that no subscriber can fail to be satisfied.

These periodicals are printed with thorough fidelity to the English copy, and are issued at prices which place them within the reach of all.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our tea and coffee or notice at an expense of at least four times what they now cost?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to another article of food, which nature in a bottle of plants and roots, and are as readily prepared as tea and coffee.

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medicinal properties than can be procured in any other form for four times the amount of money.

We have in our possession numerous testimonials as to the practicability of, as well as the benefits derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from a impure state of the blood, such as Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, White swellings, tendency to consumption, coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs, liver complaint, and in fact all diseases that arise, and promotes the general vigor of the system, and prolongs the life, the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per package.

DR. THOMPSON'S

Stomachic Bitters.

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and Indigestion. For costiveness it has no equal. It is a kind and powerful regulator and corroborant for any acute paroxysm; a good alterative tonic for ordinary family purposes, a powerful invigorant after the fevers has been reduced by sickness, an excellent as well as an agreeable beverage for general health, for females, and diseases having their origin in an imperfect digestion or a deranged state of the stomach. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6.

OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds, such as cold chills, fevers, sore throat, headache, pains in the joints or limbs, neuralgia, rheumatism, pain in the back, pain in the side, &c. It is a simple remedy, and is used for all purposes for which Pain Killers or Relievs are used, such as cramps in the stomach, bowel complaint, dysentery, summer complaints, cholera morbus, female complaints or weaknesses. It can be used with the greatest success as a Liniment. Sold at 50 cents per package.

☞ The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present condensed style of putting up the medicine in packages as he is thereby enabled to supply double the amount of medicine for one-half the regular price of many large envelopes.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS

OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and which was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception the most refreshing, delibrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 6, 1869 No. 55.

Michigan.

A NEW TOWN—ITS RAPID GROWTH—DAMN, FISH AND LUMBER

(Correspondence of the Chicago Tribune.)

DUNCAN, SHEBOYGAN Co., Michigan, July, 1869.

I have perused in your paper sketches of different towns in this State, and thought some of your many readers might be interested and benefited by learning something about our new town.

Two years ago, five families constituted all the inhabitants of this place, excepting wild fowl and mosquitoes. No business was done, and it was Sunday here all the week. But a marked change has recently taken place here. The property originally was purchased by Mr. Sandford Baker, of Belleville, Ont., and in connection with business men of your city and Mr. Geo. Hobbs, of Belleville, having seen the extremely advantageous location of this place as a lumbering point, at once became interested. The old mill was thoroughly refitted, and lighted with gas manufactured in the mill. A new circular mill, complete in all its parts, and arranged for cutting long timber, was built, and both are now in full operation, running night and day, employing over one hundred and fifty men, cutting out 20,000,000 feet, of pine logs got in during the winter.

The old dock has been repaired and extended, and a new one built, with a warehouse and excellent shipping facilities. Vessels, which can run in here without going two miles out of the regular course between Chicago and Buffalo, are constantly at our wharves, and steamers come and go.

The two mills can turn out 350,000 feet of first class lumber per day, which commands the highest price in your market. Between forty and fifty families are now here, and more coming. A new town called West Duncan, has been laid out on the Sheboygan River, one and a half miles from here, where a fine Catholic church and college are being erected. There is plenty of work for good men at good wages. The Northern Transportation Company's steamer, leaving Chicago and Detroit Tuesdays, calls here regularly; and the steamer Marina City, of the Detroit and Lake Shore Line, also calls every trip.

A nice hotel has been opened, and the tourist will find a cosy home and excellent trout fishing.

The steamer Josie Hoyt runs up the Sheboygan to Mullet and Black Lakes, where the scenery is very fine, and at certain seasons the sportsman will find wild game in abundance, and the lumberman with an eye to business can spie to his heart's content. Yours truly, H. H.

Civilization in Australia.

The London Times has an attractive picture of the condition of affairs in Australia. In all the chief centres of settlement, it says, Australia is as civilized a country as England itself. At Melbourne, for instance, the streets are as well paved, pitched and lighted as at Liverpool or Bristol; the only difference being that they are about three times as broad. The shops are genuine English shops all over. The roadway is full of drays, waggons, carriages and hansoms, just as in London, though there is less danger of your being knocked down. It is a little surprising to find the rarest pine apples ticketed at four a shilling, and as excellent hot meat dinner offered for sixpence; but those novelties, at any rate, are not changes for the worse. We hardly know (adds the Times) whether to mention street music as recommendation; but if any London emigrant should have a fancy for a brass band in front of his window, that feature also of his home-life is reproduced faithfully at the antipodes. But what is to be done for the first few days of suspense before employment comes in and a chance of settling is offered? What becomes of the new arrival without a shilling in his pocket, and with no knowledge of the country or its ways? The reply is promptly made. He is taken under the care of the state, which provides for him until he can provide for himself. In a cheerful and healthy suburb of the town stands the Emigrants' Home, and in that establishment any emigrant destitute of means is entertained until the option of work is found for him. To this place the employers of labor constantly resort, and bargains are struck without delay or difficulty. Our correspondent has known "several hundreds" of new comers engaged and disposed of in a few hours.

Generally, however, the chief town is not the place for an emigrant to stay in. His aim should be the country, and from Melbourne the country can be reached in all directions with the greatest ease. The centres of mining and agricultural industry are connected with the capital by railways beyond the railways are good macadamized roads, with good coaches running on them. These roads lead towards the interior of a continent almost as large as Europe, with every variety of soil and climate. In some parts there are enormous tracts of rich land with hardly a tree upon it, so that no clearing is required to fit it for the plough. The interior communications are remarkably good, inasmuch that, in case of an over stocked labor market at one point, the emigrant can remove himself with perfect facility and little cost to another while in no place does he appear to leave civilization behind him. The smallest towns and most remote villages are English towns and villages still, fairly supplied with all the necessaries and not a few of the luxuries of existence. Well may our correspondent add, after such a description, that no country in the world could offer better prospects to the capitalist or greater advantages to the working man than the British colony at Victoria.

A man who can do nothing whatever would find even Australia a bad place to live in; but there is employment, and sometimes better than employment, ready for all who can work and save. Just now wages are "maintained"—that is, are not falling, and the rates of payment are certainly pleasant to look at. Masons and brick layers get 10s a day; carpenters, 9s; builders, laborers, 7s; blacksmiths, 30s a week; wheelwrights, 35s to 40s. On the farm a shepherd may get his £40 a year; a hut keeper, £32; a lad who can milk, 12s a week; and a general farm-laborer, 15s. "Common labor," it is added by way of summary, "may be quoted at 6s to 7s a day. Nor are these wages reduced in actual value by high charges of living. Perhaps lodgings are rather dear, but where a dinner of the best meat, bread, and vegetables with out stint can be had for sixpence, living must needs be cheap.

A magnificent aquarium was recently opened at Berlin. The first room is a hall paved with marble, having snake and lizard cages on either side. From this room the visitor passes to a balcony, from which he looks down into a large rocky cavern, with a pool below tenanted by water fowl. An adjoining room contains another nearly circular cavern, with basins in the rockwork around the side, and a magnificent aviary in the middle. The latter must contain more than a thousand birds, who, at first sight, appear to be in so-called "happy family," on a very large scale, as there is absolutely nothing but a large cage of wire gauze. On closer examination, however, one may perceive that it is divided by very delicate wire partitions radiating from the centre, so that only about one hundred birds occupy the same compartment. From the aviary a rocky vaulted passage leads to the aquarium, strictly so called, and also to the lower part of the above-mentioned cavern. The imitation rockwork is partially successful, and the general effect of the different apartments very fine. There is no aquarium in Europe equal to it

Floating Meadows in the Atlantic.—In the Atlantic Ocean, a little to the west of the Azores, there exists a space seven times larger than all Germany, according to Humboldt, completely covered with a dense mass of marine vegetation. M. Jules Leviniere has purposed to the society d'Agriculture to make those floating meadows, as they are called by Aveldo, subservient to the purposes of agriculture. His suggestion is that the ships occupied during the summer in cod fishing should in other seasons be employed in conveying this abundant manure to the Azores, where an entrepot could be established. The weeds pressed and dried, and the mineral salts they contain extracted. Analysis has shown that these weeds possess the same fertilising properties as those employed as manure on the French coasts, and the Revue Scientifique declares the idea to be "tres originale, et peut-etre-tres feconde." M. Laviniere calculates that these floating meadows produce annually sufficient vegetable matter to manure 900,000,000 hectares a hectare being about an acre and a half.

Another Spurgeon is proclaimed in the English press. Rev. William Jones is his name, of Birmingham. He is said to be a Methodist, but created his first great sensation in the "Metropolitan Tabernacle." An English paper speaks of him thus: "With a natural delivery of the most unpromising character, he (Mr. Jones) began, and in a few sentences impressed his earnestness upon the minds of all. Affected with the vast audience before him, and with his theme, he soon kindled, and with extraordinary eloquence, beautiful imagery, and fiery zeal, threw the whole assembly into transport. His waiving hand of appeal for silence while he completed his sentences was of little avail! A frenzy of admiration had smitten all, and tumultuous applause seemed only to be a momentary relief, when an easy turn to the clock, indicative of his desire to resume his seat called forth tumultuous cries that he should go on! He finished, as he began, an address which we cannot compare with any we have yet heard, and which must give the impress to this meeting as the best which has yet been held."

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, JULY 6

HASTINGS HASE BALL CLUB.—This Club will meet for practice every Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, on the Cricket ground

SABBATH SCHOOL CONCERT.—Don't forget the Concert this evening in the Bridge Street Wesleyan Methodist Church, by the Sabbath School children. A rich treat is in store for all who will attend.

CORRECTION.—A mistake appeared in last evening's issue in reference to the time of starting of the Bay of Quinte to-morrow morning. It should have read 6:30 o'clock instead of 2:30.

PRINCE EDWARD BATTALION.—A telegram from Picton, July 5th, says:—"The 16th Battalion, under command of Lieut.-Col. Ross, assembled here to-day to put in their annual drill. They are camped out on the Agricultural Society's grounds"

CONCERT.—A concert in aid of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, will be held in the Town Hall, Canifton, on Friday evening next, the 9th instant. The programme is an interesting one, and the concert will no doubt be worth y of general patronage.

CRICKET.—Our Wednesday a match will be played between the Belleville eleven, and the Port Hope club, in Belleville, and on Thursday, the same eleven of Belleville will play the Lindsay club. Wickets to be pitched at 9 a. m., each day, on the old cricket ground. Seats provided for the ladies.

HEALTH AND HOME.—Hearth and Home, (Pettengill, Bates & Co., New York.) This Journal keeps up its genial method of inculcating horticultural teachings, and of mixing them with matters of domestic interest and fire-side entertainment. It is handsomely illustrated, and is fast becoming a general favourite.

GOLD IN NEW BRUNSWICK.—A telegram from St. Johns, N. B. of the 3rd inst., says: The reported gold discoveries at Eel River, York County, are fully confirmed. Portions of the quartz rock has been analyzed by Professor Bailey and found to be very rich. In many instances the gold is visible to the naked eye, and specimens of pure metal have been found the size of a large pea. The sand of the river is also found to be auriferous. Large numbers of persons arrived, and considerable excitement prevails.

FISHERIES.—The following order in Council respecting Fisheries appears in last Saturday's official Gazett s regulating the section of Fisheries Act, which requires that sieves, nets, or other apparatus used for catching fish shall be so raised or adapted as to admit the free passage of fish through, past or out of the same, between the hour of 6 o'clock on every Saturday evening to 6 o'clock on every following Monday morning as follows:—Sub. section fourteen of the thirteenth section of the Fishery Act shall, as affects deep sea and coast fisheries, in tidal waters, apply only to salmon and salmon fishery with nets and other apparatus, within a distance of three miles on either side of the mouth of each river or stream.

WHITNEY'S MUSICAL GEM.—The July number of this cheapest and best of Musical Monthlies is received. It contains many very interesting and instructive musical items, sketches, &c., besides three beautiful songs, as follows:

"A Hundred fathoms deep," by Shattuck

The cares of a miser's years,
In a hundred fathoms deep;
The child of a mother's hopes and fears,
In a hundred fathoms deep.
Side by side do they quietly lay,
The idol of gold and the idol of clay,
In a hundred fathoms deep.'

"Fair Weather Friends," by Howard, and "Our Laughing Little one," by Ogden. This Monthly presents a neat and handsome appearance, each number containing twenty-four pages, of which ten to twelve are reserved for choice new music. It is well worth in real value to the subscriber more than three times its price. Terms only $1.00 per year with spendid premiums to clubs. Send ten cents for sample copy. Address W. W. Whitney, Toledo, Ohio.

A Debt of Long Standing.

The following letter was addressed to the Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, and the money alluded to—eight dollars—was duly received. Mr. Wallbridge's father has been dead thirty-seven years, so that it is evident the debtor has an excellent memory as well as a disposition to do what is right

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 24, 1869

DEAR SIR,—Enclosed you will find eight dollars I was owing to your father. I neglected paying until now, which I remit by a friend to Canada to you, for I suppose your father is not living. Please give it to your mother if she lives, if not, divide it between the family as the estate was divided accordingly, and oblige.

Yours truly,
HONESTY AND FAIR PLAY

—The other Sunday, a lady preacher, in Wisconsin, discoursed from the text: "I say unto you, watch," and the next week the gallant youths of her congregation gave her a nice gold one

The Twelfth of July.

From what we can learn the coming Twelfth of July will be celebrated with all the ardor and enthusiasm which has characterized the best celebrations of the past. In different places throughout the Dominion preparations have already commenced for celebrating the "glorious Twelfth" in a becoming manner In this County the day will be commemorated at different points

Districts Nos. 3 and 4 will meet in Shannonville in the morning at 10 o'clock, and march in procession to Earl's Grove, where a sermon will be preached by the Rev. Mr Anderson A dinner will be provided in the Grove by the Orangemen, the proceeds of which will go toward the erection of an Orange Hall in this Village We hope that the Brethren in these districts will turn out in large numbers, and that enough will be realized to build a fine Hall

In Tweed the day will be celebrated in a right royal manner. The Brethren will meet in the Town Hall at 10 o'clock a. m., receive the Brethren from other districts, after which the procession will march to Hickory Point, where dinner will be served at one o'clock p. m., under the management of the members of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, after which the audience will be addressed by a number of the Brethren.—The Rev. Mr. Sanderson of Belleville, will also deliver an address on "Protestant Principles." Hon. Billa Flint will lay the corner stone of a new Wesleyan Church to be erected in the Village, and as the proceeds are to be applied toward the completion of the Church, and as the Order always willingly aids in so protestant an enterprize, all friendly to the undertaking are respectfully invited

In North Hastings the Orangemen will celebrate by meeting in the Village of Stirling and Queensborough. The Lodges from the townships of Marmora, Rawdon, and Huntingdon, are to meet in Stirling, and those from Madoc and the townships in the rear will assemble in Queensborough, where, no doubt, they will have a jolly time.

There will be no display in Belleville this year, the Orangemen having decided to take part in the celebrations in Tweed and Shannonville.

The Brethren of Orange District No. 1, South Hastings, did intend to have had a celebration at Trenton on the coming 12th, but we have been informed by the District Secretary that it has been postponed until some future time.

The Approaching Convention.

The adjourned meeting of the Local Committee of the Provincial S. S. Association met in the Vestry of the John St. Presbyterian Church last evening. The meeting was large and enthusiastic. There were present

Revs. G. R. Sanderson, J. Wild, S. Jones, J.C. Smith, D. Brethour and A. Carman; Hon. Billa Flint and, Wm. Johnson, members of the Executive Committee; Messrs. Andrew Thomson, W. A. Shepard, G. V. N. Relyea, John Forin, A. G. Northrup, James Ross, Wm. Watt, E. Miles, R. Mc Donald, Robertson, R. Bailey and Hampton.

Two Schools are yet un-represented. Provision, however, was made for their being represented when it is practicable for them to do so. The following is the organization of the Committee

Chairman.—Rev. G. R. Sanderson.

Secretary,—Mr. Wm. Johnson.

RECEPTION AND ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE.—St. Andrew's Church,—Messrs. [illegible] and S. [illegible]; John St. Presbyterian,—Messrs. G. V. N. Relyea and John Forin; Episcopal Methodist,—Prof. Carman and Mr. C. Garrett; Congregational.—Messrs. White and Hampton; Bridge St. Wesleyan,—Messrs. James Ross and Wm. Watt; Bleeker St.—Messrs. R. Van Norman and Jas. Watson. Convener,—Andrew Thomson.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.—Hon. Billa Flint, W. A. Shepard, J. C. Holden, and E. Miles. Convener, Hon. Billa Flint

CORRESPONDENCE COMMITTEE.—Rev. J. Wild, Rev. Mr. Smith, Rev. Wm. McLaren, Mr. A. G. Northrup and Mr. Wm Johnson Convener.—Rev. J. Wild

The Committee adjourned to meet at the call of the Chairman, in the same place. With such Committees as the foregoing, we doubt not of the success of the Convention

Militia Order.

The Official Gazette of Saturday last contains the following order

Boards of Officers will assemble at London, Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John & Halifax, on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 3rd and 4th August next, for the examination in their respective districts of such officers of the Volunteer Force, throughout the Dominion as may desire to have their proficiency in drill and discipline tested and certified by such Boards.

The certificates which the Boards will be authorized to give will be of two classes.

Class 1. For such officers as shall have proved to the Board, their ability to handle a Battalion at Battalion Drill

Class 2. For such officers as shall have proved to the Board, their ability to drill a Company at Company's drill and to command a Company at Battalion drill

No charge for travelling expenses will be admitted

The Boards will consist of the D. A General and one Brigade Major of each District, and a qualified Field Officer of the Volunteers to be detailed for this duty by the District Staff Officer

Officers desirous of appearing before the Boards are requested to give timely notice of the same to the Brigade Majors in their respective Divisions.

Town Council.

MONDY Evening, July 5, 1869.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment.

PRESENT.—Messrs Henderson, Kelso Kennedy, Tannahill, Watters, Holden, Foster, Vandusen and Vair

In the absence of the Mayor, Mr Henderson took the chair

The minutes of former meeting were read and approved

PETITIONS

A petition was read from John Thompson, Street Surveyor, asking for a salary of $400 per year

From J. Nosworthy, asking for the position of Harbor Master

A letter was read from the two newspaper publishers in town, calling the attention of the Council to the fact that the Press Association of Canada would visit Belleville on their annual excursion, and suggesting that some steps be taken to give them a cordial reception

The petitions of John Thompson and J. Nosworthy were referred to the respective Committees, and the letter of the two newspaper publishers was ordered to be taken up in Council

ACCOUNTS

Several small accounts were read, and referred to the respective Committees

REPORTS.

The Committee on Finance handed in their report, recommending the payment of several small accounts

The Committee also presented the following report, respecting the claim of the Board of School Trustees

"The Committee have had brought under their attention, that owing to a deficiency in the funds of the Board of Common School Trustees, the Teachers employed by that Board have not been paid for the quarter ending 30th June, 1869

"Although the Council have had no intimation of the amount required to pay the Teachers' salaries, except the Trustees' estimates, stating $920 as the amount required for that purpose on the 1st July; the Committee believe that a grant of $1,000 to the School Trustees would be sufficient to enable the Teachers to be paid, and it is therefore recommended, that the sum of $1,000 be granted to the Trustees, for the payment of Teachers salaries."

Mr. Vair, the newly elected member for Ketcheson Ward, was introduced to the Council, and took his seat.

The report of the Committee on Fire, Water and Gas, was handed in, stating that they had tested the new Hose, and found it insufficient, and had ordered new hose from the States

The Ferry Committee's report was handed in recommending that Mr. Bogart, the lessee of the ferry, be allowed to make two trips to Big Island on Thursdays, if he can do so without interfering with his present lease.

The Chairman of the Committee on Harbor and Town Property verbally reported that Mr. Simpson had served Mr. Bogart with a writ of ejectment, the property in dispute being adjacent to the Ferry slip

BY-LAWS

Mr. Holden gave notice of a By-law introducing the estimates for 1869, and levying a rate.

The reports of the Committees on Finance, Fire, Water, and Gas and Ferry, were then received

The Council went into Committee on Ways and Means

Mr Tannahill in the chair.

A number of accounts embodied in the Finance Committee's report, were ordered to be paid. Upon the [illegible] the adoption of the report of the report granting $1,000 to the Trustees, Mr. Henderson thought $500 should be granted them and not $1,000

Mr. Holden explained that the Trustees had not money enough to pay the teachers, and as they had not included the Government grant of $1,000 in their estimates, he thought the amount was justly due them.

Mr. Kelso was glad to see that the Council was taking the same view of the matter expressed and advocated by himself at the last meeting He considered that the $1,000 which the Council had received from the Government, justly belonged to the Trustees, and the Council were not justified in withholding it

Mr Tannahill thought the great trouble was that the Trustees had spent $1,000 wrongfully, which made the deficiency, and believed the Council should not be obliged to raise the $1,000 for them

Mr. Kennedy thought it nothing more than justice that the amount should be paid

Mr. Watters thought Mr. Kendedy took the right view of the matter.

Mr. Vair wished to know what benefit it would be to delay the payment of the amount, as if he understood the matter rightly, they would have to pay it in the end

Committee rose and reported

Upon the motion for the adoption of the Finance Committee's report, Mr. Tannahill moved that the amount of $1,000 be changed to $920, but received no seconder

The yeas and nays being demanded upon the adoption of the report, they stood as follows

YEAS—Messrs. Kelso, Kennedy, Vair, Vandusen, Watters, Holden and Foster.—7.

NAYS—Messrs Tannahill and the Chairman —2

Moved and seconded, that the report of the Committee on Fire, Water and Gas be adopted.—Carried.

Upon the motion for the adoption of the report of the Ferry Committee, Mr. Holden said he had no objection to allowing Mr. Bogart to make weekly trips to Big Island, but wished to know how it would affect his present lease

Mr. Kelso thought it would have the effect of invalidating the present lease and considered it worth looking into before taking any action

Mr Vandusen considered the arrangement a good one, as far as drawing custom from Big Island, but was afraid it would interfere with the interests of the people of Prince Edward.

Moved by Mr. Holden, seconded by Mr. Watters, That the matter be referred back to the Ferry Committee, to confer with the Committee on Harbor and Town Property, to report to the next meeting of the Council.—Carried.

The By-law to enforce Harbor dues was laid on the table.

Upon the question of the reception of the members of the Press Association, Mr. Holden considered it an important matter and thought it should be referred to a Committee.

Moved and seconded that it be referred to the Finance Committee —Carried.

Council adjourned.

The Reiffenstein Case.

A despatch from Ottawa, July 5, says:—"At three o'clock this afternoon, the Police Magistrate gave his decision in the Reiffenstein case, ordering that he should stand his trial, for larceny, at the Fall Assizes. He will therefore not be admitted to bail. On Wednesday, he will be proceeded against on a charge of larceny, in the city of Hamilton case, which relates to a sum of $2,900, which he has since placed to the credit of the Government. The whole sum which he has transferred to the Government, amounts to about $5,500, which was done by a cheque on the Ontario Bank."

Wooden Railways.

The demand for wooden railways has naturally tended to call out a supply, and we observe that Mr. Foster, a gentleman who has been engaged in building railways in Russia, and who has lately established himself in Montreal, has turned his attention to the subject, and is now exhibiting in Craig Street, Mr. Foster's model of the working size of the permanent track of a wooden railway. Mr. Foster's plan seems to be a very complete one, and its great advantage appears to consist in this—that it enables him to use his maple for rails across the grain instead of with it. The cross ties are very much like those used in ordinary railway, notched at the two ends, so as to make a bed for the longitudinal sleepers. These sleepers are double, being laid alongside one another in such a manner as to furnish a groove between them.

The rail as we have said is cut across the grain, and is of course in short lengths.—These are placed in the groove formed between the two longitudinal sleepers, and these are then brought tightly together by means of treenails. There are a few bolts at regular intervals which are also employed to draw the longitudinal sleepers together, but with this exception the whole of the track above the earthwork is of wood. Mr. Foster believes that the maple rail, except for heavy loads and high speeds, will be nearly or quite as durable as an iron rail in a climate which, during half the year, destroys all elasticity in the wood, by [illegible] James Scott mass. He conceives that besides the economy in the use of wood as compared to iron for the rail, and the saving arising from dispensing with iron spikes and chairs, he will also gain greatly in the cost of ballasting which will be wholly or comparatively unnecessary in a road, of which the permanent track is composed entirely of elastic materials.—Montreal Herald.

—It is not until the flower has fallen off that the fruit begins to ripen. So in life it is when the romance is past that the practical usefulness begins.

—The Fenians have abandoned Ireland and off to Cuba. Whenver there's a fight an Irishman's bound to have a hand in it.

—A poet says:—"Oh, she was fair, but sorrow came and left its traces there." What became of the balance of the barness he don't state.

—An Illinois paper utters a warning: "People at this season should look out for the large worm which infests the tomato vines. Its sting is deadly poison. It is of a green color, two or three inches long, and as large as a man's finger. At Red Creek, Wayne County, a few days ago, a servant girl, while gathering tomatoes, received a puncture from one of these worms, which created a sensation similar to that of a bee sting. In a short time the poison penetrated to every part of her system, and she was thrown into spasms which ended in death."

Probably few of our readers are aware how fast a railroad "wears out." An estimate of the Iron and Steel Association places the average wear and tear of the tracks in the United States at seven per cent per annum, equal to 338,760 tons of rails, which, at the rate of ninety tons to the mile, is enough to lay 3,670 miles of track. The amount of iron, therefore, needed to replace the annual wear and tear of American railroads, is more than enough to lay a track from New York to San Francisco. The cheap and shabby fashion of constructing railroads is evidently very poor economy. The average cost of construction of the English lines has been about $315,000 in gold per mile, or at least four times the average cost of American railroads.

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless, landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and sundry anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

SPAIN—THE MINISTRY

Madrid, July 5.—Parthcoming changes in the Ministry are freely discussed. It is rumored that Ardanes will be appointed Minister of Finance, and Marine Minister of Justice. Government has explained that Gen. Prim, the banditti, was entirely free from the charges of military disobedience and conspiracy against the government. The silence which Government has maintained concerning Gen. Dulce's report of his administration and of the state of affairs in Cuba causes much anxiety. A strong Republican manifesto has been published in Seville. Its appearance was simultaneous with the departure from the city of a party of Republicans numbering one thousand. It is rumored that they have gone to Portugal and will re-enter Spain through Estremadura.—Troops have been sent in pursuit.

ARRIVAL

NEW YORK, July 6.—The steamships Silesia, and Nebraska, from Liverpool, have arrived.

ELECTION IN VIRGINIA

The despatches say the election in Virginia, which takes place to-day, is exciting great interest throughout the State. Pease has entertained in Alexandria of an importation of illegal votes from Washington, and measures have been taken to arrest all such as may present themselves.

GREAT FESTIVAL

BALTIMORE, July 5.—Great preparations are making for the celebration of the biennial musical festival of the northwestern Sangerbund of America, commencing on the 10th and ending on the 16th inst. It is expected that a large majority of 160 or more societies will be present, and also a number of eminent composers from Europe and representatives of European Societies.

NEW ALBION HOTEL,
McGILL STREET,
MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices

While the "New Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, not in reality, first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travelers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and system and correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Rooms, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is no exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all not ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge to the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Jets d'Eau" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to recommend itself to the travelling public.

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

[illegible] medical discovery has attained a world-wide reputation as a remedy for many of the most formidable diseases of the throat, lungs, and chest, as this long-tried and justly celebrated Balsam. So generally acknowledged is the superior excellence of this remedy that but few of the many who have tested its virtues by experience fail to keep it on hand as a speedy and certain cure for sudden attacks of Colds—fully believing that its remedial powers are comprehensive enough to embrace every form of disease to which the slightest cold is the most dangerous symptom of pulmonary complaint.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY.

From Rev. FRANCIS LOBDELL, Pastor of the South Congregational Church, Bridgeport, Connecticut.

"I consider it a duty which I owe to suffering humanity to bear testimony to the virtues of Dr. Wistar's BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. I have used it—when I have had occasion for any remedy for Coughs, Colds or Sore Throat—for many years, and never in a single instance has it failed to relieve and cure me. I have frequently been very ill indeed on Saturday, and looked forward to the delivery of two sermons on the following day with misgivings, but by a liberal use of the Balsam my hoarseness has invariably been removed, and I have preached with ease.

"I commend it to my brethren in the ministry, and to public speakers generally, as a certain remedy for the bronchial troubles to which we are peculiarly exposed."

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

From Mr. E. TOWER, Depot Master at Salisbury, Mass.

"I have been troubled for years with a bad humor; sometimes outwardly and sometimes inwardly. During the past summer it manifested itself more than usual outwardly, and I used your Salve. All signs of it have since disappeared, without affecting me inwardly, leading, I think, the eradicating nature of the Salve. SETH W. FOWLE & SON, Boston, Proprietors.

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from heartburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer Yours respectfully, FRANCIS T. GRENE, 84 St John Street, Montreal.

Montreal, April, 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal: We unite with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as none of the large amount forwarded we have only had occasion to return one box which, we understand, was sent through a mistake G. The Press.

Said Henry Ward Beecher, speaking at H. J. Raymond's funeral

There are two things which I wish to emphasize in his public career, and only two.

He stood in the widest pulpit that is now known to modern society. The lawyer has his narrow sphere of the forum, and the representative the close walls of the Legislature—the minister has his parish and the walls of his church,and scarcely speaks beyond. But there is now a pulpit which has in this day no limit—it is that of the Press, it is literally the voice of our that speaks, that cries in the wilderness, for all creeds and for all the purposes of the land, throughout the entire territories of the Pacific Ocean the daily papers speak, and there is not in modern civilization a power which can compare with this There is no place in the land which has so developed the daily press as this, and among the builders up of this foundation stands Mr. Raymond. Pre-eminently aside from his general abilities has he conducted the press, and in remarking, and it is most gratefull in such times as these to remark upon it, I remark, how singularly free his whole career has been from bitterness; how he refused to gain strength by the advocacy of passions; how he never used the malign passions; nor appealed to them in others; how reason and the higher moral sentiment breathed all his words and how to you, in these higher feelings, he uttered himself. And now that he has departed, look back upon his career and see how he wielded all the mighty engine in behalf of good reason and in behalf of moral sentiments, to see that covers a multitude of imperfections. I have but one thing also to say—because in common with all of you we have heard it said that he was weak and trembling; but I never believed it. I recollected the time when the nation shivered like an aspen leaf when one man was worth an army. Those qualities which he possessed above all others were hope and indomitable courage.

I remember and ever shall feel grateful to this man, who pressed to the front rank, and who let his voice ring out clearly and without a moment's hesitation, with the most unceasing energy to the end of the contest that gave hope and courage and life to this great people. If this was trimming, oh! that there had been more trimmers. And that was the quality that should enshrine a man's memory in a country's history, and make his name dear to the people. I thanked him for it. I shall thank him, and I am glad to make mention of and bear this testimony to his fidelity in those great days when to be faithful required greatness of soul.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, during which it has been in use, the men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known, for the virtues of its character and power to cure the most dangerous of the lung and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of pulmonary complaint, it is, at the same time the most effective Remedy that can be given for the more dangerous affections of the throat, and lungs. As a positive cure for all Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, and indeed all diseases of the throat, and lungs, it may be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are subject to these dangerous complaints, all should be provided with it. Throughout the entire country, it is in the above the decided favorite, wherever its virtues are known. Almost every community has publicly cured, by its use, some case of alarming Lung disease, which had baffled the skill of all other remedies. Even where Consumption has fastened its fangs upon the victim, and the most obstinate cough has resisted all other remedies, the Cherry Pectoral, by controlling the disease, and allaying the inflammation, which is the cause of the cough, has performed a perfect cure. When nothing else could even relieve, the Cherry Pectoral has conquered the disease, and restored the patient to health. Many of these cures are publicly known, and we do not deem it necessary to publish them here. Suffice it to say, that the Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy that can be obtained for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, and all diseases of the throat and lungs, and that it may be relied on to do more than assure the public it is recommended. We fully maintained.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

Ayer's Cure,
For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodic Fever, &c., and indeed the whole class of diseases originating from malarious, miasmatic or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, is to Cure, and does so! full. Containing, as it does, no Arsenic, Mercury, Quinine, or any mineral substance whatever, it is nowise injurious to the system, nor under any circumstances can it produce any evil consequences upon those who use it. In nowise is any patient. The number and importance of the cures in the same districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague and fevers. Our pride is gratified in the acknowledgments we receive from all parts of the country, of its wonderful cures, and where cures were considered wholly failed. Even intermittents, the most obstinate and long standing, yield to its powerful influence, and those traveling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaint, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing in many cases the most remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell Mass., and sold all around the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this extraordinary medicine enjoys, derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous, has caused many spurious preparations to be offered to the people, under the name of Sarsaparilla, or Extract of Sarsaparilla, or Blood Purifiers, having the word Sarsaparilla in their name, and pretending to be like it, or as effective, in order to get a sale on the reputation it has won by the cures it has performed. Many of these are utterly worthless. All are inferior to this, which, from the vast numbers of cures it has made in the community where it has been known, has established a degree of confidence in its virtues, and a character for reliable and permanent cures, unequalled by any medicine before the public. Many of the most remarkable and obstinate cases of disease that afflict humanity are those originating in impurities of the blood, and it is for this class of complaints that this Sarsaparilla is especially designed. It will cleanse the system of the foul humors that generate disease, and, by its tonic properties, give strength to the body. Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Mercurial Diseases, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Piles, Neuralgia, and the various affections arising from impure blood, are commonly cured by its use. Physicians, Druggists, and Patients, who have tried it, are in the constant habit of recommending it to their friends and neighbors, as the best of all the blood purifiers they have known, and the public may rely upon it as the best that can be had. Being concentrated, it is the cheapest, as a few bottles will accomplish as much as a large quantity of other medicines. Purify the blood, and the foundation of health is laid, but not otherwise. Keep the blood pure, and health will follow, and disease will flee from the system. Impurities of the blood, when allowed to accumulate, cause sickly skins, pimples, blotches, boils, tumors, and other outward indications of inward foulness. Clear them out of the blood, and these troubles disappear. Hence, when you find an eruption coming out upon the skin, do not drive it back with a wash, but remove it by purifying the blood with this Sarsaparilla. Keep the liver active, and the bowels open, and the impurities will be carried off by their appropriate outlets. Obstructions of the liver cause jaundice, biliousness, headache, and liver complaints. Derangements of the stomach cause indigestion, dyspepsia, and want of appetite. Impurities of the blood cause rheumatism, and many other painful complaints. Nothing will cure these troubles so surely as this Sarsaparilla. Some of the most wonderful cures ever performed by any medicine have been made by this Sarsaparilla in the case of scrofulous humors, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, and running sores and ulcers covered the body. Cures equally wonderful have been made in curing the worst cases of erysipelas, boils, carbuncles, and the most malignant forms of skin diseases, caused by the scrofulous contamination with which they were filled. Many of these cures have been publicly known in the communities where they occurred, and the most skeptical have been satisfied of the power of this remedy over the most malignant forms of disease. Many of the cures of scrofulous sores and tumors upon the face, which have been made by this Sarsaparilla, are publicly known, and have been certified to for the benefit of others. Many of the most distressing cases of female weakness, arising from internal ulceration, and displacements, have been cured by it. Mothers, who are broken down by the maladies peculiar to their sex, will find relief in the use of this Sarsaparilla. Many cases of running sores upon the legs, of long standing, have been radically cured by it, and in almost every case the patient has been relieved from a worse disease than the sore itself. Many of the most astonishing cures of rheumatism are made by this Sarsaparilla, which expels the poison from the blood, which causes the disease. Many of the most remarkable cures of neuralgia, or tic-doloureux, are made by this Sarsaparilla, as it is a specific for this disease. Many of the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia, with loss of appetite, general debility, and prostration of the system, have been cured by this Sarsaparilla, which, by its tonic properties, gives strength to the stomach, and enables it to perform its functions. Many of the most astonishing cures of liver complaint are made by this Sarsaparilla, which stimulates the liver into healthy activity. Many of the most distressing cases of kidney complaints, and of diseases of the urinary organs, are cured by this Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood, and thus cures the disease. Many of the most terrible cases of scrofula, or king's evil, have been cured by this Sarsaparilla. Many of the most appalling cases of ulcers, both internal and external, have been healed by it. Many of the most dangerous cases of erysipelas, in the face and head, have been cured by it. Many of the most malignant cases of boils, carbuncles, and pimples, have been cured by it. Many of the most agonizing cases of rheumatism have been cured by it. Many of the most baffling cases of neuralgia have been cured by it. Many of the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia have been cured by it. Many of the most wonderful cures of liver complaint have been made by it. Many of the most remarkable cures of kidney complaints have been made by it. Many of the most distressing cases of female weakness have been cured by it. Many of the most terrible cases of scrofula have been cured by it. Many of the most appalling cases of ulcers have been healed by it. Many of the most dangerous cases of erysipelas

Railroad to British Columbia.

Mr. Alfred Waddington speedily advocates the construction of a railroad to the Pacific coast through British American territory. He has shown there is a practicable pass through the mountains in British Columbia; and there is a concurrence of statement that the route from Ottawa to Red River is feasible. We take from his pamphlet the following recapitulation of distances —

	Miles.
From Montreal to Ottawa	115
" Ottawa to Ft. Garry	1200
" Fort Garry to the Yellow Head Pass	1010
Thence to the limit of British Columbia	52
	2369
Route by the Upper Fraser (British Columbia	370
Less distance by proposed short cut	135
	445	2707
Total length from Montreal to the Pacific		3823

Against 3305 miles from New York to San Francisco, or 488 miles less.

The average cost of making this road is set down at £10,000 stg. per mile, which he thinks is a high estimate, as the average cost of 1,110 miles of the Union Pacific, including preliminary surveys, rolling stock, a line of telegraph and interest, has been $84,977, or only about £7,000 per mile, though the line presented greater difficulties than that through British North America.

Mr. Waddington describes the British territory through which his proposed line would run as follows: 1. Level, rich and arable country; 2. Rolling and less fertile; 3 Poor, mountainous and timbered.—These divisions he classifies in the following table

	Level miles	Rolling miles	Poor miles
Valley of the Ottawa		335
Montreal Valley	99
Clay Level Country	250
Laurentides, North of Lake Superior		80	60
Nesspigon and Black Sturgeon Valleys	41
Height of Land to White Mouth River		118	247
Great Western Plain	1037
Great Western Plain approach to Rocky Mountains		25
Valley of the Assiniboine		80
Rocky Mountains to the Cache			80
Bald or Gold Range beyond			116
Along Horsefly Lake and River		20	15
Chilicotsin Plain	152
Cascade Range (the valley itself fertile)			84
	1599	508	600

This classification gives of rich, level territory 1,599 m.; of cultivable, 508m.; and of grazing, timbered and mountainous, 600m.; total, 2,707m.; and the estimate of cost, as based on this classification, is as follows —

1,600 miles Level Ground at £8,000	£ 12,800,000
508 miles Rolling Ground at £11,000	5,588,000
600 miles Hilly or Rocky Ground at £14,000	8,400,000
18 miles Branch to Nesspigon Bay at £11,000	149,006
	£ 26,937,000
Interest for six years, till the road becomes self-paying	5,069,000
	£ 32,000,000

Making Home Comfortable.

It is not in the big house in the fashionable quarter, with all the luxurious appurtenances of fine furniture and fine company, that home comfort is mostly found. Walls of elaborate sculpture may close you in, curtains of genuine lace hang from your lofty windows, chairs covered with the costliest cashmere invite you to repose, and daftly-woven tapestry lighten your step and yet you may and probably will be in need of everything essential to make your home comfortable. In fact, such expensive splendors are for show, not use, and those who purchase and display them never delude themselves for a moment with the notion that they promote their comfort. They are sources, undoubtedly, of what may be called in one sense, enjoyment, as the wonder of the simple-minded they excite is pleasing to the weak vanity of the ostentatious possessor.

Home comfort can hardly be called a question of architecture or upholstery. A certain convenience of habitation and refinement of taste are undoubtedly essential to the comfort of life; but these can be obtained without prodigality of expense or showiness of manifestation.

When mere love of display becomes apparent in the house, then comfort disappears. The possessor, ceasing to live for herself, lives only for others. She is "at home" for all the world but her own family. It is not intended to inculcate that selfishness which indulges to individual or domestic isolation, or to advise a limitation of a woman's sympathies to the occupants of her nursery or back parlor. No one will question her obligations to the outside world; but while bestowing her profuse gratuities of welcome and hospitality upon it, she should not forget that charity, and particularly social charity, ought to begin at home. That generosity is hardly a commendable one which gives all to society so called—building fine houses, filling them with costly furniture, spreading the tables with rich banquets, and keeping their doors ever open, invites with it a perpetual welcome—while husband and children, jostled by the crowd, are left to pick up what crumbs of comfort they may.

If reserving for one's own family the enjoyment of home be selfishness, it is more of a virtue than that of a benevolence which would throw it open to the whole world, to the destruction of the ease and convenience of the lawful possessors. The most ingenious perverter of the spirit of ethics will not be able to convert the instinct of domestic selfishness. The title of the family to their home is unquestionable in law and morals, and it behoves the housekeeper to waive long consideration of any extraneous claims of preference on the part of "Society," and secure the natural possessors in its enjoyment by making it comfortable.

Settling Property on a Wife.

BY HENRY WARD BEECHER

When men are prosperous, and are making money, and consider themselves rich, I wonder that it so seldom comes home to them that they are liable to reverses, which would plunge their families into the utmost pecuniary distress. Men know that business is subject to fluctuations, and that nothing is more frequent than that men should in one year have all the comforts and advantages of wealth, and the next year be stripped bare. But a vicious hopefulness prevents them from realizing that they shall ever be subject to this fate which befalls others.

Men expect to live; they do not anticipate bankruptcy. When times change, and the pinch comes, it is too late to make provision for the family. The wife, the children, the whole household are suddenly plunged into distress. Indeed, much as the business man suffers himself, his own misery are the least part of the suffering.

I have lived long enough to see the overthrow of a great many families because the father, believing that he should live and always keep them in comfortable circumstances, had neglected to make an independent provision for them.

At the man's death the estate proves either insolvent, or is reduced to minimum. The wife, not trained to business, is obliged to settle the estate by agents. What with unskilful management, carelessness, or even sometimes, with deliberate fraud, the residuum melts in her hands, and the widow with five or six young children to be fed, clothed, and educated, finds herself alone and penniless! Habits cannot be changed in a day. She has not been trained to business. She may have been a good housekeeper, but now she must earn money, which is a very different thing from ordering a household skilfully. Some, utterly overmatched, break down under the trial, and the children are scattered like young partridges whose mother the hawk has devoured.

I believe it to be the duty of every man who is prosperous, out of debt, and making money, to settle upon his wife a certain amount of property, which shall not be effected by either his bankruptcy or his death. This may be done by a life insurance—especially if it be a policy which is not forfeited by neglect of payment. But a still better way is to settle upon the wife a good house, and the furniture. Then, if misfortune comes, the man will still have a home. He will be secure at the root, and may begin again with some hope. If death takes away the father, the nest remains—The children do not need to be scattered.

Some persons have questioned whether a scrupulous honesty would allow one to hold back from creditors any part of a husband's property. A settlement of property on another, while debt hangs over, either for the sake of avoiding payment of debt, or securing the family, would be fraudulent, dishonest, and wicked. But if, while clear of debt, the husband settles property on his wife for the just maintenance of herself and children, his after debts have no more claim upon that property than if he had sold and transferred it to a neighbour instead of to his own wife. No man has a right to leave a family whom he has accustomed to affluence liable to sudden and wasting poverty. A provision made betimes, in property, for the safety of his family in case of his death or bankruptcy, may be accepted and employed by the most sensitive conscience—I write strongly on this subject, because I have seen so much distress arising from the want of such precaution.

The champion strawberry has been exhibited in New York. It measured 7¼ inches around, and weighed one ounce and seven penny weights.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, JULY 6

IRISH PROTESTANT BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.—The adjourned meeting of this Society, for the election of officers, will be held this evening in the Town Hall, at eight o'clock

CATTLE AND HOGS.—On the 5th and 6th instant, over five thousand hogs, and two hundred and fifty head of cattle passed east on the Grand Trunk Railway, all destined for the Boston market

SOUTH RENFREW ELECTION.—The Hon Malcolm Cameron's effort to re enter public life has been unsuccessful. At the close of the first day's polling Mr. McDougall's majority was 200, and Mr. Cameron seeing his case was hopeless resigned

EMIGRANTS.—Eleven cars of emigrants, principally English, passed West on the Grand Trunk Railway this afternoon. There were about 600, nearly all of whom remain in Canada. Efforts were made to keep a number here, but only about twenty have remained. Situations for ten times the number could be found in this locality within a few hours

OPENING UP THE NORTH WEST.—The work of building the road from Fort William to Fort Garry is being pushed forward with vigor Upwards of four hundred men are at work on it. There is a proposal to fix the temporary capital of the territory somewhere else than at Fort Garry, and it is said that Mr. McDougall will visit the territory for that purpose. The Hudson Bay post at Fort William has, meanwhile, been removed to Pembroke, the Fort and lands having been sold.

ACCIDENT.—Last night while the train going west was starting from Newtonville Station, a passenger in attempting to get on the car, missed his footing and fell under the cars. One of his arms were cut off and his head badly bruised. We understand the party injured was from the neighborhood of Cornwall, but have not heard the name. This accident should be a warning to Railway passengers not to attempt getting on or off the cars while the train is in motion.

OUTRAGE.—We are informed that last night, three fellows in the uniform of the Militia, stopped a young man returning home on Bridge street, about ten o'clock and demanded his money. One was up a tree, another in the shadow of a tree on the opposite side of the road, and the third on the sidewalk. Being a good runner he managed to escape, and when the son of his employer and he went on the street to seek them they had gone away. If these were men belonging to the Militia they are a disgrace to it; but if they are foot-pads in smuggled uniforms, visitors to the camp had better be prepared.

CRICKET MATCH.—A match between the Fort Hope Eleven, and the Belleville Eleven, came off on the ground of the latter to-day. The match began by the Belleville Eleven winning the toss and sending the Port Hope club to the bat, and at a quarter after one they had run up the handsome score of 109. The largest scores were made by Messrs. S. Hall and Kerckhoffer, who made respectively 32 and 31. As an evidence of the good batting of the Port Hope Eleven, there is not a duck-egg recorded to any one of their names. After partaking of lunch, the Belleville club took the willow, and at the time of going to press had run up 26 with one wicket down. The score will be given to-morrow.

NEARLY DROWNED.—On the 5th Instant, as Mrs. DIXON was gathering float-wood from the river, near the railway bridge, she slipped from a log into the water. She was observed by Mr. Mills, of the G. T. R., who immediately ran to her assistance, and while in the act of rescuing her a log struck him and knocked him under the water. The woman, who was sinking, grasped Mills, and both disappeared from view. The son of Mr Mills, who was an eye witness of what had occurred, immediately rushed for the river, and succeeded, after a hard struggle, in bringing both to the shore They were in an unconscious condition, but by the application of proper restoratives were soon convalescent. The boy deserves credit for his heroic conduct

Progress of Exploration.

W. H. Palmer, Field Geologist, informs us that amongst his other discoveries in the granites and slates of Tudor, are a strong vein of Antimonial Galena, (a Sulphuret of Antimony and Lead,) which from its situation in a true Auriferous Granite, must naturally lead to something rich in depth Even as an ore of Antimony and Lead it is an important discovery. Also, in the same neighborhood he has found and opened a vein of copper ore, containing blue Malachite and Gold.

—It is reported that the Hon. Mr Campbell, Postmaster General, will leave for England in the early part of next month

The Provincial Exhibition.

The London papers don't like the treatment that City has received from the Agricultural Association. They say they are sick of its arrogant airs, and after this year, the Exhibition can be taken to Guelph for all they care. Their Western Fair was a success last year, and they think they can get along without the condescending patronage of their eastern brethren

However, this year, London is determined to carry out its pledges, and a sufficient sum will be raised to make necessary repairs to the buildings, &c. At a meeting of the Local Committee, the following resolution was adopted

"It was then moved, in effect, by Mr. Barker, seconded by Mayor Graydon, that whereas the Council of the Agricultural Association had refused to grant any assistance, and the Local Committee find they have, after using every exertion, only raised a sum of $2,500 to make the required improvements, which is not sufficient for the purpose, it is therefore resolved that the committee proceed at once to use the means at their disposal, or such other sum as may be forthcoming from other sources, first, in the necessary repairs of the sheds and stables now existing, and next in the erection of additional temporary buildings.

"The opinion was freely expressed that London had, in voting $2,000, done all that could be expected towards furnishing accommodation for the Fair, and that if the Council of the Association was not satisfied with this, they could adopt whatever course they choose."

Temperance Convention.

A meeting was held yesterday in the Centenary Church, Sidney, for the purpose of forming a branch of the Canada Temperance Union, for the West Riding of Hastings; an organization was effected, and the following officers chosen, viz, Samuel T. Wilmot, President; C. H. Dorland, Secretary; W. H. Austin, Treasurer; Revs. G. R. Sanderson, A. Campbell, M. B. Robbin, John Ross and James Bird, Executive Committee.

The object of the Union is to secure concerted effort among all temperance men, who belong to any, or none of the existing organizations, that right laws and the right enforcement of them may be had in the community.

In the afternoon a public meeting was held in the beautiful grove opposite the Church. There was a considerable gathering of farmers; and their fair wives and daughters, a few from Belleville, and quite a number from Trenton and Frankford.

Addresses were made in the following order by Dr. Hope, W. W. Dean, Rev. Mr. Williams, W. S. Williams, of Napanee, Dr. Oronhyatekha, Revs. Mr. Scott, A. Campbell, G. R. Sanderson and Mr. Grover, of Colborne.

The speaking was interesting, the temperature of the atmosphere delicious, and the surroundings of wood and meadow most lovely, and everyone seemed to be in sympathy with the pastoral beauty of the scene, and to enjoy themselves exceedingly.

School Trustees.

TUESDAY, July 6, 1869.

PRESENT.—F. MCANNANY, Esq., Chairman; and Messrs. Falkiner, Coleman, Shepard, Tennant, Robertson, Sawyer and Sisson.

In the absence of the Secretary, Mr. Falkiner was appointed Secretary protem.

A lengthy Report from the Superintendent of the Schools was read.

On motion of Mr. Shepard, seconded by Mr. Tennant, the Report was referred to a special Committee consisting of Messrs. Falkiner, Coleman and Sisson, to report at the next regular meeting.

A bill of Ross, Bell & Holden for costs in the case of Smith vs. School Trustees, was referred to the Finance Committee

The report of the Finance Committee was read and adopted.

On motion of Mr. Shepard, seconded by Mr. Sawyer, it was resolved that when this Board adjourn it stand adjourned until Tuesday evening the 20th inst., for general purposes

Rev. Mr. Jones read a statement respecting the condition of the Schools

The Board adjourned.

—The handsomest fans are those of tinted pearl

Smith vs. School Trustees.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer

I was astonished at the remarks of the Hastings Chronicle in reference to this suit, in to-day's issue, wherein it states "That "the business of the Board was done in a "bungling and irregular manner, and that "not only were the wishes of the people "ignored, but that the transactions of the "Board in reference to the matter were "purposely concealed from the rate payers "Still, why should Mr. Smith suffer for "the acts of the Board?"

It is evident that the person who penned the above, is neither a friend of the Board, of the people, of Mr. Smith, or of education, nor does he respect the decision of the Court The whole proceedings of the Board were sifted and laid before the Court, as appeared in your paper

The evidence showed that Smith purchased as the agent of the Board, under a written resolution of eight of its members that it was required by their Chairman as such to purchase them, and they afterwards, (unnecessarily for that particular purpose) ratified and confirmed the purchase under the common seal. What bungling is there in that? The Vice-Chancellor holds that it is neither bungling nor irregular, and I, as a rate-payer, agree with him. No person can do otherwise, unless actuated by improper motives. Again the Chronicle states "the wishes of the people were ignored," but every rate payer knows the contrary, and none better than the Chronicle. It can not be forgotten that the Board called a public meeting, at which only a few attended who resided in the neighbourhood of the lot, who got up an agitation against a central school under the pretence that such a system of imparting education was not as good as the present disgraceful one, and some of them being leading and influential rate-payers, a few others were misled and deceived because they were not aware that the real object in defeating the Central School project was to avoid having a School of any kind in their locality.

There was no greater reason why a school should not (if the people choose to have it so) be near the residence of certain persons than Dr. Hope's. The latter, no doubt, would prefer that the school at his very door were elsewhere, but, if the proximity of a school is a nuisance, (which I doubt), as he has always been a staunch friend of education, and particularly of educating every man's child, he willingly yielded, and the individual interest and pleasures of himself and family were sacrificed for the good of the public generally. It is, however, not conceded that a fine Central School would be a nuisance in any neighborhood. If, by nuisance, the children are meant, it is a poor compliment to the parent—tax-payers, and it is high time such subterfuge should receive the just rebuke of every rate-payer in addition to that of the Court.

The Chronicle states "the transactions of the Board were purposely concealed."—True, the resolution authorizing the purchase, was kept quiet, for the laudable purpose (in the interest of every rate-payer) of buying the site as cheap as possible—as it does not require much foresight to know that if it had been published, the Board would have been met by greater competition. Yet this pretender under the guise of champion of the people's rights and interest insinuates that the Board deceived the rate-payers.

He would rather, for reasons which are well understood, slander than give the praise to which the Board is justly due.—The Chronicle knows, and if it does not, the public does, that the Board would have saved $300 Chancery costs, if it had not been for one of its members, a clerk in a lawyer's office who was lately elected, because he pretended to be opposed to the great expense of a Central School, whereas his object was to prevent a school from being established on the Blacklock lot, so that when he voted at the Board against a Central School, he was voting not for the public, but individual interest, and not satisfied with that, he must needs vote for throwing away the public money by voting an unsuccessful defence. Probably the blundering referred to in the Chronicle, relates to the acts of this particular member of the Board; if so, the public agrees with it, and will take good care who pays the costs of the Chancery suit

A HATE PAYER

Belleville, July 6, 1869.

Old World Correspondence.

EDINBURGH, June 24th, 1869

DEAR SIR,—Should any one from Belleville contemplate a visit to this country during the summer season, he should not fail to visit the Highland Lochs and Mountain scenery, and I would recommend the route after leaving Glasgow, via Balloch, Loch Lomond, Rannoch, the Trossachs, thence to Callender and Stirling to Glasgow. Our party comprising twelve passengers of the Cambria a jolly coach load, went together over this section of country, and were delighted with its beauties, all agreeing that they alone repaid a trip across the Atlantic. After a short ride by rail to Balloch you embark on a Ferry steamer called Rob Roy, and have a two hours run to Inversnaid, among beautiful islands of ever varying form and outline, while the retreating hills are lost to vision in the dusky horizon Loch Lomond is considered the pride of Scottish Lakes, and has on its borders Balloch Castle, Cameron House and other fine mansions, while you see the cone-like peak of Ben Lomond 3,199 feet high, and the jagged crest of Ben Voirlich, looking over the Western hills, the summit of each covered with snow. A drive of about an hour over mountains covered with heather and broom, once the retreat of the Scottish warrior, and the scene of many a chivalrous contest The mountains are in many places quite precipitous, and uncultivated. No habitation, but now and then a little cabin thatched with heather, and no appearance of life except the sheep feeding on the hill side. As we approached Loch Katrine a number of little children ran along side the coach with bouquets of wild flowers, for which we gave them pennies, and received their grateful thanks in Gaelic; on this road is a little hut, said to have been the birth place of Rob Roy's wife, Helen McGregor. Another boat is in waiting to convey us over Loch Katrine to the Trossachs, and here again the scenery is singularly rich and sublime; we pass Ellen's Isle, a rustic tower covered with foliage, said to have been the abode of the famous Ellen Douglas, and called by some one a bottle encased in the silver setting of Loch Katrine, and to the South is Benvenue rising 2,388, on which is the Goblin's cave, both scenes in the "Lady of the Lake," from the beautifully sheltered Bay, forming a natural harbor. We now land at Callender, and take another drive of 10 miles through the Trossachs, which is a "wildering scene of of mountains, rocks and woods," and the hunting and battle grounds of Rob Roy and Roderick Dhu, there are some very interesting legends associated with this part of the route. Now arriving at Callender, we have a comfortable meal, and go by rail 16 miles to Stirling, where we at once proceed to visit the castle, which has many natural attractions, and historical associations: built in 1124 on a precipitous eminence, it was long considered a stronghold of importance. From here you have a fine view of the purple peaks of the Ochill Mountains and the Grampian Hills, and the battle field of Bannockburn, in the valley is the plains where James VI. held his grand tournaments, and a wall was constructed called the "Ladie's Rock" from which the Ladies of the Court surveyed the knightly feats of their admirers. We were also shown the Douglas room in which William, Earl of Douglas, was assassinated by James II. A grand view of the River Forth, with its eccentric windings, and the new Wallace Monument is had from the castle we were shown old Grey Friar's Church, memorable for the coronation of King James VI, on which occasion the celebrated John Knox preached a sermon; the Church has been much restored, and altogether is a fine old edifice. We now take the cars to Edinburgh, a distance of thirty-six miles, and find it far the most magnificent we have yet visited. I will endeavor to give you a description of it. We purpose proceeding to the Windermere Lake in the north west of England en route for London

Yours, &c.,

—A Massachusetts church proposes to gain popularity by announcing "no pew rents and no collections."

—A telegraphic cable has been successfully laid between Peterhead, Scotland, and the coast of Norway.

—Sir Roundell Palmer, the distinguished English Chancery lawyer, makes $125,000 a year by his practice

—Two thousand head of Texas cattle arrived at Ellsworth, Kansas, on Wednesday, and 50,000 more were on their way.

—Chicago is projecting a monster musical festival for next year, which is expected to take all the shine out of the Bostonians.

—Fifth avenue houses in New York have cashmere door-mats now, and it is supposed that the next novelty will be camel's hair dish-cloths

—The wheat crop has nearly all been gathered in Maryland, and by the end of this week little will be left standing. Our exchs agree speak of the yield as excellent

—Mr. I. B. Taylor, the new contractor for the parliamentary printing, has leased two large new stores on Rideau Street, Ottawa, and is fitting them up for a printing office

—The Mayor of Cobourg must be a terrible fellow. He has issued a proclamation declaring that "all the owners of unmuzzled dogs which are allowed to run at "large will be shot." We wouldn't own an unmuzzled dog in Cobourg, after such an intimation as that.

TRIAL OF AN AERIAL SHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The trial of the model of the aerial ship Anchor yesterday is pronounced a success by the Times, while the Alta says the performance was nothing like a failure The wind blew so hard that it was impossible to make experiments in open air so that it was made under cover The ship rose in the air, and was propelled backwards and forwards, guided in any desired direction by a steering apparatus. It is claimed that the present Anchor is not a criterion of success. The principle has been developed The scale of its machinery is so trifling, the engine and boiler weighing less than 100 lbs that its failure or success would be no surprise

IRISH CHURCH BILL

London, July 6—In the House of Lords last night the consideration of the Irish Church Bill was resumed.

Lord Gifford moved an amendment, granting the value of their manses to the Presbyterians.

Earl Granville opposed the amendment, on the ground that it would aggravate the mischief of the donation arrived at by the House on Friday night, when it rejected the amendment, to permit churches to retain the ecclesiastical residence without payment therefor.

Lord Gifford withdrew his amendment

The Archbishop of Canterbury moved in amendment to clause 29, that private endowments made since 1660 instead of 1660, be retained by the Church He pointed out large endowments made prior to 1660, and said there was no reason why they should not be dealt with in the same manner as those made after that date. To show such an unjust discrimination, he thought, was dangerous

Lord Hatherly opposed the Archbishop's amendment, on the ground that private endowments made prior to 1660 were purely mythical He said the Ulster grant was an appropriation to Church uses of the public money and land, made by the English while putting down the rebellion

The Bishop of Peterboro' supported the amendment, urging that neither on the ground of justice nor legal right could the Church to be deprived of those early endowments

Earl Granville said the difficulty in establishing the legality of those endowment rights would swallow up the whole amount of their value in litigation, and proposed to grant half a million sterling instead.

The Marquis of Salisbury objected to bringing in at the last moment fresh proposals by the Government, and proposed that the consideration of clause 29 be postponed

Lord Cairns suggested the passage of the clause without date or amendment leaving Earl Granville's proposition to be considered on the report

The Archbishop of Canterbury then moved an amendment that all glebe lands granted by the Crown since 1660 be given to the new Church body.

After a long discussion a division was had and the amendment carried by a vote of 105 to 55

Clauses 30, 31, and 32 were agreed to. Clause 33 was next taken up

The Earl of Limerick moved an amendment proposing that poor rates be deducted from any rent charges held in lieu of tithes.

The House divided on the Earl of Limerick's amendment, and it was adopted by a vote of 91 to 64. Clause 33, as amended, and clauses 35 36, 37, and 38 were agreed to

The Earl of Camperdown believing that the feeling of the House was against the amendment to cancel the Regium Donum and Maynooth College clauses, withdrew it. The Regium Donum clause was agreed to

Lord Fitzwalt renewed the amendment to strike the Maynooth College from the Bill

Earl of Bandon objected to the clause, because it was a violation of the principle set forth in the preamble

The Duke of Argyle defended the clause and the Duke of Rutland opposed it.

The House then divided on the question of retaining the clause as it stands, with the following result :—For clause 146 ; against it 29.

Clauses 40 to 67 inclusive were agreed to and the House adjourned,

OUTRAGES IN IRELAND

Despatches from Cork state that outrages on the part of the Fenian organization continue to be perpetrated. The police near that city were attacked the night before last by concealed ruffians. Several of them were badly hurt. Some arrests were make yesterday on suspicion of complicity.

DISTURBANCES IN SEVILLE

Madrid, July 6.—Conflicts have taken place in Seville between the troops and band of republicans. The latter have been dispersed, and the city is comparatively quiet, though the excitement is intense.

THE LATEST.

ENVOY OF RUSSIA.

London, July 6.—The appointment of Catacia as envoy of Russia to Washington, is regarded as an important step towards a more active policy on the eastern question. Catacia is charged with the duty of conveying the congratulations of the Czar to Grant, in lieu of the special mission for which he was first intended.

NEW CONSTITUTION.

Belgrada, July 6.—The project of a new constitution for Servia, has been completed. It establishes equality of citizens, ministerial responsibility, liberty of press, independence of Judge and autonomy of the legislative chamber.

Madrid, July 6.—Minister Figuerro introduced a bill into the Cortes, imposing penalties on those classes which refuse to take the oath, and to respect and obey the new constitution It proposes to sell for the benefit of the State the patrimonial property of the corporate bodies, and to suppress the salaries or pensions paid to any person refusing to swear fidelity to the constitution.

THE CABLE

London, July 6.—A despatch dated Great Eastern, July 5th, gives the position at noon on Monday, as latitude 48.03, longitude 38.47, and says, "we have run 1,497 knots since leaving Brest. and have paid out 1,562 knots of cable." All well on board and everything progressing satisfactorily

TRIAL POSTPONED

The trial of Overend, Gurney and others, has been postponed until December

ARRIVAL

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless, loaded proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and sequible over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came, the room was crowded with anxious expectants, the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

NEW ALBION HOTEL,
McGILL STREET,
MONTREAL, CANADA.

The "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which befit all the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more justly for the amount of their charges than aught else

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" proclaims well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and every attic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View on the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Isle d'Este" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old Albion's terms remain the same, viz: Two Dollars per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years.

THE SUBSCRIBER proposes to issue in the SPRING of 1870, if sufficient support by SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS can be obtained to cover the cost of publication, a CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY, comprising the Provinces of ONTARIO, QUEBEC, NOVA SCOTIA and NEW BRUNSWICK, to which will be appended the Provinces of NEWFOUNDLAND and PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND. The Directory will contain the names of Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants in the Cities, Towns and Villages, together with a large amount of general information, including Alphabetical Directories of Cities Offices and Postmasters, Banks, Governmental Departments and Employees, Houses of Parliament, Law Courts, Educational Departments, Custom Houses and Officers of Customs, Ports of Entry, Tariffs of Customs, List of Patents of Inventions, Canals, Railways, Railway and Steamboat Routes, Benevolent and Religious Societies, Forms of all Denominations, Registrars with their Divisions, Newspapers and Periodicals, &c., &c.; also, Statements of Imports and Exports, Revenue, Expenditures, Trade, Population, &c., &c.

To be published in August, 1870.

The Canada Directory for 1857-58, published by the Subscriber, contained the names of the Principal Inhabitants in 1,500 Cities, Towns, and Villages in Upper and Lower Canada. The CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will contain a short description of at least 3,500 Cities, Towns and Villages in the new Dominion of Canada, and the Provinces of Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, together with the Names of the Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

Dominion of Canada Subscribers	$12 Cy. per copy
United States	$10 " "
Great Britain and Ireland do	£3 Stg. "
France, Germany, &c. do	£3 Stg. "

RATES OF ADVERTISING will be made known on application to the Publisher.

No money to be paid until the Work is delivered. This notice is given for the reason that unprincipled parties, on several occasions canvassed for, and collected moneys in advance, on account of Books which they falsely represented that I was about to publish.

Persons desirous of aiding in the Publication of the CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will please send to their Orders for SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS to

—It has been awfully wet this summer. Even the man in the moon was seen the other day trying to borrow an umbrella.

Reports from Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin, in regard to the crops state that the wheat harvest has begun, and that in some places last year's crop will be double. In Southern Illinois, the yield averages twenty-five bushels to the acre. Corn is generally backward, in consequence of cold and rains. Potatoes are in good condition, except in a few localities where bugs have appeared.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has mankind won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent preparation against sudden attacks. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has maintained its full and higher reputation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power in subduing the severest forms of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to the tenderest infant, and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for the consumptive, and the deep-seated affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes liable to call for it, no one should be prevailed upon to [illegible] this antidote for them. Although [illegible] it is thoroughly reliable, still great numbers [illegible] where the disease seemed sure, [illegible] relieved, and the patient restored to health by the use of this remedy. Its power over the disorders of the throat and lungs, is wonderful, and [illegible] there is nothing like it in their cure. The Cherry Pectoral [illegible] and [illegible] to find great protection from [illegible] without a trial.

Sufferers [illegible] and often wholly cured by [illegible]

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry P[illegible]

[illegible] and [illegible] Consumption, when [illegible] and [illegible] are fully established.

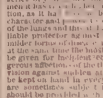

Ayer's Ague Cure,
For Fever and A[illegible], Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, [illegible] Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical [illegible] Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Strychnine, nor any admixture of poisonous substance whatever, it is nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of cures in the above districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Intermittents, [illegible] of [illegible] are [illegible] through [illegible] this remedy. [illegible] will be protected [illegible] by taking it. [illegible] of [illegible] remedy, stimulating [illegible] and preventing [illegible]

In [illegible] Remittent and Liver Complaints, it is the [illegible] and [illegible] many truly remarkable cures where other medicines had failed. Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly remarkable. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with [illegible] poison, have been [illegible] and cured by it. [illegible] of blotches, boils, pimples, tumors, ulcers, and sores, are literally driven from the body by its use. Internal [illegible] of a scrofulous character, such as [illegible] disorders, which were generally supposed to be the result of the scrofulous contamination now [illegible] they were previously [illegible] have been radically cured by this remedy. Indeed, so subtle and searching is its action on the blood, that few parts of the system escape its influence, and no disease can long [illegible] where its virtues exert an appreciable effect. Hence the occasional [illegible] of [illegible] of [illegible] in which [illegible] is administered in an active state of the disease. [illegible] Sarsaparilla [illegible] following cases [illegible] and immediate relief is [illegible] length, cure, to the use of this SARSAPARILLA.

Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Humors, Erysipelas, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores and Skin Diseases. Also in the following complaints, as Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Heart Disease, Pain in the Side, Kidneys, Neuralgia, or Tic Doloureux, Female Weaknesses, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are confidently soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case will be found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matter in the blood, yield to its [illegible] Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Congestions, Inflammation of the Liver, and [illegible] of the [illegible] are [illegible] by this [illegible] from the earliest [illegible] to the most [illegible] SARSAPARILLA is a great [illegible] the strength and vigor of the system those who are Languid and Listless, Drowsy, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the [illegible] Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our tea and coffee in tablets at an expense of at least four times what we pay?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system of refining it in medicines, by the use of which scores of heroic old plants and roots are as readily prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more virtue than any other system can be procured in any other form for four times the amount of money.

We have in our possession testimonials numerous as to the practicability of, as well as the benefits derived from the use of Dr Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as Scrofula, Erysipelas, king's evil, white swellings, tendency to boils, old sores, pimples or roughness of the skin. Irregularities the stomach and bowels it tones the system, and promotes the general vigor of the system, without reducing the strength of the patient Sold at 50 Cents per bottle.

Stomachic Bitters.

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Indigestion. For costiveness it has no equal. It is a good and safe purgative, and a restorative for old and young. Ladies, it is peculiarly adapted to your delicate constitutions. It is a powerful recipient alike to the female and child—reduces by degrees the weakness so common to females, agreeable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility. Is a valuable remedy for children troubled with worms, or derangement. A stranger's taste of the stomach. Sold at 25 cents per package.

BY MISS GEORGIA HOUGHTON

The following beautiful lines, written by a young Lady of Toronto, are intended to express the impassioned grief of a bereaved mother on the loss of a beloved child.—W. H. P

The wintry clouds hang low,
White with a fringe of snow,
Dead summer's shroud of woe,
Locus.

But clouds more dark arise,
To veil from weeping eyes
The light of Heaven's own skies,
Locus.

The night birds mournful stare,
The willows bending wave,
And shadows on thy grave,
Locus.

Had earth not ache and smart
Enough to grieve the heart,
That thou and I must part,
Locus.

Low droops my weary head,
Faint grows my lagging tread,
Oh! my lov'd, lost dead,
Locus.

Oh, sweet stars sadly shining,
Ye still my mad replaning,
Each dark cloud hath its lining,
Locus.

In some far deathless clime,
My soul communes with thine;
Mine own, forever mine,
Locus.

The Colorado River Expedition.

THE REPORTED LOSS MAJOR POWELL'S SCIENTIFIC EXPLORING PARTY CONFIRMED

CHICAGO, July 3.—John A. Ridson, the sole survivor of the Major Powell exploring expedition, arrived in Springfield yesterday morning, and was furnished transportation to his home in La Salle. On the 8th of May last, the Major, with twenty men, attempted to cross the Colorado River in a small boat, about twenty rods above its rapids, and about fifty miles from the Canon, for the purpose of exploring the Big Black River, which empties into the Colorado at that point. When about thirty yards from the shore, gliding along on the apparently smooth water, the boat was seen seen to enter vortex which at once engulfed it, and not one of the party, which left the shore a few moments before gaily cheering, was ever seen afterward. Ridson, who had been left at the point of embarkation, saw the boat go down. He had been left in charge of the teams and baggage belonging to the party, and was to have gone below the rapids to meet the party in two days. He remained some time in the vicinity of the catastrophe, and then went around and below the rapids, with a hope of discovering some of the bodies, and while on the lookout, he saw floating, some distance out in the stream, the Major's satchel, which contained the notes of the expedition. He swam out in the stream and recovered it.—After remaining three days on the lookout he started for Le Roy, a military post 170 miles distance from that point on the Colorado, bringing with him all the baggage, &c., belonging to the party, which was shipped by Major Smith, the Commandant of the Post, to LaSelle, Ill. Major Smith also sent out one expedition to examine the matter, and, if possible, recover some of the bodies, which returned after a fruitless search. The expedition was to have returned this fall, and was composed of the following named gentlemen; Major Powell of Bloomington; William and Charles Darley, Z. W. Smith, and Andrew Knoxen of Hennepin; David Sellers, Thomas Mooney, Charles Sullivan, Fred. Bucking ham of LaSelle; Fred. Myers, Charles Sanburn, William Scott, William Andrew, George Thomas, and William Sherman of Bureau Junction; Thomas Stockton of Formal, three from near Bloomington, two half-breed guides, and John A. Ridson of LaSelle, who is now at Springfield

FENIANS EXCITING THE AUCKLAND NATIVES TO WAR.

A Mr. McKay writes that the Fenians have been stimulating insurrection among the native Hindus. He reports: First of all, it was said that these persons were of a different nation from the English or Scotch, and were of the same people as shot the Queen's son in Australia; that if the Hindus give them over the land, they would give £1 per man, a share of the proceeds, and would keep away all other Europeans, and assist the natives against the Government. While this was being stated to the natives, another man came up and gave the natives a flag, and that flag was sent on to the King's place at Tokangamutu by a native named John. The same party had certain books, with plate and engravings representing different things which have taken place at home and in the Australian colonies within the last few years. This man had also a suit of uniform and a sash, with the letters I. R. on it. . .

POLYNESIAN SLAVES AT QUEENSLAND

The latest symptom of the bad vitality of Slavery has been in the bran new colony of Queensland, to which have been imported, as praedial laborers, nearly 5,000 inhabitants of the South Sea Islands. These Polynesians are a nonchalant, easy going race. Since they have given up cannibalism, and elected to dispense with baked missionary as a relish to bread fruit, they have devoted themselves to innocent agricultural pursuits. Farming in the Southern Seas is among the simplest of operations. Nature does most of the work. "If you tickle the ground with the hoe, she laugh at you with a harvest." What little tilling is required is done by the gentlemen fair mer's wife. While the lady, according to her lights, is carrying out the precepts of Caird and Stephen, her lord and master sits in the corner of the field, chewing sweet nuts. By his side is a big stick. If the husband woman is indolent, her partner gets up and whacks her.

Bank Returns.

The Bank statement for the month of May has been published; but returns have been received only from the Banks of Ontario and Quebec. The following is a comparison of the total Assets and Liabilities of these banks for the months of April and May, 1869 -

LIABILITIES.

	April.	May
Circulation	$8,152,444	$7,402,421
Balance due other Banks	1,140,051	1,559,541
Deposits not bearing Interest	13,649,854	14,659,911
Do. bearing interest	21,213,945	21,018,296
Total liabilities	$44,141,292	$44,480,544

ASSETS

Coin, Bullion and Provincial Notes	$7,882,936	$7,312,940
Landed or other property of Bank	1,790,529	1,660,024
Government Securities	3,035,139	3,059,638
Notes of other Banks	1,538,392	1,754,757
Balances due from other Banks	8,598,976	5,715,477
Discounts	51,806,535	50,886,958
Other Debts	3,256,380	2,990,830
Total Assets	$77,725,194	$78,340,574

These returns show an increase in liabilities of $338,987, and of assets of $615,440, being an improvement of $276,453 during the month. The decline of $870,000 in the circulation, and the increase of over $1,000,000 in deposits not bearing interest, is rather indicative of dullness in trade. The increase of "coin, bullion and Provincial notes" is very remarkable. The sum total as $4,480,954, an increase of almost fifty per cent. in one month. - - - - - -

Dinner by Ball.

The saloons of the Pullman Palace Cars are so large that forty-eight persons can be seated at dinner at one time, and the dinner is excellent. Some may have the curiosity to know what kind of dishes can be served in the cars. So we give, somewhat abridged, a copy of a bill of fare, abstracted the other day from the "City of New York," which runs between Chicago and Rochester :—

Dry toast, 10 cents; butter toast dipped toast, hot biscuit, 15 cents each; milk toast, 25 cents; beef tongue, sugar-cured ham, pressed corned beef, sardines, 40 cents each; spring chicken, whole, $1; spring (half), beef-steak with potatoes, mutton-chop with potatoes, 75 cents each; breakfast bacon, ham, 50 cents each; eggs, fried, boiled, scrambled, poached, omelet plain, 40 cents each; omelet with ham, omelet with rum, 50 cents each; vegetables, chow chow and mixed pickles, 10 cents each; cherries, 15 cents each; strawberries, preserves, 25 cents each; French coffee or tea, with an order, 15 cents; coffee or tea without an order, 25 cents. Worcestershire sauce, walnut catsup, horseraddish, French Mustard, wine, and cigars

—A new kind of sectional canal-boat has been invented and tried with success between Buffalo and Albany. Each section is a distinct boat—in fact, any two canal boats of ordinary construction may be coupled by this arrangement without any preliminary change in them. The coupling which is the only new feature, consists of a bar, rigidly attached by one end to the stem of the forward section, and the other end turning upon a pivot in the bow of the rear section. An ordinary steering-wheel is connected by chains to this bar in such a manner that the steersman, with his hand on the wheel, has perfect control over both sections. No rudder is used while the sections remain connected, the rear section acting as a rudder. The advantages claimed for the invention are that two canal boats coupled together by this arrangement can be managed by the same crew rebuired for a single boat, and towed with an addition of only about 30 per cent of the power required to move one boat. But it is by the application of steam that the full advantages are expected to be obtained. An engine and wheel placed in the stern of the last section will not only move the entire craft, but tow another sectional boat of the same capacity. Thus the two boats with a total capacity of 32,000 bushels of corn, are expected to be moved with one engineer and two steersmen to manage them

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, JULY 8.

THE DISPUTED LOT.—At the Government Land sale to-day, the disputed lot 9 in the 9th concession of Marmora, containing 100 acres, was knocked down to a Mr. Morton, for the sum of $4,030. The adjoining lot 8 in the 9th concession, was sold to Mr. Maxwell, at $12 50 per acre.

HEAVY WEIGHTS.—Three jolly Englishmen met at the market a day or two since, and in talking of the prospects of a rich harvest, it was suggested that they should weigh themselves and see what their united weight would come to. They got on the scales and turned 705 lbs. Who can beat it?

A GOOD HIT.—Diogenes discusses the great organ question in a cartoon which will create a sensation in "a the Kirk," of the country. The portraits are capital and the whole design and legend both spirited and exhaustive. The climate may occasionally injure our eorn, but it seems to have a different effect on the nerve of the talented contributors who exemplify the wit of our contemporary.

G. T. RAILWAY.—We observe by the Times of the 24th of June that the total receipts of the Grand Trunk Railway from the 1st of January to the 15th of June (156 days) amounted to $570,943 stg., and during the corresponding period last year to $569,746, an increase in 1869 of upwards of $7,197. It was only fair to add that the increase would have been much larger if the past winter had not been so prolonged and severe.

NEW INSOLVENTS.—The following new Insolvents are gazetted: M. T. Rogers, Napanee; John Durham, Montreal; Wm. Kennedy, Ottawa; Edward Welsh, Perth; James Delahey, Walkerton; George Wilson, Napanee; Wm. Snell Grove, Woodstock; R. P. Street, John Peacock, Hamilton; Anathas Cavan, H. Smeaton, C. Corcoran, Quebec; H. Stiebler, Galt; T. McLean, Toronto; H. Tibbitt, Ottawa; Widmeyer and Schroder, Ayton.

The following is a list of the new Directors of the Royal Canadian Bank:

JOHN CRAWFORD, M P, Toronto.
WILLIAM THOMSON, Toronto.
JAMES CROMBIE, Galt.
WILLIAM BARBER, M P P, Streetsville.
WILLIAM MCGIVERIN, Hamilton.
J H DUMBLE, Cobourg.

At a meeting of the directors subsequently held Mr. John Crawford, M. P., was elected President, and Mr. Wm. Tomson, of the firm of Thomson & Burns, of Toronto, was elected Vice-President.

The Defalcations in the Receiver General's Office.

OTTAWA, July 6.—It is reported that investigations are going on in the Receiver General's Department in relation to the coupons of the city of Hamilton debentures. These debentures were purchased by the Government. The account was in charge of Reiffenstein and is it said there is something wrong. The Hamilton case, which comes up to-morrow, stands in this position: Hamilton was indebted to the Municipal Loan Fund, which was placed against the Clergy Reserve Fund, so that Hamilton was not entitled to anything from the latter fund; still the Receiver General's Department appeared to have issued cheques for the amount appropriated to the city, and the account was managed in such a way that an opportunity was presented for the irregularity on which a charge of larceny is founded against Reiffenstein.

The six charges against him, for misdemeanor, or obtaining money under false pretences, were all collections made by the Ontario Bank's agent here, Mr. Mowbray He had not the slightest authority from the Municipalities concerned. The following are the townships and the amounts so collected: Beverly, $578; Sidney, $546; Burlow, $533; Wilmot, $489; Markham, $453; York, $673. These sums being collected by the Ontario Bank here, the last sum as late as June 9th, were placed to Reiffenstein's credit. Having obtained this money without authority, Reiffenstein is charged with obtaining money under false pretences.

There are 25 or more other cases in 1867 and '68, in which money was obtained without authority from municipalities, on which no charges have been founded, as they are of a like character.

The amount involved is about $20,000 or $25,000, as far as has been discovered. The amount refunded must be deducted from this.

The 15th Battalion.

The number of men on Drill at the Camp, according to the parade state yesterday, including the officers, was 330. The work they have to perform is not so easy as many imagine, as will be seen by the programme of each day's drill. At 6 o'clock in the morning reveille is sounded, and the men turn out for squad drill, which lasts until 8 o'clock. Breakfast is at 8 o'clock, and from the time breakfast is over until 9:30, all necessary cleaning of boots, coats, belts, &c., is expected to be performed.—At 9:30 Battalion drill commences, and lasts until 12 o'clock; then dinner, for which an hour is given. The men are again called out and are on drill from 1:30 to 4 o'clock. It will thus be seen that seven hours of the day are occupied in drilling, which in these hot days is no child's play. From 6 o'clock the men are at liberty until first post, which is at 9:30, and all lights are out at 10. Guard mounts at 9 a. m. for 24 hours, 2 hours on and 4 hours off.

The tents are placed in column right in front—the officer's tents being on the left flank. The tents are new and of the most improved construction, are well ventilated, and keep off the rain nicely, but the pales are too slender, and are made of brackish ash timber, which is very liable to break. Indeed two or three have already broken from the effect of the light showers of last night and to-day, and the Colonel is of the opinion that if heavy rain should come, the chances are that they would all give way. It is very evident the poles are quite insufficient to hold up the tents when wet, and the department will be compelled to procure new and better material.

A good deal of surprise has been expressed at the remarks of a Town cotemporary with regard to the turn out of the 15th Battalion. The fact is the Volunteers are obliged to do their drill some time during the year, and at no period in the year are the largest portion of the members of our Town and City Battalions more at leisure than now, so that the time fixed for the drill is the most convenient for both employers and employees. Employers must expect to suffer some inconvenience in the effort to raise and drill an efficient Volunteer force, and they should do it without grumbling. Officers who have spent such large sums in raising and maintaining Companies, as have the Captains of the 15th, hardly deserve to have such mercenary motives attributed to them as are made, and the insinuation that the Volunteer's Camp is on a week's "lark," comes with very bad grace from the writer of the article in question. The 15th Battalion has a good record at home and abroad; the officers have spent a great deal of time and money in keeping it up—they have done duty at home and on the frontier, when it would have been far more convenient and profitable for them to be engaged in their business; and it will be time enough when that record is wiped, to attack it in the ill-natured and uncalled for manner, as has been done by the Chronicle.

The Murray Canal.

In the Report of the Minister of Public Works for 1866, which has just been printed, we find a lengthy report from Mr. Page, Chief Engineer of Public Works, on the projected Murray Canal, from which we gather some interesting facts respecting this work. It appears from this report that the project seems to have been entertained at a very early period in the history of the Province, it having been suggested by Lt.-Governor Hunter, as far back as 1800, and in the original survey of the Township of Murray, about 3,000 acres of land were set apart for that purpose. The not very consoling fact, however, is mentioned that these lands were for the most part subsequently disposed of to settlers.

Several surveys have been made, one as early as 1825, and the estimated cost of a Canal has varied from $100,000 to $1,290,000. The last survey was made in 1866 67, and to the reports of this one we will confine our review. The first portion of the report embraces a description of the leading geographical features of that section of the Province which forms the North-east part of the shore of Lake Ontario. There were three routes surveyed, one terminating in Presqu'ile Harbor and two in Weller's Bay. Route No. 1 starts from the northwest angle of the head of the Bay of Quinte, near the mouth of Dead Creek, and follows along the northern side of a marsh for about a mile and a half. It then takes a more westerly course, and runs into the head of Wesse's Crick, which is a long, narrow and shoal branch of Presqu'ile Harbor. It is the longest of the three routes examined, being fully four and a half miles in length. A considerable amount of rock excavation is required by this route, and a large quantity of dredging will be rendered indispensable both in Presqu'ile and Weller's Bay.

"Route No. 2 leaves the Bay of Quinte near Twelve-o'clock Point, and runs in a westerly direction along the southern edge of Dead Creek Marsh. It then curves to the southward and enters Weller's Bay at a place called Stoneburgh's Cove. The length of this route is about 2 miles, 5,060 feet. Fully one-half of this distance at the Bay of Quinte end is through sand, and the remaining half at Weller's Bay is chiefly in rock, with a stratum of sand and loam overlying it. At the Bay of Quinte the length of dredging out to 10 feet at lowest water, will be about 3,000 feet, of an average depth, for 1,200 feet from the shore, of 6 feet 8 inches, and for the remaining distance of 1,800 feet, an average of 1 foot 8 inches Should the diversion to Twelve o'clock Point be made from the line leading to Presqu'ile Harbor, the above extent of dredging will be the same for routes Nos. 1 and 2. At the Weller's Bay entrance there would be 2,630 feet excavation with an average depth of 7 feet. Of this 1,000 feet is of rock of an average depth of six feet; the other portion being blue clay and sand.

"Route No. 3 starts from the southwest angle of the head of the Bay of Quinte, and runs in a south-westerly direction towards Mud Creek, thence along the mouth of that Creek to Weller's Bay, south of Pine Point, a distance of 2 miles, 1,859 feet. About 1 mile of this route, near the Bay of Quinte end, is through rock, one half of which would be from 25 to 30 feet deep, and the other half of an average of 12½ feet deep. The other 1¼ mile is chiefly sand and clay. At the outlet at the Bay of Quinte, about the same extent of dredging will be required as that of route No 2. At the Weller's Bay end, about 3,350 feet of dredging (averaging 4 feet 6 inches in depth) would have to be done to attain a depth of 10 feet at extreme low water This line would lead in a sinuating direction across the entrance into Consecon Bay."

"From the above brief description of the several lines surveyed, it will be seen that route No. 1 is about 1¾ miles longer than No. 2; that No. 3 is nearly ¾ of a mile shorter than route No. 2, and that at all the entrances a considerable amount of work will be necessary to obtain and secure the proper depth of water."

The Engineer after going into the details of each route, thinks that the selection lies between routes Nos. 2 and 3, or some modification of them. The expense of forming an entrance at the Bay of Quinte end would be about the same on both these routes, and there is reason to believe that the one would be equally accessible as the other.

On Weller's Bay, route No. 2 presents a good line of approach and entrance, but it has the objectionable feature that a large quantity of rock excavation under water will be necessary. Although the dredging of the entrance of route No. 3, would be through mud, the channel would unavoidably be crooked, and at its immediate entrance would be nearly parallel with the shoal at Bald Head; thus rendering access to it in some measure uncertain, whilst it is questionable whether the deeper channel would remain open unless protected by pier-work. If this became necessary it would doubtless interfere with the only channel into Consecon Bay. It is, however, proper to state that on an intermediate line between routes No. 2 and 3, there would probably be a much greater extent of rock excavation under water than at route No. 2, inasmuch as the water continues shoal for a considerable distance from the shore along the head of the Bay.

In order to ensure the full advantages of the Canal at all times, it is recommended that a Lock be constructed. The width of the Canal is to be 100 feet, depth 11 feet.

In order to protect the entrance from being silted up, it will in all cases be necessary to carry lines of pier-work out from the shore. To effect this at the Bay of Quinte end, on either of the routes, there would probably be required 1,000 lineal feet of pier on each side, of at least 16 feet in width. This would require a depth of about 7 feet at lowest water on the shoal. These piers should be placed about 150 feet apart, and the dredging extended beyond them with at least that width to 10 feet at lowest water.

To attain a depth of 7 feet on the shoal at the Weller's Bay end of route No. 3, would require fully 3,500 feet of pier-work placed either in curved or angular lines, both of which are objectionable as admitting of deposits taking place alongside of them. Moreover, a line of pier, this length, would contract the current into Consecon Bay, whilst the channel outside runs all but parallel with the shoal. It would therefore be difficult of access and liable to fill up. As a whole, this entrance is unfavourable.

The entrance to route No. 2, at Stoneburgh's Cove, would be easy of access, being nearly on the direct line of the channel into the Bay, and deep water on this side is found nearer the shore than any other place. The greatest objection being that the beach, as already stated, is of rock.

The engineer concludes that as a whole route No. 2 appears to be preferable to No 3 in regard to ease of access, general direction and economy of construction. No. 1 route is estimated to cost $1,290,000; No 2, $860,000; No. 3, $940,000.

The engineer questions whether the advantages which the canal would confer upon the general navigation, would warrant so large an expenditure, but in a naval and military point of view, admits that there may be reasons which would outweigh ordinary considerations of economy and prove strong arguments in favor of the project. A very important step was made at the late Session of Parliament to get this canal commenced, and the advantage gained will, we hope, be followed up so that this long projected and very necessary work may be speedily constructed.

—It is an extraordinary fact in this world that every single woman who want anything done for nothing goes straightway to the publisher of a newspaper. He is the free bridge over which merit and demerit proposes to pass the stream of trouble He's the free horse that every man proposes to ride in the green pastures of prosperity.

At a recent meeting of the Madison County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors, the following highly original account was submitted for payment, but failed to pass through: "Madison County to ——, Dr $10. For making the wedding for and getting her married, and clearing the county of any further charge on her account and placing her on a good moral and religious foundation."

Canadian Dominion Directory.

In another column will be found the prospectus of the Canadian Dominion Directory for 1870-71.

Universal Gazetteers and Directories, giving the names of the cities, towns, villages and hamlets of a country, together with a census of the population, the various trades and professions, the nature of the manufactories, are inestimable boons to the community at large. When to this information is added their distance from the great centres of commerce, the modes of travel to them, and the most convenient points accessible by railway or steamboat, the value of such a work is still increased.

When we consider the almost interminable labour and the difficulty of the attempt to get such information from 3,500 different places, and extending over not only the whole Dominion of Canada, but also the Provinces of Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, it is obvious that it requires a stout heart and an indomitable spirit, the publisher must have great faith in the public to hope for the necessary pecuniary aid to accomplish so vast an undertaking We sincerely trust his faith will not be misplaced.

Such a work is a necessity in every merchant's counting house, banking establishment, lawyer's office, fire and insurance office, the government office; and further, it ought to find a place in every commercial exchange room in England, America and Canada; and in every emigration office in Europe.

To advertisers it presents a most favorable medium, as 10,000 copies of the work must be issued to cover the cost of publication.

A comparison of the present 1870-71 edition with that of the one published in 1857-58, will afford the best possible proof of the vast progress of the country. We trust that a large subscription list and a liberal advertising patronage will be extended to this work, in order that the publisher may be enabled to commence it in October.

The public may be assured, that if published, the work will be reliable. For further particulars see prospectus.

HOUSE OF LORDS

The House of Lords to night took up the Irish Church Bill at clause 68. Earl Cairns moved an amendment to postpone the question of the disposal of the surplus, because much time must elapse before its realization, and he objected to its application to relieve others from taxation.

Earl Granville opposed the amendment. It would, if adopted, have the effect to verify the prophecies that the Bill would give rise to sectarian strife.

The Duke of Cleveland regretted the failure of the proposition for concurrent endowment. He urged that the surplus fund be held until Parliament should be more fully able to decide in regard to its application

The Duke of Argyle supported the original clause.

The Marquis of Salisbury protested against the reckless conduct shown in throwing away a large fund. He ridiculed the declaration of the members of the Government, that though individually in favor of concurrent endowment, under the present circumstances they deemed it impossible. It was lamentable to see Her Majesty's Ministers sacrificing not only their own convictions but considerations of the highest policy and statesmanship at the bidding of the tiberation society.

The Earl of Kimberly urged the Lords to be contented with the amendments made, and not forfeit the confidence of the people by the House of Commons to accept the Bill as amended

After a protracted debate the House divided Lord Cairn's amendment to postpone was adopted by a vote of 169 against 90. The clauses of the Bill which had previously been passed over, were then considered and agreed to with some verbal alterations. The preamble of the Bill was also amended to make it agree with the alteration made in clause 68. The Bill was then passed through Committee

LONDON, July 7.—The Times, commenting on last night's debate, says:—"By their last act the House of Lords has completed the transformation of the Ministerial scheme. They have refused, by a majority of 70, to approve the clause appropriating the surplus funds of the Church, and have preferred to reserve the question for future consideration. The meaning of this vote is not obscure. The Duke of Argyle condemned it, by anticipation, as an attempt to reverse the vote by which the Duke of Cleveland's amendment, proposing concurrent endowment, was rejected, and although we agree with the Marquis of Salisbury that Lord Cairns can scarcely have provision for the residences of Catholic priests at heart, we must acknowledge the justice of the Duke of Argyle's general conclusion, that the vote unquestionably reverses in spirit, if not in form, the decision against the Duke of Cleveland's scheme. The Times believes the country is ready and willing to support the grant for Ecclesiastical residences to Roman Catholics and Presbyterians. At the opportunity to make it is rejected it will be because the governing powers, being unable to rise above catch-words of party, dare not look openly and courageously at the truth.

LONDON, July 7.—The Daily News (Liberal) has an editorial to-day on the proceedings of the House of Lords last evening. The writer says that the Irish Church Bill will leave the House of Lords with a very different character from which it entered, and much less acceptable to the country. It will be quite impossible for the House of Commons to accept the amendments made by the Peers, and it will be their duty to restore the Bill to its original form. The Lords have done their best to spoil the measure they very prudently restrained from rejecting, and the Commons must transform the deformed Bill

A CANARD

PARIS, June 7.—A rumor has been current that the Government of Spain had applied to France requesting her to advise the Government of the United States to preserve strict neutrality in the case of Cuba. It is utterly unfounded, and may be considered simply a canard

FRENCH MINISTRY.

Notwithstanding official denials the modification of the French Ministry is imminent. M Rouher, representing the extreme right, part of personal government, is sure to retire and give place to a new combination in accord with the principle of Parliamentary government. When this pursey constitutional revolution is effected it may be considered almost certain that M. Emil Oliver will be chief of the new ministry. The Emperor it is said is willing to abandon the arbitrary power which he has wielded since the coupe de etat and share the burden of government with the country and legislature. The Senate will soon assemble and carry out the necessary organic changes

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL" the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travelers, than many of the so called, "first class hotels" which disgrace the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career: everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and systematic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suits of ELEGANTLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well aired and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Jets d'Eau" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchant Community.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

[illegible] proportion of iron in the blood, and I know to all medical men, that many severe diseases arise from the want of it, the wonderful part being concentrated, and as feeling of languor, lassitude and debility accompanies the very first symptoms of deficient blood, the necessity of a restorative is at once apparent, and I have found nothing to bring it back like using the

a preparation of the protoxide of Iron, which I proposed and succeeded in getting introduced into the system, strength, vigor, and new life is the consequence.

Perhaps no one physician in America has had a greater experience of IRON IN THE BLOOD, with astonishing results, than I, in trying to restore the shattered constitutions of ladies, who have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it of course must contain, more or less, of spirits, and I cannot say I recommend

Languishing, consumptive ladies, and all those who require a tonic, some of the most eminent physicians and clergymen and others, will I assure you, find

MONTREAL, 1865.

To Montreal Tea Company:

GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being extremely cheap.

Yours very truly,
F. DENNIE.

Montreal Tea Co:

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have become quite free from heartburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continues customer

Canadian Dominion Directory

FOR 1870-71.

THE SUBSCRIBER proposes to issue in SEPTEMBER, 1870, if sufficient support by SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS can be obtained to cover the cost of the publications, a CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY, comprising the Provinces of ONTARIO, QUEBEC, NOVA SCOTIA, NEW BRUNSWICK, which will be followed by the Provinces of NEWFOUNDLAND and PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND. The Directory will contain the names of Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants in the Cities, Towns and Villages, together with a large amount of general information, including, Alphabetical Directories of Post Offices and Postmasters, Banks, Government and Departments, and Civil Services, Houses of Parliament, Law Courts, Educational Departments, Custom Houses and Officers of Customs, Ports of Entry, Tariffs of Customs, List of Patents of Inventions, Canals, Railways, Railway and Steamboat Routes, Fairs and Religious Societies, Clergy of all Denominations, Registrars with their Divisions, Newspapers and Periodicals, &c., &c., also, Statistical Reports and Exports, Revenue, Expenditures, Trade, Population, &c., &c.

To be corrected to August, 1870.

The Canada Directory for 1857-58, published by the Subscriber, contained the names of the Principal Inhabitants in 1,939 Cities, Towns, and Villages in Upper and Lower Canada. The CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will contain a short description of at least 3,500 Cities, Towns and Villages in the Dominion of Canada, and the Provinces of Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, together with the Names of the Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

Dominion of Canada Subscribers $12 Cy. per copy
United States do $15 Cy. "
Great Britain and Ireland do £3 Stg. "
France, Germany, &c. do £3 Stg. "

RATES OF ADVERTISING will be made known on application to the Publisher.

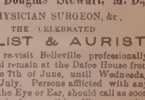

No money to be paid until the Work is delivered.

This notice is given for the reason that unprincipled men have, on several occasions canvassed for, and collected moneys in advance on account of Books which they falsely represented that I was about to publish

Persons desirous of adding in the Publication of the CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will please send in their Orders for SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS to

Some people think it a scaly business to take Newfoundland into the union

Cockney plaid or stripes for trousers is now the only correct costume

—Why should girls get good examples? Because the men are always following them.

—Lawyers are Not Proud—Did you ever meet with one who would scorn the action."

—A great hospital for the insane is about being founded at White Plains, N. Y., by the New York Hospital Society, which owns property to the amount of $4,000,000. The extent of the grounds is 293 acres, and selected for the asylum is a plateau, comprising the highest portion of the grounds, about 1,000 feet in length, by 400 in width. The main building, four storeys in height, will be six hundred feet in length, with two wings each 200 feet long, the whole forming three sides of a quadrangle. The cost of the property, including the land and buildings, will be about $1,000,000 A number of 500 patients will be accommodated. It is proposed to make the establishment the most extensive one of the kind in the world.

THE MODERN SWINDLE.—The New York Democrat says: —If you happen to be 'hard up,' you go to a dealer in money and ask a loan. When money is 'tight,' as it at present is, he hasn't got it to loan at legal rates, but he thinks he knows another rascal who has; and if you will allow him a commission for his time and influence, he'll try to get it for you, as you are a very good man, and he really would like to relieve you. If you are where you must have money or 'bust', you promise him, including legal interest, from seventy to one hundred per cent, for what you want. He looks out of his back window, uses his influence with his safe, and you get what you want, provided he thinks you can pay Such is the present condition of the money market, and such the condition of trade, that large numbers are forced to pay what is asked to be saved from failure during a single day.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Colds, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably no remedy known to the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent, reliable for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among all the races of men it has been tested and found in the most effectual to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a certain protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for inspired consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. Against pneumonia, when Cherry, it should be kept on hand by every family, and indeed all who are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with it, for they never know

Although settled consumption is thought incurable, still there are many cases where the disease seemed settled in it has been completely cured and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. Under these circumstances, the wonderful power over the disorders of the lungs and throat, that the most effectual remedy that can be given. When nothing else could relieve the sufferer, the Cherry Pectoral has done the work.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection in it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis yields to and is cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So prepared that the ingredients which we used are mutually curative, and the result is the most perfect remedy for pulmonary complaints, will be produced by its use.

Travelling through unwholesome localities, will be protected by taking the CHERRY PECTORAL.

For Liver Complaints, arising from derangement of the digestive organs, such as Constipation, Piles, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Headache, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, Back, and Limbs, and all the various symptoms arising from a disordered stomach, they are the best remedy known, producing many truly remarkable cures. Being purely vegetable, they never injure the most delicate constitution.

For Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints, it is almost unequalled, producing many truly remarkable cures. Being purely vegetable, they never injure the most delicate constitution.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this extraordinary remedy has obtained is derived from its cures. Many of which are truly miraculous. Its power to overthrow the diseases and corruptions which are variously seated in the blood, when they are once fairly exposed, is wonderful. Under its influence, the foul

The International Bridge.

The American and Canadian International Bridge Companies each held its annual general meeting on Monday, the former at the Mansion House in this city and the latter at Fort Erie. Beyond the election of Directors, no action was taken at either meeting, except the passage of a resolution declaring void the contract for building the bridge by James McHenry of London. In fact, nothing seems to have occurred affording the slightest hope of a renewed movement at present by the consummation of the long tried with project. The meeting was one of mere formality, and evidently the two companies which for ten years, have been repeating this annual ceremony, have about as much idea of getting the bridge built as they have of tunnelling Lake Erie.

In both companies, the directors elected, are almost entirely gentlemen in some way connected with the Grand Trunk Railway Company, so that the bridge organization is wholly controlled and possessed by that corporation. When it suits the pleasure or the interest of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, or rather Mr. Bryges, its Managing Director, we may have a Bridge across the Niagara. We do not see that Buffalo has much to say about it.

The following are the Directors of the Canadian Bridge Company, chosen at the Fort Erie meeting :—

C. J. Brydges, Managing Director of the Grand Trunk Railway.

John Bell, Solicitor of the G. T. R. Company.

R. Eaton, Mechanical Superintendent of of the G. T. R. Company.

J. Ferrier, President of the G.T. R. Company, in Canada.

J. Hickson, Secretary of the G.T.R. Company.

A. Walsh, M. P., Commissioner of the Intercolonial Railway.

F. R. Jarvis, connected with the G. T. R. Company at Stratford, Canada.

H. Yates, director at Kingston, Canada.

E. G. Spaulding, of Buffalo.

For the American Company, the same Directors as the above were elected at the Mansion House meeting, with the exception of Messrs. Eaton and Yates, in whose places were chosen Adam Brown, of Hamilton, Canada; and E. Carlton Sprague, of Buffalo. Buffalo interests, and American interests altogether, are therefore represented in the now existing International Bridge organization by two Directors, which must be eminently satisfactory.

Notes and Comments.

A farm has recently been bought near Placerville, California, consisting of 600 acres with a large orchard, 50,000 bearing vines, brick house, barn, wine-house, &c., for an object which deserves a passing notice. It is intended for a Japanese Colony to be brought over for the purpose of cultivating tea and producing raw silk. A village is to be built on the farm. Each family is to have a cottage and garden attached. Mulberry trees and tea plants are to be assigned to each family when the plants are ripe for plucking. Each family will feed its own worms, spin its own cocoons, and receive payment according to quantity and quality. Tea will be manufactured on the same principle, and wine also. There will also be a large nursery for the growth and sale of Japanese trees. This points to a very curious complication of affairs in the not far off future, both commercially and socially, for Japanese ladies are coming as well as gentlemen, and the possible results are shadowed in the following extract from a letter of a Frenchman :

"Unlike other Eastern people, there is something about the Japanese that is congenial to Europeans. Having spent some years in Japan, with opportunities of official position to observe the higher classes, we pronounce them in no way our inferiors. The men are dignified, well educated, exceedingly polite, brave, and full of ingenuity. The women have refined delicacy, very pretty forms and features, and a very winning address. They are scrupulously neat in their housekeeping.—Their accomplishments are quite up to our standard. They are healthy, frugal and industrious, and very affectionate. In any of the refined circles of the capitals of Europe, we know a hundred Japanese ladies that would command their own choice of husbands. Not only is it their personal charms that would be admired, but these would, in the eye of matrimony, be well endorsed by the absence of the expensive habits that, in our own belles, interpose so terrible an obstacle to marriage."

G. A. Stringer was in Evansville, Ind., the other day, wearing a vest the front of which was composed wholly of rattlesnakes' skins. The skins of ten rattlesnakes were used in its manufacture. The snakes from which the skins were derived were a pet, of the one hundred and six killed in one day in the month of November, 1867, in Hopkins county, Ky., by Andy Galbraith.

A Curious State Prison.

The following is hardly credible, but we find it in the New York Commercial Advertiser :—"The safest and best State Prison in the United States is at Joliet, Illinois. Everything is so free and easy that no prisoner will escape. They record it as absorbing house or social club, and their chief fear is lest they may be pardoned. There are twelve hundred prisoners at Joliet, half of whom are constantly unemployed. These meet in groups, talk together, have money, gamble, smoke, &c. Most of them are armed with knives. The prisoners take the newspapers, and are vastly amused by the crimes of their old associates out in the wicked world. They are allowed to go beyond the prison gates, and they visit Joliet, make purchases at the stores, drink at the saloons, sell articles they have stolen from the prison, and bring back tobacco and liquor. These prisoners do not rise, only because they have nothing to rise against. They have a better time in prison than they possibly could outside. A law of Illinois allows pay to the prisoners for over work. Consequently some of them do "overwork" only, and so make wages while supported by the State. Sometimes the guards, in a spasm of discipline, threaten to apply the rule rigidly. The prisoners dare them to do it, threaten them, and this insubordination is unnoticed. It is estimated that articles to the value of $150 a week are stolen from the shops and sold as above stated. The "biggest" forger in the prison has charge of the prison entry book, and is thus able to arrange the entries so as to secure the discharge of a 'pal' before his real term has expired. Two murders have been committed in the prison, and recently there was a prize fight among the convicts, with all the formalities of umpire, seconds, bottle-holders, and betters. One of the foremen testifies that he looked out of a window upon some convicts who were gambling, and that they seemed to have some $5,000 or $6,000 on the board. The old keepers of the prison were discharged, it is alleged, by the new warden, and in their place a lot of graduates of the reform school in Chicago, were substituted —a discharged convict made keeper of one undischarged. Such, briefly, is the outline of the situation at Joliet prison, and it certainly shows that a new and better order is required, unless the prison is to be made the most eligible place of resort in Illinois [illegible] so matter on whom the blow may fall. It is very right in remarking that the question is higher than party, and that no party can afford to sustain this management."

JAPANESE LADIES.—The Japanese ladies are as fair-skined almost as their sisters of the West. small, but neatly, and almost faultlessly shaped, their flowing robes displaying in their own gracefulness the model that nature has adopted, and which none of of the meretricious deceptions of civilization can improve upon with pretty captivating manners, and a language musical and soft as Italian, the laughter-loving nymphs of the Rising Sun have many and powerful charms. The graceful dress and the invariable cleanliness and neatness of the entire population, the delicate and tasteful appointments of the houses, in which there is hardly any furniture, and the simple and innocent recreations of the people, combined with their complacent, but not bumptious self-satisfaction, offer a very pleasant combination, and it is were not for the occasional risk of being murdered, Japan must be a very desirable place to live in. The latter consideration is a draw-back certainly, especially as the danger may be excited by such an incentive as the arousing of the patriotic feelings of the audience at one of the interminable Japanese plays, inducing an ardent desire to exterminate the foreigner, and preserve the sacred soil of the country intact, or from failure to understand and execute the requirements of etiquette on the approach of a Daimio.

GRAND LODGE OF CANADA, A.F. & A. M.—The fourteenth annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of Canada, will be held in the Masonic Hall, Place D'Armes, Montreal, at the hour of high twelve, on Wednesday, the 14th inst, and continue in session the two following days

THE TWELFTH.—As the Orangemen of Prince Edward have made arrangements to celebrate the Twelfth of July in Trenton, the Frankford and Trenton Brethren will meet their Prince Edward Brethren at the latter place, and we have no doubt there will be a great turn-out, and a grand celebration. The steamer Ottawa has been engaged for the occasion. She will leave Picton at 5 a. m., calling at Belleville at 9 a. m. Brass and Quadrille Bands have been engaged.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT.—On Wednesday, John Anderson, and C. P. Lyman of Tyendinaga were brought before the Police Magistrate, and Thomas Kelso, Esq., charged with an aggravated assault upon Lyman's wife. The case was fully proved and the assault was of such a brutal character, that the Bench under the Recorder's Act, sentenced both the prisoners to one month's imprisonment with hard labor, and a fine of $50 each. A just and righteous verdict.

DOMINION RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—The Dominion Rifle Association is to have its annual match in Toronto instead of Halifax as first intimated. The time has been fixed for the 6th of September and following days. The prize list is divided into nine matches, with a total of about 300 prizes, of a value ranging from $5 to $600. The Dominion of Canada match is open to all who are efficient members of embodied corps of Militia, and members of the staff in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick, and in Nova Scotia, to members of all corps of Volunteer Militia, and members of staff qualified since May, 1867. We have no doubt the Hastings Rifle Association will be duly represented at the Dominion match.

LONDON SOCIETY.—Mr. Overell has handed us a copy of the Holiday number of London Society for 1869. A glance at its list of contents, shows it to be a capital number. The following are the principal articles:—The Three Names; A Tale of a Holiday; (With two Illustrations); Our Table d'Hote at Troubouloguedieppeville; By Sidney L. Blanchard; How Frank Mariya Enjoyed a Holiday and won a Wife; The Land of Jet; Lady Nelly the Pixie, a Romance of the Railway; Infringing the By-laws; A Railway Misadventure; (Illustrated); A Picnic in India; Holiday Hearts; (Illustrated); London Society at a German Bath; The Seven of Hearts; (Illustrated); In Epping Forest; The Environs of Brighton; Foam of the Sea; (Illustrated); A Walk with Captain Barclay; Sea and Sky; An Omen; The Summer Jaunt; My Long Vacations. W. C. Chewett are the wholesale agents for Canada.

CANAL TOLLS.—As misapprehensions sometimes arise with respect to Canal toll's it is stated that ice passes up the Welland during this season at 5 cents per ton. Coal mines pass up all the canals except the Welland to be free of toll. Iron ore, Kyrolite or chemical ore passes through one section or all the canals at 5 cents per ton. Iron and salt having paid full toll on St. Lawrence canal, or through the Lachine canal, St. Ann's Lock, Ottawa and Rideau Canals, shall pass free through Welland, and if tolls have been paid on Chambly Canal, such shall be refunded at Montreal or Kingston Mills, upon the Iron Salt leaving the canal Wheat, flour and corn peas, barley, oats and petroleum having paid full toll's through the Welland, shall pass free through St. Lawrence Canals, the Rideau and Ottawa, St. Ann's Lock, Lachine and Chambly Canals. It is provided however, that the articles to be entitled to exemption shall go down ward through the whole length of the Canal to Montreal, or pass up from Montreal through the whole length of Ottawa and Rideau Canals to Lake Ontario

SKIFF AND GAYLORD'S MINSTRELS.—This troupe performs in Ontario Hall, on Saturday evening. The Hamilton Times thus speaks of their performance in that city:—"This company performed at Mechanics' Hall last evening, to a crowded and more select house than we have ever seen at a Minstrel entertainment in Hamilton before. Their performances included a variety of novelties, and gave the utmost satisfaction throughout; in fact, this is the best company that has visited the city for some years. In addition to the ordinary attractions of a minstrel troupe, a speciality is added in the shape of a series of Dioramic views, acknowledged by the press and the public to be the most beautiful optical delusions ever witnessed, thus presenting the characteristics of two entertainments in one. These exquisite paintings are descriptive of national, democratic, and foreign beauties, and have elicited universal admiration and applause throughout the country, and alone fully realize the price of admission."

The Deaf and Dumb Institution.

The contractors of this Institution, Messrs. Kempster & Brother, are pushing forward the work with all possible rapidity. The site of the building, as our readers are already aware, is about in the centre of the farm purchased for that purpose, a short distance from the westerly limits of the Town, and commands a magnificent view of the Bay and surrounding country. The foundations are about all excavated, and the stone work for the west wing of the building is nearly completed. On the Bay shore at a convenient point a substantial wharf is in process of construction, at which the largest steamers can unload.—Already a considerable quantity of material, brick from the various yards in the vicinity of Belleville, and stone from Point Ann are being accumulated here. At Point Ann as well as at some of the brick yards, docks are being prepared so that the material can be easily shipped on board the schooners. A quarry of stone has been opened on the Institute farm, from which a large quantity of the stone used is being procured. The contractors have a large force employed, and as will be seen by advertisement, are in want of a number of bricklayers and masons. They have taken hold of this work with energy and spirit, and with favorable circumstances, there is no doubt that the building will be completed by the time specified in the contract.

When the Commissioner of Public Works was here and announced that Belleville had been selected for the location of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, it was contemplated that when the corner stone should be laid some public demonstration should take place. The probability is that the work will be so far progressed as to admit of laying the corner stone about the first of August, and if anything is to be done towards a demonstration, immediate steps should be taken. The occasion is an important one for Belleville, and we think it of importance that some demonstration be made. It is not improbable that the Premier, with the Hon. John Carling and other members of the Ontario Government, would attend the ceremony of laying the corner stone. Will not some of our leading men take the matter in hand and make arrangements for a proper demonstration? If anything be done it should be done at once.

Important Amendment in the Criminal Law.

The following are the principal clauses of Mr. Sandfield Macdonald's measure entitled "An Act for the more speedy trial in certain cases of persons charged with felonies and misdemeanors, in the Province of Ontario and Quebec:—"

Any person committed to jail for trial on a charge of being guilty of any offence for which he may be tried at a Court of General Sessions of the Peace, may with his own consent, of which consent an entry shall then be made of record, and subject to the provisions here'after made, be tried out of Sessions, and if convicted, may be sentenced by the Judge.

It shall be the duty of every Sheriff within twenty-four hours after any prisoner charged as aforesaid is committed to jail for trial, to notify the Judge in writing that such prisoner is so confined, stating his name and the nature of the charge preferred against him, whereupon with as little delay as possible, such Judge shall cause the prisoner to be brought up before him.

If the prisoner on being so arraigned and consenting as aforesaid pleads not guilty, the Judge shall appoint an early day, or the same day, for his trial, and it shall be the duty of the County Attorney or Clerk of the Peace to subpœna the witnesses named in the depositions, or such of them, and such other witnesses as he may think requisite to prove the charge, to attend at the time appointed for such trial, and the prisoner being ready, the Judge shall proceed to try him, and if he is found guilty, sentence shall be passed as in the last preceding section mentioned, but if he is found not guilty, the Judge shall immediately discharge him from custody, so far as respects the charge in question

The Judge sitting on any such trial for all the purposes thereof and proceedings connected therewith or relating thereto, is hereby constituted a Court of Record, and the record in any such case shall be filed among the records of the Court of General Sessions of the Peace as indictments are, and as part of such records.

Any witness, whether on behalf of the prisoner or against him, duly summoned or subpœnaed to attend and give evidence before such Judge sitting on such trial on the day appointed for the same shall be bound to attend, and remain in attendance throughout the whole trial, and in case he fails so to attend, he shall be guilty of contempt of Court, and he may be proceeded against therefor accordingly.

Upon proof to the satisfaction of the Judge of the service of subpœna upon any witness who fails to attend before him as required by such subpœna and such Judge being satisfied that the presence of such witness before him is indispensable to the ends of Justice, he may by his warrant cause the said witness to be apprehended and forthwith brought before him to give evidence as required by such subpœna, and to answer for his disregard of the same, and such witness may be detained on such warrant before the said Judge or in the Common Jail with a view to secure his presence as a witness or in the discretion of the Judge, such witness may be released on recognizance with or without sureties conditioned for his appearance to give evidence as therein mentioned, and to answer for his default in not attending upon the said subpœna as for a contempt; any Judge may in a summary manner examine into and dispose of the charge of contempt against the said witness, who, if found guilty thereof, may be fined or imprisoned or both, such fine not to exceed one hundred dollars, and such imprisonment to be in the Common Jail, with or without hard labor, and not to exceed the term of ninety days. The said Warrant may be in the Form in Schedule "C," and the conviction for contempt in the Form in Schedule "D," to this Act, and shall be authority to the person and officers therein required to act, to do as therein they are respectively directed.

All the powers and duties hereby conferred and imposed upon the Judge shall be exercised and performed in the Province of Ontario by any County Judge, Junior or Deputy Judge, authorized to act as Chairman of the General Sessions of the Peace and in the Province of Quebec, in any District wherein there is a Judge of the Sessions, by such Judge of the Sessions, and in any District wherein there is no Judge of Sessions but wherein there is a District Magistrate, by such District Magistrate, in any District wherein there is neither a Judge of Sessions nor a District Magistrate by the Sheriff of such District.

This Act shall apply only to the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relatives found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

A Modern Robinson Crusoe.

The Paris correspondent of an American paper tells the following romantic story

"In the month of August, 1865, the French ship Adelina Elies quitted Bordeaux for Hong Kong. A month after wards she was spoken off Cape of Good Hope. She was never heard of again until a few days since her history and the history of all her crew became public A typhoon in the Indian Ocean threw her out of her course, dismasted her, broke her rudder and tossed her towards Oceanica. Bad weather lested thirty days, and when fair weather returned, she struck upon a coral reef and the exhausted crew were scarcely able to take refuge in boats.

"It was a moonless, starless night when this accident occurred. They rowed wildly, and thanked God when the breaking day showed them a harbor, surrounded by a charming landscape. They reached land and laid down to sleep. When they awoke they found themselves bound hand and foot, and surrounded by savages. Their captors proved to be cannibals. Eleven of them, their captain included, were slain and eaten. Three others contrived (how does not appear) to make their escape, but they were mutilated. The one who succeeded in reaching Europe has one arm cut off and one eye torn out. The three reached a remote part of the island where they found a canoe and embarked in it, preferring the risk of being devoured by sharks to the certainty of being killed and eaten by cannibals. Fortunately, they found themselves in an archipelago, and were able to get easily from one island to another. After wandering for some time, moving as rapidly as possible away from the cannibals home, George Samazon's two companions died of exhaustion.

"He remined alone, mutilated; hopeless, upon a frail canoe. He, nevertheless, continued to push on, touching land only when necessary to sleep and get water and food. He ate shell-fish and roots. One day, he reached the last island of the group and nothing lay before him but the wild ocean. He set to work to build a raft. It took him a year. He launched it. The waves threw it back on the island. He several times tried to put to sea, but constantly failed. He resolved to turn his footsteps landward, but in a different direction from the cannibal's home. He climbed a mountain, crossed a desert, fell again into savages' hands, once more escaped from them, fled through forests; his feet were bitten by venomous insects; his face scabbed by the bites of mosquitoes; at last nearer dead than alive, he came upon white men. He had been walking for three years, and had crossed South America on foot! The white men received him kindly, and did what they could for him. He embarked upon a small Portuguese ship, and at last reached Europe. His family had long given him up for dead."

THE IRISH CHURCH BILL

LONDON, July 8.—The Times has another editorial on the Irish Church Bill to-day, wherein it says:—"This Bill must become law. This session must destroy Protestant supremacy, and establish religious equality in Ireland, but not attempt to set up a multiplicity of establishments. If the ecclesiastical property of Ireland is to be put on a permanent footing, we must recognize those facts, and apply so much of the surplus as may be necessary to supply homesteads for the ministers of the whole people.

The Morning Star (Radical), says:—The British people have no right to indulge the Fears, who would deprive them of the luxury of being just. Hardly one of the amendments to the Bill agreed upon by the House of Lords can be tolerated by the country.

A NOBLEMAN IN COURT.

LONDON, July 8.—Lord Carrington was up before the Police Court to-day, on charges of assaulting and provoking Messrs. Granville and Murray to fight a duel. The trouble between the gentlemen arose from certain articles alleged to have been written by Mr. Murray.—After the examination, Lord Carrington was bound over to keep the peace, and held for trial on a second count. After the proceedings, a disgraceful and most remarkable scene occurred in the Court room. The partisans of Mr. Murray, who were present in great force, attempted to steal a box of papers, which had been stolen. In a melee, which ensued, blows were freely exchanged, and the magistrate's table overthrown. Twelve policemen were called in, who separated the combatants, and restored order.

THE EMPEROR'S LETTER.

PARIS, July 8.—The Pays, to day, says the Emperor has written a letter, from which it quotes the following declaration in regard to the Corps Legislatif:—"On the 19th of January, I committed a great fault. By acting without previous concert with the majority, I caused to be regard with suspicion my sentiments toward it. All my efforts shall tend to regain its confidence" The Pays does not give the address or date of the letter

NO MORE LIFE PEERAGES

LONDON, July 8.—In the House of Lords to-night, the Bill providing for creation of Life Peerages was rejected by a vote of 77 to 100.

BANKRUPTCY BILL.

The new Bankruptcy Bill was read a second time.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

In the House of Commons Mr Aytoun called attention to the application for government loan to the Canadian Intercolonial Railway, and moved a resolution that in the opinion of the House, such application of public funds was contrary to the terms of the Dominion Act, authorizing the road and that no further advance unless should be given except in such form as will insure direct application to its construction.

Messrs Barring and Hunt opposed the resolution.

Mr. Gladstone said in his opinion no case had been presented which called for interference of the House and recommended the withdrawal of the resolution. The resolution was then withdrawn.

FROM FRANCE

PARIS, July 8.—In the Corps Legislatif to-day Mr. Rouher said in reply to some remarks of M. Jules Favre, that the Government and Chamber would always agree in opposition to revolution.

FROM SPAIN

MADRID, July 8.—In the Cortes to-day, a vote of censure against Senor Hirva, late Minister of Justice was moved by Senor Castillar Martos which was supported by Gen Prim. Admiral Topet opposed the motion being made a cabinet question. After further debate the motion was rejected by 142 to 94. The Republicans approve the refusal of members of their party to join the ministry, and declare that they can afford to await the triumph of Republican principles and policy.

FROM RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 8.—The Czar has determined to revive the University at Moscow, which formerly existed there and was in 1834 replaced by two colleges.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

LONDON, July 8.—In the House of Commons to-night, Mr. Gladstone, after acknowledging the courtesy with which Sir Henry Bullwer had so often postponed his motion in regard to the Alabama claims, said in again appearing to put it off he felt it his duty to allege some reasons for his action, as it would amount to a definite postponement of the question for this year. He assured the House that it was the opinion of the Government that it would best promote the interests involved in this great question by abstaining from asking the House to discuss it at the present moment. It had always been the custom of Parliament to abstain from discussing the questions while under negotiation, although it could hardly be said that the claims were under negotiation, and it might be considered that the rejection of the convention by the Senate of the United States brought nothing definite, still he had reason to believe that the Government of the United States did not regard the question as definitely dropped on that account; on the contrary, they considered it was better an interval should occur on account of the state of public opinion in America, before negotiations are resumed. Under these circumstances Her Majesty's Government were inclined to concur in the views of the American Government. He pointed out that the question had not been discussed in either branch of the American Legislature, having regard to these circumstances The Government was anxious that nothing should occur to impede resumption of the negotiations; therefore, he requested the postponement of the motion on paper for to-morrow.

Sir Henry Bulwer replied that he felt it his duty to accede to Mr. Gladstone's request, but he did so with great reluctance. He thought the discussion would do no harm, but rather strengthen the policy of the Government. He felt convinced that if the relations of Great Britain and the United States, are allowed to continue in their present state, both countries would have reason to repent. He did not attach much importance to Senator Sumner's speech as to the rejection of the Treaty, but felt the great importance of the fact, that the claims brought forward were not abandoned, but merely suspended, and might be brought forward any time when it would be equally dishonorable not to grant, and disastrous to refuse them. If the feeling of the hour was against the motion he would not bring it forward. In conclusion he threw the whole responsibility on the Government

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL" the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really, first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than such etc.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and system, its corre-tness.

The large Hall, commodious offices, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Work Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, forms no small feature during the present summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and finest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Jets d'Eau," and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public.

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the charges price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of that patronage, so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

A DELINQUENT'S DREAM.—I had a dream the other night, which every thing was still, I dreamed I saw old Beelzebub a coming down the hill. My printer's bill was in his paw, and blood was in his eye, says he, 'Young man, your 'sessed' draw, or else prepare to die!' I gazed old Sooty in the face and saw my chance of saving grace—'twas pay up in advance

C. O. D.—A clergyman in Troy recently heard the following conversation between a Troy expressman and a West Troy receiver of a good sized box: "What do them ere letters mean?" pointing to the 'C. O. D.'on the corner. "Them means pay," explained the expressman. "Then don't spell pay," rejoined the other. "You go long; this ere box is paid for, I know." "I tell you what," returned the expressman the bright thought almost knocking him off the waggon seat, "them ere letters mean Come Onmediately Down," is the conclusive suggestion the happy man paid the expressman went back over the river with a new idea in his head.

—The Dominion government do not intend to lose any time in providing for the settlement of the Northwest territory. Upwards of four hundred men have already been set to work upon the roads there, and sixty more leave Three Rivers to-morrow. The Hon. Mr. McDougall is about to visit the territory with a view of determining the site of the capital of the territory, Fort Garry being considered too far to the west.

True success results from true merit. Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is placed before the public, resting solely upon its own merits. Its success is wholly indisputable

"HEALING ON ITS WINGS." may well be made use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and by such use been cured of coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore throat, influenza or consumption. The prudent will always keep this standard remedy by them.

—The Chicago Times says: "Almost every interest in the country has its organ. That of the maimed soldiers of the late war is the hand organ."

TWO FOLLIES.—First, to eat a hearty supper for the pleasure experienced during the brief time it is in passing down the throat, at the expense of a whole night of distressed sleep, and a weary waking in the morning. Second, to try all the remedies in existence for rheumatism, pains in the back and sides, coughs, colds, cramps, sprains, bruises, &c., before trying the "Canadian Pain Destroyer." Sold by all Medicine dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in a great majority of instances in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to propel into activity, throughout the body, them, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into severe or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or in some internal organ. In the latter, it takes root in accidental deposits in the lungs or bowels, or tissues of the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following rem plaints generally find immediate relief, and, in time, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, and other visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dropsy, Dropsy of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Kidney, Neuralgia, and the various painful affections of the mucous and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it after a long time is required for subduing the obstinate maladies by any medicine but this powerful alterative. It will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Suppressions or Retentions, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute disorders for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when attributable, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably no remedy ever before the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of the people. Its virtues eminently for pulmonary complaints, and among the most distressing and fatal of these it conquers the severest coughs, the obstinate [illegible] Bronchitis, the hoarseness, the croup, and the whooping cough. It conquers them all, because it is adapted to the cure of them. No one who once employs it will be without it, or will consent to have a substitute given him. Mothers, do not let the destroyer come in this insidious form into your households. Keep the Cherry Pectoral where it is within reach, and when the first symptoms appear, give it promptly, and as directed. Singers and Loud Speakers find great protection from its use.

Influenza is almost always relieved, and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral at the first indication of the disease.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish them. All who have ever tried it, or do even but examine the public that its qualities are fully understood.

Ayer's Ague Cure,
For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Malarious Fevers, and many other, and indeed all the affections which arise from the malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As the name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance, the use of it is followed by no injurious after effects. The number and importance of its cures in the agueplagued districts of the Mississippi Valley, and we will not say parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride and delight is to receive and publish the voluntary and unsolicited testimony of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Disconsolate persons, either wasted by, or travelling through miasmatic districts, can be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

In Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, more scientific remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing usually truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble dooters to bring us our tea and coffee in bottles at an expense of at least four times what they are worth?

If not, why should we not adopt that system in reference to medicine, which is the simple extracts of herbs or plants and roots, and are as readily prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more concentrated extracts than can be prepared in their form for four times the amount of water.

We have in many cases found it preferable to take herbs from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines.

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt rheum, scrofula, king's evil, white swellings, tumors, cancers, erysipelas, blotches, boils, ringworm, tetter, scald head, sore eyes, pimples or humors of the skin. Strengthens the stomach and bowels, removes the sick headache, and invigorates the general vigor of the system, and in reducing the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents a bottle.

Life! Death!

BY THE REV. W. H. PLATT.

I

Life is a mystic woe,
Tried by a spindle dread,
Weaving the threads of care,
Wet with affection's tear.
But Death mutely stops the spindle's swift flight,
And severs our care's knotted thread;
While the tears of earth's millions are dried at the tomb
Where Angels watch over the dead.

II

Life is a broken hope,
Life is a weary sigh,
Life is a faded dream,
Life is a dread to die.
But Death near us glides, with a dark veiled face,
And waves us in silence away,
Where hope is fruition and sighs are sweet songs,
And dreams are the wings of the day.

III

Life is a shadowed flight,
Life is a Pilgrim's hymn,
Life is an echo strange,
Heard in the twilight dim,
But Death soon unveils man's shadowiest day,
And shelters the traveller lone;
The echoes of earth are all lost in the strains
That swell from the Master's Throne

IV

Life is a thought worked out—
Worked on a stage sublime—
Worked 'neath the Angel's eyes—
Worked in the tasks of Time
But Death easily ends both the thought and the tasks—
Ends both in a rapture sublime,
While the Angels bend o'er him in jubilant Bands,
And crown the True Worker of Time

V

Life is the breath of God,
Life is his smile of frown,
Life is the victim's cross,
Life is the victor's crown
But Death takes the breath from earth back to God,
On guilt bends his withering frown
While the smile of his love, in radiant glow,
Light the way from the Cross to the Crown

VI

Life is an endless curse,
Life is an endless bliss,
Life in the other world
Is as we choose in this
O Death, which of these! in awe we must wait,
And list for thy summoning call;
With hands crossed on breast and eyes closed in sleep,
We'll rest 'neath thy dark flowing pall.

Woman and Marriage.

I have speculated a great deal on matrimony I have seen young and beautiful women, the pride of gay circles, married as the world says, well. Some have moved into costly houses, and their friends have all come and looked at their furniture and their splendid home for happiness, and have gone away and committed them to their sunny homes, cheerfully and without fear It is natural to be sanguine for them, as the young are sometimes carried away with similar feelings

I love to get unobserved into a corner and watch the bride in her white attire, and with her seeming smiling face and soft eyes meeting me in the pride of life, weave a walking dream of future happiness, and persuade myself that it will be true. I think how they will sit on the luxuriant sofa as the twilight falls, and build gay hopes, and murmur in low tones the not now forbidden tenderness, and how thrilling the hallowed kiss and beautiful endearments of wedded life will make even parting their joy, and how gladly they will come back to the crowded and empty mirth of the gay to each other's quiet company

I picture to myself that young creature, who blushes even now at his hesitating caresses, listening eagerly for his footsteps as the night steals on, wishing he would come, and when he enters at last, with an affection as undying as his pulse, nestling upon his bosom I can feel the tide that goes flowing through the heart, and gaze with him upon the graceful form as she moves about in the kind offices of affection, soothing all his unquiet cares, and making him even forget himself in her young and unshadowed beauty A year or two and I go forward for years and see her luxuriant hair put soberly away from her brow, and her girlish graces resigned into dignity and loveliness, chastened with the gentle meekness of maternal affection. Her husband looks on with a proud eye, and shows the same fervent love and delicate attentions which first won her, and they look on, full of honor and untroubled years, and are remembered when they die.—Washington Irving

Happiness.

Happiness does not consist in self love. The desire of happiness is no more the thing itself, than the desire of riches is the possession or enjoyment of them People may love themselves with the most entire and unbounded affection, and yet be extremely miserable. Neither can self love any way help them out but by setting them on work to get rid of the causes of their misery, for gain or make use of those objects which are by nature adapted to afford satisfaction Happiness or satisfaction consists only in the enjoyment of those objects which are by nature suited to our several particular appetites and affections So that if self-love wholly engrosses us, and leaves no other room for any other principle, there can be absolutely no such thing at all as happiness or enjoyment of any kind whatever since happiness consists in the gratification of particular passions, which supposes the having of them. Self-love then does not constitute this or that to be our interest or good, but, our interest or good being constituted by nature and supposed, self-love only puts us upon obtaining and securing it.—Bishop Butler.

Profane Language.

There is probably no crime in the land so common as profanity. One meets it everywhere. He cannot travel upon the highway, upon railroad or steamboat; he can hardly enter a depot, hotel, warehouse, store or office without his ears being greeted with some form of profanity. Old men use it; young men are addicted to it; and young children lisp it with the accents of their mother tongue. It seems to be regarded with some as an essential ingredient in the character of a gentleman; as imparting force and dignity to his character, and giving weight to his declarations There never was a greater mistake

In the next place it rather weakens than strengthens one's declarations. The natural inference is that one who will recklessly violate one precept of the Decalogue is liable to violate another; that if he has no fear of God, neither will he regard man And the inference every one would draw among strangers. He would sooner take the word of one whom he found too conscientious to use a profane word, than one who, accompanying his statements with an oath, showed that he scrupled not to trample under foot a divine command. It is true there are honest men who are profane; but we trust them not because of their oath, but because we have tried them and found them honest; we believe them rather in spite of their profanity. But again, profanity is a violation of a positive command of God. "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain," were the words communicated audibly from heaven, amid the thunder and smoke of Sinai, and by the finger of the Almighty twice committed to tables of stone This is a law of peculiar sanctity. It is invested with all that is awful and sacred. It came not by the mouths of the prophets; not by the ministration of angels even, but the great Law-giver himself came down and communicated it with his own lips, and, amid the awful display and majesty, wrote down with his own almighty hand and reached it forth, to be a statute to all generations. Who then would recklessly trample it under foot?

We repeat this is a crime without a redeeming quality of any seeming advantage. When men commit any crime they generally expect to gain something by it. It we tell a falsehood, we have some object in view. If we commit theft or robbery, there is an expectation of gain. If we indulge in strong drink, it is to satisfy a craving appetite. But profane swearing has no real or imaginary profit. It makes no one the richer, the wiser, or the happier for it. It neither helps his education nor improves his manners. It commends us to one to society. It adds no beauty or force to his language. What is it then? It is simply a gratuitous insult cast in the face of the Almighty.—Buffalo Christian Advocate

Matrimony Extraordinary.

A NEW VERSION OF WOMAN'S RIGHTS—A WIFE LIVING WITH TWO HUSBANDS

From the Chicago Evening Post

There is a very remarkable case of matrimonial felicity (?) in this city, which is not generally known to the public In the west division lives a woman with two husbands, to each of whom she has been married in legal form At the time the war broke out this woman was living with her first husband, by whom she had three children. Soon after the breaking out of the rebellion, her husband enlisted and went off in the role of a "three year soldier boy." A year or two after his wife heard that he was killed in battle, but heard nothing from him personally. The war closed and he failed to write or to report at his former "headquarters" in Chicago His wife now considered herself a widow beyond all doubt and in course of time she married again But a few months ago the husband, husband No. 1, whom she had mourned as dead, returned to his long deserted domicile, but, like Enoch Arden, only to find his wife the spouse of another man But unlike Enoch Arden, he failed to die of a broken heart. A council of war was held by the three heads of the family, and no difficulty amicably adjusted. What to some men and women similarly situated would have resulted in pistols, blood and litigation, was settled readily and satisfactorily to the amicable trio. It was mutually agreed that both husbands should continue to be "lords" of the woman, on equal terms and she should be the wife of both husbands. Soon after the soldier husband's return home the wife presented to him and to husband No. 2, another child, the offspring of husband No. 2. But this circumstance did not seem to disturb the equilibrium of No. 1 nor the peace of the household. And there dwells that "happy family"—one wife two husbands and four children—in a small cottage as quietly and content to all appearances as if nothing unusual had ever happened

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, JULY 10

MINSTRELS.—Skiff & Gaylord's Minstrels perform to-night at Ontario Hall. Go and see them

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—We understand Professor Cavin, of Knox College, Toronto, will(D.V.) preach in John Street Presbyterian Church, to morrow morning and evening.

THE PRESS ASSOCIATION.—The Secretary of the Press Association, says Belleville will be reached by the members of the Association about 6 or 7 o'clock on Friday evening the 34th instant. If anything be done to wards a public reception, steps should be taken immediately.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—This morning a boy living at Mr. Roblin's, carter, fell off a tree a distance of about 15 feet, and was nearly killed. Dr. Potts was called in and did everything possible to relieve his sufferings. The boy still lies in a precarious condition.

"GOOD HEALTH."—No. 2 of Good Health, a journal of Physical and Mental Culture, is upon our table. It is a neatly printed volume of fifty pages, published monthly by Alex Moore, Boston. The magazine is devoted to articles original and selected by eminent writers, on all subjects of a hygienic and sanitary nature, together with papers on topics of popular and scientific interest, sketches of travels and adventures, stories, &c., &c. Terms $2 yearly ; 6 copies, $10 ; specimen numbers 20 cents each.

PRISONER ESCAPED.—The man Christie who had his trial last fall for assaulting the Rev. Mr. Sparrow, at El Dorado, escaped this morning about eight o'clock from gaol. From what we can learn he had made duplicate keys to the doors, and this morning at about eight o'clock, when the Turnkey was watching some prisoners in the yard, and the prisoners inside were scrubbing out the building, Christie slipped around to the door leading to the upper part of the gaol, opened it with some key he must have had in his possession and run down the front steps, and effected his escape. Although the alarm was given in a few moments after he had gone, as yet no clue to his whereabout's has been obtained.

THE CHURCHMAN'S MAGAZINE, AND MONTHLY REVIEW.—This is the title of a new monthly publication from the press of Messrs. T. & R. White, Spectator, Hamilton. It is an octavo volume of 48 pages, neatly printed on superior paper, with a cover. The following is a list of the contents : Opening New Ground, a tale of Mission Life ; The Pulpit and the Parish, embracing several articles ; The School and the Mission, with three papers ; Poetry and Miscellaneous ; Religious Review ; Literary Review ; Politics and Trade ; Correspondence. The contents embrace original as well as selected articles, and are from the pens of able and distinguished writers. The price of the work is $2 a year ; 3 copies to one address, $5 ; 5 copies, $8 ; 10 copies, $15 ; the postage in all cases being paid by the publishers. With the advantages which the publishers possess, and taking the present number as a sample of its character, we have no doubt the Magazine will have an extensive circulation throughout the Dominion.

AN AFFECTING DEATH SCENE.—An affecting and shocking occurrence took place near Longtown a few days ago. An old man, named David Park, and his wife were employed casting peats on the Solway Moss, near to the Gap Farm, and the old man was taking out the under portion of what is termed in the Border the "peat pot," when the upper portion of the breast gave way, and buried the old man completely underneath. His distracted wife, who had just time to escape, having perceived the danger, now rushed to the place and tore the earth from off her buried partner's face, and also succeeded in releasing one of his hands ; but seeing that death was near she sat down with calm resignation, and with hands clasped together, the aged couple, alone, breathed comfort to each other for about ten minutes when the end of the old man came. His face being clear of the rubbish, he was able to breathe a prayer for his partner, whom he had thus so suddenly and so awfully been called from. Immediately after death the body was released from its dark abode.

LUNACY IN SCOTLAND.—The Lunacy Commissioners of Scotland have issued their eleventh yearly report on the present condition and management of lunatics and lunatic asylumns in that country. On the 1st of January, 1868, there were 7,055 insane persons in Scotch asylums, and it is estimated that 2,000 more are maintained by their friends in private dwellings. The Commissioners perceiving that by far the greater part of the insane came from the poorer classes, state that they believe madness is essentially a disease, not so much brought on by overstrained emotional or intellectual faculties, as by a depraved bodily condition of the person—owing to irregular living, inappropriate food, fever, overwork, or some such cause

Dual Representation.

The strongest opponents of dual representation, are, strange to say, those who hold seats in both the Local Legislature, and in the House of Commons. Mr. Blake has condemned the double representation on more than one occasion in the Legislature and on the stump, but shows no disposition to be consistent with his professions. The newly elected member for South Renfrew, Mr. Lorn McDougall, was one of the few who took strong ground against the principle, but he, too, shows the same want of consistency as is displayed by his leader, Mr. Blake. He had a seat in the Ontario Legislature, and fought against dual representation as strongly as any man in the House, but evidently he cared very little for his professions, for the first opportunity that presented he sought and obtained a seat in the Commons. The Globe, too, denounced the principle as dangerous to the independence of Parliament, and took even stronger ground against it than the representatives of the principle in the Legislature. It had an excellent opportunity of showing its consistency when this contest in South Renfrew took place.- Both candidates were Reformers—the one in a party point of view, had as much claim upon its support as the other; if there was any preference it should have been in favor of Mr. Cameron, for he was a life-long Reformer, and supported the Mackenzies, the Blakes, the Holtons, and all the pet candidates of the Globe, and moreover, was opposed to dual representation. But it would not have been consistent with its character, for the Globe to be consistent, and we consequently found its support extended to Mr. Lorn McDougall. The position of the Globe, and of Blake, and of McDougall, upon this question, shows how hollow are their professions, and how little importance must be attached to the principles they advocate, and how utterly unworthy they are of public confidence.

The Land Sale.

The Crown Lands sale of the Commissioner of Crown Lands has proved a great mistake. In spite of the earnest remonstrance of the people most deeply interested in the mining lands of North Hastings, Mr. Richards persisted in forcing the sale of the lands, and the consequence is, so far as any practical benefit to the Government is concerned, it was a complete failure.—The attendance in the first place was not such as might have been expected, and the interest of the bidders was confined to a few lots on which gold was known to exist in considerable quantities. A few speculators were here from Toronto, and several miners from the mining region. Some came to see whether the Government would really sell the land for which they had already paid a large sum, and upon which they had expended a considerable amount in prospecting, clearing up, &c. Others came to pick up a good bargain if an opportunity presented, and others were there simply as spectators. There was a good deal of murmuring and dissatisfaction amongst miners who had spent valuable time and money in exploring the mineral region, for the sale of these lands at once deprived them of any chance of taking any advantage of their discoveries. But their murmuring and dissatisfaction amounted to nothing. The sale went on. For lot 9 in the 9th concession of Marmora, about which so much has been heard, and for the possession of which there was a short time since a fierce contest, on the first day ; of the sale there were several bidders. It was finally knocked down to Mr. Morton, as before announced, for $4,010, but as he did not pay in the money in accordance with the terms of the sale, the lot was again put up on Friday, and after some smart bidding was sold to a Mr. Cook, of Toronto, for the sum of $2,600. The same gentleman purchased a few other lots It was evident to Mr. Miller of the Crown Lands Department, who was here superintending the sale, that there was very little disposition to buy the lands offered, and after repeated efforts to obtain bidders the sale was postponed.—Let us hope before the lands are again offered for sale, some other and more satisfactory policy for the settlement of our Crown Lands, and the development of the mineral resources of our country, will be adopted.

Belleville Market.

The market this morning presented quite a lively appearance, as every inch of space was occupied by sellers and buyers, but as is usual at this time of the year very little if any grain was offered for sale. What comes in is taken at our quotations

A large quantity of new vegetables which offered, brought good prices. Young potatoes were sold from 7 to 10 cts. a quart ; a few small heads of Cauliflowers brought from 15 to 20 cts. a piece ; new Carrots and Beets were sold at 4 and 5 cts. a bunch.

A large quantity of Strawberries both cultivated and wild, was sold at from 12½ to 15 cts. per quart.

In meats there is very little doing, as the warm weather greatly effects the demand.

Eggs still remain high, although a large quantity is offered for sale daily, a few dozen were sold for 15 cts ; but the most was sold for a cent or two less

A large quantity of Butter was unsold at 10 o'clock, the farmers all wanting 15 cts., when the shippers took all that remained at from 12½ to 13 cts

Farmer's Cheese sells slowly, at from 10 to 11 cts

A large number of plantations in Louisiana along the Opelousas Railroad have recently been sold to Northern men

The Inspection.

The inspection of the 15th Battalion took place this forenoon on the camp ground.—Deputy-Adjutant General Jarvis, accompanied by Lieut.-Colonel Strange, District Pay Master, and Major Phillips, were on the ground. The Deputy-Adjutant General on arriving was received by the Battalion with the usual honors, after which he rode down the line on horseback, and inspected the men, as well as they could be inspected by an officer in that position. The next movement was the Battalion formed in open column right in front, then marched in open quarter distance column, wheeled into line, when Lieut. Colonel Jarvis called the officers to the front and briefly addressed them. The substance of his speech was, that the Battalion he was addressing had the reputation of being the best drilled regiment in the District, that they did not present so favorable an appearance to-day as their reputation warranted, owing as he had been informed by the Colonel, that a large number of the men were new recruits, that several of the officers were new men, and it could not be expected they would present such an appearance as when the Battalion was in a better state of organization. He said the Battalion had a good name and he hoped the officers and men would endeavor to maintain their character. He referred to the state of the clothing and regretted that there was not sufficient to enable all the men to appear in proper uniform. He would, however, communicate with the authorities at Ottawa, and have a sufficient quantity of clothing furnished, so that on a future occasion the defect he referred to, and which was so conspicuous, would be remedied. He concluded his remarks with saying the Battalion had a good name, and he hoped they would do their utmost to keep it.

Having occupied about 30 minutes in his inspection, the Deputy-Adjutant-General bade the Battalion good bye and left the ground. Shortly after the tents were struck and the annual drill of the 15th Battalion came to an end.

Considerable surprise was expressed that Lt.-Col. Jarvis did not make a more thorough inspection, and it was the general opinion that if that was all the Inspecting officer had to do, the sooner the office was abolished the better for the country.

The Battalion marched up from the camp ground this afternoon about three o'clock, to the Armory, when after a few complimentary remarks from the Colonel, it was dismissed. Three cheers were given for the Queen, and three cheers for Colonel Campbell, when the men were marched off by their respective Captains to receive their pay.

—There is a horse being exhibited in Ireland, which is twenty one hands high, wighs, 120 stone, and of excellent symmetry

—It is the general impression in New York that the gold market is on the eve of a break down. The leading speculators are working on short contracts

—Mr. John Hughes, an Englishman, has engaged to form a company with a capital of $1,500,000, to work the prolific coal beds of southern Russia, and introduce the manufacture of rails.

CHEESE MAKING.—Factory cheese making is becoming a loading agricultural interest in many parts of the United States. That the business must continue to be profitable and will not soon be overdone is shown by a few statistics. The cheese product of 1867 was the largest ever made and and amounted to 315,000,000 pounds in America and 179,000,000 pounds in Great Britain. The consumption of cheese in England last year amounted to 400,000,000 pounds, while in America it amounted to 160,000,000 pounds, the two countries consuming 75,000,000 pounds more than they jointly produced, the deficiency being supplied from Holland. The consumption of cheese among Americans is rapidly increasing and the demand seems likely, for some years at least, to keep ahead of the supply.

Stock Market.

The following are the latest quotations of the Montreal Stock Market :

The stock market which early in the week was active, with a fair demand for all the leading stocks, closes very dull, and a decided tendency to lower prices in some securities—

BANK OF MONTREAL—Small amounts have been placed at 166, but at the close there were no buyers over 166.

BANK OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA—Remains inactive at last week's quotations. Buyers will not advance on 104

CITY BANK—There have been transactions to a fair extent in this stock at quotation prices, closing rather firmer

MOLSON'S BANK—Holders refuse to accept present prices, and buyers will not advance.

MERCHANTS' BANK—The transactions in this stock, previous to the annual meeting on the 5th, were to an unusual extent at prices ranging from 109 to 111½, but since the meeting, and on its becoming known that the stock was to be increased to six millions, there was a sharp reaction, and it was pressed for sale, with sales at 102, 103½, and 103½, closing firmer and in fair demand at the latter price.

MECH' BANK—Is unchanged. Buyers at 92, and sellers at 94

BANQUE DU PEUPLE—Is in demand at 106½. No stock in market.

BANQUE JACQUES CARTIER—Continues to be enquired for. The latest sales were at 107½.

QUEBEC BANK—Has been dealt in to some extent at 106½ to 106¾, closing in demand at these prices.

BANK NATIONAL—Buyers, but no sellers at quotations

UNION BANK—Since the opening of the transfer books, has been enquired for at 104½ to 104¾.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS BANK—Has been sold to a limited extent at 99, at which price it is still procurable.

ONTARIO BANK—Is again very heavy, at a decline of one to two per cent., closing dull at 93. No buyers over 94.

BANK OF TORONTO—There has been a steady demand for this stock and 120 would be paid. Sellers hold for higher prices.

GORE BANK—Is offered at 40, with buyers at 39.

ROYAL CANADIAN BANK—Both buyers and sellers have waited for the action of the meeting before operating, and are still unwilling either to buy or sell until it becomes known what course the newly elected Directors will take.

CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE—Has been dealt in at 101, but price is still procurable.

MONTREAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY—Transfer books closed for payment of a dividend of 5 per cent. on the 8th inst.

CANADIAN NAVIGATION COMPANY—There were no-day buyers at 99, and sellers at 100.

RICHELIEU NAVIGATION COMPANY—Sellers are holding for 123, while buyers are unwilling to advance over 120.

CANADA DEBENTURES—Are again firm for both sterling and currency bonds, with very few offering. Dominion stock is held for 107½ to 108.

MORTGAGES—Continue in demand.

EXCHANGE—Closes firm at 109¼ for Bankers' 60 day bills.

MONEY—Is very abundant for all purposes, and many of the banks now find it difficult to profitably use all their surplus funds.

—When a Scotch minister told his neighbor that he had preached two hours and a half the day before, the neighbor said to him "Why minister, were you not tired to death.", "Aw, nae," said he, "I was as fresh as a rose ; but it would have done your heart good to see how tired the congregation was."

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless, landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and sparkle over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day after reading the will at last came ; the room was crowded with anxious expectants ; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

FRONT STREET, BELLEVILLE

Grand Celebration

OF THE 12TH OF JULY.

THE Loyal Orangemen of District No 2, South Hastings, have arranged to celebrate the coming

12th of July at Tweed,

A general invitation having been extended to the Brethren of North and South Hastings, a large and IMPOSING PROCESSION may be expected

PROGRAMME :

The Brethren will meet at the Town Hall, Hungerford, at 10 o'clock, a. m., to receive the Brethren from other Districts, after which the Procession will march to Hickory Point, where dinner will be served at 1 o'clock, p m., under the management of the Members of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, after which the audience will be addressed by several leading Orangemen on behalf of the Order, and by the Rev. G. R. SANDERSON, Belleville, whose subject will be "Protestant Principles."

As the proceeds are to be applied towards the erection of a new Wesleyan Church at Tweed, and as the Order joyfully aids in so Protestant an enterprise, all friendly to the undertaking are respectfully invited

Tickets to Dinner 75¢ cents each.

THE IRISH CHURCH BILL

LONDON, July 9.—The action of the House of Lords on the Irish Church Bill causes intense excitement. Messrs Bright and Gladstone are in receipt of letters daily from persons of fortune a recommencement of the Reform League agitation, but they discountenance the movement at present, and express a belief that the Lords will recede at the last moment from their opposition to the will of the people through a compromise effected in the postponement of the date of disestablishment to January 1875, by paying in a lump the sum of half a million pounds in lieu of private donations and by allowing the life interests to be computed at 14 years purchase. The following letter has been circulated privately among known pro

SIR,—In view of a probable failure of the Irish Church Bill through the opposition of the House of Lords to the Government the Commons and the country, you are requested to inform the Secretary of the Reform League whether you are willing that your name shall be used in the event of a defeat of that measure to a public call for mass meetings to consider the best constitutional method of getting rid of this obstruction to the legislation passed, upon the expressed will of the people

THE LATEST.

IRISH CHURCH BILL

LONDON, July 9.—In the House of Lords to night, the Irish Church Bill came up for report from the Committee, and on motion of Lord Carlos, the date of the first of May, 1871, was substituted for the first of Jan 1872, throughout the bill

Lord Redesdale moved an amendment that the representatives of the Irish Church and the Catholic Synod, in cases of vacant Bishopric, nominate three persons for the Crown to select from, and that the Crown be empowered to summon one Archbishop and two Bishops from each Church, to sit in Parliament

The Earl of Gosnars protested on the part of the Catholics against this amendment, which he declared was utterly inadmissable, and it was withdrawn

The Marquis of Clanricarde moved that clause 28, giving power to convey additional land to the Church body, be restored to its original form. He said the clause as now amended revived Protestant ascendancy in its most hateful form, giving glebe lands to the Church body but refusing them to Catholics and Presbyterians. It was certain that the Government and the House of Commons would never sanction the amended clause.

The Marquis of Salisbury replied that in moving the amendment, they contemplated similar grants to the Catholics and Presbyterians, according to Mr. Bright's original proposal which Mr. Gladstone had endorsed, but he thought the elections of the Crown, glebes by the Irish Church was not unfair. After further discussion the Earl of Denbeigh announced that the Catholics had decided not to accept glebe lands or residences.

The Marquis of Clanricarde's motion to restore clause 28, was lost by a vote of 40 to 91. The amendment embracing the proposal of Earl Granville to half a million sterling in money instead of handing over private endowments created before 1860, was agreed to

The Earl of Clancarty gave notice that when the bill came up for the third reading he should move a postponement of the reading for three months.

THE CRISIS IN FRANCE

PARIS, July 9.—The Evening Journal announces the resignation of the Minister. It is believed that M. Bouler has been commissioned to form a new Cabinet, which will include four members of the Tier party. A manifesto from the Emperor is looked for

FROM SPAIN

MADRID, July 9.—The Press and the people generally condemn the Ministry. The Governor of Catalonia has been dismissed for not preventing a Republican demonstration in Barcelona. Disorders are anticipated there and troops are left in readiness to suppress any disturbance

MINISTERIAL CRISIS IN FRANCE

NEW YORK, July 10.—The Herald's cable special says:—The ministerial crisis in France continues. The constitutional opposition in the Corps Legislatif, declare their ultimatum to be the retirement of the minister of State, M. Roucher, while the Emperor desires his retirement. He is reluctant to dismiss him on account of his ability and his devotion to the imperial Government. M. Roucher's failure to comply with the wish of the Emperor and tender his resignation is severely criticised Yesterday the proprietor of one of the leading journals said to him "M. Roucher, your time has come clear out." I know it, answered M. Roucher, "but my wife won't resign." This is literally true. Madame Roucher objects to giving up the house which she receives at the Palace as wife of the chief of the Emperor's Ministry. The Emperor will wait a while before insisting upon the unavoidable resignation, until this little domestic trouble be arranged A majority of the assembly are opposed to the propositions demanded by the members of the left centre, which are as follows: 1. A responsible Ministry. 2. Autonomy of the Legislative Assembly. The Emperor is, therefore, obliged to temporize with the majority whom he does not wish to openly defy. Hence the present dead lock which must end in the course of the present week.

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really, first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the wants and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more from the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste, combined with artistic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Jets d'Eau" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public.

From its situation on McGill street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from

We, therefore, beespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years.

A Lawyer turned Negro Minstrel.

His name is Lew Benedict. His father was a well known New York lawyer, who died when the oldest child was fifteen years old. The property left by the father the boy turned over to his mother and sisters, and determined to strike out for himself. At 21 years of age he entered a law office, and at 27 he completed his studies, and was pronounced a young lawyer with a bright future before him

About this time the young lawyer fell in love with the daughter of a wealthy New York merchant, and the love being reciprocated, he asked Pa for his daughter's hand, Pa was indigent and, to forever kill the young lawyer's ambition, he told him that when he had $50,000 in cash, of his own, he might ask for the young lady's hand with a hope of success. This was all very fine, but to the young lawyer it put putting up his shingle, $50,000 was a great deal of money, at least the young lawyer thought so as he figured up how many briefs he must have to make that amount.

The result of his deliberations was the conclusion that if he wanted to make this sum at the bar he could do so, but by the time he had done it, he would be so old that the romance of love would be all gone.

For a long ten days the young lawyer bemoaned his fate, and then, after obtaining a promise from the young lady that she would wait, he disappeared from New York. In early life the young lawyer had quick wit, and one day meeting a negro minstrel manager named Dupree, the latter told him he had a talent which would make $50,000 in five years. In the young lawyer's frame of mind it did not take long to convince him, and dropping Coke and Blackstone he took to burnt cork, under the assumed name of Lew Benedict.

For a time the new business was harder than the young lawyer bargained for, but he made money so fast that his prejudice was soon overcome. At the end of the first year he had made $5,000, at the end of the second year, $10,000, and now it is said he has nearly reached his figure of $50,000 in bonds.

All the time he has been in the burnt cork trade, he has improved his spare moments by a study of law books, and in another year he will go back to New York with $50,000 in his pocket, and the hand of her he so fondly loves, and who has been so devoted to him, and at the same time again embark in the practice of law.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofula in some of its forms is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and in the midst of a dazzling prosperity establishes, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed inflammation wherever it settles, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one of its loathsome shapes, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs of heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence in running sores on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints will find great benefit from a fair trial of the Sarsaparilla: Erysipelas, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Pile, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine maladies of the human female and nervous systems.

Syphilitic Taint and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for searching these horrible maladies from the system. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Ulcers, Blotches, Tetter, Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, will quickly yield to it, and also Liver Complaints, Inactivity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Kidneys, Neuralgic disorders, when arising from a deranged condition of the blood. Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, which are the offspring of Weakness, will find immediate relief and a continuing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Colds, Coughs, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of the people, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as the wonderful cures it has effected, have become more numerous and more extraordinary. While adapted to the severest forms of pulmonary maladies, it is at the same time the safest and most reliable preparation that can be given for the cure of slight colds, coughs, and all affections of the throat and lungs. While it counteracts the tendency to consumption, it imparts vitality and tone to the whole system, and indeed as a remedy for colds and coughs, all should keep it by them, as it will save them many times its cost, and counteract the first symptoms of more dangerous diseases.

Although Consumption is thought incurable, still many cases are on record where the disease seemed settled to have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the use of Cherry Pectoral. Many eminent clergymen, in various parts of the country, have found it their duty to certify to the wonderful efficacy of this Cherry Pectoral in the cure of pulmonary complaints, which, but for its use, would probably have proved fatal.

Bronchitis is generally relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral at occasional and frequent doses. No general remedy is in existence known that we need put upon this point. The effects of these are more decisive in public and private health than the cures of pulmonic complaints.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of the cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond description. Not only the general public, but the physicians there, avail themselves of the unfailing power of the antidote over the infection in numerous cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Vaccinated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring th our tea and coffee in bottles, at an expense of at least four times what they now cost?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicine, when we can as simply extract a bottle or plants and roots, and area readily prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medicinal properties than can be procured any other form for four times the amount of money.

We leave our medicines to speak for themselves, as well as the benefits derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt-rheum, scrofula, king's evil, white swellings, tumors, ulcers, old sores, pimples or roughness of the skin. It regulates the stomach and bowels in four days' time, and gives the general vigor of the system without reducing the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per bottle.

DR. THOMPSON'S

Stomachic Bitters,

A certain and speedy cure for indigestion. It has no equal; plants and herbs are used in its composition that can be procured in a moment, and safe antidote to poison of any kind. It is a safe and effective tonic for ordinary household purposes; a powerful recuperant after fevers, and has been reduced by long sickness as well as an agreeable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility and diseased appetite. It is an unfailing and perfect digestive, a dietetic and tonic of the stomach. Sold at 50 cents per bottle.

DR. THOMPSON'S

Dr. Thompson's No. 6.

OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds such as cold chills and fever, bronchitis, pains in the side, back and limbs, rheumatism, inflammation of the lungs, pleurisy, and PAIN KILLER, &c. It will break up a cold in a few hours' time, and relieve the most violent pain in the stomach, cramp, diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, and all complaints of obstructions. It may safely be used with great success in the following diseases: Sore throat, quinsy, &c.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present condensed style of putting up the medicines in packages, as he is thereby enabled to supply double the amount of medicine for one-half the regular price of similar preparations.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS

OR TONICO REALE

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Giaselli obtained the Receipt, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most valuable, salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the élite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in Canada

Prepared and sold wholesale by the Proprietor,

Through Death to Life.

Have you heard the tale of the Aloe plant,
That grows in the sunny clime
By humble growth of an hundred years
It reaches its blooming time—
And then a wondrous bud at its crown
Breaks out into a thousand flowers
This floral queen, in its blooming seen,
Is the pride of the tropical bowers
But the plant to the flower is a sacrifice,
For it blooms but once, and in blooming dies

Have you further heard of this Aloe plant?
That grows in the sunny clime
How every one of its thousand flowers,
As they drop in the blooming time,
Is an infant plant that fastens its roots
In the place where it falls on the ground
And fast as they drop from the dying stem,
Grow lively and lovely round:
By dying it liveth a thousand fold
In the young that spring from the death of the old

Have you heard the tale of the Pelican
The Arab's Gimel el Bahr?
That lives in African solitudes,
Where the birds that live lonely are?
Have you heard how it loves its tender young,
And cares and toils for their good?
It brings them water from fountains afar,
And takes the sea for their food
In famine it feeds them—what love can devise—
The blood of its bosom, and in feeding them dies!

Have you heard, the tale they tell of the Swan,
The snow-white bird of the lake?
It noiselessly floats on the silvery wave,
It silently sits in the brake
For it sows it song till the end of life
And then, in the soft, still even,
Mid the golden light of the setting sun,
It sings as it soars full to heaven!
And the blessed notes fall back from the skies—
'Tis its only song, for in singing it dies

Have you heard these tales—shall I tell you one,
A greater and better than all?
Have you heard of Him whom the heavens adore,
Before whom the hosts of them fall?
How he left the choirs and anthems above,
For earth in its wailing and woes?
To suffer the shame and the pain of the Cross,
And die for the life of His foes?
O Prince of the noble! O Sufferer divine!
What sorrow and sacrifice equal to Thine?

Have you heard this tale—the best of them all—
The tale of the Holy and True?
He dies, but His life, in untold souls,
Lives on in the world anew!
His seed prevails, and is filling the earth
As the stars fill the skies above;
He taught us to yield up the love of life,
For the sake of the life of love.
His death is our life, His loss is our gain,
His joy for the tear, the peace for the pain.

Now hear these tales, ye weary and worn,
Who for others do give up your all;
Our Saviour hath told you the seed that would grow,
Into earth's dark bosom must fall—
Must pass from the view and die away,
And then will the fruit appear;
The grain that seems lost on the earth below,
Will return many fold to the sower
By death comes life, by loss comes gain,
The joy for the tear, the peace for the pain

Valuable Hints to Business Men.

Everybody knows that the surest and quickest way to accumulate a fortune is to advertise; but everybody does not know "how to do it." The Inside Track has some good ideas on the subject, which may be of practical value to some of our readers

An advertisement is not always valuable in proportion to the space it occupies.

A prominent advertisement once or twice will be effective, if followed up by a steady card giving business and address

Do not take down your sign in dull times People read newspapers at all times of the year

If business admits of it, several small advertisements with your name repeated every time, will avail more than the same collected, with your name repeated only once

Do not fear to have a small advertisement by the side of a competing one. The big one cannot eat it up

A short advertisement, four times, is better than a long one only once. "Bragg is a good dog, but hold-fast is better."

Small advertisements, and plenty of them, is a good rule. We were all babies once, yet we made considerable noise

Do not advertise unless you have some thing worth advertising

The easiest way in the world to throw away money is to advertise injudiciously

The easiest way in the world to accumulate a fortune is to advertise judiciously

The sewing machine men—leading makers—agreed about a year ago to give up extensive advertising. The result has been to decrease their business one-third

The piano men have doubled and trebled ther business by advertising

H T Helmbold returns an income of $152,905 All this comes from advertising Dr Helmbold's expenses for advertising average over $10,000 a week

The road to fortune is through the advertising columns of the newspaper A word to the wise is sufficient

My success is owing to my liberality in advertising.—Bonner

Advertising has furnished me a competence. Amos Lawrence

I advertised my productions and made money.—Nicholas Longworth

Constant and persistent advertising is a sure prelude to wealth.—Stephen Girard

He who invests one dollar in business should invest one dollar in advertising that business.—A. T. Stewart.

Use of Sugar with Fruits.

A communication in the last number of the Country Gentleman contains some hints from a chemist, on the economical use of sugar with fruits. This writer says:—

"Sugar is a valuable addition to most kinds of food, not only because it improves the taste, but because it is valuable as nutriment. It happens, however, that the latter feature is, with most persons, counterbalanced by the tendency which it has to produce acidity, and therefore it will be found best to use as little free sugar as possible. Motives of economy point in the same direction

A chemist goes on to observe

"There are various kinds of sugar, as cane sugar is obtained from other plants besides the cane—beets, for example and it possesses the most powerful sweetening properties. It is not difficult to convert cane sugar into starch sugar, and unfortunately, the latter has a very low sweetening power. But it is very difficult to convert starch sugar into cane sugar. Now it happens that when cane sugar is heated in the presence of vegetable acids—as, for example, when we bake tin a pie with rhubarb it becomes largely converted into starch sugar. It is therefore more economical to sweeten pies and tarts after they are baked than before it. The difficulty which is usually met in this case, however, is that much of the sugar, so applied passes into the stomach without affecting the palate Sugar cannot impart its taste until it has been dissolved. When we mix sugar with tea, coffee or pudding, it becomes dissolved and we get its whole sweetening power.—When we pour large quantities of sugar powder, or still worse sugar in crystals, over pies, strawberries, &c., a large portion of it never affects the palate, but passes directly to the stomach, and whatever may be said by popular theoretical writers who prate of carbon, nitrogen, oxygen, &c., at third hand, sugar is very apt to produce derangement of the digestive organs. The proper way, therefore, is to dissolve the sugar and pour it over the articles to be eaten. The quantity of sugar which boiling water will dissolve is wonderful, and warm milk or cream takes up enough for all ordinary purposes, and does not deposit it again when cold. Of course it will not do to boil the milk or cream, as that would injure its flavour

"Now that strawberries, cherries, currants, &c., are coming into season, these hints deserve attention. By following them closely the prudent housewife can affect a considerable saving in her grocer's bills, and a considerable improvement in the health and comfort of her family."

There is probably a good deal of good sense in this. We have noticed something of the same kind. The "prudent housewife" might easily try the experiment—say in the use of strawberries and cream, which are now so abundant; instead of pouring the sugar over the berries in crystals, have it dissolved in a small portion of boiling water and mixed with cream. If it is found to answer, the practice might be continued and applied to other things

BUTTER WORKER.—In a late number of the Rural New Yorker, X. A. Willard gives a description of the means for working butter in common use in Orange county. It is an inclined, triangular slab, standing upon legs, and has beveled sides about three inches high. The slab is four feet long, and two feet broad at the upper end, tapering down to five inches at the lower end. At this point there is an opening for the escape of the buttermilk into a pail below, and also for the reception of the end of the lever which works the butter. The butter, when ready to be worked is placed upon the slab, and the wooden lever, which is either square or eight sided, is pressed down upon the mass, commencing at the edge, and thus operated until the whole is gone over. It is a very simple affair, and is not patented.

THE FIGURE FIVE.—Any number of figures you may wish to multiply by 5 will give the same result if divided by two as much quicker operation, simply by the remember to annex a cipher to the answer when there is no remainder, and when there is a remainder, whatever it may be, annex a 5 to the answer Multiply 454 by 5, and the answer will be 2270 the same number by 2, and you have 2270, and, as there is no remainder, you add a cipher Now take 8677, and multiply by 5, the answer is 1735. On dividing this by 2 there is 1735, and a remainder you therefore, place a 5 at the end of the line the result is again 1735.

FOUND DEAD.—A woman named Mrs May, living on the Plains, was found dead sitting in her chair last night Coroner John P. McDonnell was called upon, but did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest

THE MEDICAL ACT.—The members of the medical profession of the Allopath school held a meeting at Toronto on Friday, to take into consideration the new Medical Act. Resolutions were passed condemning the Act, and suggesting a course of action for procuring its suspension.

THE NEWSPAPER CASH SYSTEM.—The Wisconsin editors have been holding a convention, at which the proposition was broached for establishing a general newspaper system out there of "cash payments. Why not everywhere? It is the only proper way. Most of our country newspapers live half starved on the credit system, when they might obtain a good living on the cash system.

IRISH AND GERMAN EMIGRANTS.—For the last ten years the Irish and the German immigrants arriving at the port of New York, have comprised as follows:—

Years	From Ireland	From Germany
1859	32,652	28,270
1860	47,110	37,899
1861	35,784	27,339
1862	32,217	27,740
1863	91,157	64,902
1864	89,399	57,446
1865	70,462	81,451
1866	68,847	106,716
1867	62,134	117,591
1868	47,371	101,999

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—The Kingston Whig says: "A man named Robt. Aitchison, a passenger by the accommodation train going west on Thursday afternoon, cut his throat while the train stopped at Cornwall station for refreshments. He told some of the passengers on the train that he belonged to Galt and was en route to that place via Guelph. He was so determined upon doing the deed that he fought those who tried to prevent him, and had to be knocked senseless before he could be secured. Drs. Bergin and Smith were quickly sent for and dressed the wound, which is 13 inches long, extending from ear to ear. The instrument used was a blunt, broken jack-knife. Had the instrument been sharp, the wound would no doubt have been instantly fatal. As it is he will probably recover."

The Solar Eclipse.

The coming solar eclipse is exciting considerable interest in the public mind as well as in the scientific world. The eclipse will not appear total in Canada, but will be so observed in a belt of country in the United States of about 140 miles wide, and from the coast of North Carolina stretches away in a north-westerly direction, through North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. Extensive preparations are being made to observe the phenomenon with exactness on the 7th of August, and observations bearing upon it will commence about 10 o'clock, and continue during some time subsequent to the prevalence of the eclipse. It is anticipated that the observations to be carried on by the French, English, and American governments will aid very materially in arriving at more exact conclusions as to the composition and atmosphere of the great orb.

Emigration to Canada.

Mr. White, our emigration agent is doing good service to the cause of emigration. Going among the masses, holding public meetings, writing letters, and in a number of other ways giving information to the people, he is exciting an interest in behalf of Canada which has never before been felt in Great Britain, and which must have the effect of largely increasing the number of emigrants to our shores. Being one of the leading journalists of Canada, he has succeeded in obtaining the assistance of the British papers, and thus has secured one of the most powerful influences that could be brought to bear in favor of the movement he is engaged in. The following is an extract of a letter from Mr. White to the Spectator: "Emigration continues to occupy a very considerable share in the public mind, and the press is taking it up in many places and are discussing it in a spirit very friendly to Canada. I addressed a meeting in Glasgow on Friday night; and the hall was densely crowded, several hundreds going away unable to obtain admission. I never saw a more earnestly attentive meeting, and it was composed of just such men as cannot fail to make their way in the New World. Here, last night, the largest hall in the city was crammed, the hundreds unable to find seats—the number present being estimated at over four thousand, and again the most earnest attention was shown. I had an interview after the meeting with a couple of hundred of the audience, and stood for an hour or so a perfect shower of questioning. These north country men all make fine settlers, and I believe Canada will reap substantial advantage from the large number who are making up their minds to go out."

County Court Term.

Concert in Canifton.

For the Intelligencer.

Mr. EDITOR.—Last evening, July 9th, will not soon be forgotten in Canifton. The citizens were provided with an entertainment though somewhat novel to the place, yet of a most pleasing and interesting character, by the Handel Music Club and others from Belleville. Long before the hour of commencing arrived the "comers" were seen wending their way toward the Town Hall which was beautifully and tastefully decorated with evergreens, bouquets, flowers, and mottoes, by the managing committee to whom great applause was justly given.—When the time arrived for beginning, the Hall was comfortably filled with an appreciative and intelligent company. The concert began with a few well-timed remarks by Rev. J. E. Howell, who superintended during the proceedings of the evening. A most entertaining programme consisting of Duets, Trios, Quartettes, &c., Sacred and Secular, was then gone through with by the Club, every part of which being executed with credit to the performers, and satisfaction to the listeners—Miss Lewis, of Belleville, presiding at the piano. The whole entertainment was diversified and rendered still more attractive by readings from select authors by Mr. Muir, of Belleville, an original essay by the Rev. Mr. Howell, on the "Comparative influence of Music and Poetry," and an appropriate address by the Rev. D. Brethour, of Belleville All these showed themselves masters in their work, and delighted the audiory. The hour of ten arriving, the evening's proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of a beautiful song called "Jessie's Dream," by Mrs. Lewis, and the National Anthem by the full choir. The company retired expressing themselves as well pleased and profited. A handsome sum was realized which goes directly to replenish the funds of the Ladies Aid Society, under whose auspices the concert was given, and indirectly towards the erection of a W. M. Church, in the village of Canifton We certainly sympathize with the enterprise, and wish the promoters abundant success

ONE WHO WAS THERE

Smith vs. School Trustees of Belleville.

(JUDGMENT OF V. C. MOWAT.)

We herewith publish a copy of the Judgment given by the Court of Chancery in case of SMITH vs the SCHOOL TRUSTEES. Its length prevents reference to it to-day. It is an important document and will repay perusal

On the 2nd January, 1866, the Board of School Trustees of the Town of Belleville, of whom the plaintiff was one, were of opinion that it would be desirable to purchase for a school site certain lots at the corner of John and Queen streets, in Baldwin Ward, which were to be sold at auction on the 5th of the same month, by the defendant, George Dean Dickson, as Assignee of one James Blacklock, an insolvent. The purchase was accordingly decided upon unanimously at a Board Meeting, at which all the trustees were present a maximum price was named, and the Chairman was instructed to attend to the purchase There is a dispute whether a formal resolution to this effect was put in writing and passed the weight of evidence is that there was such a written resolution, but it was not entered in the minute book, and the witnesses are agreed as to the reason of this

The trustees feared that the chance of their intention to buy becoming known outside of the Board would thereby be increased, and that if their purpose should become known, persons interested in the insolvent's estate would bid up the property so as to increase the price which the Board would have to pay

The terms of payment on which the sale proceeded were 1 down and the balance in three equal instalments with interest at 7 per cent. The Chairman, to carry out the purpose of the Board, requested the plaintiff to attend the sale with him and to make some bids on the property for the Board and thereby avert the possible suspicion that might arise from bids of the Chairman alone I have no doubt that an arrangement of this kind was quite within the spirit and meaning of the authority which the Board had and meant that the Chairman should possess

The plaintiff agreed to do as the Chairman requested and he accordingly attended the sale both the Chairman and he made bids, and it was to the plaintiff that the property was knocked down, the price being $1,450 It is not suggested that this price was high, and the trustees at the time thought it cheap On the 12th January, the Chairman reported the purchase to the Board, and an entry of it was made in the minute book. I have no doubt that all the trustees were aware from the first that the purchase was in the plaintiff's name

The existing school house in Baldwin Ward was in a dilapidated condition, and stood on land of which the Board were mere tenants at sufferance The Board having acquired the property in question, had to determine whether they would build upon it a Ward School, or a Central School—a superior kind of Common School for the whole Town—a project which seems to have been under consideration for some time previously

On the 16th of May the Board adopted the Report of a Committee to the effect that "It would be desirable to establish a central school, and to build a school house for such purpose on the lot lately purchased by the Board on the corner of John and Queen streets, and that plans and specifications to be procured at as early a day as possible for said school house" A requisition seems accordingly to have been made on the Town Council for the funds necessary, but I do not find the document among the papers put in. The Town Council, it appears, was unwilling to raise the money, and therefore, on the 6th of August the Board passed the following resolution "The Corporation for the Town of Belleville having failed to provide the means for the payment of a school site purchased by the Board, after requisition being made therefor, it is resolved that the Board hereby authorize the Chairman to take such steps as he may deem fit to enforce attention thereto by the Corporation, by mandamus or otherwise, and that prompt measures be adopted" Meanwhile, viz: on the 14th August the Treasurer, by verbal instructions from the Board, paid the vendor the first instalment of the purchase money, amounting then to $376 20. (See Angell and Ames on Corporations, sections 283 and 284.)

On the first of October a resolution was passed "That the Clerk be authorized to inform the Council of the Corporation of Belleville that the amount required by this Board for the purchase of a school lot, and for the erection of a suitable school house thereon, will be about $6,000, but that only one instalment of $370 will be required this year, and $570 for the next following year."

On the 29th May, 1867, the Board passed the following resolution: "That plans and specifications be procured for the building of a school house on the lot purchased from the assignee of the estate of James Blacklock, and that as soon as said plans and specifications have been adopted by this Board, tenders shall be advertised for the building of the said school house, and an estimate of the requirements of the Board for the purchase of the said lot, and of the building of the said school house &c., be laid before the Town Council of Belleville for the following sums, that is to say: For purchasing school premises, $1,570. For building a central school, $7,380

In pursuance of this resolution a requisition, or estimate, was prepared in pursuance of the Common School Act. (Consol U C. 22, Vict. chap 54) section 79, sub-section 11, and signed by the Chairman, and sealed with the Corporate seal, calling upon the Municipal Council of the Town to provide the sum mentioned in the resolution The sums are described in one part of the estimate in the same way as in the resolution, and in another part as follows: "For purchasing school premises for a central school contracted for and agreed to be paid, $1,570 For building a central school house on said purchased premises, $7880."

Shortly afterwards, namely, on the 5th of August, 1867, the Board adopted a resolution to the effect "That tenders for the central school be advertised for at once," and this was done The Town Council, however, continued adverse to the proposed expenditure, and did not provide the funds required The building was therefore not proceeded with. On the 2nd of December, 1867, the Treasurer, by verbal directions from the Board paid the second instalment of the purchase money, $362 50, out of the money in the hands of the Board, and in the same month they called a meeting of the inhabitants to ascertain the public opinion on the subject of having a central school. This meeting was against the proposal, and the Board then abandoned their project. The land, however, had to be paid for, and on the 6th of January, 1868, the Board passed the following resolution That whereas the Corporation of the Town of Belleville having failed to provide the money necessary to pay for the lot purchased for school purposes from the estate of James Blacklock, steps be taken at once to enforce payment of said claim, and A. B. Dougall, Esq., be employed to conduct said suit." On the 3rd of April, 1868, the Board resolved, "That the Treasurer be instructed to pay the sum of $418 25 out of any funds in his hands, the same being requested from the Corporation of Belleville for school lot" This payment was made accordingly, being the third instalment of the purchase money, and the costs of a suit which had been brought by the vendor against the plaintiff for that instalment.

A Committee was now appointed to consider the propriety of disposing of the lot, and this Committee on the 21st July, 1868, made their Report, declaring that they did not "recommend the sale of the said lot, but "that it be retained by the Board for future "disposition." This Report was adopted by the Board by resolution the same day. The project then contemplated was the building of a Ward school on the lot, and on the 14th of December, 1868, the Board passed a resolution appointing a Committee to confer with the Town Council, or with a Committee thereof, "on the matter of a school lot in "Baldwin Ward, and the finances in respect of the same."

On the 5th of January, 1869, the last instalment of the purchase money being unpaid the vendor commenced an action for it against the plaintiff On the 11th of January, 1869, the Board passed the following resolution:—

"That the Secretary be directed to represent to the Town Council that the Lot situate on John St. immediately in rear of the Grammar School, belongs to the Board of Common School Trustees of the Town of "Belleville, and that the same has been improperly assessed to Mr. James Smith, (the plff.), and that they be pleased to order the taxes assessed against Mr. Smith for the same to be remitted, and that in future the Board took a new view of the position of the Corporation and on the 29th January by a majority of one passed a resolution calling on the Plaintiff to repay what the Board had paid on the purchase, and threatening him with a suit. That resolution was rescinded on the 3rd February. On the 8th of that month judgment was recovered in the suit against the plaintiff, and on the 1st and 16th March two resolutions were passed by the Board, directing the sale of the property; but the judgment remaining unpaid, the plaintiff on the 30th March filed the present Bill to which the Defendants having put in answers the cause came before me for hearing at Belleville on the 22nd May last.

The defence set up by the Board is, that there having been no contract under the seal of the Board, and no authority under seal to the plaintiff to buy, the transaction is not binding on the Board. It is not pretended that there were interested motives or bad faith on the part of the plaintiff, in engaging into the contract, or any on the part of the Trustees who have from time to time recognized the purchase. I have no reason to doubt that they all acted with a single view to the faithful discharge of their duty as trustees, and accordingly to their best judgment as to what was for the best interest of their constituents; but the present Board have determined to wholly repudiate the purchase if they can, and to throw the possible loss either on the vendor or on the Plaintiff personally, whose name was used in the purchase for the benefit of the Board. No sort of argument was offered to maintain the justice of this course, but on behalf of the Defendants it was contended that technically they had a right to take it in consequence of the absence of a seal A more purely technical defence would be impossible, as all the proceedings had for three years the unanimous concurrence of the Trustees, who from time to time composed the Board, the resolutions manifesting such concurrence were regularly passed at Board meetings, and with a single exception, which I have already mentioned, were entered in the minute book with the other proceedings of these meetings The Trustees' counsel on the Plaintiff contended that no seal was necessary, and having reference to decided cases (Gillies & Wood, 18 N. C. Q. B., 357 The Great Northern Railway Company vs The Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Railway Company, 5 deg. and S 138; in re Athenæum Society, 4 L and J. 549 Thorne vs Comis, Public Works, 32 B 490; Re the British Provident L. Assoc. Society, 1 de, G J & Son. 488; Bargate vs Shortridge, 5 H L 297; Tottendell vs Fareham Brick Co., L R 1 C P, 674, Buffalo and L H R W Co. vs Whitehead, 7 Gr. 351; S C Gr 157; Angell & Ames on Corporations, sections 229, 231, 281) and to the various enactments which define the powers and duties of School Trustees. I am not at present prepared to decide that a seal is essential for the purpose of a suit of this kind. But assuming the seal to be necessary, the Requisition of the 20th July, 1867, which was under seal, seems to be sufficient. That document speaks of requiring so much money for "purchasing "school premises for a Central School, contracted for and agreed to be paid;" and no other premises than those in question are pretended to have been under contract of purchase at the time Nor is it pretended that there was any contract as to these except that which was in the Plaintiff's name There is also in the depositions ample direct evidence that these are the premises to which reference is made, and indeed the contrary was not argued If a seal is indispensable, what has to be made out by a sealed instrument is a recognition or ratification of the agency of the Plaintiff in entering into the contract—but the full terms of the contract, for these appear in the paper which the plaintiff signed at the time of the purchase and which clearly did not need a seal Proof under seal of subsequent recognition or ratification is as effectual to bind the corporation as proof of prior authority and no proof of such recognition or ratification could well be more satisfactory than a reference by the corporation to the contract at their own (Smith vs Hull Glass Co., 11 C B 897, Reuter vs Electric Tel Co., 6 E & B 341, Wilson vs The West Hartlepool Railway Co. 34 Beav. 187 8 Q 2deg. J & Sm, 475, Brown's Legal Maxims Ed 533 et seq.) I do not perceive any principle on which I could hold that more is necessary for the Plaintiff's purpose than this instrument contains (Taylor's Ev 5 ed sec 1089) I therefore hold that he had made out a right to a decree against the Board for indemnification in respect of the purchase money and costs

The Bill prays that in default of payment the premises may be sold and the proceeds applied to pay what is due Dickson and to indemnify the plaintiff—I think that a decree to that effect would have been proper even had the plaintiff failed to satisfy me that he was entitled to any other relief. For the Board has made payments on the contract and had a right to do so. The Trustees were under no obligation to refuse to affix the Corporate Seal to the various resolutions which they have passed and then to refuse payment because there was no seal. Nor had the Town Council any right to say that the money paid to the Board should be devoted to the other items in the Requisition. The law gives the Town Council no discretion as to the amount of money which the Trustees demand or as to the application of it. When the Trustees paid to Dickson the three instalments out of money which they had in hand, they were under no mistake, as to the facts which would give them a right of action at law; and were committing no breach of trust which might give their successors a right to come here to recover back the money. The Vendor has a lien on the property for what remains due to him and if the plaintiff is compelled to pay the money that lien is transferred to him. In this view a sale to provide the means of paying less of course The balance after indemnifying the plaintiff must in any event go to the Board as no one else has any right to it The answer of the Board sets up that the Vendor's title is defective There must be a reference as to title if these Defendants desire it; and payment and sale ordered if only the Master finds that a good title can be made. If Dickson deserves an opportunity of shewing that through any act of the Board they have no right to call on him now to shew a good title, an enquiry on that point must be directed. If a reference as to title is taken the Board must meantime pay the costs of the other parties up to the hearing, and subsequent costs will be reserved until after the Master makes his Report. If the Board does not desire a reference as to title, the decree will direct an account payment and sale in the usual way, and the Board will pay the whole costs of the other parties (this includes the costs of a reserved motion) I do not see that I can give the plaintiff an injunction against Dickson, for no case entitling him to an injunction is made against Dickson in the

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and sundry to consider their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

THE IRISH CHURCH BILL. GREAT MEETINGS TO BE HELD

NEW YORK, July 11.—The Herald's cable special from London, July 10th, states that agitation in relation to the Irish Church Bill, threatens to become serious. Preparations are actively being made for an imposing demonstration against Mr. Gladstone, who has hitherto hesitated to encourage the meetings, but has consented to give semi-official sanction, on the ground that the Lords attempted to quality their opposition to the will of the Government and the people, on the ground of pretended change in public sentiment. It is certain, however, that the Commons will refuse to yield to the Lords their amendments, except the points not affecting the principle of the Bill. It is expected that the open air meeting will be the largest ever known.

FROM FRANCE

PARIS, July 11.—The Council of Ministers and the Privy Council have held frequent meetings at the summonses of the Emperor to deliberate upon the interpolation for political reforms now pending in the Corps Legislatif. It is said that the following programme has been agreed upon with the Cabinet Council of the Emperor. The Senate will be immediately convoked, when parliamentary changes of a liberal character will be proposed by the Government. These reforms will probably include extension of rights and facilitate interpolation and creation of responsible ministry, the Emperor choosing ministers from the Corps Legislatif with the view of arriving at the particular responsibility of each member of his cabinet.

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the great attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses," which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than merit else

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and systematic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Jets d'Eau" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

A YEAR'S TRIAL,

as Montreal Tea Company:

GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory as well as being extremely cheap.

Yours truly,
F. DENNIE

MONTREAL, 1868.

Montreal Tea Co:

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine in the very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from heartburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer.

Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS E. GREENE,
51 St. John Street,
Montreal.

Montreal, April, 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street Montreal. We notice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving every satisfaction, as one of the large amount forwarded, we have only had occasion to return one box which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.

Canadian Dominion Directory

FOR 1870-71.

THE SUBSCRIBER proposes to issue in SEPTEMBER, 1870, if sufficient support by SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS can be obtained to cover the expense of publication, a CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY, comprising the Provinces of ONTARIO, QUEBEC, NOVA SCOTIA and NEW BRUNSWICK, to which will be appended the Provinces of NEWFOUNDLAND and PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND. The Directory will contain the names of Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants in the Cities, Towns and Villages, together with a large amount of general information, including Alphabetical Directories of Post Offices and Postmasters, Banks, Governmental Departments and Employees, Houses of Parliament, Law Courts, Educational Departments, Custom Houses and Officers of Customs, Ports of Entry, Tariffs of Customs, List of Patents of Inventions, Canals, Railroads, Railway and Steamboat Routes, Benevolent and Religious Societies, Library and Literary Institutions, Registrars within their Divisions, Newspapers and Periodicals, &c., &c.; also, Statements of Imports and Exports, Revenue, Expenditure, Trade, Population, &c., &c.

To be corrected to August, 1870.

The Canada Directory for 1857-58, published by the subscriber, contained the names of the Principal Inhabitants in 1, 39 Cities, Towns, and Villages in Upper and Lower Canada. The CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will contain a short description of at least 3,500 Cities, Towns and Villages in the Dominion of Canada, and the Provinces of Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, together with the Names of the Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

Dominion of Canada subscribers $12 Cy. per copy
United States do $15 Cy. "
Great Britain and Ireland do £3 Stg. "
France, Germany, &c. do £3 Stg. "

RATES OF ADVERTISING will be made known on application to the Publisher.

No money to be paid until the Work is delivered. This notice is given for the reason that unprincipled men have, on several occasions, canvassed for, and collected money in advance, on account of Books which they falsely represented that I was about to publish.

Persons desirous of aiding in the Publication of the CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will please send in their Orders for SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS to Fashion and Matrimonial Markets.

Since our report "switches" have had a downward tendency, and are now on the decline. Only three tons arrived last week and shippers and holders look blank

"Rolls" are higher, with a prospect of steady advance. The market will not be glutted for some time to come

"Waterfalls" are scarce, though the demand is limited. The great "fall" they experienced early in the season had a depressing effect on shippers

The "Grecian Bend" is limited to a few first class spines; the general public, especially the business men look upon it with distrust, and it is feared that holders will have to reship

Paint and enamel are brisk, and prices firm. Barber & Draughts report large sales, and predict a large number of anticipated, saffron colored women.

"Train" still continue to advance—after the wearer gets five or ten feet ahead. They will hold out as long as the purse or giver families.

Corsets continue to regularly supply physicians and patent-medicine men with consumptive patients. The market is still "tight."

Brides are in good demand. Hymen & Love report three sales at $5,000 each; but as these where when "papa" was worth one hundred thousand, they cannot be tak en as a fair index of the market. Holders are looking for better prices.

Bridegrooms are a glut in in the market being displayed on every corner in the city and loosely packed in front of second-class hotels. The recent breach of promise case at Chicago may have a "settling effect" on the market. We quote one pair of tight pants, plug hat, yellow eyes and hair parted in the middle, at thirty cents. He was sold in bulk, or the price would not have been so high.

Curtain lectures continue to increase in interest—except to Mr. Caudle. The supply exceeds the demand, and those hepost ed think it always will.

—William Dwiggons of Benton County, Iowa, is fifteen years old, thirty-five inches high, and weighs a pound for each inch of length. He will exhibit himself as a rival to Thumb and Nutt.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF LANDS.

COUNTY OF HASTINGS, } To Wit. } ON SATURDAY the FOURTEENTH day of AUGUST next, I will be sold at my Office, in the Court House Belleville, all the right, title and interest of the Defendants, in the aforementioned lands and tenements, seized by me, under, and by virtue of the several Writs of Fieri Facias, in the following suits, viz —

C. P. Andrew Thomson, Plaintiff, vs. The Richardson Gold Mining Company, Defendants.

C. P. Quentin Macnider, Plaintiff vs. The Richardson Gold Mining Company, Defendants

B. R. James S. McCuaig, Plaintiff, vs. The Richardson Gold Mining Company, Defendants.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or use.

Scrofulous poisons is one of the most deleterious enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and subtle tyrant of the grave undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of other more fatal diseases, without exciting suspicion of its presence. Again, it breaks out in loathsome sores upon the face and body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of the fearful forms of disease on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, liver, lung, and heart complaints, dropsy, tumors in the heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by repulsive eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is all suitable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear, for many suffer from the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length, perfect cure: Erysipelas, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine affections of the mucous and nervous systems.

Syphilitic Complaints and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Liver complaint, Female Weakness, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are given in our Almanac, published gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of earthenous matters in the blood, speedily yield to its use. Also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. For all these and for a blood purifier, a stouter for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Dyspeptic, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections or symptoms of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as the virtues of this remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs, have made it known as a safe antidote for dangerous disease. While adapted to tender forms of children and young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be employed for the consumptive, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against colds, coughs and hoarseness, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled in every form were completely cured, and the patient restored to the good health by the Cherry Pectoral. No one can complete in its mastery over the diseases of the Throat and Lungs, and that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could relieve the distressing symptoms, the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is almost relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully sustained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., &c., indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any drug whatever, it is not a poison in any sense whatever. It in nowise injures any patient. The number of Consumptives cured by the Ague Cure Article, are literally beyond account, and we believe it to be a fact that no resident of any Ague stricken locality, will be found to taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is one of the best remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is a most excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other remedies had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

The Appetite for Tobacco Destroyed

Leave off Chewing and Smoking the Poisonous Weed Tobacco

ORTON'S PREPARATION!

ESTABLISHED 1865.

One box of Orton's Preparation is warranted to destroy the appetite for tobacco in any case, no matter how strong the habit may be. If it fails in any case the money will be refunded. Perfectly safe and harmless. It does not operate to shock the system, but in a short time the habit will be entirely destroyed by the mere exercise of will. Something is needed to assist nature to help herself. When this is done there is not the least need of its ever returning.

The fact that Orton's Preparation completely destroys the appetite for tobacco, and leaves the natural cravings for it, before being the Preparation was ever used, is proved by the thousands who have tried it.

The time taken to allay all desire for Tobacco by the use of this Preparation varies slightly in different persons, the average time is about Five days. Some have no desire for Tobacco after using the Preparation Two days.

The Health and Purse of every Tobacco user in the country call loudly, ABANDON THE USE OF TOBACCO.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that we have used Orton's Preparation for the purpose of destroying the appetite for Tobacco, and can assure those who are suffering from this habit that Orton's Preparation will certainly destroy the appetite for Tobacco quickly and permanently, without any bad effect upon the health, and without creating an appetite either for the Preparation or any substitutes.

The Lepers of the Pacific.

A TERRIBLE STORY OF LEPROSY IN THE SANDWICH ISLANDS—THE CHAMBER OF HORRORS AND THE DANCE OF DEATH

Sandwich Islands Correspondence of the San Francisco Bulletin.

After a few days of very quiet life in Halala I began to look with no little curiosity towards a low peninsula to the westward on the north coast of Molokai. It is the home of the lepers. A swift and fortunately smooth sail under the shadow of stupendous cliffs, that make beautiful and terrible this side of the island, brought one safely to the shore; there, watching its chance, the canoe plunged in upon the beach over the breakers that render landing in this neighborhood very unsafe and often impossible.

"ROOM FOR THE LEPERS, HOOI!"

The peninsula, perhaps three miles broad, spreading a couple of miles into the sea, is so completely isolated that you could hardly imagine a more appropriate or secure retreat for the poor victims of leprosy. A rough sea breaks continually upon a wild, forbidding coast. At the back an almost perpendicular wall towers to the height of 3,000 feet. There is but one avenue of approach by land—a narrow, zigzag trail cut in the face of this wall, dropping painfully into the plain below, no doubt filling the breast of the unhappy leper, who is conducted hither by an officer, with sickness and horror, and he feels that now indeed he is banished out of the world, and forgotten of men. At this home, if he have one worthy the name, he is more or less regarded with reserve. Many of the natives are quite afraid of the contagion; I believe the disease is generally considered as contagious. Here he is better cared for than he could be elsewhere; his food, clothing and shelter are certainties; they were precarious venture before. Being amongst his fellows—the constant associate of those who, like himself, are in some sense condemned to a living death—he is always treated with consideration and kindness. What can be more natural than, at least, contentment?

"FIRST, THE WORST."

Forty years ago a foreigner who visited the islands communicated this most horrible of diseases to a native woman, and from them have sprung the seeds that even at this late day can hardly be eradicated. Every child born in the islands is tainted with the miserable victims, so terribly branded that no artifice under heaven can mask their deformity.

A FEW FACTS.

It is almost like misfortune added to misfortune that the leprosy is not more swift in its work of destruction. One may live fifteen or twenty years. The following brief statistics made some time since at the settlement, shows the number of cases in proportion to their standing. Of 471 lepers—2 cases were of fifteen years standing; 3 of 14 years; 3 of 13 years; 7 of 12 years; 6 of 10 years; 7 of 9 years; 42 of 8 years; 94 from 7 to 8 years; 10 under 1 year. In some instances it seems to have been hereditary, but not always. The youngest leper now at the settlement is about six years of age, and there is one old man supposed to be 104 or 105 years. The settlement was established in January, 1866.—Since that time, 370 lepers have been cared for by the Government; of these, 84 have died, or a large proportion when you consider that some among them had been lepers ten or twelve years. Lads between the ages of 14 to 16, girls from 10 to 13, seem to be the worst cases. Afterwards the symptoms are, in a measure, modified, and the patient gradually passes away. So far, no relief has been found in this part of the world; mineral and vegetable pharmacy have been exhausted in the vain hope of discovering some check to the progress of the disease. Its first symptoms are almost imperceptible; it is, therefore, difficult to pronounce upon some of them. To avoid errors a temporary retreat is established at Honolulu called

THE KAHILI ASYLUM.

Here all doubtful cases are attended to, and the patient has nothing to do but wait for further developments, such as the thickening of the lobe of the ear, swelling of the hands and feet, paralysis of the arms and fingers, ulceration, etc. There is a deadly look in the eye which can hardly be mistaken. With all these dreadful signals of doom there is no pain. The senses are benumbed, and most fortunately so. As soon as it becomes certain that the patient is really a leper, he is sent at once and for ever to the asylum at Molokai, where he is housed and served with a fair allowance of eatables per day, while all his little grievances are attended to in a genial though firm way. The order was almost perfect during my stay, and I give the entire credit to the persuasive Christian discipline of Mr and Mrs Walsh. I am moreover satisfied that no community of whites, under the same circumstance, would behave themselves as well as these poor natives. The worst features of the disease are an unhealthy appetite and a complete demoralization, the passions becoming almost ungovernable. Every Sunday there is some service held in one of the hospital wards. Prayer, exhortation and psalm-singing have become a second nature with the old people. A little church is talked of. They will doubtless have one before long, part of the funds being already in hand. The Sunday evening I spent there we were all edified for four hours at a stretch by a choir of native boys singing readily by note out of one copy of the Plymouth collection. Let us turn back and look into the hospital as it is.

THE CHAMBERS OF HORRORS.

We enter the room. Mats spread on all sides are covered by about a dozen or fifteen recumbent figures, among the worst of the bad cases. A fetid odor, faint but perceptible, pervades the apartment. We hear hard, hoarse breathing, harsh whispers, and deep sighs from those who can never again speak with their old voices. The decay of the vocal organs is almost the last stage of the plague, and seems the most terrible of all. The patient is usually by this time one mass of corruption. What faces are turned to us as we grope among the half conscious sufferers!—faces, that look as though they had been hacked twenty times across with a broad axe, and each gash healing had left a horrid seam. Ears swollen to twice their natural size, raw looking and bloody, while the enormous lobes, hanging nearly to the shoulder, ooze with a sickening pus. There are those with nostrils slowly withering away, some with no nasal at all, only an ulcerous cavity remains, too abominable to be thought of for a moment. Fingers grown absurp at the ends, also ding the skin, shedding the joints one by one. This man can lay hold of and remove a toe without any sensation. What is it that so paralyzes the sensibilities? Nothing but death itself, grasping the vitals. They are but one half alive, these lepers, and carry their own infectious corpse about with them. One mass, sitting in a mole, a narrow strip of cloth about the loins, is covered from head to foot with large, hard swellings. There is not vacancy enough between his thousand and one fleshy hillocks to lay the tip of your finger. Yet he is unconscious of any pain whatever. He turns a ghastly grin—supposed to be a smile—upon us, as he exhibits a new mound just making its appearance on one side of him, which is likely to crowd out a few of the older ones. The poor wretch looks more like a horned toad, polished down a little, than a man and a brother.

THE DANCE OF DEATH.

It is proof enough of their indifference or the future as well as their contentment with the present, to find that once upon a time these decaying remnants of humanity deliberately gave a grand ball at the hospital. There was a general cleaning out of disabled patients and a brushing up of finery, while the ball itself was the great topic of conversation. Two or three young fellows who had a few fingers left, began to pick up a tune or two on native flutes made of bamboo. Though rather melancholy in tone, they were certainly not inappropriate to the occasion. The old, young, and middle aged took a few turns in a dark corner, getting their stiffened joints limber again, and so familiarizing their ungraceful forms with the hollow mockery of the waltz. Night came at last, the lamps flamed in the death chamber of the lazar house. The wheezing voices no longer musical, the shuffling of half-paralyzed limbs over the bare floor, the wild sea moaning in the night, all tended to make the scene most unearthly. The flutes began their shrill, dolorous piping; there was a rushing to and fro of wild figures. A bleeding, half blind piper seized on another of the accursed beings, snatching her, as it were, from her grave, in all her loathsome clay, he dragged her into the intoxicating whirl of the dance. Naturally excitable, heated with exertion, intoxicated with the very odors of death that prevaded the hall of the revellers, the mad crowd swayed and reeled through the unholy hours. Finally, satiated with the very bitterness of their unnatural joy, they called for the grand national Hula Aula as a fitting close, to the thick atmosphere of smoking and half extinguished lamps, they fed on the voluptuous abandonment of the maddened dance, till passion itself fainted with exhaustion.

Was it not a dance of death!

—Four hundred bushels, equal to 18,000 quarts of strawberries, were shipped from Oakville the other day, for the Toronto and Montreal markets

—Not long ago a captain of a volunteer company, not many miles west of this town, was presented with a sword. He began his reply thusly:—"Ladies and gentlemen, this sword is the proudest day of my existence."

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, JULY 13

ARRIVED.—We observe by cable despatches that the steamer Anglian arrived at Londonderry, on Sunday, the 11th inst

HAY HARVEST.—Haying has generally commenced in the front townships It will be a heavy crop hereabouts.

INWARDS.—The steamship Damascus passed Father Point inwards at 5 p. m., on the 12th inst., with 4 cabin and 191 steerage passengers.

CRICKET.—A game of Cricket will be played on the Belleville Cricket ground tomorrow, between the Peterborough and Belleville Cricket Clubs Wickets to be pitched at 9 a. m

NEW POST OFFICE.—A new Post Office was established near L'Amable Mills, Hastings Road, on the 1st July, called L'Amable P. O., of which Mr. John Robertson Tait is post-master.

HASTINGS ROAD AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY —Application has been made for the establishment of an Agricultural Society on the Hastings Road, and we learn that it is likely to be granted, and that the Society will receive the sum of $100 or $150

CROPS ON THE HASTINGS ROAD.—We learn from a gentleman from the vicinity of the York Branch, Hastings Road, that the crops on the Road never presented a more promising appearance. Fall grain of which there was considerable sown, looked well, and all kinds of spring grain has a most thrifty look, and promises an abundant harvest. Hay will be a large crop.

MISS RYE.—A public meeting was held in London on Friday evening, to consider a proposition asking the City Council to assist Miss Rye in bringing out girls to this country from England. Miss Rye was present and addressed the meeting. A resolution asking the Council to aid her with funds was voted down. The Prototype says that Miss Rye, after making a voyage home, is to become a permanent resident of London, and establish an orphan asylum.

HEARTH AND HOME.—We have often alluded to "Hearth and Home," as one of the most acceptable of our exchanges. We understand that the next number will be an especially fine one. It will contain the beginning of a new and interesting story called the "Romance of a rich Young Girl," by Octave Fuillet, author of the "Romance of a poor Young Man." The illustrations are designed and engraved expressly for Messrs. Pettengill, Bates & Co., by some eminent Parisian artists.

FREE GRANTS AGENT.—We observe by the Ontario Gazette that John Robertson Tait Esq., of York River, Hastings Road, has been appointed Agent for the location of Free Grants, under the Free Grants and Homestead Act of 1868, in the townships of Dungannon, Carlow, Montesgle, Herschel, Wicklow, and Mayo, in the County of Hastings, and for the sale of public lands in said townships. The appointment is a good one, and will give universal satisfaction. In the same Gazette, notice is given that certain lands in the townships above named, are open for location under the provisions of the Act mentioned, application to be made to Mr. Tait

PROGRESS.—Although it is only a short time since that the Cabinet Manufactory of L. Roenigk got fairly into operation with its new and improved machinery, and its increased facilities for turning out all kinds of work, the demand has become so great that he is obliged to still further increase his capacity for manufacturing. This demand comes from Cobourg and Port Hope in the west, and Ottawa and Montreal in the east. Within the last few weeks, Mr. Roenigk has shipped to Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston and other places, not on commission, but bona fide sales, from five to six thousand dollars worth of furniture, and so well satisfied are the purchasers of these goods that they have added to their orders. This is speaking well for our manufactures, and we hope Mr. Roenigk may go on in the same way and prosper

HASTINGS RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—We are requested to announce that there will be a meeting of the Council of the Association to-morrow night at Hambly's, at eight o'clock, for the final adoption of By-Laws and a Constitution. As the Dominion Match takes place in Toronto on the 6th September it is very desirable that the Hastings Association should be in full working order as soon as possible—in fact we have heard it urged that a County Match should be held here that time. It would be well to state that the Association is open to civilians as well as volunteers, the annual subscription being $1, and for non-commissioned officers and privates of the active force, 50c. At a meeting held a few days ago, Col. Campbell was elected President, Col. Brown, first Vice President, Capt. Wood, second Vice President, Lieut Bogart, Secretary, Capt Hambly, Treasurer, and a Council was elected composed of all the field officers, together with all Captains of active volunteers in the County, the Mayor of Belleville, and a number of prominent civilians.

The Crown Lands Department.

The sooner Mr. Sandfield Macdonald gets a new Commissioner of Crown Lands the better for the country. His extreme slowness and hesitating, doubting course, has already earned for him the sobriquet of Stephen the Unready, and without doubt his acts have been and are most prejudicial to the Province His policy with the mineral region of Lake Superior is well known, and was at the same time puerile and hurtful. Equally foolish and disastrous has been his manipulation of the Hastings mineral region. Infected with the gold fever he withdrew the lands from the market when they were selling rapidly at $2 per acre cash down, and which a year before were totally unsaleable at 50 cents per acre on time Numbers of men—practical miners and capitalists—were coming in, the country was being prospected, every few days we heard of a fresh discovery in some new locality, and the lands in the vicinity were eagerly bought up. A steady stream of money was pouring into the public treasury for those heretofore useless lands. The population was increasing, and mining progressing. Suddenly the lands were withdrawn from sale and prospectors soon learned it was of no use prospecting the lands because they could not buy them at any price. Was Mr. Richards afraid the country would get thoroughly prospected? Was he afraid of having a mining community in our midst? Did he intend that the Government should become gold land speculators like the Canada Company who withdrew their lands from the market a short time before Mr. Richards, and hold the unsold lands at fabulous prices? Whatever his good intention" was, the result has been to drive away a large amount of capital and labor which otherwise would have been invested in the development of our mineral resources. We do not charge him with being the sole cause of the present stagnation of mineral enterprise, but we do with being largely responsible therefor.

His latest move of putting the lands up at auction like all his others is disastrous. Some dozen lots were sold realizing about $8,000; for the rest he couldn't get a bid. Had he not withdrawn these lands from the market two years ago there is not the slightest doubt but that he would have realized at least $50,000 out of them, and the country had the benefit of two years' prospecting and labor in the field; and there are many of opinion—notwithstanding reverses and departmental stupidity—that the Hastings region is rich with the precious metals, and only requires time, skill, and labor, to demonstrate it to the world.

Two of these lots sold at auction last week, were lots 8 and 9 in the 9th Concession of Marmora, about which we have heard so much of late. They were knocked down to Mr. Cook for $8,800, and $3,800 respectively. The putting these two lots up at auction was another blunder within a blunder. Gold was found on these lots, and applications to purchase by different persons made. Our County members interested themselves in the matter, and we understand were promised that the lands should be sold to one of the claimants, that a Clerk from the Department would be sent down to the spot, and enquire as to which one first discovered gold on the lots, and that to such one would the patents issue. This was satisfactory to all parties. It relieved both Government and County members from the embarrassing reflection of giving and obtaining favors for support, and offered to the claimants an equitable solution of their rival claims. The enquiry was held at no inconsiderable expense to the claimants who attended, and this was the last they heard of the matter until the Commissioner's fly sheet advertisement was handed round.

Now, the gross injustice of this proceeding must be apparent to all. The Commissioner in his office, and from his place in Parliament, publicly put those claimants upon an issue to prove which one of them was the first discoverer, appointed and sent the Court of inquiry, put the claimants to the enormous expense of fighting this issue, and then took no further notice of the matter, but put the lot up at auction where the particular friends of the recent importation into the Crown Lands Staff, could with their long purse, have a better chance than the poor claimants. Such a policy is most damaging to the Government, ruinous to the country, and the sooner Sandfield gets another Commissioner the better for all parties.

FATAL ACCIDENT A telegram from Lyndea, July 12th says "Mr. James Doty, of Campbellford, Ont., met with an accident here on Saturday evening last, which terminated fatally about 10 a. m. to-day. He attempted to get on board a train while in motion, missed his hold and fell underneath.—He was going to the Western States with his family and stock. He leaves a wife and ten children to mourn his loss"

A LONG PRAYER.—Deacon Barnes, of Olio, a very pious man, was noted for his long prayers, especially in his family. One morning, the deacon and his wife were alone, and as was his usual custom after breakfast a prayer was offered There being an unusual amount of work that day, the deacons prayer was short He seized his hat and milk pail, and started for the barn. His wife being very deaf, did not notice his absence, but supposed him to be still engaged in prayer. On his return from milking, he was surprised to find her still kneeling. He stepped up to her and shouted "Amen," when she immediately arose, and went about her work as if nothing had happened

Emigration to Canada.

Mr Thomas White, jr., Special Commissioner from the Government of the Province of Ontario, in the Dominion of Canada, on the subject of emigration to that country, visited Aberdeen on Thursday, and had an interview with a number of working men who contemplate emigrating Mr White answered a great variety of questions in relation to the labor market, and the land policy of the Province, and his reports were of the most encouraging kind. He said the emigrants who have gone out this year have all found profitable employment, and have sent back the most satisfactory accounts of the country. Immediate employment, he said, would be given to a very large number of agriculturel laborers at from £30 to £35 a year with board and lodgings, and the opportunities for such persons to acquire land were very great. The Government of Ontario gives two hundred acres of land to every bona fide settler, on very easy conditions. These conditions are that he shall settle on the land, and within one month put up a house, which is usually built of logs, and makes a really comfortable dwelling; and that he shall reside continually on that property for five years, and during that time clear and put under cultivation fifteen acres, clearing not less than two acres within each year; after which he is entitled to his patent, which makes him absolute owner of the soil. A person settling on these lands ought to have at least £30 or £40 in his pocket after he gets to the free grant district, to help him through the season until he can get in a crop. Mr. White strongly advised those proposing to settle on these lands, not to do so immediately on their arrival to the country; they would do better to put their money in the Post Office Savings Bank, where, deposited for a year, it would draw five per cent., and go out as farm laborers. The experience they would thus gain would be of very great value to them when they went on the land, and would really be, in the long run, time saved, not lost. As to markets, the lumbering operations in the vicinity of the free grant district, afforded a good market for everything the settler could raise. Mr. White gave some interesting facts in relation to the social state of the country, and pointed out that it was a land where the fortune of every man was, in a peculiar sense, in his own hands, and of his own making, and must depend on his own industry and steadiness. It was a country of hard work, but the hard worker reaped a rich reward for his toil. Mr. White during the last few days has lectured to very large and deeply interested audiences in Glasgow and Dundee, and a very general regret was expressed that his time would not permit him to remain over long enough to lecture in this city. We are requested to state that any person desiring particular information in relation to Canada, can apply by letter to Mr. White, to the care of William Dyce, Esq., 11 Adam street, Adelphi, London, who is the general agent of the Canadian Government in Great Britain.—Aberdeen Free Press and Buchan News.

CUBA

NEW YORK, July 12.—Letters from Puerto Principe, Cuba, of June 22nd, say Colonel Alcosta Alveras sugar plantation has been burned. A party of disguised patriots attempted the capture of the town on the morning of the 19th, but were driven off. The inhabitants are in the last stage of poverty, and no business has been done for a long time. Planters have heard nothing from the plantations in six months. Artisans are out of employment, the police and other municipal employees have fifteen months pay in arrears Houses and servants can be had for almost nothing, and people have been deprived of meat

—California last year produced 1,864,000 pounds of wool more than any other State in the Union, her total product of that article for the year being 19,000,000 pounds, while Illinois, the next most woolly State, produced but 12,989,000.

—William the Third had an extreme aversion from touching for king's evils. 'It is a silly superstition,' exclaimed, when he heard that, at the close of Lent, his palace was besieged by a crowd of the sick; 'give the poor creatures some money, and send them away.' Importuned into laying his hand on a patient, he said, 'God give you better health, and more sense.'

WELLS DUG BY PRAIRIE DOGS Mr. G. M. Sternberg in the American Agriculturist writes the question as to the manner in which the Prairie dog obtains its supply of water. The Prairie-dog towns on the Plains are often situated miles away and it is difficult to understand how sufficient moisture could be contained in the food of the Prairie-dog to replace what must be lost in respiration, &c., and to carry on the process of digestion during the months of September, October, and November. At this season of the year it is not unusual for from 50 to 60 days to pass without a drop of rain falling. There is no dew, the air is extremely dry and the short buffalo-grass becomes completely dried down to the roots, while the roots being but two or three inches under ground, become hard and dry. As tame prairie-dogs are frequently seen to drink water, Mr. Sternburg expresses the belief that in every prairie-dog town there is a sufficient number of wells to supply the inhabitants with water. From attempts he had made to flood certain holes he concludes that the dogs would, not, in some cases, burrow so deeply and so straight down with any other object than to obtain water Such holes show signs of having been constantly resorted to by the dogs, and do not have the appearance of being lived in by a family

FLOD AND PLUCK.—Henry Ward Beecher spoke the other day at the commencement exercises of a business college in New York We quote the passage on plod and pluck

I do not believe a business man who says that he has asked for employment and cannot get it I know many out of employment but they are drones, they are not business men of the world A business man may lack a good many things, but he will get on if he has pluck (Applause). There is no business man who has not got pluck, and it is the business of Mr. Packard to teach you all pluck in life as the first ingredient to business, and I hope that he teaches you another word, which is the greatest business word in the world—I name it in its homily sense, and it is an old Saxon word—it is called plod (Great applause). "Oh," says somebody, "he is only a book-keeper." Only a plodder! Ah! there never was a man—the most brilliant genius in the world, who did not owe much to this process of being a plodder (Applause) It is very well for genius to consecrate and light the path of life, but it must be pluck and plod that carries a man over the paths of life. I would have these words inscribed over the walls, the pluck of life, the plod of life (Great applause)

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless, landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and sequable over their prospects of sharing his wealth The day for reading the will at last came the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really, first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and systematic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., on the ground floor; and the reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Jets d'Eau" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public.

From its situation on McGill street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years.

PLANTAGENET MINERAL WATER,

CONTINUES to be the favourite with the people, in consequence of the quantity of Iodine, Iron, Magnesia, &c., it contains, as compared with other Springs, and its superior medicinal combination so providentially supplied. It is unsurpassed as a

Tonic, Alterative, Laxative and Diuretic

As a beverage it is at once cooling and healing When aerated it takes the place of Soda Water and Sitzer. It is of much service to ladies, and should be used by gentlemen of sedentary habits.

To get the genuine article from the Springs, now 60 years in use, ask for PLANTAGENET WATER, at Hotels and Druggists.

IRISH CHURCH BILL

NEW YORK, July 12.—The Herald's Special London, July 11, says ——At a Cabinet meeting held yesterday it was resolved that the Government will not concur in any of the amendments to the Irish Church Bill that will in any way impair the principle of total disendowment. It is rumoured that Lords Clarendon, Granville and Harlington, evinced a disposition to yield, but were firmly overruled by the other members present

MESSAGE FROM THE FRENCH EMPEROR

PARIS, July 12.—In the Corps Legislatif to day a message from the Emperor was presented, and read By Minister Rouguier. It states that the Emperor has resolved to convoke the Senate, to consider the following questions, viz, the right of the Corps Legislatif to elect its own officers, the simplification of the methods of presenting and examining amendments to projects of law; the submission to the Corps Legislatif of commercial treaties for approval, the control of the Budget, the abolition of any incompatibility which exists between holding at the same time a seat in the Corps Legislatif and an office in the Ministry; and the existence of the right of interpellation. Similar questions with respect to Senate are hereafter to be considered. The Emperor believes that these measures will meet all demands. In conclusion, he asks the Deputies to consider how often he has abandoned his own prerogatives in the public interest for those now clearly granted, and which form an integral part of the institutions of the Empire. They ought to have, in fact those rights which have been explicitly confided to him by the people, and which are the essential conditions of power and the safeguard of order and society. The message announces no changes in the Ministry.

ORANGE DEMONSTRATION IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, July 12.—The Orange Societies made a strong display parade in Belfast and at other points to-day, but no disturbances in, consequence, are reported.

FENIAN OUTRAGES AND ATTEMPT AT MURDER.

GALWAY, July 12.—Fenian outrages are of almost nightly occurrence. Last night Capt. Lambert was shot at near his own residence in this vicinity and was fatally wounded The assassin was arrested.

RIOT IN BELFAST.

BELFAST, July 12—A riot occurred here yesterday between Orangemen and Catholics. For a time mob law was supreme, and much excitement prevailed. At length the rioters were dispersed and only one arrest was made.

OFFICIAL RED BOOK—VON BUEST AND THE POPE

VIENNA, June 12.—An official red book which had just made its appearance, says the Government has no reasons for keeping from the public its dealings with Prussia and other German States; that diplomacy is interested in maintaining existing status. It does not not measure the general peace, but respects other Powers, and remain perfectly neutral in their affairs

Baron Von Buest has replied to a recent circular of the Bavarian Prime Minister, Prince Hohenlohe, on the Æcumenical Council. He refuses to take part in the proposed Conference of Catholic Powers against the anticipated decision of the Council, and says he considers it time to take steps that the Council declares against the rights of the State.

RUSSIAN CONQUESTS IN ASIA.

LONDON, July 12.—The Times in an article on the progress made by the Russian power in the East, regards the absorption of petty Mussulman States by Russia as a benefit to the world; but says her presence in Asia must be consistent with the maintenance of British authority in India. With India prosperous and contented, continues the Times, we are safe. When the security of our power in India is felt, and all fear of Russia is dispated, both countries may unite to develope the vast regions committed to their care

THE LATEST.

THE EMPEROR YIELDS

PARIS, July 12.—As predicted would be the case in previous despatches, the Emperor yields his assent to the demands of the Legislative body, the nature of which has been already stated. No change to the Ministry has yet been announced, but the re-construction of the Cabinet within a short time is certain. Throughout the whole of this crisis the Emperor has exhibited his peculiar tact and shrewdness. He invited nearly all the deputies in the Corps Legislatif to a dinner and soiree at St. Cloud this week. He has chatted playfully with many of them of all different shades of opinion, giving expression to many of these poignant sayings so attractive to Frenchmen. For instance to one by whom he had been taken by the buttonhole, he said: "Ah? Monsieur Buffett, you mean to take hold of my coat for fear I may pull back." To a group of several with whom he was conversing on the situation, he said: "You begin to treat me like the old Lion in the fable, trying to cut my nails and take out my teeth, and leave me nothing but my mane which is considered harmless." To others he said: "The elections prove clearly that I must choose between the Empire and revolution, between neither system can an individual be set up." To others he said: "I will give full satisfaction to the liberal aspirations of all parties but have decided to cease concessions at the boundaries prescribed in the constitution." While the Emperor's conduct for the past few days is regarded as adroit, it is not considered as likely to stop the agitation for further concessions and reforms

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men when the blood is reduced from any cause what ever, the system suffers, the weakest part being first attacked, and a feeling of languor, lassitude and general debility pervades the system. Consumptives only afford temporary relief, and have confirmed consumption as giving a timely notice of the whip hastening on. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron This can be done by using the

PERUVIAN SYRUP.

A protected solution of the protoxide of Iron, which is a permanent tonic, stimulates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system.

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone

An eminent physician says, "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for a long time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of muscle."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address

The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass.

To Montreal Tea Company MONTREAL 1869

GENTLEMEN,—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap. Yours very truly

F DENNI

Montreal Tea Co:

GENTLEMEN,—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from heartburn, which would always pass me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue to patronize

Yours respectfully,

Canadian Dominion Directory FOR 1870-71.

THE SUBSCRIBER proposes to issue in SEPTEMBER, 1870, if sufficient support by SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS can be obtained to cover the cost of Publication, a CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY, comprising the Provinces of ONTARIO, QUEBEC, NOVA SCOTIA and NEW BRUNSWICK, to which will be appended the Provinces of NEWFOUNDLAND and PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND. The Directory will contain the names of Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants in the Cities, Towns and Villages, together with a large amount of general Information, including Alphabetical Directories of Post Offices and Postmasters, Banks, Governmental Departments and Employees, Houses of Parliament, Law Courts, Educational Departments, Custom Houses and Officers of Customs, Ports of Entry, Tariffs of Customs, List of Patents of Inventions, Canals, Railways, Railway and Steamboat Routes, Benevolent and Religious Societies, Clergy of all Denominations, Registrars in all their Divisions, Newspapers and Periodicals, &c., &c.; also, Statements of Imports and Exports, Revenue, Expenditures, Trade, Population, &c., &c.

To be corrected to August, 1870.

The Canada Directory for 1857-58, published by the Subscriber, contained the names of the Principal Inhabitants in 1, 39 Cities, Towns, and Villages in Upper and Lower Canada. The CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will contain a short description of at least 2,500 Cities, Towns and Villages in the Dominion of Canada, and the Provinces of Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, together with the Names of the Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

Dominion of Canada Subscribers $12 Cy. per copy
United States ..... do $15 Cy. "
Great Britain and Ireland do £3 Stg. "
France, Germany, &c. do £3 Stg.

RATES OF ADVERTISING will be made known on application to the Publisher.

No money to be paid until the Work is delivered.

This notice is given for the reason that unprincipled men have, on several occasions canvassed for, and collected money in advance on account of Books which they falsely represented that I was about to publish.

Persons desirous of aiding in the Publication of the CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will please send in their Orders for SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS to

—Rice is very promising in the South Atlantic States, and the prospect now is that the crop will exceed that of any year since 1860.

—The "seventeen year locusts" made their annual appearance in Illinois immediately on leaving the earth in the distance of a mile.

—One of the Emigrant Agents of the State of Minnesota has just returned from Europe, and reports that he had succeeded in inducing 10,000 Swedes to come to that State this year.

—A fired man on an Eastern farm recently washed two bulls with a decoction of tobacco to destroy the lice. It proved successful and also killed the bulls!

—Garden sass is cheap in Hamilton. Straw berries can be had for eight cents a quart; goose berries, three cents; peas, twenty five cents a peck, &c.

—Mr. Seth Green is engaged in restocking the Hudson with fish. In the eighty boxes there are daily hatched from 100,000 to 2,000,000 fish. His present operations are carried on just below Castleton

—Hon. William Cayley has been appointed, or is about to be appointed auditor of the public accounts, a new office which the provincial government has found it necessary to establish

A scotch minister, in visiting some members of his flock, came to the door of a house where his gentle tapping could not be heard for the noise of contention within. After waiting a little, he opened the door and walked in, saying in an authoritative voice, "I should like to know who is the head of this house?"—"Weel, sir," said the husband and father, "it ye sit doon a wee, we may be able to tell ye, for we're just trying to settle that point."

"Oh! how berry fat! Do fattest I ever did see! Let us see how me cook him! Me roast him. No; he so berry fat, he lose all de fat. Me fry him. Ah; he so berry fat, he fry himself! Golly! how fat he be! Den me stew him."

The thought of the savoury stew made the negro forget himself, and in spreading out the feast in imagination, his arm relaxed, when off hopped the rabbit, and squatting at a good distance, eyed his late owner with great composure. The negro knew there was an end of the matter, so summoning all his philosophy, he thus addressed the rabbit:

"You long-eared, white-whiskered, red eyed rat, you are not so berry fat, arter all."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or race.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed below in the system of the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its loathsome forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. Then the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or ulcers may form in the liver, or there is the presence by eruption on the skin, or foul ulcers about some outer parts of the body. Hence the necessity of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla in all households, even where no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find some of them lurking in their system: Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other equally disgusting visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms of disease, Dropsy, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilitic Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long course is required for subduing these obstinate maladies; by any medicine but long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Weaknesses generally commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and fortifying influence. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great favorite for the strength it gives to the digestion. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Nervousness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men in this country, it has been constantly winning its way to the [illegible] It uniform character and power to relieve the [illegible] of the afflicted, [illegible] it known as a remedy [illegible] While adapted to [illegible] children, it is of the [illegible] to persons of [illegible] the disease [illegible] a preparation [illegible] of Cherry Pectoral [illegible] Coughs, Colds, Croup, Influenza, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Asthma, and [illegible] subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with it. Against [illegible] Consumption is thought [illegible] cases where the disease seemed settled have been completely cured [illegible] to sound health by the use of Cherry Pectoral. While in its mastery over [illegible] Lungs and Throat, that it [illegible] 'Will it cure?' When [illegible] the circumstances [illegible] under the Cherry Pectoral, Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma [illegible] often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis [illegible] can't be taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses, as the cases known that we need not [illegible] from here, to prove that its qualities are fully understood.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

FOR Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing no mineral principle, Quinine, Arsenic, Strychnine, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is not dangerous in any quantity. The [illegible] importance of its cures in the sporadic [illegible] Chills of the Northern autumn, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Any [illegible] is entitled to the unqualified [illegible] of the radical cures effected to convince [illegible] and where other remedies have wholly failed. Unacclimated persons, either residents or [illegible] traversing the country [illegible] will find protection by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the [illegible] healthy action.

For Dyspepsia, Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

Wire Railways.

A NEW INVENTION—PROFIT CONVEYED OVER WIRES

"A railway without cuttings, embankments, tunnels, viaducts or bridges, no matter how hilly the country to be travelled"—such is the definition given by Herapath's Journal of an invention now in use in Leicestershire, and a working model of which may be seen in Gersham street, E.C. The wire tramway provides a simple and cheap substitute for a line of rails, and is of great service where, from the scarcity or intermittent character of the traffic, or the engineering difficulties of the ground to be got over, it is either not expedient or impossible to go through the expensive process of forming a local railway. For the wire spans over and cradles obstacle in place of borrow under or levelling them, and will perform its task as easily along a rugged tract of country as on the smoothest road. The experiment being now prosecuted with complete success between some Leicestershire stone quarries and railway station three miles distant consists of an endless wire rope, supported on a series of pullies carried by subtantial posts, which ordinarily about one hundred and fifty feet apart, but the interval between which may be greatly extended, as is shown in one case where the span from post to post is six hundred feet. One of the ends of the rope passes round Fowler's clip-drum, worked by a portable steam engine, and this drives the rope at a speed of six miles an hour.—Boxes are hung on the rope at the loading end near the quarries by a pendent which is ingeniously arranged to preserve a perfect equilibrium, and at the same time to pass without hindrance over the support. Each of these boxes carries one hundred weight of stone, and the delivery is at the rate of two hundred boxes or ten tons per hour

Already wire tramways on the Leicestershire model are in course of erection in France, Italy and Spain. Negotiations are on foot, too, between the Turkish Government and the engineers here, and it is not improbable that this generation may see goods carried by wire as commonly as messages. The tramway is, indeed, not unlike an exceedingly stout electric telegraph; and there is something droll in the sight of a regiment of well laden trucks and boxes passing gravely along it at stated intervals, and at a regular pace, much as if they were at arial drill. The most important point in Mr. Hodgson's invention, is his method of passing the points of support, which consists in so curving the frame of the truck or box as to make the centre of gravity come under the rope. So admirably is this managed that some of our leading engineers have been discussing quite recently the possibility of constructing a stout wire tram way between Dover and Calais, which should be supported from a line of pillars sunk in mid-ocean, and along which passengers could be conveyed. The rest would be comparatively small, and ordinary trains could, it is argued, be dispatched across the channel without difficulty or danger.

It should be stated that where heavy loads must necessarily be carried, a pair of stationary supporting ropes, with an iron endless running rope for the motive power, are employed, and that by these means as many as a thousand tons per day can be easily conveyed. The cost of erecting these tramways in England, and of supplying motive power and rolling stock, is from £350 a mile for carrying fifty tons a day, in boxes holding half a hundred weight each, to £1,500 a mile for one of the double rope lines, to carry one thousand tons a day, in boxes or trucks holding six hundred weight each. For all districts where there is traffic, but where it would not pay to construct a railway, the wire tramway is particularly applicable, and, as will be understood, wherever there is standing room for posts, there a line can be erected. A recent application from traders in copper for putting one up for them, which should run through an African forest, and over an African jungle down to the coast, illustrates the varied circumstances under which the new system of transport may be applied

Begging as one of the Fine Arts.

(From the Philadelphia Ledger.)

Not long since a gentleman, residing in one of the villages near Philadelphia, saw a couple of mendicants walking along a railway—for beggars generally trudge in couples. He noticed nothing particular about them, except that their locomotion did not equal to that of a locomotive, was quite up to the average of pedestrians on a railway. It was not a frequented route they were walking over, and they seemed to be happy in happy unconsciousness that any body thought them there. Suddenly, a few minutes later the gentleman met the same couple in one of the frequented streets of the town. An entire change had come over them, and he then a mere visionary change—rather we should say loss. For the poor man in that short time had lost the power of vision, and was transformed into a blind man; while his companion was also "deformed transformed," and had become so nearly paralytic that she could scarcely lead her sightless companion. They are begging their way with a piteous tale, and no doubt receiving fair remuneration for their skillful personation of the blind and the lame. The gentleman did not give them in charge of the police, for the village is represented in that department by one constable. The rogues went their way, trespassing on the charitable disposition of the public.

Street begging and roadside begging is an intolerable nuisance. One way to abate it—especially at this mild season—is to be sparing, very sparing in gifts to strange beggars. Any person who really needs assistance can readily find it among those who know his case. But usually such persons are the last whom beggars apply to. The careless giving of money increases the evil if we are to have mendicancy as an established institution, it becomes us to diminish the premium on vagrancy to the lowest farthing, and never give more than a penny—if so much—to an able-bodied vagrant. Begging is fast becoming one of the fine arts in this country, by the careless liberality of the public. All sorts of dying personations are resorted to to move the sensibilities of the humane, and the thievish finesse which is practiced by vagrants of all ages exhibits an ingenuity more curious than laudable No man ought to be able more than barely to support life by begging; and, if the common sense of the public would reject it, profits on vagrancy to this proper standard, the "profession" would soon cease to be so crowded as at present

Favouritism.

One of the few things which give one a high opinion of the world is its splendid favouritism This man may leap over a ditch, when he ought to have kept on the hither side of it, he may run, instead of walk when walking is the proper thing, he may sow he caught munching apples in his neighbour's orchard—I speak metaphorically, and the world declines to see that he has been anything wrong It puts up its telescope to its blind eye, because he is a favourite. Then here is another man, who shall always have the right quantity of starch in his shirt-collar, shall obey all the nice rules of propriety, and shall be of, apparently, unimpeachable virtue, yet the world, though it would not say so openly for the world, thinks him an ass, a pedant, and, perhaps, even a thorough bad fellow. Just let him, in a weak moment disobey only one of the nice rules of propriety and see how soon the world will be down upon him, for he is not a favourite. Some of our Transatlantic cousins (that most thoughtful man, Emerson, for instance) would, doubtless, explain this phenomenon by talking of the "over soul," or some such such great affair; but, at any rate, the phenomenon indicates that there is something which looms larger in the minds of men than the outer aspect of a man or his doings or even their own forms, and rules, and proprieties, which yet they pretend to set such store by. That "something" is probably a great, fertile, and sympathetic nature in the favourite, which is perceived by all men, and heartily, though often but secretly, appreciated by them. The famous Duke of Buckingham always seems to me to afford the best type of a favourite, having been a person of such a winning nature that his influence was equally potent with two men of such different characters as James the First and Charles the First—the one, moreover, being the reigning monarch, and the other the heir apparent, two personages that are seldom inclined to favour the same persons.—"Short Essays," by the author of "Friendsin Council." in Good Words

Josh Billings on Strawberries.

The strawberry is one ov natur's sweet pets. She makes them worth fifty cents, the furst she makes and never allows them tew be sold at a mean price.

The cullee ov the strawberry is like the setting sun under a blu cloud with a delicate dash ov the rois bo in; its fragrance is like the breath uv a baby when it first begins tew eat wintergreen lozzinges; its flavor is like the negta which an old fashioned goddess used tew leave in the bottom uv the tumbler, when Jupiter stood treat on mount ida.

There is many breeds uv this delightful vegetable, but not a mean one in the hull lot.

I think I have stole them, laying round loos, without any pedigree, in somebody's tall grass when I was a lasy schoolboy that eat dredful easy, without any white sugar on them and even a bug occasionally associated with them in the hurry ov the moment. Cherrys is good, but they are too much like sucking a marble with a handle tew it. Peaches is good if u don't get any ov the pin feathers intew your lips. Watermellons will sute anybody when satisfied with half sweetened drink, but the man who kan eat strawberrys besprinkled with crushed sugar and besputtered with cream, and not lay his hand on his stummuck, and thank the author av strawberrys and stummucks, and the pusillow who pays for the strawberrys, is a man with a worn out coscience—a man whose mouth tastes like a hole in the ground, and don't care what goes down it.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, JULY 14.

IRISH PROTESTANT BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.—The members of the Society are requested to meet this evening at 7½ o'clock, at the Town Hall.

SCHOOL GRANT.—The amount set apart for the support of the public schools in Ontario, for the current year, by the Legislature, was:—Counties and Districts $138,028, Cities $10,910, Towns $12,658, villages $7,600. Of this amount $8,099 goes to Separate Schools.

MINISTERIAL CHANGES.—The rumors that Hon. John Rose is to retire from his position as Finance Minister are again revived. This position it is said will be taken either by Sir John A. Macdonald or Sir G. E. Cartier. Other changes will probably be made in the disposition of the offices at the same time, and it is said that Mr. Angus Morrison will take a seat at the Privy Council board either as Minister of Inland Revenue or Public Works. These rumors we give for what they are worth, but it may be said they are made by those who are usually well informed as to Ministerial intentions.

Gold News.

From a letter to a gentleman in town, we learn that they "cleaned up" at the Turley & Gilbert Mill, Marmora, on Saturday, and the result was highly favorable. Thirty tons taken indiscriminately, including surface soil and rock, returned $6 per ton. This exceeded all expectations, considering it was the first run, and great credit was given to Mr. Dunstan, who superintended the operations. The result, considering the cheapness of crushing and facilities for taking out the rock, leaves a large margin for profit, and as there appears to be any amount of quartz, it is evident that better times are in store for the Hastings Mineral Region.

Grain from Oregon.

We are hearing a good deal at present about Californian wheat; but it has to be remembered, in connection with it, that there is beside California the lands of Oregon which, also, may soon become an important source of grain supply. The San Francisco Bulletin of the 30th ult., states that the receipts of Oregon flour and grain at that port for the harvest year ending on the above date was 159,556 bbls. of flour; 44,748 centals of wheat, and 129,889 centals of oats. Reduced to the basis of wheat, the flour and wheat received from Oregon during the year was equivalent to 532,411 centals wheat.

Cricket Match.

The Cricket match between the Peterboro and Belleville Clubs came off on the ground of the latter to-day.

At 10 o'clock the wickets were pitched, when the Peterboro club winning the toss sent the Belleville club to the bat, and it soon became evident that the good bowling and fielding of the Peterboro club would tell badly against the Belleville club, as the score in the first innings, which ended at 11¼ o'clock testified; the Belleville club only made 27 runs, two wides and two byes, making 31 in all. The under-arm bowling of Hacket was particularly admired taking no less than six stumps in the first innings.

The Peterboro Club then took the willow, but the fine bowling of Messrs. Mills and Jellett soon told against them. It was very evident that the bowling and fielding of both Clubs was far superior to their batting, as the Peterboro Club's last wicket went down with 41 runs, 3 byes and 1 leg bye, making in all 45

The best score was a very carefully made one of 13 by Croon The wicket keeping of Clark was worthy of special notice, stumping no less than two out in the innings.

The Belleville Club then took the willow and at the time of going to press had run up 51 runs with one wicket down.

HOW IT WAS CELEBRATED

The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne was this year celebrated throughout Canada with more than the usual enthusiasm, and it is gratifying to learn that everywhere the celebrations were not only on a magnificent scale, but were conducted in an orderly manner, not the slightest disturbance occurring to mar the enjoyment of the day. The day was not celebrated in Belleville, the Brethren here having accepted invitations to go to other parts of the County. It will be observed by the following reports that in Tweed, Stirling, Shannonville, and Trenton, the Twelfth was duly honored and right loyally observed.

TWEED.

The celebration of the battle of the Boyne brought together on Monday the largest number of people that were ever seen in the village of Tweed on any similar occasion. The village was gaily decorated with arches and flags, and at every turn there were evidences that Tweed had put on its holiday apparel. The day being fine, the people began early to arrive in all manners of conveyances, from the humble driver of those ancient steeds, "shank's horses," to the modern John and his gal "Old men and children, young men and maidens" poured in and by noon they filled the streets so that it was almost impossible to move.

At noon the different Lodges that were to be present, to the number of nine, marched to Hickory Point, which is pleasantly situated on the Lake shore, where they with their friends to the number of nearly one thous and, partook of a substantial dinner, provided by the good ladies of Tweed and surrounding country, the proceeds of which went to assist in the building of the new Wesleyan Methodist Church, at present in course of erection in the village. It might be as well here to remark that the proceeds of the dinner amounted to the handsome sum of $300. The inner man having been satisfied, the crowd distributed themselves around the stand to listen to the speeches. Bro. John G. Moore, County Master, South Hastings, was called to the Chair. A short time was pleasantly and profitably spent in listening to brief and pointed speeches from Bro Wm. White, Bro. Wm. Johnson, Rev. Bro. Gorden, District Chaplain, Rev. Mr. Robinson, Rev. Mr. Sanderson, and Bro. Jas. Reid, when they all adjourned to the village, where the Corner Stone of the new Wesleyan Methodist Church was to be laid by the Hon. Bills Flint. After singing "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," and prayer by Rev. Mr Sanderson, the Secretary read the following document to be placed in the Corner Stone:

"The Hon. Bills Flint laid the corner stone of this Church, 12th July, the thirty-second year of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria. His Excellency the Right Hon. Sir John Young, G. C. B., G. C. M. G., Gov. Gen. P. Howland, Lieut.-Governor of the Dominion of Canada. President of the Conference of the W. M. C. in Canada, the Rev. W. M. Punshon, M. A. Wesleyan Minister stationed on this circuit, Rev. D. Ryan. Trustees of the Church, John Johnston, John Gordon, W. Wright, James Reid, James Waller, Building Committee, James Reid, Wm. Wright, W. White, and J. A. Gordon. Stone Masons, Francis Tucker, J. Row, and Henry Lloyd.

WM. WRIGHT, Secretary.

Tweed, 12th July, 1869.

The Rev G. R. Sanderson, in the name of the building committee, then presented the Hon. Bills Flint with the trowel, when he proceeded in due form to lay the Corner Stone, after which the Hon. Bills Flint in a short and appropriate speech, stated that he had not intended to have addressed them on the present occasion, but at the request of the building committee he had come to lay the Corner Stone of the Church, and hoped that any remarks he would make, would do the present company no harm as he wished them the greatest success. Their duty was an arduous one, and he considered it the duty of the surrounding country to the best of their ability to aid them in their great undertaking, as he was afraid people too often considered an undertaking like the present one in the light of a sectional matter, but in his forty years experience in the Town of Belleville, they were always asked and rightly he thought to, to contribute towards the erection of churches of all denominations throughout the county. He thought all should look at a work like the present in a progressive as well as a sectional light, and all help although the church might not belong to their own particular denomination; as all churches had for their recognized head the one Christ. He considered stock in a church as paying well, in a commercial as well as a spiritual point of view, as one might own stock in a Bank or a Cheese Factory, and both Banks and Cheese Factories were liable to fail, but in the stock Christ was the great banker and there could be no such word as fail. All that were present on this occasion, but he hoped would, as he had given largely to such objects himself. The public were generally considered public plunder. He considered the stock he held in churches the best paying stock he ever owned, and in all undertakings like the present, there should be reciprocity between different churches. We heard a great deal about reciprocity in these days, the Yankees thought by taking away reciprocity from us when they had a chance, they would, by running our trade, force us into a union, but what do we find in the case? We find that Canada has never been in such a prosperous state as at the present time, and they would now if it was not for their stubborn pride like to have the old system renewed again, as they found that their trying to scare us only separated us from them the farther. He hoped they would ever see the same kind of reciprocity between the churches. (Applause)

A collection was then taken up in aid of the church, after which the members of the different Lodges met together and gave three cheers for the Grand Master, Hon John H. Cameron, M. P. and three cheers for the Grand Master of Ontario East, M. Bowell, Esq., M. P., and others, when they all departed for their homes, and by nine o'clock the village was as quiet as if there had been no gathering through the day. All honor is due to the officers of the different Lodges for the strict discipline through the day, exhibiting as it does proper respect for one of the greatest orders in existence.

Great credit is due Bro. William Stokes, District Director of Ceremonies for the very able manner in which he discharged his duties as Grand Marshal of the day

STIRLING

The Orangemen of Rawdon, Marmora, and the west portion of Huntingdon, assembled in Stirling to celebrate the anniversary of the Boyne. At an early hour crowds began to gather, and at eleven o'clock the procession being formed, the brethren marched to a grove on the east side of the village where an appropriate sermon was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Grant, after which they marched back and dispersed for dinner. At three o'clock the procession again being formed they marched to an open lot back of the manse, where speeches suitable for the occasion were delivered by Messrs John White, E. B. Wales, and —— After hearty British cheers were given for the Queen, the Grand Master of British America, M. Bowell, Esq., M.P., Grand Master of Central Canada and others, the brethren dispersed and went home thoroughly satisfied with the day's proceedings. Ten Lodges were represented, and the members and respectability of each, speak high for the Association of this place, and the surrounding country. The procession was ably conducted by the Worshipful Bro. Hagerman, District Master. Too high praise cannot be given for the orderly manner of all, and the people of Stirling generally, wish for many returns of the 12th of July

TRENTON.

The Trenton brethren celebrated the day in a most loyal and enthusiastic manner, in which they were joined by the Prince Edward Lodges, Front of Sidney Lodge, and others from the country in the vicinity of the village. The Steamer St. Helen left Picton in the morning with the brethren of that town, and gathering up the other Lodges, from the different ports on the bay along the route. A few of the Belleville brethren also went up in the Steamer; arriving in Trenton about eleven o'clock they were heartily received and a salute was fired from the "big cannon," one of the institutions of Trenton. A procession was then formed, which after marching through the various streets, to the inspiring music of the Trenton and Deseronto Brass Band, separated for dinner. The brethren then re-forming into line proceeded to the Drill Shed where an excellent and very appropriate discourse was delivered by the Rev. Bro. Bleasdell. Addresses were also made by Bros. W. Anderson, Phillips, Boulter, Cronk, Young, Gillen, Loughead, after which three cheers for the Queen were given and the assemblage which was a very large one dispersed. The Steamer left with her load about 7 p. m., arriving in Belleville at 10 o'clock. The weather was all that could be desired, and everybody seemed pleased with the hospitality of the Trenton people, and the hearty manner in which the day was celebrated.

SHANNONVILLE.

The demonstration at this place was truly imposing, although two of the Districts, namely, Nos. 3 & 4, of the County of South Hastings only took part in it.—The object of the demonstration was not only to celebrate the glorious anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, but also for the noble purpose of obtaining funds to erect an Orange Hall for the Orangemen of Shannonville and District. The main streets were spanned with three beautiful arches, on the east and west side entrance, and one over the bridge. The ladies of Shannonville provided a magnificent dinner, which would do credit to the largest city in Ontario, at least 500 persons partook of the delicious repast provided. At one o'clock the District Master of Shannonville District called the assembly to order by sound of drum, and calling on District Masters, and Masters of private Lodges to take a seat on the substantial platform, at once introduced the speakers. The Rev Mr. Wright, Wesleyan Methodist Minister of Shannonville, leading, was followed in succession by the Rev. Bros. Anderson and Clark, Episcopal Methodist Ministers; then by A. L. Roberts, Esq., an old and tried friend of the order, who made a vigorous speech. In his final remarks he observed that the County of Hastings would be proud to see such a display as honored Shannonville on the 12th July, 1869. Bro. Potts finally made a short address, after which three cheers were given for the Ladies who had provided the dinner; three cheers for the Queen and Royal Family, three cheers for the day we celebrate, three cheers for the Grand Master of the Orange Association of B. N. A., three cheers for M. Bowell, Grand Master of Central Canada, three cheers for the District Master of Shannonville, after which Bro. Anderson pronounced the benediction in his usual grave and solemn manner, and at 3 o'clock precisely the Brethren re-formed in procession, and returned to their respective Lodges.

It is necessary to note that the water did not see a single Orangemen under the influence of liquor during the day. A slight disturbance took place about 5 o'clock p. m., among some town parties who were hangers on in the village, but your correspondent can vouch that not a single Orangemen had anything to do with it

New Jersey newspapers advise owners of orchards to thin out their peaches and to prop up the limbs at once The fruit is excessively abundant, some trees being so loaded with it that the peaches "look about as thick as grapes upon a bunch

Red River News.

We have news from the territory up to the 30th ult. through the New Western.

The pontoon bridge across the Assiniboine near Fort Garry, is now ready for travel.

We understand that the Buffalo are now on their way north, and that immense herds are seeking their usual feeding grounds in this Territory. Reports state that they were seven days in crossing the Missouri, and that they are now not far from Devils' Lake

The town of Winnipeg increases even under present circumstances. We notice eight very respectable buildings in the course of erection now, while a number of others are contemplated to be put up during the summer. Now that we are in the Dominion of Canada we may soon expect to see our little town put on an appearance worthy of her position as the capital of so great a country

Mr. H. S. Donaldson is about to start to Canada for the purpose of purchasing and bringing in a full stock of books, stationery and fancy goods. Our people, as well as those who intend to emigrate among us, may depend upon finding in Mr. D.'s new stock everything they may want in his line of trade. A good book and stationery store should most certainly be encouraged in our midst

The glorious news of the acceptance of the terms of surrender, by the Canadian Parliament reached us late last evening, 18th June, and the lateness of the hour prevented any more general demonstration than an impromptu bonfire built on the green between Dr. Schultz' and the Fort. Mr. Chas. Mair had provided for the occasion, a beautiful flag; which, raised by Dr. W. R. Bown, and floating from a tapering staff seventy feet in height, presented an appearance such as never before was beheld in the North-West Territory.

A gentleman, now in this town, arrived from San Francisco, Cal., in twenty-one travelling days. He came by the Union Pacific railway to Dubuque, on the Mississippi, and thence to St. Paul by steamer. – Had he come by railway direct to St. Paul, he would have arrived here in nineteen days from the Pacific coast Verily, we live in an age of progress! and may the time be short when we, too, shall be able to reach our own Pacific coast in less than a week's travel from Winnipeg

Gold Discoveries in New Brunswick.

The St. John (New Brunswick) Telegraph mentions the discovery of a gold mine at Eel River. It says:—"The area in which the metal has been found is about an acre in extent, although it is generally believed that the whole gold field in not contained in such narrow limits It is situated on Eel River, on the property owned by Mr. D. R. Thomas, and takes the form of a ledge, on the surface of which the quartz containing gold is found. The place has been visited by gentlemen from Woodstock and Richmond, some of them old Californians, who gave the quartz and property a thorough examination. Immediately after a Company was formed, who divided the mine into twenty-five shares fifteen were disposed of at the time, realizing about $150 each, the remaining ten being still in the market. A number of specimens of rich gold-bearing quartz had been taken from the lend, among them one weighing three and a half ounces, containing a nugget of pure gold about the size of a pea. A portion of quartz was subjected to a rigid analysis by Professor Baily of the University, who announced that it contained the precious metal in its purity. A stream of water flows into the river contiguous to the mine. A large number of gentlemen from Woodstock, many of whom are old miners, visited the mine at Eel River, and explored the river some distance below Murcher's Mill, and found strong indications of gold in the mineral sand. Hammers are sounding in many directions, crushing the quartz which the miners carried to the town as a trophy of their expedition.

Movements of Grain.

The aggregate movement eastward by lake and rail from the opening of navigation to July 4th, is thus stated

	1869	1868
Flour, brls	778,200	587,800
Wheat, bush.	10,606,500	4,484,400
Corn	7,141,500	10,848,400
Oats	2,229,400	1,245,000
Rye	56,800	12,100

The quantity of flour and grain on the canal destined to tide water, estimating the clearances at 14 days from Buffalo and 9 from Oswego, is thus stated by the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser. To the figures showing the movement for 1869 there have been added those for a corresponding period in 1868

	1869	1869.	1868
	July 10	July 11	July 3. July 11
Flour, brls	5,300	5,700
Wheat, bush	1,321,300	1,551,000	215,800
Corn	164,200	510,100	5,000
Oats	204,200	250,100	231,000
Rye	17,400

At the Orange demonstration at St. Catharines on the 12th of July, there were about 8,000 in the procession There were in the procession 41 splendid banners of the Order, nine full brass bands, a reed band Highland piper in costume, and an uncounted number of fifes and drums, both grand and small The procession showed to great advantage, and never has there been one in Canada that has passed off more creditably

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless English Gentleman established a land, saving, and agency office in this town, and equable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for receiving the will at its office the room was crowded with anxious expectants, the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich old Gentleman's relations found that he had left them had been bequeathed a case of Hop's Bitters. THE IRISH CHURCH BILL

LONDON, July 13.—The debate on the Irish Church Bill in the House of Lords was resumed last night. Earl Clancarty moved that its read ing be postponed three months.

Earl Derby was still opposed to the Bill but favoured the amendments

Lord Clancarty's motion was withdrawn.

Lord Derby gave notice that he should offer a protest against the Bill

The Bill was then read a third time. An amendment was then adopted by 80 to 32, omitting the clause permitting Bishops to retain their seats A proviso was adopted by 121 to 114, providing furnished residences and glebes for the Catholic and Presbyterian clergy, and adopting the principle of concurrent endowment. The Bill then passed. Earl Derby's protest was then presented, and the Lords adjourned after an exciting session.

A TRADES UNION ROW

LONDON, July 13.—A collision occurred at Sheffield to-day between two parties of miners one belonging to the union and the other consisting of anti-union men. The fighting was severe and many were injured, one fatally

ARRIVAL OF THE GREAT EASTERN.

ST. PIERRE, July 13.—The voyage of the "Great Eastern," is completed. She arrived off the Island this morning from Brest, with the end of the French Cable, and announced that the line is in perfect order. The shore section which was laid some days ago is now being spliced with the main cable and before the day closes communication will pass and repass from land to land

PARIS, July 13.—A despatch from the "Great Eastern," dated yesterday, announced her arrival off Miquelon, but a dense fog prevailed, in consequence of which she had as yet unable to find the shore end of the cable and to make a splice. The deep sea cable will probably be cut and buoyed to prevent accident until the fog clears up.

LATER.—The cable has been cut and buoyed. No communication has been received through it since last night

THE LATEST.

MINISTERIAL CHANGES.

PARIS, July 13.—All the Ministers have resigned. The resignation of Rouher and Larrabeth have been accepted by the Emperor. The other members of the Cabinet remain.—The new Ministry will be a transitional one. Kuhlo Oulivier refuses a Portfolio for the present, but will probably accept in the end. The Radicals are indignant at the prorogation of the Legislative body.

NEW SPANISH MINISTRY

MADRID, July 13.—The new Ministry has been formed, and is composed as follows:—President of the Council and Minister of War, Gen. Prim; Minister of the Marine, Admiral Topeke; Minister of State, Silvela; Minister of the Interior, Sagasta; Minister of Agriculture, Kgineary; Minister of Finance, Ardance; Minister of Justice, Zoulla; Minister of the Colonies, Becerra.

LIBERTY PROGRESSING

The remains of a Spanish lady who died in Protestant faith, "were interred to-day in the general Cemetery. This is the first case of the burial of a Protestant in the Cemetery which has occurred under the recent order of the Alcade, permitting and defending such funerals. Nearly two hundred Spanish Protestants were present. There was no disturbance.

THE CONCESSIONS.

PARIS, July 13.—The Tiers party deeming the message of the Emperor satisfactory, have withdrawn the proposed interpellation.

The Debats to-day in commenting on the political reforms promised by the Emperor, thinks that it is impossible to undervalue the meaning. and unjust not to be grateful for the Emperor's concessions.

RELATIONS WITH CHINA.

LONDON, July 13.—In the House of Commons to-night, Mr. Otway, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, in reply to the remarks of Mr. Sykes in respect to the relations of England with China, admitted that it was to the interests of England to strengthen the Central Government of that country and not weaken it by gunboat policy and extravagant demands. He reminded the House that America and other countries had treaty rights in China as well as England; in revising the treaty of Trentain, we must consider the probable action of other countries as well as our own, in the demands and rights. The internal trade of the country was destroyed by British merchants selling certificates to Chinese traders to enable them to defraud their own Government. The Chinese Government desires to yield to the wishes of the merchants, and when the Emperor attains his majority, it is hoped that we shall be able to treat with him on all questions in regard to the right of trade in that country of English merchants.

NEW ALBION HOTEL,
McGILL STREET,
MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except in charge, which better suits the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and systematic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Waiting Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Vets d'Ame" and Monument on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public.

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twenty years.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men, when it becomes reduced from any cause whatever, the whole system suffers, the weakest part being first attacked, and a feeling of languor, lassitude, and all general debility prevades the system. Nothing can only afford temporary relief, and leave the same effect as giving a tired horse a cup of cold water. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

PERUVIAN SYRUP.

A protected solution of the protoxide of Iron, which is prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the human system.

In the medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

An eminent divine says, "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of muscle."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address

The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass.

Death from malpractice is getting to be a very common caption in the news columns of the journals. There is, evidently, a great deal of unskilful of the most atrocious character perpetrated by men who attempt to practice physic and surgery without any knowledge of these sciences.—Either there are no proper laws with reference to medical practice, or such laws, if they exist, are hardly regarded, and seldom or never enforced. Suits for the malpractice of medicine and surgery are more promising than suits at law, as courts, the aggrieved seeking to obtain mouied recompense for their misfortunes instead of bringing the culprits before a criminal court for punishment. The unfortunates are, however, we are constrained to say, pretty generally to blame for the vile treatment they receive. Sick and injured people should use all due precaution in selecting physicians and surgeons to attend to them. The mere fact of having a diploma, and an office with a sign in front of it, is not by any means a sufficient guarantee of a man's ability and honor as practitioner of the healing art. All doctors should be required to give unquestionable proof of their respectability and capability before being admitted to prescribe for or operate upon an invalid

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were augmented by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflictive, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues on this

Notwithstanding the number of the most destructive enemies of our race, Often, this unseen and unfelt taint will for months or years undermine the constitution and invite the attack of one calling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, therefore, the most fatal diseases are found in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its perverse activity in the skin, or foul ulcerations on other parts of the body. Hence the necessity of a thorough purification of the blood, as the only available, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Proceeding upon the following compounds generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA. Let St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions of a visible form of Scrophulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Liver Complaint, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine affections of the mucous tissue and nervous system.

Syphilitic or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these inveterate taints. No poisonous medicine But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Scaly and Chronic Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by a corrupt state of the blood, or lodgment of impurity in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Dropsy, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Impetigo, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scurfiness, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scabs, Blotches on the Skin, Tumors, Tetter, Humors of all kinds, Scrofula, Consumption, Liver Complaint, and Kidney Complaints.

Scrofula in its worst forms, and all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Boils, Carbuncles, Sores, Pimples, Eruptions, Tetter, Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Ringworm, Scurfiness, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, Mercurial Diseases, Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Neuralgia, Kidney Complaints, Diseases of the Bladder, Uterine Diseases, Leucorrhœa, Sterility, Impotency, Nocturnal Emissions, Involuntary Discharges, Spermatorrhœa, Pain in the Back, Kidneys, Loins, Female Irregularities, and all complaints arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Nerves, Kidneys, Bladder, or Generative Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter how long standing, are within the reach of this remedy. Many of the above diseases are but the consequences of Scrofula in the blood, which breeds in the humors, corrupting and destroying the healthy action of the most important organs of the body, and filling the system with the seeds of premature decay. Nothing but a powerful remedy can reach the case. For purifying the blood, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy that can be employed. Keep the bowels open, the liver active, and the digestive organs in order, and when these are assisted by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, all impurities will be thrown out, and the sick will become well and remain so, if a reasonable degree of prudence is observed.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so deservedly the confidence of mankind as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among every class of the races of men in the civilized globe, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has won more widely its deserved reputation. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the throat and lungs, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for the deadly consumption, and the dangerous affection of the throat and lungs. As a protection against the early stages of these, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all counteract colds, coughs, and slight pulmonary ills, all should be profited with the antidote for them.

Although Confirmed Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers who have tried this remedy have been surprised to find themselves completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. It is compatible to its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could give relief, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,
For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it Ague Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Mercury, Zinc, nor any mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no wise injures any patient. The [illegible] are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the cures and radical cures effected by this antidote.

No [illegible] persons, either residents in, or travelling through unhealthy localities, will be prostrated by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other remedies had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

The Appetite for Tobacco Destroyed

[illegible] of Tobacco and Preparation of Vegetable Wood

ORTON'S PREPARATION !
ESTABLISHED 1866

One box of Orton's Preparation will destroy the appetite for Tobacco in any person in the world. It is entirely harmless, and will fail in any case the most powerful safe and harmless remedy ever discovered. Perfectly safe and harm less. Any person can use it without exposure. Any person can use it without exposure. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and it is impossible to have it, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, therefore, the most fatal diseases are found in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its perverse activity in the skin, or foul ulcerations on other parts of the body. Hence the necessity of a thorough purification of the blood, as the only available, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Proceeding upon the following compounds generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA. Let St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions of a visible form of Scrophulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Liver Complaint, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine affections of the mucous tissue and nervous system.

Syphilitic or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these inveterate taints. No poisonous medicine But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Scaly and Chronic Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by a corrupt state of the blood, or lodgment of impurity in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Dropsy, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Impetigo, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scurfiness, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scabs, Blotches on the Skin, Tumors, Tetter, Humors of all kinds, Scrofula, Consumption, Liver Complaint, and Kidney Complaints.

Scrofula in its worst forms, and all diseases arising from impure blood, such as Boils, Carbuncles, Sores, Pimples, Eruptions, Tetter, Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Ringworm, Scurfiness, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, Mercurial Diseases, Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Neuralgia, Kidney Complaints, Diseases of the Bladder, Uterine Diseases, Leucorrhœa, Sterility, Impotency, Nocturnal Emissions, Involuntary Discharges, Spermatorrhœa, Pain in the Back, Kidneys, Loins, Female Irregularities, and all complaints arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Nerves, Kidneys, Bladder, or Generative Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter how long standing, are within the reach of this remedy. Many of the above diseases are but the consequences of Scrofula in the blood, which breeds in the humors, corrupting and destroying the healthy action of the most important organs of the body, and filling the system with the seeds of premature decay. Nothing but a powerful remedy can reach the case. For purifying the blood, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy that can be employed. Keep the bowels open, the liver active, and the digestive organs in order, and when these are assisted by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, all impurities will be thrown out, and the sick will become well and remain so, if a reasonable degree of prudence is observed.

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.,

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so deservedly the confidence of mankind as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among every class of the races of men in the civilized globe, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has won more widely its deserved reputation. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the throat and lungs, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for the deadly consumption, and the dangerous affection of the throat and lungs. As a protection against the early stages of these, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all counteract colds, coughs, and slight pulmonary ills, all should be profited with the antidote for them.

Although Confirmed Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers who have tried this remedy have been surprised to find themselves completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. It is compatible to its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could give relief, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,
For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it Ague Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Mercury, Zinc, nor any mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no wise injures any patient. The [illegible] are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the cures and radical cures effected by this antidote.

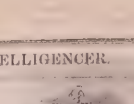

No [illegible] persons, either residents in, or travelling through unhealthy localities, will be prostrated by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other remedies had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

"Head of the Army."

The last of earth is but a groan with some,
With others a sigh, a frown or a tear,
And then heroism's won, when strife work is done,
Leaps upward to God untrammelled by fear,
And leaves a glad smile of enduring repose
On the features of those who have conquered their foes.

A tale that tells of a victory won,
In the race it nobly, fearlessly run.

To the Christian, Death is a welcome guest,
For it frees him from sorrow, grief and care,
And opens the gate of Heavenly rest,
Which Christ in his love prepared for him there:
The Monster to him is a monstrous joy,
That frees the clay but cannot destroy
One beam of the hope that his Master gave,
To light his path to his God and the grave.

To the sinner the Prince of Terrors is Death,
For death to his clay is Hell to his soul,
While life mortell imbibes the healthy breath,
And in dooms that time is in his control,
He will scoff at Death—but when it is near,
His brow will grow dark with anguish and fear,
And dying he'll shriek, remorseful and hoarse,
His years-word to Hell—a withering curse.

To the low-born, Death is an exchange shock,
That gives him a level his birth denied,
That furrows his name in memory's rock,
Eternally equal with men of pride.
Though he sets o'er time be dark and obscure,
Though he lolled and went in a rich man's door,
It he served his God, with the sacred lie it dwelt,
It he crucified Christ, he will write in Hell.

To the high-born, Death is a wild wind blast,
That hurls him down from His mountain of pride,
Tears honor and wealth and fame from his
And drifts him carelessly over the tide [grasp,
That claims all he dearly, dismal, dark—
But if Angels convey not his storm tossed bark,
It matters not then how high he did stand,
Though he lived a king, he dies but a man.

I have seen the soldier fall on the field,
Still cheering his comrades on to the van,
While the [illegible] cannon their thunders pealed
Through the smoky air, while in every vein
His comrades' blood and the enemy's gore—
And have sought his corpse when the fight was o'er,
And found a bright smile on the grimson clay,
Ofa double victory won that day.

When Wellington conquered at Waterloo,
And buried Napoleon and France in the dust,
Before Europe; the Corsican knew
The game he played was hopelessly lost,
He knew that upon the ground where he drew
Was when rushing to death with their old war cry,
His brave old guard like a thunderbolt flew,
At England; but ah! they were humbled too.

To Paris he fled when the field was lost,
But not as he oft had ridden before,
At the head of a proud victorious host;
But a fugitive doomed to see no more,
"The Head of his Army" proudly he rode,
And received all Europe in insolent blood,
Gave kingdoms as gifts, and bought sovereigns to
An Emperor once, a suppliant now. [bow,

And when Death flung his spirit back to God,
Where Malone, heard the Lord Jehovah say,
It whispered to earth, when casting the sod,
The title he carved in the rugged rock
"Head of the Army," was glory he bought—
"Head of the Army" was the password he gave
To endless eternity, time and the grave

MORAT.

Risk not your pelf on either card or die,
Or love or war or any game of chance.
Success begets confidence, which will do
Beyond control. Napoleon suggested France,
And was he thrown by conquering her foes?
But lured on with the ambition rose
Still higher then, to throne for greater gains,
And won, but Europe but bondage and a name.

Early Marriages.

ADVICE OF HENRY WARD BEECHER.

At no after period, perhaps, in their life, says Henry Ward Beecher in one of his Plymouth church sermons, do young men need the inspiration of virtuous love, and the sympathy of a companion, in their self-denying toil, as when they first enter the battle for their own support. Early marriages are permanent moralities, and deferred marriages are temptations to wicked-ness. And yet every year it become more and more difficult, concurrent with the rapidly ideas of society, for young men to enter upon the marriage state which is the proper guard of their virtue, as well as the source of their courage and enterprise. The battle of life is always at the beginning. There it is that a man needs help, if they had the whole of it for nothing. What you get for nothing is least valuable to you of anything. What you earn is all value. Under these influences, the whole of life is written in the wrong key. Men having started on the false principle, they do not get over it. They are perpetually tempted to overlive by their very affections. If there is anything that an honorable and sensible man's nature feels and cannot stand, it is the silent comparison on the part of the wife, by a look, even, of the way in which she does live. How does this drive men into dishonesties? How does it draw them out of simplicity and out of bold willingness to live according to their circumstances? How does it teach them to live for other people's eyes and not for their own actual needs? How does it teach them to be mere subjects to vanity than love? Such life is hollow. Ostentation takes the place of sincerity, and so, for long, a man is educated to be a rogue, and steals. And woman takes on unvirtue, because that pays the bill of extravagance quicker than anything else.

—A statistician announces that America uses up 240,251 kegs of gunpowder in getting through the 4th of July.

—A verdant Cape Codder, upon seeing a locomotive for the first time, threw up his hands exclaiming, "By thunder what a darned great stove!"

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, JULY 15

POSTAL TELEGRAPH SYSTEM.—The Hon Alex. Campbell, Postmaster General, is expected to proceed to England in the early part of next month. It is rumoured that his mission relates to the Postal Telegraph system about to be adopted in England, and which the Premier purposes to introduce here.

THE PRESS ASSOCIATION.—The City of Oswego is to spend $3,000 in entertaining the Canadian Press Association, intending to offer them a banquet and a ball The Editor of the Oswego Palladium is at Toronto arranging the excursion. He is delegated to invite Canadian editors, and to discuss reciprocity at the approaching visit

PUBLIC AUDITOR.—It is generally understood, although no official announcement of the fact has yet been made, that the Hon. W. Cayley, of Toronto, has been appointed Auditor of the Public Accounts of the Province of Ontario. A more suitable appointment for a most important post could not be made. Mr. Cayley has experience and ability, and the general confidence of the public.

ON THE SPREE.—The Montreal Gazette says:—"Two paper makers named Robert Young and Andrew White came all the way from Belleville to see the city and were so much delighted with it that they got on the spree in St. James street yesterday and were fined seven and sixpence this morning for so being." Couldn't have hailed from Belleville. We have no paper makers of that name here, and besides our boys know better than to get on a spree when they go abroad.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE.—The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Canada, was held in Montreal yesterday. A large number of representatives were present The address, a very comprehensive one, was delivered by Grand Master A. A. Stevenson, who congratulated the fraternity on the flourishing condition of the Order Twelve new Lodges were created during the year, and the union of the Nova Scotia Masons was accomplished. The Grand Master urged the establishment of a Masonic School, and the consolidation with the Canada Lodge of certain Lodges in this country which still held aloof from them

WHAT WERE THEY?—A party of alleged fillibusters suddenly turned up at Erie, Penn., seven or eight days ago, en route—so the despatches said, for Cuba via Canada, and just as suddenly disappeared after behaving in a very blackguardish way to the terror of the usually quiet little town. They gave out that they were laborers about to be employed on a railway between St. Paul's, Minnesota and Duluth, a new town at the head of Lake Superior, but were so heavily armed and conducted themselves in such a suspicious manner, that there is almost reason to believe that they were birds of quite a different feather,—Fenians, perhaps, bent on another ravaging tour to Canada, but scared off at the last moment by the appearance off the harbor of the U. S. Steamer "Michigan," and the publicity of their own ill-advised movements. Were they railway laborers, Cuban fillibusters or Fenians

QUICK PASSAGE.—The steamship Peruvian made the quickest passage out from Ireland to Quebec that ever has been accomplished, and furnishes another proof of the great advantage of the St. Lawrence route to those who have to cross the Atlantic, and yet like to be at sea as short a time as possible. The Peruvian left Lough Foyle at 7 p. m. of the 2nd July, was abreast of Tory Light at 11 p m., from thence to Belleisle Light-house at 4 p m. of the 8th—five days and five hours, got to Father Point at 1.50 a. m., of the 10th, having lost two and half hours by fog, and arrived at Quebec at 5.45 p. m. on the 10th, after the loss of another four hours through detention of fog in coming up the river. This makes the extreme length of the passage from Londonderry to Quebec seven days, twenty-two and three quarter hours and if the detention is subtracted—seven days, sixteen and one-quarter hours.

—A shock of earthquake was felt at Murray Bay a few days ago.

—The Hussars leave Toronto next Wednesday.

—The steamer Her Majesty has left for another trip for Halifax. She had a full cargo of freight and had to refuse 1,000 bbls. of flour

—The Toronto Board of Trade have appointed a delegation to visit Oswego at the time of the visit of the Press Association.

—Walter T. Howe, secretary of the Montreal Gazette establishment has been arrested for embezzling $4,000

—A. B. Pardee, Esq., of North Augusta, one of the most extensive sales of timber in Canada, died suddenly on Saturday last of heart disease.

An eel weighing 50 lbs., 32 feet long and 2 feet in girth, was captured recently at Tarbert Pier, by a man named Clancy

Near Cheyenne has been discovered an immense tract of land covered with edible mushrooms of extraordinary size and delicious flavour. One is spoken of which was seven inches in diameter, with a stem two inches thick, and weighed a pound.

Chamber of Commerce.

The Kingston Board of Trade have by a resolution sanctioned the suggestion of the Toronto Board of Trade, relative to the establishment of a Chamber of Commerce for Ontario. That our readers may have a better understanding of the objects of this Chamber, we give the substance of the resolutions adopted by the Board of Trade in Toronto. Recognizing the increasing magnitude of the mercantile interests of the Dominion of Canada, the frequency with which subjects bearing upon these interests are discussed in the Dominion and Provincial Parliaments, the desirability of promoting a friendly interchange of thought between the merchants of the different Provinces, and especially the importance of bringing the united commercial opinion of Ontario to bear upon the Legislature on all questions affecting the material welfare of the Province and the country, the present is deemed an appropriate time for inaugurating an Ontario Chamber of Commerce, the said Chamber to be composed of representatives of the various Provincial Boards of Trade and other interests, to be elected in accordance with specified regulations, so framed as to secure as far as possible a full representation of the commercial and manufacturing communities.

Amongst the objects within scope of this Chamber would be the collection and publication of commercial and other statistics, correspondence with home and foreign Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, and the presenting of petitions and memorials in Parliament and the Executive.

The establishment of such a Chamber cannot but be of great benefit to the commercial and manufacturing interests of the country, and it is be hoped that all Boards of Trade throughout the country will give their sanction to the scheme. What is doing by the Belleville Board of Trade?

Immigration.

The following figures give a detailed statement of the number of immigrants arrived at Toronto during the first six months of the present year, and the year 1868. The aggregate increase distributed over the States and Canada is 5,792 souls of which Canada has been able to secure the major part, viz., 3,464; against an increase of 2,328 who went to the States. This result being a complete turning of the tables in regard to former years, is a most felicitous one, and speaks well for the efforts of the Dominion and Ontario Governments in inducing immigration, and in turning the current to a great extent from passing our borders. The following are the statistics referred to:—

Immigrant arrivals during the half year ending 30th June, 1868

Month	Canada	States	Total
January	50	52	102
February	20	67	93
March	100	48	148

The Hop Markets.

Mr. Emmet Well notices last week's business thus —" Since our last, the market has ruled extremely firm, and the result shows a further advance in prices of 1c to 2c per lb. This improvement was scarcely looked for, in the face of such heavy receipts; but with reported increase of vermin in the Wisconsin districts, and in the English plantations, in addition to the heavy export draft made within the last few days upon our reduced stocks, we are not surprised to note the improvement. The writer of these reports has just returned from a tour to the great hop districts of 'Old Scholarties.' A review of the observations therein made would only confirm the reports we have recently published concerning this locality, and the same remarks will apply to other districts in this State.—Yards which have been well cultivated and kept free from weeds, appear a hundred per cent. better than those which have been neglected The vine in neglected yards looks spindling and weak, and has but just reached the tops of the poles, while those in the better cultivated yards are well armed out, and already begin to blossom. A careful examination of the under leaf, in all the yards we visited, showed a slight sprinkling of the insect, which is not likely to increase as long as the weather continues cool and unpleasant as now Buyers were through Schoharie the former part of the week, offering 9c to 10c per lb. The latter price was freely for choice grades. Exports last week, 3,130 bales Receipts, 1,416 bales. Total exports for the season, from the port of New York 5,295 bales Our London correspondent favors us with the following, under date June 24 —"Our market is quiet for home growths, but Americans are in stronger request, particularly best sorts, ranging from 52s to 60s per cwt. Low grades are difficult to place Our plantation reports, with the exception of Mid and East Kent, are very unsatisfactory, vermin being on the increase and the vine gradually losing its strength but there is, of course, sufficient time for things to mend, should favorable weather ensue. Reports from Bavaria are more favorable, fly being hardly so prevalent, and the vine making progress. Bohemia and Belgium do not appear to be doing at all well.

The following verbatim extract from Twine's tour in Ireland, an old and sacred work, will be found interesting to Orange men

"In his way to Drogheda he stopped at Swords to examine a round tower, seventy-three feet high. Drogheda is seated on the river Boyne, about a mile from the sea, and consists of two principal streets, which intersect each other at right angles The town house is a handsome stone fabric."

About two miles from the town is a square obelisk eighty feet in circumference at the base, and about one hundred and fifty feet high. It is charged with the following memorable inscription on the four sides, and unquestionably forms one of the grandest fabrics of the kind in Europe:

Sacred to the Memory of
King William the Third,
Who, on the first July, 1690, passed the river near this place to attack
James II., at the head of a Popish army advantageously posted on the South side of it, and did on that day, by a successful battle, secure to us,
and to our posterity, our liberty, laws and religion
In consequence of this action, James II., left the Kingdom and fled to France

The Australian Wild Horse.

"The wild horse of Australia," says the Avoca Mail, "will unquestionably, at no distant date, like the mustang of the South American pampas, occupy in vast numbers the almost boundless plains of the interior On the South Australian border, in Victoria, where some few years ago wild horses were comparatively few in number, large herds are now to be found. During periods of great drought these herds travel great distances in search of pasture, and on some stations detract considerably from the value of the runs to the north-west. The neighbourhood of the mallee scrub at the present season appears to be a favourite resort for wild horses. Feeding on the plains in mobs of 15 to 30 mares with colts at foot, there are a stallion whose progeny are usually of one colour, is most careful of his family, on the slightest alarm leading his charge at full speed under the shelter of the almost impenetrable scrub Several successful musterings of these steeds of the plain have been made of late, we are informed and of the colts broken and sent to market, but from the cheapness of horse flesh all over the Colony, the speculation had not paid Many hundreds have been shot at the various stations, apparently without reducing their number Wild cattle in the neighborhood of the mallee scrub have also become a complete nuisance On the sheep stations beef of excellent quality is supplied all the year round as rations to the men employed. The wild cattle are hunted like the buffalo of the North American plains, and are said to be gradually increasing in numbers and spreading towards the Far North. The most astonishing circumstance attaching to these wild herds of cattle is that, notwithstanding on the stations near their haunts sheep and other stock are dying very fast from the effects of the drought, these denizens of the plain appear in excellent health and sleek as moles. A most beautiful sight it is to see a large mob of wild horses startled on the plains, galloping at full speed, their unkempt manes floating in the wind, the speed of which they seem to equal, their tails sweeping the ground—they present to the eye a perfect embodiment of beauty and freedom.—Adelaide Observer.

Good Advice to Parents.

The Rev. Dr. John Hall, in an article on the "Dangers of Life at Summer Watering Places"—published in the Independent—makes the following sensible suggestions to parents

There is danger to simplicity of life. Manners, habits and dress at the Elysian House are freely scrutinized by old and young Supposed shining virtues are coppled. A number of sentences as here, prudence, and even right and wrong, come into conflict with that of mother and father. Of course, such things arise in some measure out of all human intercourse. A little girl goes even from Sunday School boiling over with an account of her "beautiful teacher, with a love of a bonnet, and the darling-est little parasol;" but the summer life of many has little else than this scrutiny to give it interest and employment, and the circumstances are favorable What follows? A question like this: "Why should mother require Bill to do what Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Brown do not enforce on their hopeful sons? Bill is not going to stand it in this free country Why should Carrie, of the ripe age of thirteen, be dressed any otherwise than Miss Lizzie, or Miss Minnie, who won't be thirteen till January, as she ascertained in the first interview she had with these frank young ladies?" And so comes emulation; then ostentation; then extravagance; then bitter reproaches; then sore temptations; then mean shifts, then, in some cases, the misery of a collapse, or the misery of a life-long struggle on the edge of it. Fathers and mothers, give your children all the advantages you can. But oh! let me entreat you to preserve taste, of dress, of pleasures, and for this end keep your summer life as like your home life as possible.

—Hon. J. H. Cameron and Mr. J. R. Bethune have been admitted to the bar of Quebec

—Among the names of places in Connecticut are the following Devil's Den, Cider Hill, Crow Hill, Cow Hill, Chicken Hill Clapboard Hill, Horse Hill, Woodchuck Hill, Horse Hill, Wild Cat, Bedlam, Obtuse Quail Trap, Whip Stock, Bangall, Poverty street, Pinch street, and Pig tail.

Said Lord John Russell to Mr Hume, at a social dinner "What do you consider the object of Legislation?" "What the greatest good to the greatest number?" "What do you consider the greatest number?" continued his lordship. "Number one, my lord," was the commander's prompt reply

—Uncle—I dare say when I take you home again, Charley, your mamma will have a nice present for you. What would you like the best, my boy—a little sister or a little brother?" Charlie (after some consideration.) "Well if it makes no difference to ma, I'd rather have a little pony."

—At a public meeting in a country town, an eloquent advocate of popular education thus delivered himself:—Mr. Chairman, I rise to get up, and am not backward to come forward in the cause of education, for had it not been for education I should be as ignorant as you, Mr Chairman

A veteran toper has been reading a series of articles on liquor adulteration in New York. The analyses of the liquor showing on average of about sixty-five parts of water to thirty-five of spirits "They don't give the spirits a fair chance." said the aged bacchanal "they'll keep on fooling with water till it deppopulates the earth again"

PLANTAGENET MINERAL WATER,

CONTINUES to be the favourite with the people, in consequence of the quantity of Iodine, Iron, Magnesia, &c., contained in it as compared with other Springs, and the many medicinal combinations so providentially supplied. It is unsurpassed as a

Tonic Alterative, Laxative and Diuretic

As a beverage it is at once cooling and healing When aerated it takes the place of Soda Water and Seltzer It is of much service to ladies, and should be used by gentlemen of sedentary habits

To get the genuine article from the Springs, now 30 years in use ask for PLANTAGENET WATER, at Hotels and Druggists

DEATH OF LORD LAUNTON

LONDON, July 14—Right Hon Henry La Touchere, Lord Taunton, died yesterday, aged 71

RIOTS IN IRELAND

BELFAST, July 14.—Serious riots occurred here between the Catholics and Orangemen on the 12th. The windows in many buildings were smashed, one Catholic church had been much defaced, and another badly damaged. Several rioters and one policemen were wounded

FRANCE

PARIS, July 14.—The retirement of M Rouher from the Ministry is now definitely settled M. M. de la Valette, Barache and Grossier will probably follow him. M Daurergue is confidently named as the successor of the Marquis de la Valette in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs It is generally understood that M. M Margue, Minister of Finance, Forcade de la Roquette Minister of Public Works, Admiral Rigault de Genouilly, Minister of Marine, and Marshal Niel, Minister of War, will retain their portfolios. M. L'Houriral, Druys de L'Huys, and de Talcourt are prominently spoken of as candidates for vacant seats in the Cabinet

Up to the present time M. Emile Ollivier has positively declined any Ministerial appointment It is said that M. Rouher has been offered the Presidency of the Senate, and that the Marquis de la Valette will be appointed Minister to the court of St James

There was a scene in the Corps Legislatif yesterday, when the prorogation of the session was announced. Deputy Jules Favre rose, amidst cries of order protested against the suspension of sittings as a contradiction of the Emperor's message. His words were received with a storm of cheers by the members of the left M Schneider, President of the Chamber, having ordered order, expressed his astonishment on the eve of a great liberal act, such a protest should be raised. It was not only contrary to the regulations of the House, but, against the sentiments of the country. He then declared the session prorogued, and the members left the Hall.

LONDON, July 14.—The Times, in an article on the situation in France, thinks the retirement of M. Rouher was inevitable, but believes at some future time he may again perform good service to his country.

THE LATEST.

LONDON, July 14.—There is reliable authority for stating that the offer of Globes to the Catholic Priesthood. will be respectfully declined by the Church on the grounds. First that it is opposed to the discipline of the Church; second: that the proposition is unfair and insufficient as a just equalization between the religious communities of Ireland, considering the disproportion of numbers, even if it were admissable.

YACHT NEWS

The Royal Cork Yacht Club, and the Royal Western Yacht Club of Ireland, tendered their hospitalities to the owner of the ' Dauntless' and his friends during their stay at Queenstown. A Committee of the former Club including Mr. John Bagwell, M. P. for Clonmel, paid a visit to the yacht. The ' Dauntless' left last evening for Havre. Before sailing she fired a Royal salute of 21 guns, which was returned by the Royal Cork Club and the guard ship ' Hermes'. The reception which the American visitors have met with, has been enthusiastic

American Despatches.

FIGHT WITH INDIANS

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—A despatch from Omaha reports that Gen. Carr on the 11th inst., surprised a village of dog soldiers and Cheyennes, killing 52 of them and capturing 17 women and children

THE CABLE SUCCESSFULLY LAID

NEW YORK, July 15.—The following special despatch is published this morning :—

ST. PIERRE MIQUILON, July 14.—The Ocean Cable was spliced to the shore end to-day. The cause of the failure to splice yesterday, was that the shore end was lost; the buoy was easily found, but when taken up it was discovered the cable was detached, and it was necessary to grapple for it. Directly the splice was made, the instruments and the full staff of operators were sent on shore and communication was soon opened with Brest

Sir James Anderson, commander of the Great Eastern, had brought with him a sealed message which had been prepared by the Emperor Napoleon, and the purport of which was to remain unknown until it was opened on this side of the Atlantic. Upon the completion of the cable when the message was to be sent to the Emperor over the wires in order that he might thus judge of the accuracy of the transmission. This message was sent to France to-day

RAILWAY ACCIDENT

LAWRENCE, Kas., July 14.—A special train with an excursion party of Eastern Railroad men on the Kansas Pacific Railroad, broke through a bridge 18 miles east of here, this morning. The engineer and fireman, and some 12 or 15 others were injured

NEW EXPRESS COMPANY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—A new Express Company has been organized here to do business with all parts of the world, with a capital of eight million dollars

ABOUT THE CABLE

WASHINGTON, July 15.—With exception of opinion of Atty. General Hoar, and letters addressed to French and British Ministers by Secretary Fish, no action has been taken by the Government to prevent the landing of the French cable on the coast of Massachusetts — Secretary Boutwell has not, as reported, ordered a United States Revenue Cutter to prevent the landing, nor is it likely that any such course will be pursued

THE FLOOD IN THE COLORADO VALLEY

GALVESTON, July 14.—To-day were sent out from Harrisburg Texas with boats to rescue the sufferers by the flood in the Colorado Valley, who had taken refuge in the tree tops in Eagle Lake Rathani and who had been two days in that position It is said the water is two feet over the top of the telegraph poles on the farms on Eagle Lake Parham. At present it is impossible to arrive at an estimate of the loss to the towns along the Colorado. The water has fallen six feet, but in Brazos was still rising

NEW ALBION HOTEL,
McGILL STREET,
MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices

Whilst the " Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the " New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travelers, than many of the so called, " first class Houses ;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the " New Albion " promises well for its future career ; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and system atic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Writ Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor ; and the Drawing Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Acts of Fame" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the " Old Albion " has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men ; hence the almost universal use of preparations containing this metal as a tonic. Many, however, from some cause or other, are unable to take iron in any form, and to such the following letter will be of interest

Extract from letter to entire disbeliever, addressed by a gentleman of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without knowing his name, or like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

An eminent divine says : " I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past, & it gives me new life and energy of spirits, and vitality to my frame."

Pamphlet containing certificates, testimonials and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address

A YEAR'S TRIAL.

Montreal Tea Company :

SIRS,—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap. Yours very truly,

F. DENNIP

Montreal, April, 1868.

Montreal Tea Co :

GENTLEMAN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strong, but none the less pleasant drinking your Tea I have been quite free from headburn which would always result from a hot breakfast ; I attribute that to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer

Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS T. GREENE,
84 St. John Street,
Montreal.

Montreal, Dec. 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal. We rejoice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded, we have only had occasion to return one box which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.

Hot Pudding.

Some students in one of our colleges being frequently annoyed by the nocturnal and inquisitorial visits of a professor, who suspected them of playing cards, one evening prepared a kettle of mush, other wise called hasty pudding, and by the time it was thoroughly boiled had seated them selves round a table in the attitude of card playing, waiting patiently for the well known step of the professor. He was no sooner heard than a large outside pocket of one of them was forthwith filled with hot hasty pudding, and s" were seated as before.

As soon as the professor had opened the door the student who was loaded with the mush made a sudden sweep over the table with his hand, as if to gather up the cards and with another motion apparently put them into the pocket containing the mush. These movements could not help being noticed, as they were intended to be, by the professor, who considering them as a pretty strong evidence of guilt, broke out with:

"Well, young gentleman, I've caught you at it at last, have I"

"Why, yes sir, we are here."

"So I see you are, and you have been playing cards too."

"No, sir, it is not so."

"It isn't is it what have you got in your pocket, young man I"

"Hot hasty pudding, sir."

"Hot hasty pudding, ha! hasty pudding have you! I'll hasty pud'ng you," said the professor, at the same time thrusting his hand half way to the elbow into the hot hasty pudding! The dolorous looks, the shaking of fingers, the groaning and capers of the professor, are better imagined than described.

A badly hung'd up Emerald Islander, in response to the inquiry, "where have you been I" said: "Down to Mrs. Mulrooney's wake, and an illigant time we had of it.—Fourteen fights in fifteen minutes; only one nose left in the house and that belonged to the tay kettle.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully suffering, have been radically cured in adult great numbers in almost every section of the country, and the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and subtle fluid lies dormant, undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of each of those fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to lurk in form throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop a number of distinct and deadly forms, each in its particular locality. In the latter, tubercles may become implanted in the lungs—in the bowels, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers on some part of the body. Hence the necessity of a bottle of the Sarsaparilla in every household, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of the AYER'S SARSAPARILLA: Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Blains, Pimples, Sore Eyes, Sore Lips, and other eruptions on the face, which are symptoms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia or Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine disorders of the menstrual and neurous systems.

Syphilitic affections and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these inveterate maladies. In any protracted but long continued use of this medicine will rest the complaint. Ulcerations, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, and Tumid Glands, are soon dispersed by it, and Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it. In all or Uterine Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, when arising as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are languishing under Lassitude, Depression, Nervousness, and from the daily Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the horrible symptoms of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Colds, Coughs, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the world's history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as has our celebrated remedy for pulmonary complaints. Though a long series of severe trials, accumulated for years, present it has risen higher, and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the most dangerous affections of the throat, chest, and lungs, have made it a household blessing in every section of the country. When the first symptoms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the distressing cough, which precedes the final struggle, is relieved instantly by it. Indeed, under its influence, even confirmed consumption, which seemed to defy the skill of physicians, and was regarded as incurable, has been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the severest affections of the throat, that the most distressing of them yield to it. When nothing else can reach them, even under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not here publish the certificates of them, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully sustained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

FOR Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from miasmatic, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

Autumnal Chills, Chronic Ague, and above all, the Lumbago, or Fever-and-Ague Pains, are broken up and cured by the use of this remedy, and protection against future attacks given to the system. Those who live in the midst of miasmatic districts, or who are about to visit them, should not be without it, as they may thus avoid the fatal consequences which usually follow the use of inferior remedies. Travellers, Settlers, Miners, Soldiers, Hunters, Boatmen, Lumbermen, and all who are exposed to the influence of malarious districts, will find in this remedy a protection against the disease, and a sure cure in case they should be attacked.

Ayer's Ague Cure contains no Quinine, Arsenic, or other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, and may be taken by the most delicate child with perfect safety. It contains the antidote to all the diseases of the miasmatic class, and counteracts their effects on the system. Prompt to the moment of attack, powerful to expel the poison of the disease, and unfailing in its effects, it has no parallel in the history of Ague medicine. The public are cautioned against the many worthless preparations which are palmed upon them as cures for Fever and Ague, and warned not to buy them.

QUERY?

Should we employ the humbug doctors to bring us our ills and coffin us both at an expense of at least four times what they now cost?

How, why and when longer adopt that system in reference to medicine which is not the simple extracts of nature, and which are recognized by the people as the best?

Each page of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medical properties than can be procured in any other form, and is the cheapest and most reliable.

We have in our possession numerous testimonials to the above statement, but we refer to the people living from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, only.

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood such as Scrofula, Scrofula, King's evil, white swellings, tumors, ulcers, salt rheum, blotches, spots, pimples, pustules, blains, boils, carbuncles, ring worms, scald heads, sore eyes, erysipelas, itch, scurfs, and all scaly and cutaneous diseases, by purifying the blood, it thoroughly cleanses it when it finds an impurity in it, and it carries off gradually and regularly all poisonous matter, and thus prevents the formation of tubercles in the lungs, and consumption is impossible where this remedy is used in time. Night sweats, nightly pains, and all mercurial diseases are cured by it. Female complaints, all ulcerations of the womb, whites, irregularities, and all painful diseases are soon relieved by it. Dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, and bowels are cured by it. Fevers of all kinds are soon broken up by it. Rheumatism, gout, and neuralgia are cured by it. Sold at 25 cents per bottle.

Dr. Thompson's Stomachic Bitters,

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and Indigestion, in their worst forms. It does not require a day's waiting to see whether it will operate, as it is a mild and safe invigorant and restorative for debilitated constitutions, requiring such a medicine. Only patients requiring an invigorant after the fevers has left them, or those suffering from weakness as well as an agreeable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility and to create a healthy appetite, should use the Bitters. Sold at 25 cents per bottle.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6. OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for all cases where an emetic is required, such as colds, coughs, croup, pneumonia, inflammation of the lungs, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, influenza, pain in the side, &c. Sold at 25 cents per package.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS

OR TONICO REALE.

Dal Dottore F. P. Ferri, Prof. of Chemistry in the U. of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparator at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr Gianelli obtained the Receipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition at Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally used after dinner, or soon immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on personal analysis.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced

"In these be Harmony in things Essential: Liberality in things not Essential: Charity in all."

Vol. 3 BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 16, 1869. No. 64.

Daybreak.

A wind came up out of the sea
And said, "O mists, make room for me."

It hailed the ships and cried "Sail on,
Ye mariners, the night is gone."

And hurried landward far away,
Crying, "Awake! it is the day."

It roared unto the forest, "Shout!
Hang all your leafy banners out!"

It touched the woodbird's folded wing
And said, "O bird, awake and sing."

And o'er the farms, "O chanticleer,
Your clarion blow; the day is near."

It whispered to the fields of corn,
"Bow down, and hail the coming morn."

It shouted through the belfry-tower,
"Awake, O bell, proclaim the hour."

It crossed the church-yard with a sigh,
And said, "Not yet! in quiet lie."

Medical Council of Ontario.

The Medical Council as constituted under the new Act, met at Toronto on the 14th inst. The three Medical bodies were fully represented. Dr. Clarke of Guelph was unanimously elected President, and Dr. Browne of Prescott, was chosen vice President.

Dr. Agnew then gave the following notice of motion

Whereas a Committee of the late Medical Council of Upper Canada applied to the Legislature of Ontario, at its last session, for the repeal of the Act, under whose provisions the Council was constituted; and,

Whereas—the said Committee of the Medical Council drafted and obtained the introduction and passage of a bill, entitled "An Act to amend and consolidate the acts relating to medicine and surgery in Ontario," without submitting such measure for the approval of their constituents, or in any way consulting them in regard to it, or even furnishing them with copies of the bill, so that the vast majority knew nothing of its characteranti it had passed and became law; and

Whereas—the "consolidation" of the acts relating to the profession of medicine and surgery does not appear to have been contemplated when the bill was introduced and read a first time, and was a change of title incident to the intersection of clause of sub section two, of section eight, and other clauses consequent therefrom, at a late stage in the passage of the bill, and when it was supposed by nearly all those who were responsible for it, to have received its final character; and

Whereas—The Coalition, in a council, forced upon the medical profession, with two other bodies, known as Homœopathists and Eclectics, for the purpose of legislating in regard to questions involving the most vital principles of medical science, is viewed by nearly all the leading and thoughtful members of the profession as fraught with great danger, and likely to lead to the most pernicious consequences—alike subversive of the cause of science and of professional morality—for if the views held by all the great schools of the world are honestly embraced by the medical profession of this province, and, if the so-called theories of the other bodies are honestly held by them, they cannot be compromised by either, but, any mere expediency, without dishonor; and

Whereas—The corporation of the medical profession with the homœopathic and electic Godless in "The College of Physicians and Surgeons for Ontario," without distinction of any kind whatever, is viewed by the profession as highly objectionable and calculated to compromise their status as recognized members of the great body of scientific practitioners of medicine through out the world, and

Whereas—The establishment of a central board of medical examiners for the Province, has in the abstract, received the approbation of many leading members of the profession, the exempting clause in favor of the systems of homœopathy and eclecticism is condemned as calculated to render nugatory the operations of the board in favor of an advanced curriculum, and to greatly lower the standard of education, inasmuch as section twenty-five of the act provides, "That every candidate who shall, at the time of his examination, signify his wish to be registered as a homœopathic or eclectic practitioner, shall not be required to pass an examination in either materia, medica or Therapeutics, or in the theory or practic of physic, or in surgery and midwifery, except the operative practical parts thereof, before any examiners other than those approved of by the representatives in the Council of the body to which he shall signify his wish to belong, thus maintaining in full force, (with exclusive privileges not possessed by the medical profession) and giving greatly extended influence to the homœopathic and eclectic boards claim ed by the promoters of the bill to have been extinguished, and

Whereas In addition to all the foregoing objectionable features of the bill, its operation will, in all probability, cut off the recognition of our medical diplomas by the mother country, and thus deprive our young men of privileges they have not been slow to avail themselves of in the past,—to their own credit and ours, and which they would no doubt earnestly desire to have still continued open to them; be it therefore

Resolved—That this Council do not proceed with further business, but that a committee consisting of ——— be appointed to draft memorials to His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in Council, and the Legislative Assembly, in accordance with this resolution, and respectfully requesting the repeal of so much of the Medical Act as unite the homœopathic and eclectic bodies with the medical profession of this Province

The discussion on this notice of motion was postponed until Thursday afternoon

The following were appointed Standing Committees

Finance.—Drs. J. J. Hall, Field, Pyne, P. Hamilton, Oldwright, Bethune and Dev.

Registration.—Drs. Cornell, Springer, Hyde, Grant, Mostyn, Covernton and Aguew

Education.—Drs. Berryman, Hopkins, Aikins, Lavell, Campbell, McGill and Dewar

Rules and Regulations.—Drs. Adams, Carson, C. B. Hall and Edwards.

Printing.—Drs. R. J. Clarke, Allen and Aikins.

After some routine business, the Council adjourned until the 15th

Gossip of the Gay City.

The riots of 1869 are over. Nature came in aid of the authorities, for on Sunday about seven p. m., a rattling storm cleared the boulevard of all the loungers, sending them to their usual place on Sunday evenings—the theatre. No mob, it seems, can stand against water. It is on record that a French General dispersed a riotous assemby by playing on it with fire-engines; and on Sunday last an officer, who distinguished himself in the cause of order in 1849, relating how the National Guard contrived to surround a mob and hem them in on the boulevard on a wet day. Nobody was touched, only they were told, "You cannot pass." The rioters were kept there for eighteen hours in a pouring rain. But what really did finish the affair was the behavior of the tradesmen and superior workmen, who are fearfully exasperated, having been touched in the pocket, and that rather severely. They arrested suspicious characters, and handed them over to the police; and under that final blow the whole affair collapsed. Now to come to the prisoners. Among them are a great many English and some Americans.

It people will go into riotous crowds after the Riot Act has been read, they must take the consequences, and very unpleasant those consequences may prove to be. Indeed complaints have already been heard that the prison diet of Paris is not at all of the same class as the breakfasts at Bugeon's, or the dinners at the Cafe Anglais. It is already stated that there is yet to be a great insurrection, of which those emeutes were the avant-garde, and that Government already holds the key of the mystery.—Both these statements are possible—nay, probable; but if the fact is so, the Government has not yet whispered it to any one; and therefore to discuss it were premature. The damage done on the boulevards is estimated at £2,400; but to that amount must be added the loss to trade all along the line from the Rue Royale to the Faubourg Montmartre. The cafes, especially the supping houses, have had even a worse week; but the Cafe Napolitain has been the greatest sufferer, for they have hooked up the head waiter, who is as well known now as David, of the red nose and the Maison Doree, used to be; indeed, there are so many cooks and garcons now in prison that the service is very indifferently performed in any of the boulevard restaurants. During the afternoon of Thursday week a card was seen in a shop on the boulevard on which was written, "Window to let for to-night's riot. Price 20f."

The $100,000 Breach of Promise Case

The Craig-Sprague breach of promise case was called up in the Circuit Court at Wheaton, Ill., on Saturday last, Judge Wilcox presiding, on the motion of defendant's counsel for a new trial. In due time the Judge rendered his decision on all the counts in the argument for a new trial and conceded by asking Mr. Tourtelotte, of the counsel for Miss Craig, if he would remit. Mr. Tourtelotte agreed to remit $60,000, and the court thereupon entered a remitter of that amount, leaving the verdict to stand $40,000, and overruled the motion for a trial, entering judgment on the verdict for $40,000. Immediately after the entry of the judgment Mr. Tourtelotte ordered an execution to be issued to the Sheriff of Cook county, where the defendants property is located, and doubtless, are this day official has levied on Sprague's block and the Adams House in Chicago for the benefit of the plaintiff

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, JULY 16

PETERBORO AND KINGSTON.—The Peterboro and Kingston Cricket Clubs played a match yesterday The latter won in two innings with seven wickets to spare

GRAND EXCURSION.—As will be seen by advertisement, the steamer Bay of Quinte will have an excursion to the Thousand Islands on Thursday next, the 22nd instant The steamer having been over-hauled and repaired this year, excursionists may rely upon having a pleasant and cheap trip

RECIPROCITY.—The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post says that the Honourable John Rose has accomplished nothing definite regarding the Reciprocity Treaty. The question, he states, has been informally discussed, but that Mr. Rose is not sanguine of success at this time

THE MERCHANTS BANK.—The Shareholders of the Merchants Bank are invited, by circular, to subscribe the two millions of Stock necessary to raise the capital to six millions. The stock, which fell off on the announcement of the increase in the capital to 103, has now recovered to 104¼, so that those who get it at par make a certain profit of the amount of the premium at once

CANADIAN SECURITIES.—During the week ending in the 2nd instant, Canadian stocks continued to advance in the English markets —excepting only those Government stocks on which the interest fell due on the 1st instant. Railways have risen considerably; every one of the Grand Trunk Securities shows another heavy rise. The Great Western has also advanced.

RAGGED SCHOOLS.—At a recent meeting of the Edinburgh Ragged and Industrial Schools, the Governor of the Edinburgh Gaol made this simple, practical statement in illustration of the working of such institutions. In the year 1847, in which Dr. Guthrie's Ragged School was founded in Ramsay Lane, the commitments of boys under fourteen years of age were at the rate of 5½ per cent; they were now 15·10ths. In 1847, the number of commitments under fourteen was 260; last year 52. Of the 3,116 boys who had passed through the school, 926 had been sent to situations direct from the school, and a large proportion of the remainder had been able to fight their own way. Last year 52 children under fourteen were sent to prison. Ragged schools had done a great work, and were not now so much needed as formerly; though still it was an evil that had to be remedied, so long as a single child was allowed to lapse into crime at such an age. But in a mere economic point of view the saving to the taxpayers by the reduction of the criminal population had repayed all the cost of the school an hundred fold.

The Oswego Demonstration.

It is evident from the preparations that are being made that the people of Oswego have in store a splendid demonstration for their Canadian visitors. The matter has been taken up in a spirited manner, and no expense is being spared to make the compliment worthy of Oswego and acceptable to Canadians. The following gentlemen are members of the various sub-committies :—

On Finance—Messrs. Page, Hagaman, Hastings, Herrick, Post, B. Doolittle, and Marshall.

On Reception—The Mayor and Common Council. The remainder of the Committee will be appointed by the Mayor.

On Statistics—Messrs. Fort, Stillman, and H. L. Davis.

On Dinner—Messrs. Barry C. Doolittle, and A. R. Randall.

On Ball—Messrs. Hosmer, Sage, Clary, James Sloan, Jr., Gleason, and B. M. Clarke.

On Carriages—Messrs. Casler, J. S. Poucher, and M. M. Wheeler

On Toasts and Programme—Messrs. C Richardson, J. A. Place, and Barry.

On Decoration—Messrs. H. L. Davis, Hagaman, R. Lippencott, J. Bickford, Jr., John Ratigan, James Cronley, Geo. Goble, and John Green.

On Music—Messrs. Albert F Smith, L. L. Kinyone, and Barey

—M. Dumas, the great French chemist, delivered the first 'Faraday' lecture in London, in his own language, and before a delighted audience of scientists.

—Mr. Seward is going to Alaska, thence to Portland, Oregon and Victoria, winding up his little trip by a visit to President Juarez at Mexico City

—Eugenie will take a $30,000 silk tent with her, and the Cleopatrian knick-knacks to match, when she goes to see the opening of the Suez canal

—The Chinese are still emigrating to the Pacific States in large numbers. They are treated with great barbarity by the white laborers, who regard them as dangerous rivals

—A sewing machine in Toledo, O., is driven by a steam engine, which, boiler and all, can be placed on a lady's work table. The steam is made by heat from gas burners.

—A calculation has been made by a late accurate philologist that there are 13,000 words in common use in England, which do not appear in any dictionary in the language

An Upper House.

There being nothing else to write about, the papers are endeavoring to get up an agitation respecting a second Chamber for Ontario. While the discussion is being conducted with considerable spirit and zeal, it is gratifying to observe that but comparatively few journals favor the idea. The Toronto Leader representing one party, and the Hamilton Times the other, were the first to advocate the establishment of an Upper House, and in fact, are about the only papers which have supported the scheme. Although there has been a great deal written about the matter, we must confess the arguments advanced by its supporters have failed to convince us of the desirability of a change. It is argued that more efficient legislation would be secured that the Governmental machinery would be more symemtrical; that a fountain of honor would be furnished for men of distinction; and that there should be some check upon the variable will of a popular chamber. As to efficient legislation we do not know that there is much reason to find fault with the acts of the Ontario Legislature. We might complain of the management of some of its departments; we might justly find fault with Mr. Richards for inaugurating a policy ruinous to the best interests of the country, but then no Upper House could remedy the evils caused by his departmental stupidity. The only way to reach the evil there, would be to substitute some one in his place who understood his business.

The whole root of the argument is this in the first place there is a check upon hasty and arbitrary legislation in a healthy Opposition, which will always be found in any legislative body; there is the check of the popular will expressed through a free and independent press; there is the check of the superior Legislature, the House of Commons, which has, to a certain extent the supervision of the Acts of the Local Government; and there is the check of the polling booth, which has the most effective and potent influence in favor of efficient legislation. There is very little fear with all these checks that this country will suffer from hasty, crude or arbitrary legislation. The only thing to fear is that under our present system we may not have too much legislation. Look at the system as it is. We have Township Councils, School Boards, Town Councils, County Councils, Local Legislatures and the House of Commons, all possessed with extraordinary legislative powers, but all directly responsible to the popular will. In the Federal Parliament we have the two branches, the Commons and the Senate, the one acting as a check upon the other: but why carry out this principle in the lesser bodies? If it be wise and prudent to establish a second Chamber for the Local Legislature, why not have a second Chamber for the County Councils, Town Councils and School Boards? The legislation of these bodies is sometimes as important as the legislation of the larger bodies, involving large expenditures and questions of vast importance, requiring careful consideration, and needing the supervision of an Upper House as much as the legislation of those larger bodies.

The fact is, our system of Government is already sufficiently cumbersome, without adding the useless appendage of a second Chamber to the Ontario Legislature. It is altogether unnecessary, as the business of the country can be satisfactorily transacted by the present House, and would involve an expenditure altogether unwarranted, and to which the country would not willingly submit.

Presentation.

The companions of Moira Chapter met at the Lodge Room last evening, and presented the Rev. Bro. Joseph Wild, M. A., with a Royal Arch Mason's Regalia accompanied with Gold Jewels and Mark suitably inscribed.

The following address was presented at the same time :—

Rev. Sir, Brother and Companion,

The Members of the Masonic Fraternity in Belleville, having been repeatedly placed under obligations to you for valuable service rendered in your capacity as a Minister of the Gospel; and knowing that at considerable personal inconvenience and sacrifice you came to Belleville last St. John's Day at their solicitation to deliver a sermon, feel that some manifestation of their gratitude is due from them to yourself.

Your Brethren therefore take this opportunity and method of offering you a slight testimonial of their regard for you as a man, a mason and a christian; and beg herewith to present you with the Regalia of a Royal Arch Mason with the accompanying Jewels and Mark, and sincerely trust that you may long be spared to wear them with honor to yourself and to the Order of which you are so consistent and worthy a member.

ALFRED ELLIS,
On behalf of the Fraternity

Rev Joseph Wild, M A

REPLY.

My Dear Brethren and Companions,

I am surprised and grateful for this beautiful present from the Fraternity of Belleville. I am surprised to find myself esteemed worthy of so precious a gift. I am grateful that I have your confidence I trust by the aid of divine Providence, to so live as to strengthen the bond of union between us—testing My earnest endeavour shall be to proclaim openly what is done in secret, by being true in my daily walk to the great principles of Free Masonry, so noticeable. Again, Brethren and Companions, I thank you one and all

I remain
Yours Fraternally,
JOSEPH WILD.

Dinner to the Governor General.

The dinner given last night to the Governor General in Quebec was one of the most brilliant and successful entertainments ever witnessed in the ancient capital. His Excellency delivered a long speech, which we make the following extract :

"I have heard lately some expressions, and read some articles in the newspapers, despondingly. Now, whence these misgivings! That the number of troops stationed in these Provinces has recently been considerably reduced. Now, I think it is scarcely reasonable to put such a construction on the action of the Imperial authorities as has been put by the parties to whom I have alluded. The reasons for that reduction are such, that if enumerated, would commend themselves to every intelligent person. In the first place, we are at peace, and living at the strength of England, her vast resources never more available than at the present moment; also looking at the unanimity of public opinion in England, it seems that there is not much danger of our being involved in the crimes and calamities of war. There is another reason for the reduction of troops here You must recollect that in many parts of Great Britain and Ireland, especially in the great centres of industry, there are vast masses of the people toiling from year to year for bare subsistence, who are frequently in great want, at the same time, the country is very heavily taxed. It is, therefore, necessary with a view to their relief to reduce taxation as much as possible by wise statesmanship.—(Cheers.) With this view, it is not desirable to keep up a larger number of troops in any part of the Empire than absolutely necessary for the occasion. Then there is still another reason for the reduction. Experience has demopstrated the importance and advantage of having a large number of troops concentrated together, such as at Aldershot, and other places, so that they may become accustomed to manœuvre on a large scale. This plan has been followed out with great success on the continent of Europe; but has only lately been introduced into England. There are three reasons for the improbability of war the necessity for economy in public service, so that taxes may be reduced, and the superior advantages for drilling troops when congregated together, which have led to the recall of troops from Canada. But let their presence be required here, and you may rely with confidence upon the assurance given in Mr. Caldwell's despatch of June 1865, that the Imperial Government will be prepared to defend every part of the Empire with all the resources at its command. (Loud cheers.) Every party in England regards the prosperity of the Dominion with hopefulness. At the present moment the Dominion is in reality independent. It has its destiny in its own hands. Its statesmen are recognized as the proper parties to judge of its interests and to decide the course to pursue in order to consult its interests. England looks to them for guidance in dealing with the Dominion, and whatever their decision may be, whether it be to continue the present connection, or in due time of maturity of growth of the Dominion, to change it for some other form of alliance, England will be prepared in good faith to accede to their wishes, and in case of change to give effect to it, and to consider any plan that may be proposed in a friendly and generous spirit. (Cheers). England has no interests of her own to consult in this matter. The interests of the people of England, and they coincide with their wishes, in this and this alone. So long as the Dominion maintains its dependency they will do nothing to take it away; but if the Dominion wishes to change its position, every step of that change shall be so conducted that the Dominion may be convinced of the friendship of England, and that she may remain forever a firmly attached friend of the Mother Country. (Prolonged cheers.) But the choice of these measures rests entirely with the people and statesmen of Canada. Whatever way they may incline, I am confident the people of England will give effect to their inclination. But I trust their choice, whatever it may be, will be so guided under a benign Providence by the wisdom and prudence of their statesmen, aided by the forbearance and good feeling of their political parties, as to enable them to build up a constitutional system, of which consequence, may be for generations a general cultivation of reason, and a widely diffused feeling of equality and becoming self-respect. (Loud and long continued cheers).

The Quebec Government talk of appointing emigration agents to Europe

—The absinthe drinking mania rages in New York It kills sooner than opium

—It costs $50,000 apiece to kill Indians in Arizona

—The South Carolina Legislature looked better

—Snails in Kentucky have learned to chew tobacco, and are rapidly increasing the supply for their human exemplars

—There is a revival in the English literary world of a new novel by Dickens as good as a new joke by Tom Hood.

—Mr. Reefer, engineer, writes to the Times advocating a through railway to the Red River Settlement —Emperor Napoleon is becoming a matter of London newspaper comment. It is as much as his sermons.

—The Empress of Austria has been in advance for two days The Princess of Wales is in expectation of an interesting event

Cricket.

We learn of the fine art of Cricket and are informed of the two or three matches which our Townsmen have played within the past ten days, at strikes me that we are deficient in one part, and that is "bowling", as our two last matches abundantly testify. I am confident that our match of yesterday would have had a different result had our men been up in that point, W. Mails being the only one that saved them from being "skunked," and whose bowling has always proved so destructive to the "enemy's wicket"

We have plenty of stamina in the town, out of which good bowlers could be produced, but they seem to be indifferent to it and don't aspire to the position, either from want of energy or probably thinking it too hard work

I trust however, some of our players will make an effort and get up in this, and in time, I have no doubt we can produce one of the finest and strongest clubs in the Province.

The fielding of yesterday of our men was also very indifferent, but this I think may be attributed to some extent to want of practice

I am Sir,
Yours obediently,
OBSERVER.

Increase of Pauperism in England.

The whole expenditure from Poor Rates last year throughout England and Wales considerably exceeded e'even millions sterling, and of this enormous sum no less than £7,500,000 went directly and entirely in the relief of the poor! There was additional outlay on purposes more or less connected with that relief, but those seven millions and a half were appropriated exclusively to the object described. The sum is equal to one-tenth of the whole public revenue even at its present standard. In London alone the poor received last year upwards of a million and a quarter, and not far short of a million and a half. Nearly 30,000 a quarter must have been spent in providing work, or its equivalent in maintenance, for the unemployed or disabled workmen in this one city of the kingdom. The recipients of the relief were nearly 150,000 in number, and the number was increasing. Do the operatives of Paris get more than this with all M. Haussmann's extravagance! Would any Ministry of labour on Socialist principles raise, or desire to raise, larger sums from the community in aid of its objects than are raised by the poor rates in most of our metropolitan Unions? We have said that pauperism is on the increase, and that, unhappily, is too evident a fact. Nothing can be plainer from the returns just issued than that some causes or other have, for at least ten years past, been attracting to London a population verging upon destitution. The total number of paupers relieved within metropolitan limits was under 70,000 in 1859. The figures rose to 85,000 in the year following, then to 93,000, then to 97,000, and then to 99,800

RAILWAY ACCIDENT—SCUTTLING OF A SCHOONER.

BUFFALO, July 15.—An accident resulting in the death of six persons occurred at Masthope, on the Erie Railway, last night. The night east ran into the rear end of a freight train. The express, mail, baggage, smoking and two passenger cars were burned. Also the station house.

Two of the crew of the schooner Garrysson reported low near Cleveland, on July 1st, are making affidavits before H. W. Heuman, British Consul, that the vessel was scuttled by the captain, as the vessel and crew were insured. Underwriters are put on the guard until the Consul has closed the investigation.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT—NINE PASSENGERS BURNED TO DEATH—OTHERS INJURED

NEW YORK, July 16.—A special from Port Jarvis says an extra freight train No. 89 was going west and was telegraphed to stop at Mast Hope on the side track and let trains Nos. 8 and 3 pass. The engineer, whose name is Griffin, while waiting for these trains, lay down on the locomotive of the freight train and went to sleep, the express came along and dashing at full speed against the engine and first car of the freight train which was on the main track, and was thrown off the track The mail, baggage, smoking, and day coaches, and one sleeping coach were piled up on the locomotive, and taking fire from the engine were consumed. All who were burned to death were in the smoking car The baggage car was driven nearly through the entire length of the smoking car, pinning the passengers between the seats and rendering them helpless Nine persons were thus burned to death, and nine others injured more or less severely.

Wife! why in the name of goodness did you not make the washerwoman put starch in my shirt collar?" "Why, my dear," said the wife "I thought it a useless waste of the article for I can get your choler up so easily without it

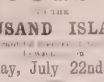

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless, landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth The day for reading the will at last came, the room was crowded with anxious expectants, the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

ABOUT SPANISH AFFAIRS

LONDON, July 15.—The 2 over in an article on the Cuban question says: The progress of Spain towards an enlightened commercial policy, will soon become necessary, and with a more liberal tariff system it will be difficult for her home produce to compete with American, and she will be unable any longer to monopolize the markets of the Antilles. Under these circumstances Cuba will become useless to Spain, and pride alone can lead her to hold on to the dominion which is disputed in the teeth of the best Spanish troops. Gen. Prim and other statesmen are convinced that the separation of Cuba is only a question of time. National honor prevents Spain from taking such steps as long as the insurrection prevails, but when the Island is pacified the national dictates of reason ought to be listened to. Cuba is valuable. Spain wants cash and a purchaser is at hand; should the Island be canvassed a plebiscitum would result in favor of annexation to the United States. The only serious question is, can the Americans at this moment afford the purchase money. It is for the advantage of both hemispheres that each should follow its own course untrammelled by interference of the other

FROM FRANCE.

PARIS, July 15.—The French journals comment unfavorably on the prorogation of the Corps Legislatif before the verification of elections was completed. The Government is accused of closing the Chamber with the design of stifling discussions. The Session will probably be resumed on the 20th August.

It is rumored that Prince Napoleon will be made President of the Council of Ministers; Baroche, President of the Senate, and Duvaire as Senator, while M. Rouher becomes a candidate for the vacant seat in the Corps Legislatif.

FROM SPAIN

MADRID, July 15.—In the Cortes yesterday Marshal Prim introduced the new Ministers, and said the present Cabinet was constituted from the majority, and though the men had been changed, the policy of the Government was unchanged. The Republican deputies replied, making a severe attack on the Government policy

IRISH CHURCH BILL IN THE COMMONS.

LONDON, midnight, July 15.—In the House of Commons this evening, the Irish Church Bill as amended in the House of Lords came up for consideration. Mr. Gladstone on rising was greeted with loud cheers by the Liberals, and derisive shouts from the Tories. He said with respect to the amendment which had been made to the bill, that the Government propose to restore the preamble and date of disestablishment as they appeared in the original bill. They should agree to the amendment relating to Curtis's annuities, and to protection of annuities with some modifications, but all other amendments they should oppose with the single exception of the grant of half a million pounds in lieu of private benefaction made before 1660.

Mr. Disraeli followed. He said that although the abstract principles of the bill had been repeatedly discussed, there had been little discussion on the details of its provisions. He hoped that the amendments made in the House of Lords would receive the calm consideration of the Commons.

Mr. Gladstone then moved that the House disagree to the preamble as amended. He thought concurrent endowment which the Lords had in view, a very different scheme from that of Pitt, which contemplated an established Catholic church side by side with the established church, and under State control. Concurrent endowment as now understood, was totally opposed to the principles of the bill, and was of such a character as to be entirely opposed to the spirit of the time. If the House could be induced to agree to it, it was certain that the country, especially the large constituencies would never sanction it. He strongly advocated the appropriation of the surplus funds as originally proposed with the proviso reserving to Parliament control over them.

Mr. Disraeli thought the House ought to agree to the amended preamble. He asserted that the House of Lords did not desire the reservation of the surplus for the purposes of concurrent endowment, and ridiculed the plan for its appropriation. He hoped the House would prevent such a waste of public funds, and pointed them to be dealt in this loose and vague manner.

Mr. Ball, member for Dublin University thought restoration of the original preamble would be fatal to the many advantages secured to the church by the Lords.

Mr. Bright admitted that at a former time he had proposed something like the present scheme of concurrent endowment, but he declared that the public feeling was now totally opposed to religious endowments and no minister would be able to carry such a scheme. He felt that all plans, save the one originally proposed by the bill, was so full of difficulties that it would be idle to discuss them.

Roundall Palmer said, although not a supporter of concurrent endowment, he considered that under the circumstances the grant for residences to the Clergy of a great majority, could not be refused out of that fund which contrary to his idea, they had declared was wrongfully taken from a great majority and used for various purposes of the minority.—Unless some proposal of this kind was agreed to, they would never establish religious equality or satisfy the expectations of the Irish They should not allow their anti-Catholic prejudices to refuse this small boon to the great majority

The House then divided and the amendment of the House of Lords with respect to the endowments was disagreed to by a vote of 360 against 223, a majority for the Government of 124

The amendment in regard to the appropriation of surplus funds was also disagreed to by a vote of 366 against 224

Mr. Gladstone then moved the restoration of the original date, viz: The first of January, 1871, for the dissolution of the Legislative union between the Churches of England and Ireland, and after some discussion the date was restored without a division

The House then adjourned

QUEENSTOWN, July 15.—The Cunard steamship, "Russia," arrived here to-day at 5.14 a. m She left New York, July 7th at 9:20, thus making the shortest passage on record

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion," takes its position as a first class Hotel, and a really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and system as to correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Writing Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Rooms and Suits of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Sets d'Eau" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public.

From the situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City, it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old prices of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men whose business it is to restore it from any cause whatever, the whole system suffers; the weakness, left being first attacked, and a feeling of languor lassitude, and "all gone" sensation pervades the tone stimulant only afford temporary relief and give the same effect as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true remedy is to supply the blood with it, or ensure quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

a protected solution of the protoxide of Iron, which is so prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system

In this medicine is cure in cases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone

An eminent divine says, "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of muscle."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physician, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass

To Montreal Tea Company

MONTREAL, 1868

SIRS,—It is merely a year since I purchased the first cheast of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap

Yours very truly
F. BENNIE.

Montreal Tea Co

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have become free from heartburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer

Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS I. GREEN,
84 St. John Street.

Montreal, April, 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal; We rejoice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for your different parts of the dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded, we have only had occasion to return one lot which, we understand, was sent through a mistake

ACCOUNTS WITH THE FARM.—There is no farmer who has tried the practice of keeping accurate accounts with his farm who has not been benefitted thereby. By carefully entering in an account book every item of income and expenditure, the farmer not only enables himself to see at all times his financial condition, but practice fosters an economy and regularity which must necessarily be attended with the happiest results. In view of the obvious advantages of the practice, we earnestly urge every farmer to provide himself with a well bound book, and commence to carefully and accurately enter ever item of receipt and expenditure connected with his farm operations, striking a balance at the end of each year. In connection with his farm account should be kept a journal of the farm, in which should be noted every event of the farm, such as the commencement of ploughing, the time of planting, cultivating, and harvesting the several crops, the time of planting trees, with their varieties, etc.; a journal of the stock not being neglected. Give the practice a fair trial, and you will never abandon it.—Southern Ruralist.

VOLUNTEER DRILL.—Complaints are made that many companies cannot get their Arms, and are therefore prevented from perfecting their drill. If it is so (is too bad, and should be seen to by the proper authorities; in the mean time should any be suffering from rheumatism, pleurisy, pains in the side or back, colic, or cramp in the stomach, the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" will give immediate relief. Sold by all Medicine dealers at 25 cents per bottle.

The efficacy of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in curing Coughs, Colds, and all Bronchial affections, and cheering the afflicted, has passed into proverb. In the United States, where these marvellous Wafers are known, they bear down all opposition and eclipse all rivalry; the demand for them has steadily increased for the last twenty years, until now the sales average over one hundred thousand boxes a year. Eminent members of the medical profession without number admit that they know of no preparation producing such beneficial results as these wafers. When taken in season they effect a permenent cure. Sold by every druggist and most of the respectable stores throughout the Province, at 25 cents per box.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Throughout every state of this country, and every part of the civilized world, it is known and acknowledged to be the most effectual remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. As a safeguard against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed in all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. Indeed, so complete is its conquest over the inflammation of the lungs and throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could relieve the distressed sufferer, Cherry Pectoral they are safe and dispersed.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed for all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, or any mineral substance whatever, it is, in no case whatever, in the least injurious to the system, however large a dose may be taken. On the contrary, as it expels the disease, the patient is built up in health and strength. Cases which have been of long standing, and have baffled the skill of our best physicians, are soon cured by this powerful antidote. Travellers and residents in miasmatic districts, are liberally supplied with it, and by timely use of it escape attacks. Those who have once tried it, know that it conquers the disease, and therefore have no fear of it. Every bottle is warranted to contain more than twice as much as any 25 cent bottle sold in this city.

Prepared and sold by
J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

The Appetite for Tobacco Destroyed.

Leave off Chewing and Smoking the Poisonous Weed Tobacco.

ORTON'S PREPARATION!

ESTABLISHED 1865.

One box of Orton's Preparation will destroy the appetite for no matter how strong the habit may be. It is entirely free from Mercury. Perfectly safe and harmless in its effects. Will not cause the most impossible to bring about a more speedy cure. No nauseating or disagreeable medicine required to assist nature firmly rooted. With the Orton's Preparation there is no fear of taking cold. Nothing is used it who are willing to hear witness to the fact that Orton's Preparation completely destroys the appetite for tobacco, and leaves the person no more from any desire for it, as before. The Preparation acts directly upon the same after using the Preparation Two days.

The Health and Purse of every Tobacco user in the country call loudly for THE USE OF ORTON'S PREPARATION.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession. We, the undersigned, positively say that we have used Orton's Preparation for the purpose of destroying the appetite for Tobacco, and can say in truth that we are entirely free from the habit. Orton's Preparation will certainly destroy the appetite for Tobacco quickly and permanently, without any suffering from the habit, and without creating an appetite either for the Preparation or any substitute.

Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine.

THE reprints of the leading Quarterlies and Blackwood's Magazine are now published in a cheap form, and as reputations have fully matured with regard to the great merits of each publication, no further comment is necessary than to say that they continue to be conducted with the same ability which has heretofore placed them in the front rank of periodical literature. The variety is great, but the selection has been such as will commend them to every reader, and Blackwood's Magazine, in particular, has never been conducted with greater spirit and ability than during the past year. The cheapness of these reprints places them within the reach of all, and no one who can afford to purchase a single publication should fail to subscribe.

The best periodicals are printed with thorough fidelity to the English copy, and are offered at prices which place them within the reach of all.

OR TONICO REALE.

Dei Dottore F. P. Verret, Prof. of Chemistry, in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition held at Cascade, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salutarious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Dressing Room immediately before dinner, to prepare as to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every application.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but, merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

THE KINGDOM OF HOME

Dark is the night, and dim and dreary
Rushes the wind like the waves of the sea;
Little care I, as here I sing cheerily,
Wife at my side and baby on knee;
King, King, crown me the King:
Home is the Kingdom, and Love is the King!

Flashes the firelight upon the dear faces,
Dearer and dearer, onward we go;
Forces the shadow boldlier us, and places
Brightness around us with warmth in the glow
King, King, crown me the King:
Home is the Kingdom, and Love is the King!

Flashes the lovelight, increasing the glory,
Beaming from bright eyes with warmth of the soul,
Telling of trust and content the sweet story,
Lifting the shadows that hover at bull
King, King, crown me the King:
Home is the Kingdom, and Love is the King!

Richer than miser with perishing treasure,
Gard'ning a service no coin can control bring
Happy with fortune that words can not measure
Lord-loved I am the heirdoms on sing
King, King, crown me the King:
Home is th Kingdom and Love is the King!

"I Always Know Where to Find Him."

This was said, in our hearing, of a young man by his employer. He could have said nothing more to the point, or better. It was to us an entire synopsis as well as a text. It gave us a brief knowledge of the character of the young man, and a better key to his future. than Mr. Wells could have furnished on paper after ever so careful a craniological examination.

It said this; That young man is reliable, conscientious, faithful, truthful, intelligent, competent, and essential to my business. I would be sorry to think of setting a watch upon my own actions as on his. His statements can stand on their face the seal of truth. His memory is never at fault. He is strikingly methodical, and cautious is all he does. He seldom, if ever, makes a mistake. He is much interested in my business as I myself am. A hint to him is equal to a command. If he knows a thing should be done he does not wait to be told, but goes at it at once; and when he puts his hand to a thing you can venture any small sum that it will be finished before he leaves it.

All this and more was included in that brief commendation; and we felt sure then as we do now, that we can forecast that young man's future. He will be not simply an honest man and a respectable member of society; but a positive influence, men of independent character and sound, positive principles; a man of wealth, but simply, without ostentation, blessed with competence. His wife shone by merit, and his children should he have any, will find in him not a protector only, but a companion and friend. They like his present employer, will know just where to find him. His neighbors can well have decided opinions as to his whereabouts. They will rarely guess wrong as to what he will say or do in any matter of public importance or private interest. The worthy poor whom he may know will learn to discount his philanthropy at reliable figures, and the worthless vagabonds who may cross his path will fix as positive as a bunk upon his credulity. He never will straddle any political fence; but on one side or the other, will be found earnestly at work. If a professing Christian, the fact will be known outside the church pew, not through a blatant self assertion, but in those many quiet ways which speak more loudly than words. He will foresee, while young to "sow his wild oats," as so, when old, he will reap only the mature and plump kernel, which is the fullness of joy and peace.—Packards Monthly

What will You Take for Yourself.

It is said that every man has his price, young man, have you yours? Will anything at all buy you? Will you ever sell yourself by a little deceit, a little falsehood, by what the world terms somebody's favor? Will you raise you in somebody's opinion, or be at complish some desired end? Will you ever so far forget yourself, your manhood, your friends, your position in society, your best interests, as to thus sell yourself for the favor of another?

Doubtless, you may spurn the thought, and yet have you not often done so? Have you been honest in every Answer only as you can be wise within prom[illegible] it is rather this is of daily occurrence with mankind? Others who think they are just as good, just as strong in character, who would not be just as haughty as you, are daily selling themselves.

Will you profit by your life, and talk, and act, and live like a man. Will you ev. reconfidence by your a[illegible] In short, by your patronage [illegible] your heart you know to be worthy of your [illegible] giving. If not, for fear of losing somebody's favor or suffering some imaginary [illegible] cutting jest? If sacrificed in the [illegible] case claims of former days, [illegible] or put a bottle in freely pass [illegible] you are equal to pursue of an extra glass, can you say that there be some present to rejoice you to those whom you know think no the things of you say "No?" Can you, everywhere, under any circumstances of temptation, say "No?" If you can, then indeed do you possess true ability of soul; then indeed can your friends safely lean upon you, and feel proud of you.

Even those whose solicitations to evil you have refused to accept, will respect and love you more because you are playing yourself a man. They who sustain such a character are building upon a rock and will find themselves surrounded by friends comprising the best and noblest of mankind. All love, you because they know they can trust you. Let your price be above earthly treasures or temptations, and you will thus gain not only nobility of character and soul but the respect and love of all the pure and good

Proper Use of the Bible.

A great many people think that the Bible is a very sacred book. I will tell you how it is a sacred book and that moral qualities in it, and they are transferred as living virtues to you, and then to you it becomes a sacred book. This book is sacred to you just so far as its teachings are incorporated in your experience and feelings, and not, a bit further. All that part of the Bible is lost to you that you live by. So much of the Bible as you vitalize is valuable to you; but so much of it as you do not vitalize is of no use to you. You put your Bible in your bookcase. Or you read it once a week, as the case may be. And you do it very decorously. The room is still, and your children sit around the room in a still row. You put on you spectacles and read; and as you read you lower the key of your voice—for when men want to be religious, they always take a solemn note and you read, all the way through the chapter, and are like a blind man walking along the road where there are all sorts of flowers on both sides, never seeing a single man. Men read thus, and feel a great deal better to go but they have read the Bible to their families. Now, I tell you, the only thing you read in the Bible is that which jumps into you, and which you cannot get out of you. It is the vital, luminous part, and not the dead letter that you read, if you read any part of the Bible supposing I should set up book-keeping? A man goes to housekeeping, and gets a Bible, with his name on the inside, and date on the outside, and puts it on the table in his best room; and there it lies for months and years without being opened—unless there is a funeral in the family. Suppose I should go to book-keeping and give an order to the grocer for three sets of open candles, saying, I am going to be a luminous lover, and should put three candles away in the attic and never light one of them! What is the use of candles but to burn? That is the very figure of our master. He says, "No one puts a candle under a bushel, but he lights it and puts it on a candlestick.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Albany Lumber Market.

REVIEW FOR THE WEEK ENDING JULY 14

The receipts for the week have not been heavy, and have been mainly of this year's manufacture, which is accumulating on the yards. There is but the week's work on hand, with a small stock of buyers, but yesterday and to-day there has been more activity and a better demand. Prices remain without change of quotations.

Freights are dull and some concessions in rates are reported.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals from the opening of navigation to July 13th, were:

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, JULY 17.

KNIGHTED.—The Hon. A.T. Galt, has been appointed a Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St Michael and St George. All hail, Sir Alexander.

$200 REWARD.—The Post Office Inspector has offered a reward of $200 for apprehension and conviction of the party who stole the two mail bags, at the Kingston, Station on the night of the 20th, instant.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the Association and all others interested in the movement, will be held at Hambly's, on Monday evening, the 19th inst. at 8 o'clock sharp, for the purpose of affiliating with the Dominion Rifle Association.

WITTNER'S MUSICAL GUEST.—The July number of this magazine has been received. It is a capital number, and contains some excellent songs, with the music, also, choice light reading. Published at Toledo, Ohio, at $1 per year, in advance.

RUNAWAY.—A runaway horse, with one wheel and a broken shaft, came dashing down Front Street this forenoon, and ran in at full speed amongst the dense crowd on the market. It was most remarkable that nobody was hurt. All the damage done was the destruction of a basket of eggs.

BASE BALL.—A game of Base Ball was played at Port Hope on Thursday, 15th inst., between the Port Hope Base Ball Club and the Hastings Base Ball Club of Belleville, which resulted in a victory for the Port Hope Club, by a score of 62 against 32. The return match will shortly be played in Belleville.

WEALTH OF THE COUNTRY.—If people want an evidence of one of the great sources of wealth to this part of country, let him look at Moira River, which to-day is completely filled with logs and timber for four or five miles in length. It has been said years ago that the lumber of the back country was pretty much exhausted, but the present appearance of the River don't look much like it.

ASHORE.—A telegram from Cobourg, of 16th, says: "The steamer Champion in a heavy fog ran ashore this morning about two o'clock at Grimshaw's Point, about 3 miles east of here. No apparent damage done. The steamer Norseman went to her assistance There being no sea on she got off easily about 9 o'clock this morning, and left here for Toronto about 10 o'clock.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—As Mrs. Brooks and son were coming to Belleville this forenoon, their horse was frightened by a wheelbarrow while crossing the Railway track, and became unmanageable. Mrs. Brooks was thrown from the buggy and received a severe compound fracture of the ankle joint. Dr. Burdett was called upon and attended to the case. The boy was uninjured.

MR. LOVELL'S DIRECTORY.—Mr. Fisher, Agent for Mr. Lovell, will be in Belleville on Tuesday next, to solicit subscriptions and advertisements for the proposed new Canadian Directory. A lengthy notice of this work has already appeared in these columns, and it is only necessary to refer now to the prospectus, which will be found elsewhere. We have no doubt the Agent will be successful in his canvass here.

THE MARKETS.—The market was well supplied to-day with early vegetables and produce, though there was by no means the large number of farmers usually here on Saturdays. The fine weather has no doubt kept them at home to secure the hay crop, which is one of the finest ever gathered in this section of country. Of strawberries there was a good supply, but it being about the last lot for the season, every quart was eagerly purchased for from 15 to 20 cents. A few lots of raspberries were sold at 15 cents per quart.

LONDON SOCIETY FOR JULY.—From E. Harrison. The contents are The Three Overheard Whispers, Parisian Clubs, Past and Present, Social Superstitions, Ancient Hostelries, and the men who frequented them. Public School Types, Dove Dale. The Brompton Hospital for Consumption, in the Heart of the Earth: Dolgelley and its Attractions. Flo and Fido, M. or N.: Studies from Life at the Court of St. James, No V.—H. R. H. the Crown Princess of Prussia, The Piccadilly Papers. A Bunch of Withered Violets. Very Old People, The Lay of the Crush Room.

A LUMP O'LEAD.—The Peterboro Review of the 15th, says: "We have been shown a specimen of lead from the Galway Mines which came down while the men were "drifting" a few days ago. It is perhaps 16 or 18 inches in diameter, flat, like a turtle somewhat, and weighs 33 lbs. It is almost wholly the genuine article and verifies the extraordinary wealth of these regions behind us. We are glad to learn that the works will soon be advanced in greater force than heretofore. A steam engine is about to be set in motion, and with the encouragement now dropping down on the shareholders almost onslaught the Galway Lead Mines will speedily be more widely and favourably known than ever.

DENTAL ASSOCIATION.—The annual meeting of the Dental Association of Ontario takes place in the Marble Hall, Belleville, on the 27th instant, the session to continue three days. The object of the Association is the general elevation of the standard of Dentistry, and the higher education and improvement of its members. Two medical gentlemen of this town have kindly consented to read essays before the members on the subject of Dental Surgery in its relation to Dentistry. There will be clinics at Dr. Relyea's office, on Wednesday and Thursday morning, and an exhibition of Nitrous Oxide on Wednesday at 2 o'clock

The Medical Council.

The medical gentlemen in council at Toronto are having a rather stormy time of it. The resolutions of Dr Agnew's, which appeared in our paper yesterday, excited a good deal of discussion, which was conducted with considerable warmth. The Allopaths pitched into the Homœopathes, and the Eclectics and the latter gave evidence of their ability to defend their position, and stick up for their rights. After spending the whole day in discussing the merits of the respective systems, the following amendment introduced by Dr. Brouse, was adopted by a vote of 39 to 7. His motion was, "That, all after the word whereas in the 1st clause, be struck out and the following inserted— That inasmuch as three licensing bodies existed in medicine in the Province of Ontario, whose privilege was to send forth practitioners of an inferior medical education; and whereas, it is highly desirable to protect the public by allowing only thoroughly educated men to receive a license to practice medicine, notwithstanding the objections many of the Council may have and do now entertain towards some clauses of the new Bill, we are prepared to use our best efforts to make it acceptable to the profession and beneficial to the community at large, by raising the standard of medical education throughout the country

Considerable business was got through with at the Council yesterday. A lengthy discussion having taken place about medical ethics, and the practice of members of the profession seeking notoriety through the public press and by other means. Dr. Coverton gave notice of the following motion: "That it is expedient that the Council should appoint a Committee to decide on a code of medical ethics, and on a maximum and minimum tariff of fees, and to hear and adjudicate upon all complaints of violation on the part of any registered member, of rules and regulations submitted and sanctioned by the Council. That the vote of three-fourths of the Council be required to reverse the decision of the Committee."

A motion was adopted recommending that public prosecutors should be appointed in order to carry into operation the aim and intention of the Medical Act; one for each County, to be chosen by the representation of such Counties, subject to the consideration of the Council

The following is the Educational Committee's report as finally adopted:

That all Students pass an examination in general education before they commence their proposed studies in accordance with the 33rd clause of the Medical Act

The Committee recommend that Students should translate and prove their grammatical knowledge of passages from the first two books of Cæsar's Commentarii de Bello Gallico, with regard to optional subjects.

Translation of the first chapter of St. John in Greek, and proof of grammatical ability in French; the first chapter of Telemaque or Charles' Natural philosophy—Sangster's first book.

That the age of 21 years be the earliest age at which any students shall be entitled to register

That four years of professional study be required of every student before he can present himself for his final examination, such time to date from the passing of their preliminary examination except as hereafter provided

That the professional examinations be divided at least into two parts. That the primary examination may be undergone at the end of the third year, and the final examination at the expiration of his fourth year.

MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS.—Primary at end of 3rd year on the following subjects:

1st. Descriptive Anatomy.
2nd. Physiology.
3rd. Theoretical Chemistry.
4th. Toxicology.
5th. Pathology.
6th. Medical Diagnosis.
7th. Botany.

FINAL (at the end of the fourth year) on 1st. Surgical Anatomy.
2nd. Practical Chemistry.
3rd. Medical Jurisprudence.
4th. Sanitary Science.
5th. Midwifery (operative.)
6th. Surgery (operative practical.)
7th. Materia, Medica and Therapeutics.
8th. Midwifery
9th. Surgery.
10th. Theory and practice of Medicine.

In the afternoon the Education Committee reported that they had omitted in the forenoon to make German an optional subject. They also submitted the following report:—

The Committee beg to recommend that the examining board shall be composed as follows, viz:

Two representatives chosen by the Homœopathic Board, two chosen by the Eclectic Board, and eight from the Medical Profession registered in Ontario

That Drs. Campbell and Field be the representatives of the homœopathists on the Board

That Drs. Carson and R. H. Clarke be the representatives of the eclectics on the board

That Drs. H. M. Wright, Sangster and Sullivan, be the representatives of the teaching bodies in Ontario on the Board

That Drs. Lizars, Toronto; Gordon, Brockville; Coverton, Guelph; Cole, Clinton; and McGill, be the representatives of the Council

The Report was adopted after considerable discussion

The Finance Committee's Report which involved a lengthy discussion was adopted, and after some routine business the Council adjourned until to-day

QUEEN INSURANCE COMPANY.—An interesting return has just been made to the House of Commons of all the Life Insurance Companies which have been registered under the Acts of 1844 and 1862. We find that the total number that has been so registered is no lower than 272, but that of this number only 54 are now in existence, while not less than 198 have succumbed, their career having terminated either by amalgamation with other companies, or through the unhappy medium of the winding-up court. These facts are a striking commentary on the recent controversy in connection with the asserted immunity of the Assured from liability to loss through the failure of Life Companies. We appre hend many of the Assured with the defunct 198 could adduce a different and more sad experience. The main interest of this return, however, is rather with respect to the survivors. Seven of these appear to be either mutual offices, friendly societies, or in one case of a marine company. Discarding these, the details given in connection with the remaining 67 possess much value It will be seen from the following table that the widest possible divergence is presented in the amount of actual capital of the several companies. Certain of them present to their assured the solid guarantee of a large paid-up share capital, among which the Queen, (for which M. Bowell, M.P., is Agent in Belleville,) is conspicuous for solidity in this important particular; while the larger number are contented to seek the support of the public with resources greatly disproportioned to the liabilities they are prepared to incur. In the case of 18 of the more recently instituted companies, we observe that the requirements of the act as to the return of the paid-up capital have not been complied with, and can but advise intending assurers to satisfy themselves throughly upon the important question of their real resources before committing themselves to serious a thing as a life contract with them.—From the London Standard, 1st June, 1869.

Two Can Play at that Game.

Mrs. Ford lived with her new husband, happy as a duck in a pea garden, for months, when the usual thoughtfulness of man began to show itself in denying her small sums of money, or giving them grudgingly.

"You don't want to spare this money," she said one day, when her lord was counting it out rather doubtfully. "Then never mind. Put it up this time." It was said so cheerfully that he never suspected her purpose, and was actually selfish enough to return it to his purse.

The next day he came home to dinner, but the house was silent, cold and empty. He found scanty provisions in the larder, and departed much mystified—at night coming home he met his wife trim, bright and cheerful as ever. She took off her bonnet and sat down quite at ease.

'Ain't you going to have any supper?' he asked petulantly.

'I've had my supper,' she said pleasantly.

He poked around awhile, shame-faced and said finally, peevishly.

'Well, aren't you going to give me any supper?'

'Won't some cold chicken do? There's some left of what we had yesterday.'

'No, indeed, I want my supper hot too, and quick, for I'm hungry.'

'Oh, indeed! Well, I'm sorry; but I'm not under obligations to cook your supper any more. Why don't you get it for yourself?'

All this without the least asperity of tone

'Now I want to know what this means!' turning around upon her with a little fierceness.

'Nothing only I want to cousin Polly's and did a day's sewing for her, and earned some spending money; and as I am able to take care of myself, I think you can do the same.'

There was confusion in the house for awhile. Riot reigned in the pantry while James sat about preparing his own supper spicing it with many choice observations

When it grew unpleasant his wife took a candle and went up stairs with a book — The next day she was off again, and the next. James was sulky and she gay and good humored all the time. The third evening they found themselves talking coolly about gossips, and the cloud melted away from James' brow. About nine o'clock he went to his desk and took out a roll of bills.

'Here Jennie, take this, and don't let me find you away any more

Thank you, Jamie, and what will you have for breakfast?'

That was all that was ever said on the subject, and the lesson never was repeated.

Stock Market.

The Montreal Stock Market was quoted yesterday as follows:—

The dullness noted in our last has been succeeded by an active demand for all classes of securities, and in most cases higher prices have been paid.

BANK OF MONTREAL—Has been dealt in to some extent at 109½, 109¾, 110, closing firm with no sellers under 110.

BANK OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA—Only one sale reported during the week at 104½. There were to-day buyers at 104, but no sellers under 105.

CITY BANK—There has been an active demand for this stock during the week with large transactions at 99. It closes very firm. Buyers offering 99½, sellers asking 100.

MOLSON'S BANK—Has been dealt in at 109½, at which price it is still preservable.

MERCHANTS' BANK—The transactions in this stock have been to a very large amount and rapidly advancing in price from 103 to 106½, closing rather easier with buyers at 105½, and sellers at 106¼

MECHANICS' BANK—Limited sales at 93, at which price there are buyers.

BANQUE DU PEUPLE—Has ruled firm throughout the week with very little offering. 109½ would be paid.

BANQUE JACQUES CARTIER—Continues to be enquired for with sales at 107½, 107¾, 108 and 108½. Closing very firm at 108 to 108½.

QUEBEC BANK—Is very firm with sales at 109½ which price would now be paid.

BANK NATIONALE—In demand at 107 to 107½.

TORONTO BANK—There are buyers but no sellers at quotations.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS BANK—There were large sales of this stock at 98 to 99, and there are still buyers at the latter price.

ONTARIO BANK—There has been very little demand, with a good sale offering; the only sales were made at 95. It closes rather firmer at that price

BANK OF TORONTO—Holders are firm at 124, which is much above the views of buyers

UNION BANK—There were no transactions during the past week

ROYAL CANADIAN BANK—Has been very heavy ever since the annual meeting, and was offered at 50 without attracting buyers. The only sales, however, a better feeling and the stock was enquired for.

CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE—Has been enquired for, with sales at 101 to 101½. There are still buyers at these prices.

MONTREAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY—Is now held for 134, ex-dividend, while buyers only offer 133.

CANADIAN NAVIGATION COMPANY—Is offered at 107 with buyers at 106 ex-dividend.

RICHELIEU NAVIGATION COMPANY—Has advanced to 123, at which price there have been sales. It is still offered at that price with no buyers over 122

CANADA INSURANCE—The continued increase in England has attracted holders to the very front. Prices now, however, without material change

LIFE ASSURANCE—Has been very steady throughout the week closing firm and in demand at 95 to 97.

MONEY—Continues very abundant.

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless, landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came, the room was crowded with anxious expectants: the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

IRISH CHURCH BILL.

LONDON, July 16.—Mostly gs of the people in support of the Commons on the Irish Church Bill continue to be held in various parts of the kingdom. Mr. John Bright has been unanimously elected a member of the Athenæum Club. The Reform League contemplate an indignation demonstration against the House of Lords.

PARTY DISTURBANCES IN IRELAND.

At Lurgan, in Ireland, on the 15th, an Orange procession was pelted with stones. They retaliated by utterly destroying seventeen houses occupied by the Catholics. The woodwork of the buildings and its furniture were then carried out into the street and burned. Order had been restored at the latest advices. At Newry an Orange Hall was attacked by a Catholic party. The occupants fired on their assailants, who were soon driven off, leaving three of their number on the field badly wounded.

EARL DERBY'S PROTEST.

LONDON, July 16.—The protest against the Irish Church Bill by Earl Derby is signed by 43 of the Peers. It was entered against the Bill on the ground that it looked to the severance of Church and State, a project unrecognized by any country in Europe. The adoption of the Bill would encourage the designs of those who want such severance extended throughout the United Kingdom, together with the resumption of grants and the confiscation of property. The protest further states that the passage of the Bill was a violent stretch of the power of Parliament, which shakes confidence in all property. The protest sets forth the impossibility of putting the Act into effect and disendowed church on the footing, and of pacification of the Catholics, and that this grievance caused the alienation of the Irish Protestants, who were loyal supporters of the Throne and administered the Catholics to larger concessions.

DISTURBANCE AMONG WORKING MEN.

VIENNA, July 16.—Severe tumults took place this week among the workmen at Brunn. The military were called out to suppress the riot and fired upon the rioters, killing two and wounding twelve. The crowds have dispersed, but great excitement still prevails there, and the authorities are taking every precaution to prevent the threatened renewal of disorder.

THE LATEST.

IRISH CHURCH BILL IN THE COMMONS

LONDON, midnight, July 16.—In the House of Commons to-night, the consideration of the Irish Church Bill was continued. Mr Gladstone approved of the amendment, granting half a million pounds for funds for private endowments made prior to 1816, but moved to disagree to the provision continuing the Ulster grants.

Mr. Disraeli thought that a clearer understanding ought to be arrived at, if the policy of the Government had for its object religious equality, it would not be obtained by humiliating the Irish Church, and thereby it is compared with the most ancient hierarchy in Christendom. He thought the proposal of the Lords was reasonable.

Sir Stafford Northcote thought Mr. Gladstone's proposal would convert the established church into a voluntary missionary church, contributions for the support of which could only be obtained by raising up bad feelings against their Catholic neighbors. It would be to the advantage of the Protestants to enjoy free and proper endowment, and he asked as an act of justice and expediency, their Glebes should be left to them

Sir Roundell Palmer supported the Lords' amendment. The amendment granting half a million pounds for private endowments was agreed to.

The amendment continuing the Ulster grant, was rejected by a vote of 345 to 240

The announcement of the result was received with cheers from the Ministerial benches.

Mr Disraeli intimated that it was not necessary for the House to decide on any of the other amendments, except that to clause 66, postponing the disposition of surplus funds

Mr. Gladstone moved to disagree to, and Mr. Disraeli supported the Lords. He thought the Government plans were not matured, and ought to be left for future consideration. The Government had made a minute enquiry as to the suitable destination of income arising from the surplus. He had no interest, other than any member of the House, or contrary to the wishes of the Irish people. Every one acknowledged that the money was the property of the Irish, and ought to be applied to the benefit of Ireland. This plan was open to the least objection. To leave the question open would only pave the way for future embarrassment. He appealed to the House not to put an obstacle in the way of the passage of the bill. The country had confided with the fullest sincerity in the Government desire, to make Ireland an integral part of the Kingdom, and her connection with England closer. The amendment of the House of Lords was then rejected, 290 against 218.—Great cheers greeted the result.

THE RAILWAY DISASTER

NEW YORK, July 17.—The testimony before the Coroner in the Erie disaster, corroborates the account already published, and in addition indicates clearly the cause of the disaster. No less than three employees of the road, including the engineer, were asleep on the train which caused the disaster in moving out of its place. The Verdict holds the sleepy engineer guilty. He has been arrested

THE FRENCH CABLE

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Agents and others interested in the success of the French Cable, are making strong exertions to secure connection with the main land of the United States, so that the undertaking may as soon as possible be followed by the anticipated financial and commercial results. There are indications that some arrangement will soon be made, which will be satisfactory to all parties

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL" the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses" which deserve to be far more thoroughly the exception of their charges than such! else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and systematic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of RICHLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLOURS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Acts d'Etat" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public.

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, beseech for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men when it becomes reduced from any cause whatever, the whole system suffers, the consequence being first exhaustion, and a resulting state of lassitude, and 'all goes' ness pervades the system. Stimulants only afford temporary relief, and have the same effect as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

a protected solution of the protoxide of iron, which is so prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system.

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

An eminent divine says, "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past, it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of step."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

PLANTAGENET MINERAL WATER,

CONTINUES to be the favourite with the people, in consequence of the quantity of Iodine, Iron, Magnesia, &c., it contains, as compared with other Springs, and its superior medicinal qualities which are peculiarly valuable. It is unsurpassed as a

Tonic, Alterative, Laxative and Diuretic.

As a beverage it is at once cooling and healing. When aerated it takes the place of Soda Water and Seltzer. It is of much service to ladies, and should be used by gentlemen of sedentary habits.

Don't you go, Tommy.

You'll miss it my boy, now mind what I say,
If you spend all your money and time in that way.
There's no one but idlers that lounge about so,
I beg of you, Tommy, don't go.

Your mother delights to indulge and pet me,
And knows whatever she has been, should you be,
To coax you to taverns and cards bid adieu,
I beg of you, Tommy, don't go.

Chorus.

Don't you go, Tommy, don't go,
Stay at home, Tommy, don't go,
There's no one but idlers that lounge about so,
I beg of you, Tommy, don't go.

Why won't you be steady and work like a man,
I don't hold the plough but I'll do what I can,
There's as much to do, and our grain we must
I beg of you, Tommy, don't go. [sow;
Besides there is corn and potatoes to plant,
You're young and can stand it, you know that I can't.
Leave liquor alone, for it grieves mother so,
I beg of you, Tommy, don't go.

We've watched o'er you, Tommy, in sweet infancy,
When angels were silently beck'ning to these,
At midnight we've knelt by your cradle so low,
I beg of you, Tommy, don't go.
Do not let us, Tommy, with grief down pass away,
The farm will by yours at no distant day,
Eternity's blessings you'll reap if you sow,
Oh, Tommy, dear Tommy, don't go.

—A clergyman in Kansas says he has married but one couple in a year. They paid him nothing, staid to dinner, as it was a rainy day, and then borrowed his umbrella when they left, which he has never seen since.

How to Keep up Your Hat Crop.—A farmer, who had been in the habit of selling his hay crop for many years in succession, being asked how he kept up his land, replied: "I never allow the after math to be cut." If this rule was generally followed, there would be less said about running out of the grass, of short crops of hay. Some farmers feed out every green thing, and compel their cattle to pull up and knaw off the roots of grass. Cutting rowen is certain death to hay crops. A farmer had better buy hay at forty dollars per ton than ruin his hay field by close grazing.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with grace and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as can be saved for future usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for h

HAIR DRESSING,
nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

PRICE $1.00.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Colds, Coughs, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of the people, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of the earth, it has been higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its unrivalled reputation is based not upon any vaunting pretensions of the lungs it will cure, but upon the unvarying character of its composition. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most efficient remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous ulcerations of the throat and lungs. As a preventive against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as safe as sometimes subtle to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patients restored to sound health, by Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the diseases of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could relieve the sufferer, Cherry Pectoral they will die and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,
For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Mercury, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance, it has not, it is to be inferred, any of the evil consequences which are the inevitable result of the use of such substances. Containing, as it does, a large number and importance of its cures in the aguelike districts, are literally countless, and, what is more, without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Our patients are certified to by the clergy, by the receiver of the railroad cure, effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

For Liver Complaints, arising from derangement of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy action.

For Bilious Diseases and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

fact that Orton's Preparation changes the appetite for tobacco, in any person who has been made miserable by the mere exercise of the nauseous habit. It is entirely harmless. With the cure is not the least used it is why are willing Knocked in the head. Vegetable.

The time taken to allay all desire for Tobacco by the use of one Preparation is varying in different persons, the average time being about five days. Some have no desire for tobacco after using the Preparation two days.

The Health and Purse of every Tobacco user in the country call loudly, against the use of tobacco.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that we have used Orton's Preparation for the purpose of destroying a taste for Tobacco, and can assure those who are suffering from the fact that Orton's Preparation will certainly destroy the appetite for tobacco quickly and permanently, without any bad effect upon the health, and without causing an appetite either for the Preparation or any substitute.

The Daily Intelligencer.

VOL. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, MONDAY EVENING, JULY [illegible], 1869. No. [illegible]

The Intending Emigrants to Red River.

The Red River Nor Wester contains in a late issue another compilation of facts about the territory. The editor says the following information may be relied upon as authentic, and will be found interesting to all inquirers, and especially to the intending emigrant

WHO SHOULD COME.

All who love the "dear old flag" of British rule. All who are in favor of British American institutions being extended and perpetuated over British America under the Dominion of Canada. All who desire by industry and prudence to advance their own interests as well as that of our common country. All who desire health and long life. All who wish farms with soil of the richest kind, and already cleared for the plough. All who have brawny arms and a determination to use them All who have pluck and perseverence. All who possess a small capital, say from £100 to £2,000 and desire to put it to its best use. All who understand the trades of house building in their kinds, such as carpenters, bricklayers, stone masons, plasterers, etc., and cabinet and chair makers, shoemakers, farmers, wool-growers, cheesemakers, and any one understanding the avocations of life, but who find the times too hard at home

Let such come and settle here, and in a very few years they will not only be in comfortable circumstances, but will be on the road to affluence

WHO SHOULD NOT COME.

Remembering that this is a new and undeveloped country, all who expect to find every comfort they have enjoyed in older countries; all who expect to have their bread buttered on both sides before they have earned the butter for one side; all who expect to eat apples before orchards are planted and grown; all who will sigh for the advantages of a railway before we have time to build it; those who expect to enjoy the fruits of other people's labor; those who are particular as to the tie of their cravats and who part their hair in the middle; those who are unwilling to put their shoulders to the wheel of progress—all such had better not come. The country is very large, still we have no room for them at present.

ROUTE TO COME.

The only available route open for travel at present is by way of St. Paul, Minnesota. St. Paul, or St. Cloud, Minn., can be reached by railway from any part of Canada. St. Cloud is 450 miles from this town (Winnipeg), and nothing but a good prairie road intervenes. There are stage connections between St. Cloud and Fort Abercrombie, some 230 miles from here; thence you will have to take a Red River conveyance to this point. Your better way will be to buy a light waggon in St. Paul or St. Cloud, and come through by your own conveyance. The rig out will be very useful to you here; but should you wish to sell it, you will get the price you will have to pay for it. Get your waggon covered, or carry a tent, and prepare yourself to camp out after leaving St. Cloud.—You will then find your trip very pleasant, and yourself in robust health when you arrive.

COST.

The cost of coming from Canada varies with circumstances, parties travelling in company should be able to get here for about ten to fifteen pounds each, from Canada. The railway fare you will be better able to ascertain for yourselves, at the nearest station

TO BE REMEMBERED.

Our land is mostly prairie and is ready for the plough. This should be remembered by those who have witnessed the lifelong toil and trouble of clearing off all wood farms. We have a sufficiency of woodland to furnish building and fencing material for some time to come. All you need to do at present is to choose your land in some place not too far from the settlement, (and not interfering with any one else, and to build your house, fence fields, put in your plough and your claim is established under present circumstances, and as soon as the Government of the Dominion is instituted, and the lands surveyed, whilst nobody will be disturbed in his possession, the contiguous lands will be offered at rates calculated to foster and encourage a large emigration. Also remember the wonderful extent of this territory and reflect upon the improbability of their being any crowding of land during many generations to come

Flax and hemp thrive here remarkably well, and any party understanding the culture of flax might start a linseed mill to advantage

It would be well if some one would come in and pay attention to the cultivation of sugar beet, and the manufacture of sugar.

A manufactory of woollen goods would meet with ready sale for all that they could produce.

This country is also very rich in coal and iron and other useful minerals and metals, and they should be developed by experienced men, which should come

Stock raising is another thing that will pay well. Nothing but the natural grasses are out for hay

Agricultural implements find a ready sale here, and a manufactory of reapers, mowers, fanning mills, ploughs, harrows, etc., will do well if started

We also need a good tanner of two.

Good cheese is an article almost unknown in the Settlement, and a cheese factory should do a good business among us

Farmers understanding the cultivation of fruit; such as apples, pears, plums and cherries, of hardy varieties, should introduce such kinds into the Settlement. The first fruit growers among us will realize fortunes.

A New People Discoverd in Africa.

A RACE LIKE THE ANGLO SAXON OF ASIATIC ORIGIN—THEIR RELIGION SPIRITUAL—THEIR GOVERNMENT MONARCHICAL.

In the southwestern portion of Africa is a tract about 200 miles in breadth, from north to south, and between 400 and 500 in length, from east to west, laid down in the maps as Herere Land to Damara Land. It extends from the Cheune river, on the north, to the Walfish Bay, on the south, and from the coast to Lgami, in the interior. Very few Europeans have visited it; three elephant hunters only, between 1857 and 1864, Anderson, whose works on "Lake Ngami," are so well known, Green and Smuts. Anderson was so much pleased with the country that he purchased a large tract of land there, and raised some thousands of cattle. He died there in the early part of the present year

There are two races inhabiting the country, the Bechuanas, who occupy some kraals or villages in the central and northern part but who are in a dependent condition, and the Ovas, of several tribes (Ovambo, Ovaherero, Ovambanderu, Ovangwari, Ovakwenama, Ovambuaru, etc.,) a red race with long hair—curly, but never woolly—regular features and fine forms. These are the ruling race, and exhibit a high degree of intelligence and many characteristics which indicate their Asiatic origin. They are governed by a king—Tjikongo—of the Ovambo race, who resides at Ondonga. He is assisted in the government by a council, without whose consent he cannot execute any measure. Each tribe has its prince or chief governor, and the princes are subject to the king and council, by whom, for any offence against the laws, they may be deposed or put to death. Each principality is divided into districts, governed by chiefs, who are amenable to the princes, but have an appeal to the king and council.—Their roads are excellent, and each has an inspector, whose business it is to see that any person coming into the kingdom is stopped and entertained until his name and purposes can be forwarded to the king and permission obtained for him to travel through the country. In the case of explorers and hunters, there is usually little difficulty; but traders are required to procure some responsible citizen of the country to be there guarantee that they shall deal honorably, and pay all the debts they contract.

The religion of the country is in many respects, so much like that of the Parsees as to induce the belief that the Ovas belong to that race, or have been under its tuition. They are not idolators, but believe in a Supreme Being, the Creator, who is omnipresent, omnipotent, and omniscient, and whose symbols are the sun and the fire, and to these they pay homage as His representatives, but offer no sacrifice to them. They keep the sacred fire constantly burning, and the princes, who are also priests, entrust to their daughters, and sometimes to their wives, the duty of superintending these sacred fires. The Ovas also believe in the existence of a very powerful evil spirit, who is not, however, omniscient nor omnipresent; and to his interference they attribute their misfortunes and accidents, but they offer no sacrifice to him. They are said to be an honest, industrious, and temperate people, far more regardful of their word, and more observant of good morals, than most of the African nations

Young men who complain of uneven sidewalks, will find them much smoother on going home at an earlier hour in the evening

—The most practical demonstration of the poison in alcohol that we have seen lately is in the case of Sheriff Ransom of Jonesville who some time since had his finger bitten by a drunken man The poison from the wound has caused him to have the finger amputated and it is feared that his arm will have to come off to save his life. Muzzle the Dogs!"

—A little negro passing a drug store was accosted with, "I say, Bub, what makes your feet so long behind?" The little negro answered, "Why, massa, you see when de Lord made us niggahs he thought he would not give us any feet; but when he made up his mind to gub 'em, we was so glad dat we jumped right into de middle of 'em—dat's so."

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, JULY 19.

INWARDS.—The steamship Nestorian passed Father Point, evidently, on Sunday at noon, with 43 cabin and 543 steerage passengers

HOGS PER G. T. R.—Twenty seven double deck car loads of Hogs, passed here during the last Twenty-four hours bound for Boston.

DOING GOOD BUSINESS.—The Grand Trunk Railway is doing a splendid business in freight just now as well as in passengers. A great deal of live stock is going eastward, and the residue of last season's crop of Indian corn is being transferred in large quantities every day from the west to the eastern States, in order to make room for the new crop

NOT IN FAVOUR OF IT.—The Hamilton Times says with regard to the question of a Double Chamber for Ontario, the article to which reference has been made appeared in its columns during the absence of the responsible editor, and was not in accordance with the tone of that paper upon the subject. The Times says: "We should look upon the adoption of the Double Chamber in this Province as an exceedingly grave political blunder and a most serious misfortune."

INSPECTION.—On Friday last No 7 Company 2nd Battalion, G. T. Rifles, under command of Capt. Nunn, were inspected by the Brigade-Major, Lt.-Col. Galwey. The inspecting officer was received with a general salute. The arms, accoutrements, and clothing, were minutely examined.—The Company was then put through company drill, and light infantry movements. Col. Galiwey expressed himself pleased as to the state of the arms and the proficiency of the men. Two officers and 48 rank and file were present. 1 officer and 19 men absent on leave.

ORANGE CELEBRATION AT QUEENSBORO.—The Madoc Mercury gives the following account of the celebration of the 18th, at Queensboro: "The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne was celebrated by the Orangemen of District No. 3, North Hastings, at the village of Queensboro, some six or seven Lodges being present. A sermon appropriate to the occasion was preached by the Rev. C. H. Mockbridge, B. A., to an audience of between 600 and 700 persons; and an address was also delivered by Mr. Lighthorne, of El Dorado, who lengthly and vigorously denounced the Irish Church disestablishment bill. A number of visitors went over from Madoc, and were well pleased with the day's proceedings."

SOAPSTONE.—The Madoc Mercury says: "Mr. I. P. Cummus, of Brampton, who has discovered a bed of pure soapstone on the lot where he is erecting his saw-mill on the town-line between Madoc and Elzevir, has this week taken out some specimens which have been examined by Mr. E. N. Dean, agent of the Hawkes' Mountain Quarry, Westhersfield, Vermont, (where soapstone stoves, &c., are manufactured), and pronounced by him quite suitable for the manufacture of stoves, mantlepieces, billiard tables, &c., &c. The material is easily cut with a saw, and takes a very superior polish. The specimens are of four different shades, and though taken from the surface, are all of excellent quality

READER, THINK OF IT.—An exchange aptly and truthfully says of local papers, that they enhance the value of property; they benefit particularly merchants and real estate owners thrice the amount they pay for their support. There is nothing that would do a place more harm than to be without a newspaper. This every sensible man knows. A local paper is a necessity. It is a sacred duty to support your local newspaper. You need not think that the publisher of a paper can run it for your benefit, and pay expenses out of his own pocket. Give your home paper a good advertising patronage and a reasonable list, and you will then have just such a paper as you wish.

GOOD ADVICE.—If you wish to keep healthy and cool during the present warm weather follow the directions contained in the Scientific American. "Be sparing in your diet, which should consist principally of fruits, berries and vegetables Avoid everything of a greasy nature; also spices, condiments and sweets. Drink nothing but water. Chew nothing but food, chew that well, but do not chew too much of it. Excess in eating is one of the principal causes of that lazy, listless, relaxing feeling experienced by so many persons in hot weather. Dress lightly, and change often Wear nothing at night which is worn during the day. Bathe the body every morning with cool or cold water. Keep a clean conscience as well as a clean body and clean clothing, and don't get excited. If uncomfortably warm at any time, immerse the hands, or feet, or both, in cold water, for a short time or let a stream of cold water run upon the wrists and ankles. This will cool the whole body in a short time."

MANUFACTURER AND BUILDER.—The July number of this very useful periodical has been received. It contains very useful information, such as every mechanic should have, and is illustrated with numerous engravings. It is the cheapest and best Magazine of the kind in the United States. It is published at $1 00 per annum, or 10c per number, by Westera & Co. New York.

HAVERLY'S MINSTRELS.—It will be seen by advertisement that Haverly's Minstrels will be here on Friday evening next The Washington Express thus speaks of their performances. "This clever band of minstrels, composed of eighteen first-class performers, from Chicago, commenced an engagement at the National Theatre last evening under very favorable auspices. The troop is first-class, and the performance is of a high order of burnt-cork representation—what, in fact, may be called the Aarcoal of charcoal minstrels Bidaux, Rice, and Charley Pettingill are particularly good in their respective characters, and the whole is a pleasing melange of songs, dances, and music.

WIFE MURDER.—A telegram from Brantford dated July 17th says: Early last evening West Brant was thrown into intense excitment by John Hunter, grocer of this place, shooting his wife. He first shot her in the mouth; second in the side, from which, it is not expected she will re cover. Mrs. Hunter has been living at Brown's hotel, West Brant, where Hunter called and asked her to come up stairs, as he wanted to speak to her. She said if he wanted to speak he could do so there, there was no person near to hear him. He said she would not be detained a moment. They went up stairs and immediately two shots were heard. Hunter came out and said he shot his wife and gave himself up to the authorities. The cause is supposed to be jealousy.

ACCIDENT ON THE RIDEAU.—The Kingston News gives particulars of an accident which happened on the Rideau Canal on Friday evening, by which two locks were broken at Jone's Falls, and two lives lost. While a tug with four barges in tow were passing through the locks one of the gates broke and carried away two other gates. The News says: "It would seem that the accident arose from no fault of the boatmen, and whether the fault was with the lock men or with the defective strength of the gates themselves is a matter that may be disputed. It is a fact, however, that great damage has been done to the canal, and some length of time must elapse before repairs can be completed to admit of through navigation. Various estimates are given of the time required to effect the necessary repairs, but some of these are given with an eye to speculation in fuel wood, which is so greatly supplied by the canal. Supposing the Canal Office has the proper number of spare gates on hand, the detention will not probably be more than three weeks or a month at the outside."

Common School Grants.

The following is the apportionment of the Government Common School Grant to Belleville and the Municipalities of the County of Hastings:—

Town of Belleville	$ 477 00
Town of Belleville, Separate Schools	190 00
Township of Elzevir	123 00
Township of Elzevir, Separate Schools	12 00
Township of Hungerford	523 00
Separate Schools	14 00
Township of Huntingdon	367 00
Township of Madoc	477 00
Township of Marmora and Lake	187 00
Township of Rawdon	452 00
Township of Sidney	527 00
Township of Thurlow	527 00
Township of Tudor	60 00
Township of Tyendinaga	893 00
Separate Schools	13 00
Total	$4,819 00

Grand Trunk Railway.

The latest published accounts indicate a gratifying increase in the receipts of the Grand Trunk. For the first week in July, 1867, they were $119,260, and for the same period this year $150,085, showing an increase of no less than $31,825 on the week's traffic. Under the influence of this continual and marked advance the whole of the preference stock has taken an upward bound, in some cases to the extent of 4, and it is expected that 1st preference will soon touch 60. The chairman of the Company is coming out to Canada to look after matters, and with the probable payment of the interest on 1st preference in cash this year, holders rub their hands gleefully

The Crown Land Sale.

The Madoc Mercury of Saturday last has the following article respecting the sale of the Crown Lands

"The mode in which the sale of Mineral Lands was actually managed has amply justified the common belief that it was intended to serve merely as a vehicle for the disposal of Lot 9 in the 9th of Marmora to some favoured individuals. That particular lot was neither the first, the last, nor the middle in the list which collectively figured up to upwards of sixty thousand acres; yet it was singled out and ostensibly sold on the very first day of the sale—Thursday. Late on Friday evening, after our last edition was distributed, we were surprised to hear that the lot had been put up for sale again that day, and was disposed of—most of those who had been present on the preceding day having gone away under the impression that the lot had been already resly sold—for some fourteen hundred and odd dollars less than it had been knocked down for on the preceding day! Now this looks like trickery which requires explanation. The official notice of the sale distinctly stipulated for the amount of purchase money to be paid immediately after the sale is made [illegible] to the highest bidder, and [illegible] the lot had been [illegible] sale, [illegible] the highest bidder [illegible] on the spot had the lot been bid off in the first instance [illegible] known, response [illegible] Now, this [illegible]

"It was the object of ordering and carrying out the sale was as opposite to [illegible] to come to show unmistakable contempt for the public opinion of this section of the Province, it must be admitted that the Commissioner has, for the present, won the victory. We very much doubt, however, that he can boast of much more in the management of the affair. Instead of getting the $100,000 he talked about in the Legislative Assembly for lot 9 in the 9th alone, he has only succeeded in driving away hundreds of mining adventurers, for something less than $5,000! A few lots have been sold for that comparatively trifling amount, but not at the place offi cially advertised!!!

Deaf and Dumb Institute.

It will be observed by our advertising columns that in compliance with a numerously signed requisition, the Mayor has called a Public Meeting of the inhabitants to take into consideration the propriety of having a public demonstration on the occasion of laying the Corner Stone of the Deaf and Dumb Institution The importance of having some public celebration on the occasion being so generally recognized by the people, it only remains that some energetic steps be taken at the public meeting to have the celebration go off with all possible eclat. The meeting is called for Wednesday evening next, at the Town Hall, at which we trust there will be a large and influential representation of the people.

Grand Lodge Officers.

The Grand Lodge of Masons closed its labors on Friday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Grand Master, A. A. Stevenson, Montreal, re-elected

Deputy Grand Master, James Seymour, St. Catherines, re-elected

Grand Junior Warden, C. J. Brown, Ingersoll.

Grand Senior Warden, Daniel Thomas, Sherbrooke, Que.

Grand Registrar, Lieut. Col. Fairbanks, Oshawa, Ont.

SENSIBLE ADMONITIONS.—Don't buy a piano for your daughters while your sons need a plow. Don't give the merchant a chance to dun you. Prompt payment makes independent men. Keep good fences, especially line fences. They promote good feeling between neighbours. Decent, substantial clothing for your children, makes them think better of themselves, and keeps the doctors away. Don't starve your land if you do, you will grow lean

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

While the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and system and correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading Room, convenient Dining Coffee, Waiting Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full View of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Isle d'Eau" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public.

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it must fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has been for years, a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the charge of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The importance of the presence of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men, when its absence arises from any cause whatever, the most prominent symptoms are debility, want of energy, nervousness, and a tendency to languor, which [illegible] produce temporary relief, and have the same effect as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

PERUVIAN SYRUP.

a protected solution of the protoxide of Iron, which is so prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone

As eminent divine says, "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of step."

Pamphlet containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass.

As Montreal Tea Company:

MONTREAL, 1868.

GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap. Yours very truly,

F. DENNIE.

Montreal Tea Co

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from heartburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I surmise this to the purity of your Tea. And shall continue a customer

Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS T. OWENE,

Low Topped Fruit Trees.

The advantages of pruning fruit trees to have low tops are thus set forth in the Mis

[illegible] which to [illegible] and prunes with such violence. If a tree is trained with a low head, its shade will keep the ground around its roots moister, and protect its trunk from the burning heat of the sun. They can be trimmed more readily and to better advantage. The fruit can be gathered more easily. The amount of material required to make an additional foot of trunk is thrown into the body of the tree, making the limbs of more service to bear fruit. There are also strong grounds for believing that the longevity of the tree will be increased."

CURIOUS DISCOVERY. A curious discovery has just been made at Pompeii. In a house in course of excavation an oven was found, closed with an iron door, on opening which a batch of eighty-one loaves, put in nearly eighteen hundred years ago, and now somewhat over-done, was discovered; and even the large iron shovel with which they had been neatly laid in rows. The loaves were but slightly over-baked by the lava heat, having been protected by a quantity of ashes covering the door. There are no baker's marks on the loaves; they are circular, about nine inches in diameter, rather flat, and indented in the centre, and are slightly raised at the sides, and are divided by eight lines radiating from the centre into eight segments. They are now of a deep brown colour, and hard but very light. In the same shop were found 561 bronze and 53 silver coins. A mill with a great quantity of grain in excellent preservation, has also been discovered

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reasons, that it is a more reliable and less unpleasant remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and all know that what it does once it does always when it can never fail through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints; but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. To those seeking relief from over-eating and rich and then pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—restore the functions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various forms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the disordered action or remove the obstruction which causes it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

A dressing which [illegible] at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the [illegible] restored to [illegible] grand color and [illegible] glossand [illegible] of youth.

This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often (though not always) cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair whereon the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by its application. Instead of loading the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

The Appetite for Tobacco Destroyed.

Leave off Chewing and Smoking the Poisonous Weed Tobacco

ORTON'S PREPARATION!
ESTABLISHED 1866.

One box of Orton's Preparations warranted to destroy the appetite for, and prevent the habit may be. If it does not make how strong a case the inveterate Tobacco user may have, it will be refunded. Perfectly safe and harmless in all cases. A few of the use of tobacco, the will: something it needed to assist nature; a habit so firmly rooted. With the help of the Preparation there is not the least trouble. Hundreds have used it who are willing to bear witness to the fact that Orton's Preparations completely destroy, and forever the desire for it, as before the Preparation acts directly upon the same glands and secretions affected by tobacco and through these upon the blood thereby free it from the poison of tobacco, so from the system and that, allaying the unnatural cravings for tobacco, the desire ceases. Beware of imitations. Genuine only when Orton's Preparation is signed. Executor in the name of Orton. Warranted.

The time taken to allay all desire for Tobacco by the use of Orton's Preparations varies slightly in different persons, the average time being about five days. Some take no desire for tobacco after using one box. Others two days.

The Health and Purse of every tobacco user in the country will visibly enhance the use of tobacco.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few of the many recommendations in our possession.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that we have used Orton's Preparations for the purpose of destroying the appetite for tobacco, and can assure those who are suffering from this habit that Orton's Preparation will certainly destroy the appetite for tobacco quickly and permanently, without any and effect upon the health, and that strictly speaking we speak to truth a Preparation or any substitute.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salutary and Agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval as very superior.

Vol. 1. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 20, 1869. No. 67

Terrible Tragedy at Marseilles.

One of the most fearful crimes which has ever been committed in the south of France, took place on the 27th ult., at Marseilles. The following particulars of the affair are taken from the local papers

"About half past five o'clock yesterday morning, as the workmen of the building yard known as the Pharo, were proceeding to work, a terrible scene was enacted in a hotel restaurant, kept by M. Bonnefoy.—Five pistol shots were heard in succession, and immediately after the attention of the men was directed so the spot by cries of 'Help !' and 'Murder !' The house was entirely barricaded, and all the keys had been hidden in order to prevent any one from putting a stop to the execution of the crime. A few courageous men soon broke open the door of the restaurant, while some others got in by a window on the first floor, which had been opened by M. Bonnefoy.—Here is what had taken place a few minutes before. About the hour above mentioned, Madame Bonnefoy had risen as usual and descended into the kitchen to make the coffee. But, instead of lighting the fire she went into the shop, where, with her back against the door and a six barrelled revolver in her hand, she waited till the rest of the family came down stairs.—The first person who presented herself was her sister Annette, against whom she had lately conceived a violent hatred, in consequence of some attentions paid her by one of the customers of the house, who, it turns out, was Madame Bonnefoy's lover. She had no sooner descended the last staircase than Madame Bonnefoy sent a bullet into her breast. Without stopping to look at her victim, the murderess bounded up stairs into the room where her own three children were sleeping. She first approached the cradle of the youngest, a boy of five years. She bent down, put the pistol to his heart, and fired. The noise of the firing immediately aroused the other two children, whose bed was by the side of the cradle. She again cocked her weapon

"Mother, mother," murmured the elder, "what are you doing ?"

"Do not be afraid," replied the wretched woman; you have nothing to fear, all the money will be for you."

"And placing the revolver near the other child's heart, she fired, telling the elder child to be off.

"The boy went down stairs trembling. The mother followed. On reaching the shop the woman took another staircase leading to the bedroom of her husband. M. Bonnefoy, aroused by the pistol shots and the shrieks of his sister-in-law Annette, had put on his clothes and was about to descend, when he met his wife. Without saying a word, she raised the revolver and fired, sending a bullet into his stomach

"Having finished her butchery, the murderess now determined to shoot herself. She had already re-cocked the revolver, and was holding it towards her head, when her boy ran into the room, crying—

"'Mother—oh, mother, what are you going to do ?'

"Hold your tongue, will you,' was her reply; 'I have spared you, and you will be rich.'

"Placing her finger on the trigger, she fired, and lodged a bullet in her own head and fell insensible on the ground. Medical assistance was soon at hand, and the victims forthwith taken to the hospital. Strange to say, none of them were killed, although all are seriously wounded. Operation were immediately performed to extract the bullets, but in the case of the youngest child and the father the doctors have not yet succeeded, and it is feared they cannot live long. The wretched author of the tragedy is least in danger. The motives which led to the crime appear to be partly jealousy and partly remorse. Madame Bonnefoy has for a long time past led a very irregular life. Frequent dissensions in the family were the consequence, and the girl Annette always sided with the husband. The day before the crime a quarrel had taken place in the restaurant between the 'customer' above alluded to and M. Bonnefoy, at which Madame Bonnefoy was present. It was noticed that the woman was touched with remorse at her guilty conduct, and, from letters which she wrote during the night, it appears she thereupon determined to make a holocaust of the whole family, including her lover. Why she spared the eldest child may be easily conjectured."

The Rev. Rowland Hill used to ride to and from church in a carriage. This gave offence to one of his members at least who wrote so far as to hand in, among the notices, one requesting "the prayers of his congregation for the pastor, who, yielding to pride, is in the habit of riding in his carriage, not content, like his Divine Master, to ride upon an ass." It was not until Mr. Hill had read the paper, and observed the sensation created, that he noticed its import and then laying it down he said "It is true, brethren, I ride in my carriage; but if the author of this notice will appear at the door at the conclusion of my service saddled and bridled, I will do my best to ride him home."

Nasby.

A LABOR UNION AT CONFEDERATE X ROADS.

Petroleum V. Nasby, who loses no good opportunity to benefit his fellow white men, has begun a labor union at Confederate X Roads. The Union is not a large one, as there are but five mechanics of the Caucasian race at the Cross Roads. Mr. Nasby directed the attention of these men to the fact that there was a negro engaged in plastering a house near by, and asked them if they were content to allow an inferior race to take the bread out of their mouth like that. There were none of them plasterers, but were none the less eager to rebuke such presumption as a "nigger" earning his bread by a trade. Nasby restrained their ardor until he had organized them into a "free labor unyon, which prehibitered anybody from working at anything which didn't jine it." This being accomplished, they started for the house where the obnoxious African was at work. What they did there, Mr. Nasby may tell in his own words:

"On reachin' the house we halted, and there our eyes rested onto a site which blarsted 'em. There was a nigger, a full-blooded nigger, with a cap onto him, and overalls, plasterin' away, whistlin' and sagin' (sometimes one, sometimes another, and then both at wanst) Methodist hymns. And ever and anon the unthinkin' man of inferiority would stop and execoot a breakdown, and laff to hisself, so that he could be heard a mile. The disgostin' wretch displayed his grovelin' nacher by drinkin' water out of a bucket which he had handy by him.'

We made short work of it. We informed him that the laborers of the Corners had organized a yoonun, and that no one cood be permitted to work within its boundaries ceptin' members thereof.

"'Berry well,' remarkt the African cuss, calmly puttin' on a dab of mortar and smoothin' it—' berry well ill jine the yoonun.'

"'But you can't; no nigger kin be admitted.'

"'Den I spek I shel her to go on an' work widout being a member; de ole woman and de babies must hab dar bread, you no.'

"Such insolence cood not uv course be tolerated. We had stated the case to him calmly and dispassionately. We had informed him uv the laws we had made, and this wretch deliberately cedled us by insistin' that he should go on with his work.—Ther wuz but one course to take, and we took it. We snaked the platform out from under him, we tore up his morter-bed, we broke his trowell and other tools, and notified him offishelly that any attempt at resoomin' work wood result in lynchin' of him.'

The victim of this prejudice, after trying to work as a blacksmith's assistant and as a laborer on the road, and being driven from each by the union, found himself and family in danger of starvation, and to relieve their hunger was guilty of some petty thefts. Whereupon, as Nasby says:

"There cood be but one endin' to such a succession uv crimes. The citizens were too much incensed to await the uncertain action of the law, and they hung him at nite. The Corners will never tolerate a nigger theef in their midst, no how.'

Mr. Nasby improved the occasion by a pathetic harangue on the 'fruits of radicalism and fanaticism' which had brought the unfortunate negro to this end.

A Non-Intercourse act Wanted.

Secretary Fish has written a letter to the French and British Ministers at Washington refusing to allow the new French cable to be landed upon American territory except upon such conditions as may hereafter be imposed by the Congress and government of the United States. Commenting upon this illiberality the New York Post says:—

"The administration has forbidden the French Atlantic Cable Company to land the end of their cable at Duxbury, or anywhere on our coast. One would think that an intelligent people, much given to commerce, and knowing the value of intercourse with foreign nations, would be but too glad to have foreign capitalists take the risk and expense of a telegraph cable on themselves and would welcome them to our own shores, and give them office-room and 'thank you,' too

"But it seems we must have conditions precedent; two governments must negotiate; diplomatists must set to work, despatches must be written, and solemn agreements made—what for ? What is the importance of agreements, when in case of war, we can at any time cut off the American end of the cable, if the operators fail to observe neutrality ? Is it not of more advantage to us to have one end of a trans-atlantic cable laid here, than to have both laid in foreign countries ? Could we not, in fact, afford to pay something for this advantage ?

"But what is the use of our refusal ? Will it prevent the French company from completing their line ? They have reached St. Pierre on the British American coast. Great Britain and Canada are not so silly as to refuse them permission to land on the main land. It will suit the company more to run a line to St. John or Montreal than to Duxbury; but when they have done so, is not their connection with the United States complete ?

"Or does our government mean to cut our people off from telegraphic communication with Canada also ?

"If we are to exclude telegraphs, we had better begin in earnest to build a wall around our boundaries, blow up the few ships and steamers we have left, and pass a general and stringent non-intercourse act"

The Queen and Mr. Peabody.

(From the Boston Post.)

It would be difficult for any one to pay a more delicate or graceful compliment than that which Queen Victoria has just paid to our munificent countryman, the late Pe body. Mr. Peabody,as is well understood, left England very unexpectedly, and without allowing his departure to be known beyond a narrow circle of friends. But the fact of his embarkation, and of his extreme ly feeble health, found its way into the English journals, and soon came to the knowledge of Her Majesty, who, with that goodness of heart which has always characterized her, and which Americans have never failed to appreciate and admire,gave immediate expression to her feelings in the following autograph note, which we learn, has been received by Mr. Peabody within a few days past, and of which we have been fortunate enough to obtain a copy

WINDSOR CASTLE, June 29, 1869

"The Queen is very sorry that Mr. Peabody's sudden departure has made it impossible for her to see him before he left England, and she is concerned to hear that he has gone in bad health.

"She now writes him a line to express her hope that he may return to this country quite recovered,and that she may then have the opportunity,of which she has now been deprived, of seeing him and offering him her personal thanks for all he has done for the people."

The note was transmitted by Mr. Arthur Helps, the Clerk of the Privy Council, who adds that the Queen also commanded him "to be sure and charge Mr. Peabody to report himself on his return to England."

How much there is in such an act of consideration and kindness on the part of Queen Victoria, towards one whom all Americans are proud of, to soften the asperities growing out of public controversies between the two nations! The exquisite portrait of Her Majesty, which she sent to Mr. Peabody two or three years ago, is now at the Danvers Institute in the same apartment with the beautiful gold medal presented to him by Congress in the name of the people of the United States. But a little note like this, coming so plainly from the Queen's heart, as well as from her own hand, has a significance and a value far above any mere material gifts, however costly.

Hasty Tempers.

We are always ready to to condemn hasty irritable natures. 'How sad, how unfortunate such a temper is!' is an expression constantly used in speaking of an acquaintance, or neighbor. Very sure; but you do not try to find out whether it was born with them or acquiredf—for sorrow or sickness will lean to God or harden the heart. See the anxious, weary mother at the cradle of her sick babe; innumerable cares daily devolving upon her, young voices hourly calling for one thing or another. See the father of a large family, working to support it in comfort; has he no trials? Look at the pale faced woman striving to do her duty; yet ever reproved, ever met with chilling words and looks. Ye who are at ease, in health and wealth, surrounded by friends,can know nothing of and therefore do not realize the misery of such a life. Let us be less severe; let us remember to "do unto others as we would they should do unto us." Cheer the weary mother, give kindness to the aching heart. By thus doing we may reclaim the erring, wandering ones, and reap a reward from him who sitteth high above the heavens.

The death of Lord Taunton is announced by the cable. The deceased will be remembered in this country as the Right Honorable Henry Labouchere, Secretary of State for the Colonies, which post he held for two years and a half. To his efforts Mr. Hincks was indebted for his elevation to the Governorship of the Windward Islands, and on many occasions, while in office, Mr. Labouchere evinced a deep interest in Canada. He was born in London in the year 1798, and was married in 1840, a daughter of Sir Thomas Baring, who died in 1850; and in 1852 he married Lady Mary Matilda Georgina Howard, sister of the present Earl of Carlisle. He was a Lord of the Admiralty from 1832 to 1834; Vice President of the Board of Trade and Master of the Mint from April 1835 to March 1838; Under Secretary for the Colonies from March till August 1839; President of the Board of Trade from March 1839 till September 1841; Chief Secretary for Ireland from July 1846 till 1847; and again President of the Board of Trade from 1847 till March 1858; and Secretary for the Colonies from Nov. 1855 till March 1858. He sat for St. Michael's from 1826 till 1830, and for Taunton from 1830 till 1859, when he was created first Baron of Taunton, and since then had not taken any active part in public affairs

A WEAK WOMAN.—A loving husband once waited on a physician, to request him to prescribe for his wife's eyes which were very sore. "Let her wash them," said the doctor,"" every morning with a small glass of urandy." A few weeks after, the doctor chanced to meet the husband. "Well, my friend, has your wife followed my advice?"

"She has done everything in her power to do it doctor, " said the spouse, "but she never could get the glass higher than her mouth"

— The enforcement of the new liquor law in Massachusetts is producing a great stir, and will be likely to produce a greater one at the next election

FROM COBOURG.

By Special Telegram to the Daily Intelligencer.

PRESS ASSOCIATION.

COBOURG, July 20.—The twelfth annual Press Association met in the County Council Chamber at 10 o'clock a. m. About one hundred members were present. The minutes of last year's meeting were read also a very able address by the retiring President, Mr. Buckingham. The following gentlemen were elected office bearers for the current year: President, David Wylie, Brockville; 1st Vice President, John Cameron, London; 2nd Vice President, A. J. Belch, St. Mary's: Erastus Jason, Newmarket, were re-elected Secretary and Treasurer; James Sommerville, Dundas, Assistant Secretary; Executive Committee, R. Mathieson, Brantford; Wm. Gillespie, Hamilton; Wm. Buckingham, Stratford; Wm. Hailey, Toronto; T. J. Garrett, Ingersoll. Next year's meeting is to take place at Brantford; excursion thence by rail to Buffalo thence by boat to Cleveland, Kelly's Island, Detroit, Lake and River S. Clair, and Barnia, returning via London by rail.

The excursionists leave by special train for Rice Lake, at 1:30 this afternoon.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—The present number contains a more than usually interesting series of fashion plates and descriptions. The letter-press maintains its healthy character, inculcating sound principles and maxims in agreeable tales and sketches.

Town Council.

MONDAY Evening, July 19.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment.

PRESENT.—His Honor the Mayor, Messrs. Henderson, Kennedy, Vair, Vandusen, Walter, Kelso, Tannahill, Holden, and Foster

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved

PETITIONS.

A petition was read from Angus Lanigan asking for aid being an old soldier of 75 years age of.

ACCOUNTS

Several accounts were read, and referred to the several Committees.

REPORTS

The Report of the Committee on Streets and sidewalks was read, and recommended that the petition of John Thompson, Street Surveyor, be compiled with.

The Report of the Committee on Finance was read, recommending the payment of several accounts, and that having considered the petition of M. Bowell, Esq., and Messrs. Miles & Co., respecting the visit of the members of the Press association, which petition was referred to them with directions to report on the best means of meeting the views of the petitioners

In the opinion of the Committee, any appropriation of any proportion of the Town money for the purpose of entertaining in a suitable manner the expected visitors, would be beyond the power of the Council, however desirous the Council should be that such appropriation should be made

The Committee would therefore, suggest to the petitioners the calling of a public meeting in the usual manner, with the view of steps being taken at such meeting by private subscription or otherwise, to give the members of the Association a suitable welcome on their arrival

The Report of the Ferry Committee was then read, recommending that a new lease be furnished Mr. Bogart, allowing him the privilege of running to Big Island on Thurs days

The Reports of the Committees on Finance, Street and Ferry, were then received

The Council went into Committee on Ways and Means. Mr. Henderson in the Chair

Several accounts were ordered to be paid

The Street Committee's report was adopted

Committee rose and reported Report adopted

His Honor, the Mayor having to retire on account of his ill health, Mr. Henderson took the chair

The Report of the Finance Committee was adopted

The Report of the Special Committee on Finance, was then taken up and adopted

— The Austrian government has allotted the sum of 400,000 florins for the purchase of two monitors for river navigation

Lieut.-Colonel Powell, Deputy Adjutant General, left by Saturday's steamer for Europe. It is said he purposes visiting the English and French encampments, in order to post himself as to the modern improvements in camp equipage

— The editor of the Waterbury, Conn., American telegraphed the other day to Col. A. H Fenn, at Plymouth "Send us full particulars of the flood." Fenn replied: "You'll find them in Genesis."

— A meeting was recently held in Memphis, Tenn., of the friends of Galvin and Moody, two condemned murderers, at which it was resolved to give a ball, and use the proceeds in securing a commutation of the sentence passed upon the criminals

Shade Trees.

We call the attention of the Council and our readers to the streets and public grounds of our town, and to their want of shade trees. Several of our citizens have rows of maple in front of their property, but there is no one street lined on both sides with continuous rows of trees. John street, from Hotel to Bridge, is, perhaps, the best shaded street, or the longest shaded part of a street in town. Orange street from end to end is well planted, and will soon be shaded. How grateful to the sun-burnt body is the cooling shade, and pleasant moist atmosphere, afforded by the rows of luxuriant trees, on Bridge street, or on Murney's Hill, when coming from town, such weather as this, and how much one dislikes to leave them and go out under the "broad and garish sun," but lingering with a companion to enjoy a minute more of the shade of the last tree, doubly pleasant because the last. Who have we not more of these beautiful appendages Why should they not be brought under some law and rule, like other public and general matters? The sidewalks for instance, why should the council not take the one matter in hand as well as the other? And either plant all of the streets with trees,or compel each property holder to plant that part in front of his lot

There are many reasons why some steps should be taken towards a general planting of shade trees, not the least cogent one of which is the sanitary one. The food of plants consists wholly of inorganic matter; when the matter decomposes or rots, the leaves seize it floating as gases in and poisoning the atmosphere, and make of it food for the plant or tree. During the day plants absorb carbonic acid, and under the influence of light decompose it; they retain the carbon so destructive, and exhale the oxygen so essential to animal life. Thus they are the great scavengers and purifiers of the air we breathe, and how essential for health is pure air, and without health what can make one happy or comfortable? Nature provides these adjuncts for herself, but the wants of civilization drive the forest further and further back to make room for man and his requirements, and wherever men do most dwell together, there the traces of nature are the more obliterated, there these balances of the atmosphere, these inhalers of—to us deadly poisons, are the more surely eradicated.

How essential then to line the street in which we live, with these ever acting sanitary agents. It is in the quarters inhabited by the poorest class of the community where these agents are worst wanted, and least found. Go along some of the streets in the Plains any day this hot month, and the foul odour rising under a scorching sun, tell the danger to health and the necessity for some means of prevention. If these streets were lined with luxurious foliage, how much of this floating disease would be absorbed to feed the trees which would give back health improving oxygen instead.

So useful, and at the same time so beautiful. How much beauty does it not add to a town, to have its streets lined with twin rows of trees It is in the highest degree ornamental, perhaps there is nothing so much impresses a stranger in favor of a town as this It gives an air of quiet comfort and ease to the place which no other species of ornamentation can afford. How many of us when we go away from home are struck with this as we walk through the streets of some city or town shaded and cooled by the leafy branches of the maple, or chesnut; We say at once, this is a nice town, and we so speak of it when we leave it. Thus the place gets a reputation, and strangers are attracted to it Why can't we make our town more attractive? nature has done much for us It has really a delightful situation, lying on the Bay of Quinte shore, on, and between two hills, separated by the valley of the Moira, we have every facility at hand for making a really beautiful town of Belleville But to do this, some amount of unity of purpose and design is required

So healthful and so beautiful, at the same time so really pleasant, and grateful is the shade of the trees from the mid-day sun, that we really wonder more of these natural, permanent parasols have not been planted on our streets. But the fact that they are not, is what induces us to write these lines. Every one we fancy admits with us something should be done the question is, who shall do it, and how?

Not only are shade trees health giving, beautiful and comfortable, but also profitable; the expense of planting and raising is not much, yet it undoubtedly adds in five years, very much to the value of the lot; any one buying a lot to build upon would give more for it with shade trees around it.

But our large property holders do not seem to be sensible of them or any other advantages derivable from shade trees in front of their property. We believe those who own most property for sale, never expended a shilling in this way, if they can't see the profitable argument, why should the public not insist upon the other grounds on their not only seeing but practising it.

The Court House Hill, the Hospital lot, Grammar School yard, and other public places, are a disgrace to the Town A few dollars would plant them with trees which in a few years, would at least serve to hide their nakedness and our shame. The Court House is nicely situated so as to attract the eye of every stranger coming into Town The hill presents every facility for ornamention at a very slight expense. How much more Town would be improved if all these place were attended to Suppose it was decreed the four terraces a row of trees were planted, each row of a different kind of tree, and nothing more, what a vast improvement this would be to the town and as an improvement, it would tend to increase the value of property three fold. But this is not enough; the hollow in front of the springs, which at a very small cost could be filled so as to form two or more fountains in the lowest terrace. The grass should be laid down in front of the Court House, and more extensive ornamention effected. This property we know, belongs to the County; it lies in the Town, however, and its ornamentation would be for the Town and should be done by it: the County will consent without doubt

So of the Grammar School lot, there are the remains of a good board fence around this property and some few scattered trees. Why do our public guardians let things slide" this way? The Hospital lot, belongs to the Town, and no doubt ultimately will be converted into a public park or garden Why not commence now by planting a double row of trees around it

We do hope to see something done in this matter We are each and every one interested in it. Pic nics, pleasures, picnics, excursions, balls, tea meetings, etc., to receive funds for every other conceivable object? Why cannot we have schemes to raise an ornamentation fund if we cannot get the work done in any other way. The work should not be left to private caprice, because no long next is, the streets will always present an intermittent appearance of tree and blank.

MR. EDITOR,—Forty years ago this day, I landed in Belleville from on board the Steamer 'Sir James Kempt,' H. Gildersleeve, Captain

Forty years ago, there was not a foot of sidewalk in town, nor a drain to carry off the surplus water, and but one bridge

Forty years ago, there were but two brick two story houses, one ditto of brick and stone, now standing on Myers' hill; and one brick Church, on the site, of the present St. Thomas' Church, Rev. Thomas Campbell, Rector; and one small building used by the Methodists, on Pinnacle Street, near where the old Wesleyan Church stands.

Forty years ago, there was but one Sunday School, which was that in the Methodist Church, some fifty scholars, all told

Forty years ago, there was no brick building on Front Street, and of the wooden build ings, but three showed any signs of white paint, and one of yellow paint

Forty years ago, there were not over 700 inhabitants in town

Forty years ago this harvest, wheat brought 80 cts —rye 65 to 40c. peas 40c. oats 20c. potatoes 15 to 20c. per bushel; hay $6 per 2240 lbs. firewood 60c. to $1 per cord, butter 10c., eggs 5c. per doz. and this year before, or 1829, wheat was 50c. per bushel, flour $2.50 per bbl and it cost the farmers two barrels of flour and one dollar in cash, to purchase one barrel of salt.

Forty and forty-one years ago, these were facts well known to the old settlers—What are the facts now

THE HAMILTON LODGE NO. 1134

This Lodge assembled to do honor to the day and all who honor it. It was the most beautiful day for the anniversary ever known, and although this Lodge was only formed a few years ago, and is in a part of the country very recently settled, nearly 100 persons were present on the occasion, and after opening proceedings in the Lodge room, marched in procession to Bro. Thomas Hamilton's, in whose barn an excellent dinner was provided, and subsequently an able and appropriate discourse was delivered by Bro. B. Beddome The company afterwards (preceded by the Band, consisting of drum and fife, tambour ine and triangles), walked out to the lakes called the "Two Sisters" most peaceful and quiet, calm and beautiful, the two ladies looked, never having their temper ruffled by anything but the passing breeze, and reflecting as they do upon their faces, the pure light of heaven. Some little effort at speech-making was here attempted,and three cheers given for Her Majesty the Queen. All agreed that the occasion was the most auspicious, and long to be remembered of all the gather ings that had ever been assembled in that remote but interesting locality

Marmora, July 17th 1869

P S.—The Colors and Regalia, with the other paraphernalia, were taken carefully home until another anniversary shall summon them to take their places in commemoration of the gaining the increase of the rights and liberties of the Protestant religion

— The Hon. Mr. Mitchell, Minister of Marine and fisheries, passed through Montreal on Friday last, en route to Newcastle, where he will spend some time

— Albany has become one of the great lumber marts of the country The lumber business of last year aggregated the sum of $10,000,000

— Intelligence has been received Eastern by England, she will immediately start for India with a fresh crew, which has to be laid between Bombay and Suez

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came, the room was crowded with anxious expectants, the will was opened and to the horror,malice joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion," has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses." It also deserves the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and systematic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading Room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wait Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the magnificent Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Jets d'Eau" and Mount Royal on the right. It cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public.

From the situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has been for such a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

We miss thee in the early morn;
We hear thy voice no more;
We miss thee through the live-long day,
And we thy loss deplore.

We miss thee at the hour of prayer,
For thou didst with us wait,
The covenant bliss of grace to share,
In this our low estate.

We miss thee when our voice we raise,
To worship God above,
For thou didst sing thy Saviour's praise,
And celebrate His love.

We'll meet thee in that happy place,
Where saints shall weep no more;
We'll meet thee through our Saviour's
The triune God adore. [grace,

We sang on earth, we'll sing in Heaven,
The songs before the Throne,
And there the powers of death defy,
Through Jesus' blood alone.

—We take the following item from the last number of the 'Army and Navy Gazette':—The Canadian Government are very active, and anxious to maintain their treaty rights. They have ordered the Canadienne and Druid to cruise in conjunction with her Majesty's ships Niobe, Mallet, Dart, and Minstrel, which are now employed for the protection of British interests in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and Newfoundland, the fishing season in those waters having commenced.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that it does once & does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compounding. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and the need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any mineral drug, they may be taken with safety by any body. The agreeable coating keeps them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fever, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence often all advantages where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him sensibly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thick-

ened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations for the hair dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us out tea and coffee in bottles, at an expense of at least four times what we have now to pay?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which is the simple extracts of herbs or plants and roots, and are as readily prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines will produce a medical preparation that can be served at any other price for four times the amount of money.

We are safe in our persuasion in giving testimonials as to the practicability of, as well as the benefits derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines viz:

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS

OR TONICO REALE

Del Dottore F. P. Ferri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparator at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Receipt, and was awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salutrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the rich and poor, society being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every point.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants Druggists, and Grocers in Canada.

Prepared and sold wholesale by the Proprietor.

A Singular Romance.

How they Manage Certain Matters in Mormondom—Why the Younger Young Came to San Francisco—A Noble woman persecuted by the Saints.

From the San Francisco Chronicle Jour.

There is a romance—a "sensational" announce, if you will—underlying the appearance of Joseph A. Young in San Francisco. It is said that he has come in pursuit of a young lady who not long ago made her escape from Salt Lake City. The lady is pretty, attractive, vivacious, accomplished, and possesses extraordinary talent as an actress, though that talent has never been illustrated anywhere except on the boards of Brigham's theatre at Salt Lake. But though lovely and young, she had strong objection to becoming Mrs. Young. When the Saints brought a powerful pressure upon her to induce her to be sealed," and effectually assured her that "she would be damned if she didn't "she replied that she" would be d——d if she did." Accordingly, as she wouldn't marry, she had to get out of Utah. She came to California, and Joseph came after her. Our financiers bankers, merchants, and newspaper men have been led to believe that Joseph came here on business connected with the Utah Central Railroad, and he has been extensively feted and dined and wined in consequence of that impression—our hospitable and disinterested merchants being beguiled by the pleasing illusion, that their attentions to this scion of the Brigham dynasty might possibly result in the increase of trade between the City of Saints and the City of Sinners at San Francisco.

JOSEPH'S STATUS AT HOME—HOW HIS HOSPITABLE ENTERTAINERS HAVE BEEN SOLD.

But the fact is, Joseph is regarded at home as a lost sheep and a prodigal son. He does not stand high in the good graces of his august father, who would never dream of intrusting him with an important business mission. He has no influence or standing at home, where he is regarded simply as a particularly fast young man more addicted to pleasure than to business, and better qualified for distinguishing himself at billiards than at bargains. The very pleasant gentlemen, therefore, who have been paying particular attention to this branch of the Young family under the idea that something was to be made out of it, will find they have slipped up.

MISS ALEXANDER'S CAREER IN UTAH.

Though brought up from her childhood in the midst of Mormon society and under Mormon influences, Miss Alexander always entertained a strong repugnance to Mormon ideas Having a decided talent for the stage and an early developed taste for acting, she was induced to appear at Brigham's theatre. She made her debut in character of Matilda Peppercorn, in the farce of "Marriage at any price," in October, 1863. Her beauty, grace and vivacity, together with the talent manifested, made her first attempt a complete success. Several of the Mormon magnates fell desperately in love with her, and she immediately became the victim of "attentions" and persecutions which she could not have resisted, had she not possessed remarkable individuality and strength of character, and had not Brigham himself, who admired her talents and considered her an indispensable ornament of his pet theatre, extended to her a certain measure of protection. At length however, the pressure brought to bear upon her became so strong that she was obliged to make her escape from the City of the Saints.

A curious discovery was made at Cracow with the other day, during the renovation of the monument of King Casimir the Great, the last member of the Pinat dynasty, known in Polish history "as the King of the Peasants and the Jews." One of the workmen having struck the pedestal with his hammer in order to test its strength several bricks fell out, leaving an opening through which the interior of the pedestal, which is quite hollow, was clearly visible. On enlarging the opening it was found that Casimir's coffin, which rested on four iron bars, had rolled away and that the remains had fallen to the ground On the skull was a crown of gilt copper in the shape of a plain circlet surmounted by five lilies. Near this was a silver gilt sceptre, and near the feet a pair of large copper spurs. The body was covered with a shroud of thick silk, which is still in tolerably good condition A subscription had been opened in order to make a new coffin for the remains of this celebrated Polish hero, and offerings have already been received for this purpose from parts of Russian, Prussian and Austrian Poland

The advocates of woman's rights have had an acknowledgement of the righteousness of their claims which we believe they are hardly aware of, so little notice has it attracted from the press either in England or here. A very important step has been taken in the British House of Commons towards that consummation on which Mr. Mill has so earnestly advocated. The new Municipal Act gives females the right of voting, and they will consequently now have a voice in the election of their aldermen and other municipal officers. They have also the right to vote in vestry under part of the election of Overseers, and other wise as fully as men have heretofore done. Only however those females who are assessed for separate property, and who are unmarried, can exercise the newly conferred privilege.

Power of the Ocean Tides.

"It is said that there is power enough in the rise and fall of the tide to drive all the machinery that man would ever have occasion to use." This paragraph, from one of the April numbers of the Journal of Mining, is a most suggestive one, and the Engineering and Mining Journal considered from a mechanical and utilitarian point of view, we propose to show by a comparison.

In many parts of the world the rise and fall of the tide is considerable. In the Bay of Fundy, 70 feet at the mouth of the Severn and at St Malo, France, 46 feet at Guernsey and Jersey, 32 to 38 feet at the mouth of the Scheld, 20 feet and along the coast of Holland, from 10 to 16 feet in the Adriatic, only 2½ feet while in the rest of the Mediterranean the tides are scarcely perceptible; along the east coast of the United States the tides vary from 4 to 10 and 20 feet

As the original tide wave is generated in the Pacific Ocean, and moves westward with the apparent motion of sun and moon it is clear that gulfs having their mouths tunnel shaped, and opposed to the direction of the tidal wave, like the Red Sea, will have a strong tide. As the tide wave moves from the Pacific Ocean around the Cape of Good Hope, and then northward in the Atlantic Ocean, the same peculiarities are observed—any gulf having its mouth toward the south, and tunnel shaped, like the Bay of Fundy, will have a strong tide, and where the gulf is narrow, like that of Chesapeake Bay, the tide wave will be less high than in the open ocean. When the tide wave reaches any place on the coast from two sides, as is often the case behind large islands, the effect will be to increase or diminish its height, according as the high tides coincide, or the high and low tides neutralize one another.

We have no space to apply these rules to the numerous special localities, from observations of which they have been deduced, but they serve to show that the subject has been thoroughly investigated, and is as well understood as any other in physical geography. The power exerted by the tides every day along the thousands of miles of sea coast is especially remarkable, as it is the only natural force directly dependent on gravitation, which owes nothing to the heat of the sun, itself a result of gravitation and in its turn the cause of all other force on the surface of our planet, either wind or water-power, steam power, or the power of animals

To estimate the power of the tides, all that is necessary is the consideration of the sun and moon (principally of the latter) acting in opposition to terrestrial gravitation, elevates the surface of a large portion of the ocean, nearly twice in twenty-four hours, to the mean height of two feet. The extent of surface thus raised may be seen down at 100,000,000 square miles, or one half the surface of the earth, taking this a 200,000,000 of square miles, of which the ocean occupies about three-fourths, are 100,000,000. Every square mile of water two feet thick contains nearly 60,000,000 cubic feet, or 3,840,000,000 pounds of water, and this, multiplied by 100,000,000, the number of square miles affected by the tide, gives the enormous number of 768,000,000,000,000,000 foot pounds exerted every 12½ hours or 750 minutes, which gives per minute a power of 100,000,000,000,000 foot pounds. Dividing this by 33,000 to reduce it to horse power, we obtain nearly 3,000,000,000,000 horse power as the total power of the tide wave over the whole surface of the earth

Only a small portion of this power, however, can be made available—namely, that which is spent on the sea coasts of continents and islands

A former Zouave in the Papal army contributes to the Etherfield Gazette a sickening account of the state of the troops and the way in which they are treated. Last year 700 soldiers deserted, 150 of whom were unfortunately retaken. When the deserters are led back to his company. "Generally a rope is in readiness which has lain three days in salt and water. The whole company is then marched past the bench to which their comrade is bound, and each must give him a blow. He may consider himself fortunate if the company consists of 100 men, for then the smallest number of strippes is given. He is then kept eight hours with his hand and feet bound together across his back. Afterwards the doctor comes who examines, declares that he must be sent to the hospital. In a single company seven hundred were thus punished in a short time, some of whom required at least eight weeks in the hospital before he could walk. One was so injured as to be disabled for life, and it is said to have died.

A young lady explained to a printer one day the distinction between printing and publishing, and at the conclusion of her remarks, by way of illustration, she said "You may print a kiss upon my cheek, but you must not publish it

Reform in Military Accoutrements.

We are informed that some valuable alterations in the knapsacks and accoutrements of the army have been sanctioned, and are now being carried out. A water proof valise, without frame and of light weight, is to supersede the present knapsack. The valise is supported on the lower portion of the soldier's back in the following manner: From the waist belt a short strap on each side passes to a ring, from which a broad strap, passing over the shoulders, crosses with its fellow on the upper part of the back, like an ordinary pair of braces, and catching the corner of the valise by a buckle, runs under the arm to the opposite ring from which it started. Another short strap passing posteriorly from the ring to the lower angle of the valise secures it to the man's body. In front, upon the waist belt, is carried the pouch for ammunition, which can be shifted to one side so as to allow the waist belt to be opened. This equipment is very easy, and leaves the chest perfectly free. It supplies many of the most essential requirements of military duties—simplicity and durability, lessened risk of damage, and facility for removal or readjustment. The soldier can put it on and off like his coat, by simply unfastening the waist-belt, or it will remain like a garment on his shoulders, although left open in front. The great coat is carried above the valise, and in no way interferes with the general arrangement. By this equalization and arrangement of weights the position of the soldier for drill, heavy exertion, personal conflict, is materially improved. In the latter case, the weights being below the centre of gravity, an extra steadiness is obtained which was so evidently deficient in the case of the old equipment, "the monkey on the back," as old soldiers term the knapsack. On active service two pouches are carried in front to contain each twenty rounds of ammunition, and a ball bag is also supplied to hold loose cartridge for rapid firing, whilst in the valise there is accommodation for twenty extra rounds.

An infantry soldier in time of war now carries something over fifty-six pounds in weight. This is, of course, lessened during peace, but it is strongly recommended by Professor Parkes still further to reduce the articles ordinarily forming part of the 'kit,' and his views, if accepted, diminish the weight to thirty-six pounds, whilst the soldier would yet have everything necessary for his comfort.

It is also determined to issue to each man a separate canvas bag for surplus articles of clothing and necessaries, in lieu of the present "squad bag," which is available for twenty five men. This, it is anticipated, will encourage the soldier in habits of care and neatness.

United States Neutrality.

A letter addressed to the Cuban "Secretary of State" for Foreign Affairs, and written by the Secretary of the Cuban Junta, was quite recently intercepted on its destination. It gives the reader a curious idea of the way in which the United States Government enforced its neutral relations:—

During the past month we have had the satisfaction to send you three expeditions. We know that two have successfully landed, one in the Bay of Nipe, the other in the port of Nuevas Grandes. The first was unable to land all the material sent, but we believe that what was landed will prove of great help to you. We are occupied in getting up another expedition that will take back the unlanded material, and more arms, besides such other things as are needed in your armies, such as clothing, shoes and powder. We hope that soon you will have all with you.

We do not know whether the third expedition sent has arrived. It was the first to leave here, but was forced to stop in a North Carolina port, from which it left on May 19, and, as the Spanish government has not announced its capture, it is highly probable that it has been successful, and that you to-day have a thousand guns or more and a quantity of ammunition. This expedition was fitted out by a speculator, who ran all risks. The Junta advanced him $8,000, and agreed to pay him double the value of the arms, should they be made to reach one of the leaders of the revolution.

The Junta has never fitted out, and will never fit out an expedition in a sailing vessel. It's two that have proven successful were in steamers, as well as the first that Citizen Francisco Javier Cisneros commanded. The Mary Lowell, that was captured in English waters, left here to unite with the steamer Henry Burden, that should have taken the cargo on board, and then continue the voyage to Cuba, but the treachery of the captain of the steamer destroyed the combined plan and caused the failure of the expedition. Citizen Francisc J. Cisneros must have given you a full account of what occurred.

In the course of a few days we shall send another expedition to the Cinco Villas to arm and increase the force there, and to carry the revolutionary movement to the district of Colon, Cardenas, and Matanzas, that way we shall not only withdraw powerful elements from the Spaniards, but also procure that the Peninsulars, that to-day govern in that district, shall clamor for peace.

Up to the present time we have not done more because of the scarcity of our resources. The expeditions are very costly.—That to the Bay of Nipe, with the freight of the steamer, cost more than $120,000, and the expenses of the one that is soon to leave will exceed $150,000.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, JULY 21

CRICKET.—A match will be played tomorrow (Thursday), First Eleven of Belleville vs. Twenty-two; game to commence at 1 o'clock.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.—The Moonlight Excursion by the steamer Prince Edward which was first spoken of as to come off tomorrow, will take place on Tuesday evening the 27th inst.

PUBLIC MEETING.—The inhabitants are reminded of the public meeting to night at the Town Hall, to take some steps towards celebrating laying the corner stone of the Deaf and Dumb Institute. Let there be a good attendance

WHEAT ORDERS FROM FRANCE AND NEW ORLEANS.—Heavy orders for Nos. 1 and 2 wheat are being received at New Orleans from France—more than can be filled there. Orders for 100,000 bushels of No. 1 have been received within a few days.

EMIGRANTS.—Eleven cars of emigrants passed West per Grand Trunk Railway today; 350 of the emigrants are Germans and are bound for the Western States; the remainder, 150 are English, and are destined for different parts of Ontario.

GORE BANK.—The report of the Gore Bank of the year ending 30th June, states that the capital has been reduced to $485,-556, making the shares $24, instead of $40; the gross earnings for the year were $43,-816. Bad debts and unrealizable assets have been written off pretty freely, indicating the determination of the directors to place the bank on a thoroughly sound basis.

A BENEVOLENT MOVEMENT.—Mr. A. T. Stewart has just purchased eleven square miles of territory known as the Hempstead Plains, for the sum of $400,000. On this plot he proposes to erect houses for the million. He will fix a fair price for the land, and the first cost of improvements, and sell the whole on time to those who have been thrifty enough to save a little money. The scheme is grand, and may prove a great boon to a needy, numerous and most deserving class of the citizens of the great Gotham.

MURDER.—On the evening of the 5th July inst., John Real was beaten by Patrick Murray of Tyendinaga, from the effects of which he died on the 19th inst. An inquest was held before Coroner John P. McDonnell, and from the evidence adduced, the Jury returned the following verdict. "That the deceased John Real came to his death from, and by the blows given him by Patrick Murray."—Dr. Lister made a post mortem examination of the body, and his evidence was to the effect that death was the result of violence.—The Coroner immediately issued his warrant for the arrest of Murray, who has left for parts unknown. We are requested by the Coroner to state that on account of the proper authorities not paying the Crown expenses in telegraphing to the different Stations, no notice has been sent either east or west to arrest the murderer.

DISGRACEFUL.—The Hamilton Times and Spectator complain of gross partiality having been exhibited in the distribution of invitations from Oswego entrusted to a prominent gentleman of that City. The Times thus states the case; "After the City Council and Board of Trade of Oswego had determined upon giving the visit of the Press Association to that city important significance, a quantity of invitations were issued for prominent public men of the Province, outside of the Press, to visit Oswego on the same occasion, the distribution of which was entrusted to Mr. Capreol, of Toronto, by the Secretary of the Oswego Committee That gentleman has been pleased to send four to Hamilton, two to London, and twenty-six are given out about Toronto, a portion of the recipients being connected with the Press, and having no occasion to encroach upon the invitations intended for other hands. The partiality displayed in the matter is simply disgraceful, and from what has been said, Toronto will be permitted to run the affair exclusively." The Leader takes up the case of the Toronto gentleman to-day and endeavours to exonerate him but only makes the matter worse

Ho! for the Sea Breeze.

We are given to understand that the St. George's Society of the town intend having an excursion to Portland early next month. The return tickets will be $9, available for 15 days. The wild and romantic scenery of Vermont, New Hampshire and White Mountains, as well as the magnificent harbor of Portland, are well worth a visit.

The beautiful scenery in the vicinity of Portland and the facilities for sea-bathing have many attractions for the robust as well as the invalid

We have no doubt that large numbers will avail themselves of the cheap trip, and that the benevolent funds of the Society will be largely benefitted

—Miss Lewis, the Grace Darling of America, finds it anything but comfortable to be a heroine. Her house is constantly besieged by curious and inquisitive people anxious to see so brave a woman. As many as one hundred persons have visited her in a day. If this is not paying a penalty for fame what is it? She has been the recipient thus far, of gifts to the value of $600.

Notes by the Way.

COBOURG, July 20, 1869.

A trip by rail just now along the frontier of Canada, is as enjoyable as a walk through some beautiful garden. The country presents a perfect picture of loveliness The hill sides are clothed with richest verdure —the valleys and plains are covered with grass and grain of the most luxuriant growth—the forests still retain the coloring which Spring put on, only the foliage seems more dense and strong—the orchards are already bending their branches to the earth with the fruit which will soon be ripe and golden—the immense fields of tall grain, which are already turning white unto the harvest, swept by the wind, look like the great lake when it is ruffled by a gentle breeze—the creeks and streams winding their tortuous course through the meadows, rippling along their pebbly beds, or rushing over the rapid fall, or tumbling down the hill-side, add a beautiful scene to the panorama which Nature spreads out before us at this season of the year. Then there is the broad, blue bosom of Ontario, on which are seen the sail of many vessels, and along the shore of which we rapidly pass by hamlet and village and town.—There is the pretty village church, and the neat brick school house, nestling in the valley, or standing at the "Four Corners," and the snug farm-house with its comfortable out-buildings, and the highly cultivated farms, and the beautifully ornamented grounds, and the gardens from which come the perfume of a thousand flowers. Then on this panoramic scene, let fall the rays of the setting sun as they glimmered last evening through streaks of light, feathery clouds, which seemed like bars of burnished gold, and if you do not love Nature more, and your Country more, and your Maker more, after having witnessed it, then you can have very little appreciation of the beauties of Nature, and the precious gifts which Heaven has so bounteously bestowed upon mankind.

This morning after strolling though the Town which was not yet more than half awake, my companion and I wandered down to the lake shore, as we had often wandered in years gone by, to gather pebbles and throw them one by one away. As we listlessly strolled along the beach, now and then throwing small stones way out into the water, and watching them skim over the surface as we used to throw them and watch them in childhood's sunny hours, reminiscences of those happy days came back, and we lived our young lives over again. It seemed as if in one brief hour, though nought was said by either, that the years came back to us one by one, the months one by one, the weeks one by one, and the days by one by one, and we half forgot that grey hairs were mingling with the brown, that lines were marking the foreseed whichare every year becoming more distinct, that we had passed the summit and were going down the hill. But the dream was of brief duration. The reminiscences of the early days vanished as quickly as the mist on the lake vanished before the rays of the morning sun and the stiff breeze which came fresh from the southern shore, and we looked back to the summit and then way down into the valley beyond, and wondered whether the descent would not be swifter than the ascent, whether the down grade would not be more rapid than the up grade, and what would be the end! And we wandered back to the hearthstone from which we had gone long years before, and the aged ones were still there with their locks white as the driven snow, and their hearts white and pure as a long and pure life could make them; and as we gathered around the family altar and listened to the tremulous tones of one whose self denying, devoted life has brought him very near to the One whom he faithfully serves, we wondered whether it would be as peaceful with us as with him when the sun of our life began to sink, when the lamp had just burned to its socket. Not far from the other shore, their life has been such that already they can catch glimpses of the golden streets of the new Jerusalem, and it will be an easy matter for them to step into the dark valley, for they know there is One who will lead them up out of it in triumph into the better land.

THE PRESS ASSOCIATION.

At ten o'clock, as already published, the annual meeting of the Canadian Press Association took place in Victoria Hall, at this place. The representation was large and influential, and although there were a number of new men, many old and familiar faces were there. Wylie of the Recorder; Buckingham of the Beacon; Gilles pie of the Spectator; Jackson of the Era; Harris of the Gazette; Cameron of the Advertiser; Sommerville of the Banner; Miles of the Chronicle; Messenger of the Sachem; Kennedy of the Courier; Maclean of the Globe; and then there were McDougall and Campbell and others who have storetime been the life and the soul of the Association, and who still contribute greatly to its prosperity The meeting was a pleasant one, and its influence will be good. The effect of these annual gatherings, the acquaintances and friendships formed, the interchange of sentiment, has already produced a wonderful change in the manner of conducting the newspaper press. There is less of personal bickerings, the tone of the press is healthier, loftier and purer, and while they foster ambition to excel, the little courtesies due from one to the other are not forgotten, and the dignity of the profession is not sacrificed. The President, Mr. Buckingham, delivered an able address before the association, which we will give to our readers in a day or two

In the afternoon the members of the Association were invited to a trip to Rice Lake, by the Cobourg and Marmora Railway Company, and although the weather was very unfavorable, about two hundred, ladies included, availed themselves of the invitation. The management of this part of the programme was intrusted to our old friend, James R. Barber, Esq., Superintendent of the Road; and to say that he did everything to contribute to the enjoyment of the company, is only saying what every one who knows him will heartily subscribe to. The trip, a distance of about fifteen miles, occupied about forty minutes, and the stay in the vicinity, which lasted about two hours, was as enjoyable as could be expected under a drenching rain, which continued nearly all the afternoon. Some of the party went for a ride on the Lake by a steamer, which had kindly been placed at their disposal by the Railway Company; others visited the two large saw mills in the immediate vicinity; and others made themselves as merry and happy as jolly dogs could be under the circumstances At five o'clock the whole party repaired to a large shed, which had been specially erected for the occasion, where a sumptuous lunch awaited them. This luncheon had been provided by the Town Council of Cobourg, which voted $150 for that purpose, and the members of which Corporation accompanied the excursion, and contributed in no small measure to the pleasure of the party. Shortly after seven o'clock the whistle sounded and soon all were aboard, and after a trip of about forty minutes were at the Cobourg station. We must not forget to mention that Cobourg, in honor of the visit of the Association, put on a holiday appearance. There was a very liberal display of bunting not only from public buildings and vessels in the harbor, but from private residences, and at different points on the Main street streamers were strung across the street.—The Cobourg Band accompanied the party to Rice Lake, and discoursed eloquent music, not only there and back, but at intervals during the day and the evening.

The 'Conversazione' in the evening was a very successful affair. This morning the party was to start by the Norseman for Rochester, thence by rail to Syracuse and Oswego, and from thence to Kingston and Belleville, arriving here on Friday evening, from which point they will go to their homes on Saturday. A special reporter from this office is with the party, who will continue an account of the trip from the time they left Cobourg.

EFFECTS OF THE EMIGRATION MISSION.—The Kingston News says:—"We have fresh proofs of the good service which the Special Commissioner on Emigration for this Province is rendering for Canada in the North of Scotland. Mr. White recently addressed a meetiag in Paisley, and apparently created a most favorable impression for Canada because he refused to characterize the country as a land flowing with milk and honey, but plainly told his hearers that it was a country of hard work, and that if they emigrated to Canada they would have to labor incessantly and live frugally, but would finally have their reward in making themselves independent. A club of Paisley weavers has been formed to emigrate in a body, and settle in a neighborhood on adjoining lands it possibis. These people look forward to being able to grow their own food, and to spin and weave their own clothes. If they are of the requisite energy and stamina, they will form a useful addition to our population, and will be warmly welcomed in the new settlements.

A MODEL CORONER.—They have a coroner out in Pike County, Penn., and we consider his charge to the jury summoned to investigate the cause of the Erie disaster as the greatest event which has happened in that State since the battle of Gettysburgh. It reads thus:—"Gentlemen of the Jury—You are called here to-day on a case of more than common importance. It is your imperative duty to learn how these persons came to their death. I demand it. Pike County demands it; the commonwealth of Penn. demands it; and we will have it." There is a terseness in this Anglo-Saxon which makes every man feel like shouting, "and I, too, will have it"

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and sunable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

THE BRITISH NORTH AMERICAN PROVINCES.

Washington, July 20.—The Commissioner of the General Land Office has just addressed a letter to the Crown Land Commissioner of the Dominion of Canada, enclosing with the letter a map of all British North America, north of the United States boundary line, and has requested that officer to delineate on the map the exact outline of the Dominion of Canada and the several constituent Provinces. He has also requested the Crown Land Commissioner to furnish information concerning the purpose of the British Government to extinguish the interest of the Hudson's Bay Company on the continent; and whether it is the purpose of the British Government to attach that region of country to the Dominion of Canada, and if not, under what separate organization it will be established, and what will be the seat of legislative, executive and judicial power if it should not be annexed. A singular coincidence connected with the above is that the officer charged with the surveys and management of the Crown Lands in the Hudson Bay Territory, has called upon the commissioner Wilson for reports calculated to give him complete information of the system affecting the original survey of Townships in the Western and North Western States It is thought that the American system of surveys will be the best to use in the country

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the means and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than anything else

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" dictates the well for its future success everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and system etc. corridors.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading Room, convenient Dining Coffee, Waiting Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Rooms and Suites of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all large, ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House

Being situated on the wide and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Acts of Kings" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre, the "New Albion" cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the usual price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from

We, therefore, respeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men, when its elements become reduced from any cause what ever, the system suffers, the weakest part being generally affected, and a feeling of languor, lassitude, and all gone-ness pervades the system. Stimulants only afford temporary relief, and know from experience that getting a tired horse the whip cannot of course. The true remedy is to supply medicine with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

PERUVIAN SYRUP.

A protected solution of the protoxide of Iron, which is so prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system

To take medicine and receive no benefit is caused by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

An eminent divine says, "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and its clarity of music."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass.

Marjorie's Almanac.

BY E. D. ADEE.

Robins in the tree-tops,
Blossoms in the grass,
Green things a-growing,
Everywhere you pass;
Sudden little breezes,
Showers of silver dew
Black bow all budded twig
Budding out now!
Pine tree and willow tree
Fringed elm and larch
Don't you think that May-time's
Pleasanter than March?

Apples in the orchard
Mellowing one by one
Strawberries upturning
Soft cheeks to the sun
Roses, fairer with sweetness
Later fall of tree
Downy scents and murmurs
Haunting every piece.
Lengths of golden sunshine,
Moonlight bright as day
Don't you think that Summer's
Pleasanter than May?

Roger in the corn-patch,
Whistling negro songs;
Patsy by the hearth-side,
Romping with the tongs
Chestnuts in the ashes,
Bursting through the rind
Red leaf and gold leaf,
Rustling through the wind
Mother "doin' peaches"...
All the afternoon—
Don't you think that Autumn's
Pleasanter than June?

Little fairy snow-flake
Dancing in the sun;
Old Mr. Santa Claus,
What is keeping you?
Twilight and firelight,
Shadows come and go;
Merry chime of sleigh bells,
Tinkling through the snow;
Mother's knitting stockings,
(Patsy got the ball!)
Don't you think that Winter's
Pleasanter than all?

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and know that what it does once is does always —that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compound. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box for the following complaints, which these Pills quickly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor, and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice, or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Tonic Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels laterally well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Fadel or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Instances like this are frequently occurring, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the gland atrophied and decayed. But restoratives like this may be saved for usefulness in this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently preserve its youthfulness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not oil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The Appetite for Tobacco Destroyed.
Leave off Chewing and Smoking the Poisonous Weed Tobacco

ORTON'S PREPARATION!
ESTABLISHED 1865.

One box of Orton's Preparation is warranted to destroy the appetite for Tobacco, or the money will be refunded. Less in all cases. It is perfectly safe and harmless in any quantity. Directions given how to leave off the use of Tobacco. Nothing is more wrong than to bear witness to the fact that Orton's Preparation completely destroys the appetite for tobacco, and leaves the person as free from any desire for it, as before he commenced its use. Directly upon the same it affected by tobacco and blood thoroughly cleansed of from the system and all unnatural cravings for tobacco after taken. Recollect it is guaranteed.

The time taken to allay all desire for Tobacco by the use of this Preparation varies slightly in different persons, the average being about Five days. Some have no craving for Tobacco after using the Preparation Two days.

The Health and Purse of every Tobacco user in the country call loudly, ABANDON THE USE OF TOBACCO.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that we have used Orton's Preparation for the purpose of destroying the appetite for Tobacco, and can assure those who are suffering from this habit that Orton's Preparation will certainly destroy the appetite for Tobacco entirely and permanently, without any bad effect upon the health, and without creating an appetite either for the Preparation or any substitute.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and all articles purporting to be like this. All are false and worthless.

The great popularity of Orton's Preparation has induced unprincipled persons to attempt palming upon the public counterfeit and inferior articles. Purchasers will please order directly from the proprietor, or his duly authorized Agents. ☜

The price of Orton's preparation is $2.00 per box, or three boxes for $5, sent by mail to any part of the country, securely sealed from observation, with passage paid on receipt of price.

How to send Money by Mail.—Enclose the amount in a letter, seal carefully, register the letter, and take a receipt for it of your Postmaster. Money sent by mail is at risk only as my risk. An Agent wanted in every town

The Auditor-General for Ontario

[From the Leader.]

It is just as we expected. Mr. Cayley's appointment as Auditor General has given the Globe newspaper a fresh attack of bile. The attack is indeed particularly bad this time. No matter that Mr. Geo. Brown has for the past five years been hobnobbing with the "Tories" of Toronto who could bring him into good society; no matter that time and again he has partaken of Mr. Cayley's salt and condoned for his previous attacks upon him. Shylock's is his nature; the venom is in his marrow, and it had to come out. He is worse than the Jew who insisted upon his pound of flesh, and ought to be scouted by decent society.

Anything more despicable than Mr. Brown's attack—for impersonal though the press of Canada it is, just as well to father such ruffianism upon the right person and remonstrate the decent men of the establishment in which the rejected of South Ontario is the "Managing Director"—can not well be imagined. Ever; single transaction of a financial character, or otherwise, which occurred whilst Mr. Cayley held office, is blackened and made to lie at the feet of that gentleman. We thought we had heard a great deal about the gross "jobs" of "John A., Cartier & Galt," all at once the whole catalogue of sins is transferred to poor Mr. Cayley, and him alone. We shall not follow Mr. Geo. Brown in his dastardly attack. It would not be difficult to show that even if the record was as black as painted—and God forbid that any one but a disappointed political tyrant and Pariah would make believe that he thought so—Mr. Cayley had but a small share of the responsibility upon him. The truth is, Mr. Geo. Brown does not forget that scene in the Committee Room of the House of Assembly here, when Mr. Cayley, in the provoked exasperation of the moment, flung an inkstand at his head, because of his ruffianly exclamation, "Now, who told the lie?" The remembrance sticks in his gizzard

Mr. George Brown says there is no one who will believe Mr. Cayley's audit. He mistakes. Infinitely more would believe it than they would the man who, in 1861, withdrew from public life, and then, when his dupes in the country presented him with a printing office, went up into Oxford and ran against the nominee of the Reform Convention; who, later still, retired from public life again, and made the Toronto convention of 1864 a pretext for breaking his promise and running against Mr. Gibbs in South Ontario—one whom not a single man who has had any experience in political life would trust, an quietest and an Ishmaelite. This is the man who, forsooth, with an ex cathedra air, talks about the character of another. The fact is, Mr. Cayley is one of the most scrupulously exact men in the country—a man whose word is as good as his bond and who has some conscience—a thing that cannot be said of Mr. George Brown.

We knew that Mr. Cayley would be made the subject of attack, and simply because he was not a Clear Grit when in politics Mr. Brown has deceived himself too long on this point. The Macdonald-Carling Government is not a party Government. It acts from what it considers higher motives. The Clear Grits are all for "party, party, party." They denounce dual representation in the interests of the country, but they practice it in the interests of their party. Mr. Sandfield Macdonald has selected Mr. Cayley for the office of Auditor General, because he is the best qualified man in the Province for the position. Who would the Clear Grits have selected? Will they point us to a man in their ranks who is fit for the office? The Local Government of Ontario has up to this time acted upon the principle of selecting the best men for every position. The result is a surplus in the Treasury to-day of far more than a million of dollars, the consequence of the strictest economy in every branch of the public service. We suspect this is what the people of Ontario want more than party. And we are satisfied that whoever may cry out against it, the Government will not be diverted from their settled purpose, and least of all when one so characterless as Mr. Geo. Brown acts as trumpeter.

The New York Home Journal of the 17th, in its "Society News," says:—"Quebec is to have a grand diamond wedding next month, preparations for which on an elaborate scale are now in progress. The contracting parties are highly connected, move in aristocratic circles in Canada, and possess great wealth. The wedding will be solemnized in the Cathedral."

Here is one of the results of the coal strike in Pennsylvania coupled with the present high price of anthracite. The Boston Traveller understands that some of the leading manufacturing companies in the Eastern States are experimenting on Cumberland coal in the place of anthracite, and pronounce it a success as regards quality and price.

To One who will Understand.

I may something to comfort you for the loss of your little one." This is what you asked of me. Nothing I could say now, my friend, would comfort you, because you are stunned, and must have time to lift your head and look about you. Then you will see myriads of little graves beside your own darlings, and myriads of mothers who have passed through the same Gethsemane, where you are now weeping tears of blood. Each of these mothers has cried out like yourself, "What sorrow was ever equal to my sorrow!" What is that to me? you ask. Listen. Many of these mothers are now thanking God every day of their lives, that their little ones are safe from the fearful earthly storms that have since come with desolating sweep over their hearthstones. Humbly they say, "Ah! I little knew, though my Maker did, when he folded my baby safely to his protecting breast, what was in the future." Well, some day you too will cease to weep—growing unselfish—and reaching forth further each day your supplicating hands toward that heavenly home where there shall be "no more death." Having your treasure there, there will be your heart also. Said a sweet young mother to me, "Once I used to cry always, at twilight, that I must some day die. Now that my baby is gone, death has no terrors for me, for there I shall be happy with her again—and for ever."

Let those who can, rob her of this beautiful faith. When the sun shines only on the graves wept over by others, they can stand erect and say, "This world is good enough for me. I don't want any better." But see, if with the first falling clod on some dear, cold, still breast, "My God" will not come as involuntarily to their lips as "Mother" to the little child's, when pain overtakes it away from her protecting side.

The shining lock—the little shoe—my friend, it is long years since I shed a tear over mine. I can take them out of their wrappings in my hand, and smile to think that I am so far on my journey that I shall soon see my little one face to face. Whether she or I will be the child when we meet again, God only knows; or what heavenly mysteries I shall learn, kneeling at my baby's feet, I cannot tell; but this I know, by the kisses I have given many a little face since she died, for her dear sake, that a mother's love was meant to reach far beyond the grave.

FANNY FERN.

A Sad Speech.

One of the saddest and most touching speeches that we ever read is that of the venerable poet William Cullen Bryant at the late commencement of Williams College. Being called upon to speak at the annual dinner, he said

"It has occurred to me, since I, in the decline of life, came to visit once more this seat of learning in which our youth are trained to succeed us on the stage of the world, that I am in the situation of one, who standing on a spot desolate with winter and dim with twilight, should be permitted by a sort of miracle to look upon a neighboring region glorious with the bloom of Spring and bright with the beams of morning. On the side where I stand are herbless fields and leafless woods, pools sheated with ice, a frozen soil, and the shadows of approaching night. On the side to which I look emerald meadows, fields of spring wheat, orchards in bloom, transparent streams, and a genial sunshine. With me, it is too late for any further hopeful tillage, and if the plough were put into the ground its coulter would be obstructed by the ice-bound sods. On the side to which I look I see tokens of judicious cultivation and careful attendance, recompensed by a free and promising growth. I rejoice at the kindly care thus bestowed, and my hope and prayer is that under such auspices all the promise which meet my eyes may be amply fulfilled, and that from these luxuriant fields a harvest may be gathered richer and more abundant than has yet been stored in the granaries of our land.

These words are full of poetry, but it seems like the poetry of despair. The apparent contrast between age and youth was never more forcibly presented. Were this the utterance of a less sincere man than Mr. Bryant, we should think that some what of truth was intentionally sacrificed for the sake of strengthening this contrast, so much that is beautiful and attractive seems omitted from his picture of old age.

THE SEA SERPENT ONCE MORE.—A pilot boat of Boston saw the sea serpent on the evening of July 4, off Cape Ann, about 12 miles from that place. He was from 60 to 80 feet in length, lifted himself up out of the water a good length, and took things very coolly. It was calm at the time, and those in the boat are sure it was a genuine monster of the serpent school. A patriotic specimen, perhaps. The 'old salts who saw it believe it a living thing, but have refrained from reporting the same, lest it might be classed among the stories

Flirtations of Married Women.

The innocent flirtations of married women is one of the abominations of modern society. Even a desire for promiscuous admiration is wrong in a wife. The love of one and his approval should be all that she ought to desire. Let her be ever so beautiful, it is a disgusting and appalling sight to see her decorating that beauty for public gaze; to see her seeking the attention of senseless fops around, and rejoicing in the admiration of other eyes than those of her husband. Her beauty should be for him alone, and not for the gaze of the fools that flutter around her. There is always among the sedate and wise a suspicion of disgust when a married lady attempts to ensnare or entrap young men by a profuse display of her charms, or an unlicensed outlay of her smiles are loathsome to the indifferent beholder; and the trail of the serpent is over them.

—The Hon. Mr. McDougall, Minister of Public Works, related the following anecdote of the good effects of abstemious living, in the course of his address to the electors of his county, at McDonald's Corners on Dominion Day:—While lately in England with Sir G. E. Cartier, as many of those present were aware, he had been attacked with a dangerous fever, which proved to be of a very malignant type.—When the doctor arrived his first inquiry from Sir George was whether the patient was addicted to the use of liquor. Sir George answered that there was always one fault he had to Mr. McDougall, that he was always too abstemious in his habits, as he considered that a little good wine was a very excellent thing. The doctor's face at once brightened up at this announcement, and he stated that he was glad the sick man was one of the character described, since in that case there was some hope for him, but on the other hand, if he had been intemperate and irregular, his chances of life were very slender. Mr. McDougal said that this incident naturally had the effect of strengthening his former habits, now that he had fully regained his usual health.

The ice factory at New Orleans is a great success. It consists of six retorts of a chemical freezing mixture. From these six retorts six pipes descend to six huge chests, which chests in turn radiate severally off into four compartments. In each compartment are long, thin tin cases, seven on one side and eight on the other. This making a total of fifty-six cases in a box, and there being four boxes to a chest, and six chests to a factory, it follows that, at full blast, this Southern ice factory can turn out 1,344 cakes of ice 18 inches long, twelve broad, and two thick, at the completion of each process.

To morrow may never come to us. We do not live in to-morrow. We cannot find it in our title deed. The man who owns whole blocks of real estate, and great ships on the sea, does not own a single minute of to-morrow. It is a mysterious possibility not yet born. It lies under the seat of midnight—behind the veil of glistening constellations.

SALMON FISHING.—A telegram from Quebec of the 21st says: The salmon take continues successful. Accounts from below speak of the catch, both with net and rod, as better than for many years past and the fish larger.

BAILED.—Reiffenstein has been admitted to bail, by Judge Armstrong, much to the surprise of every one. His bail are his son-in-law and his own son, and it is not considered worth anything. Reiffenstein, it is said, left for the States. Considerable excitement prevailed in Ottawa when it became known.

PARDONED.—The Ottawa Citizen of the 21st, says: "The pardon for the Rev. Mr. McMahon will be sent from Ottawa to-day by a special messenger. The Kingston News says:—"The grounds for his liberation are of course well understood, and hence it is that the act is regarded, not as one of clemency towards an unfortunate, but as performed simply in obedience to the dictates of pressure and class influence. Some gentlemen profess great difficulty in reconciling the remarkable speech delivered in the House of Commons by the Minister of Justice and the present act, which he is presumed to have sanctioned."

SPANISH AFFAIRS.—Cable telegrams from Madrid inform us that great excitement prevails throughout Spain. There have been many arrests at Madrid and at Valladolid, Barcelona and Cordova of parties believed to be fomenting insurrection. Several Generals and Colonels of the army were among the number. The government authorities are taking great precautions to prevent an outbreak. The French government has ordered all Spanish conspirators away from the frontier. A sharp fight is reported to have occurred on the 20th at Ciudad Real, about 100 miles from Madrid, between the civil authorities and a band of insurrectionists, presumed to be in the interest of Don Carlos. Nine of the latter and several of the former were wounded. The insurrectionists were driven off and the leaders all escaped. A deep plot has been discovered at Madrid, having for its object the assassination of Serrano, Prim and Rivero.

AT WATERING PLACES.—As many of our people have gone and are going to the watering places, it would not be amiss to know what they drink and how they drink when they get there. A Saratoga correspondent tells us how it is done at that place: "One would not suppose drinking could be brought to such a state of perfection as is attained here, and the guzzling process is by no means confined to the male portion of humanity, for the divinities absorb fluids, both mineral and alcoholic, with a dexterity that would do credit to the late Captain Bunsby. During the hour, from 7 until 8 a. m., when all thirsty pilgrims of the invalid and fashionable classes surround and embrace Congress Spring the grand drinking tableau is fearful to contemplate. We, this morning, saw an advanced female gulp five glasses of Congress water in quick succession, without any difficulty, and another autumnal creature absorbed four glasses, and then remarked 'she would walk through the park before drinking any more.' A little specimen of crinoline, with most improbable curls, drank four glasses without flinching, while an old-school Congress-water fowl, standing at her elbow, soothed himself with five full glasses 'before taking his constitutional walk,' as he said. The pensive young lady, who had been here a month awaiting an offer, drinks only one glass of the Congress daily, not because she likes it, but because it is fashionable."

The Proposed Celebration.

The public meeting held last evening made some little progress towards a celebration on the occasion of laying the Corner Stone of the Deaf and Dumb Institution. There is everywhere to be found more or less red tapeism, and there is always and everywhere exhibited more or less jealousy on the part of individuals who want to have the entire control of such matters, and it is not to be wondered at that these offensive features were prominent at the meeting. However, while there was a good deal of child's play exhibited, there is no doubt all present had but the one object in view, and that was to have a demonstration worthy of the Town and County. The initiative has been taken, and we have no doubt the Warden and the Aldermen of the various Municipalities will heartily respond to the invitation of the Belleville citizens.

It has been suggested that the celebration take a wider scope than contemplated last evening. It is proposed to have excursion trains run from Toronto in the west and Kingston in the east, to have an excursion from Picton and villages along the Prince Edward shore, to invite all the members of the Government, and the members of the Ontario Legislature from the adjoining Counties, and that Belleville should have a general holiday on the occasion. The proposition is a good one, and we have little reason to doubt that some such scheme will be adopted at the meeting on Saturday evening. The Committee should be enlarged and include a larger number of our prominent citizens, and with the united action of both County and Town we can have a celebration worthy of the reputation of the Bay of Quinte

Laying the Corner Stone.

In accordance with proclamation a public meeting of the inhabitants was held in the Town Hall last evening, to consider the propriety of having a suitable occasion of laying the corner stone of the Deaf and Dumb Institution. Between ninety and one hundred persons were present. The meeting was organized by Mr. Conger, Mayor, being called to the chair, and Mr. G. D. Dickson, appointed secretary. The Mayor read the Requisition and briefly stated the object of the meeting

Mr. Corby, M.P.P., was in favor of some public demonstration on the occasion. The establishment of such an Institution was not merely a great boon to the unfortunates who would be instructed there, but to the whole country, and to this section of country particularly. He hoped some steps would be taken to have a celebration worthy of the occasion, and would suggest that the Warden of the County be conferred with so that united action on the part of both Town and County could be had. He would suggest the appointment of a Committee to prepare a programme and report at a subsequent meeting.

In answer to the Mayor, Mr. Kempster, one of the contractors, said they would like to lay the Corner Stone on or about the first of August, but to accommodate the people it could be put off until not later than the 6th or 7th of August.

Mr. Brown, M.P., suggested the appointment of a Committee to-night who could confer with a Committee appointed by the County, for we should not confine this demonstration to Belleville. The people of the County were as much interested as the people of Belleville in this enterprise, and they should be solicited to co-operate. He said the Town was much indebted to the local members for having obtained this building here, and also to outside members, and these gentlemen should be asked to be present on the occasion.

Mr. Geo. Neilson agreed that it was not altogether a Belleville affair, but the County was equally interested, and if we have a demonstration the County should be asked to co-operate with us. He felt that the Town was greatly indebted to the local members, and no man worked harder than his friend Mr. Graham. Mr. Greely also worked strenuously and should be invited.

Mr. Neilson moved, seconded by Mr. J. Blacklock, That it is desirable to have a public demonstration on the occasion of laying the Corner Stone of the Deaf and Dumb Institute.—Carried.

Mr. Graham, M. P. P., thought before fixing the time it would be well to consult with the Commissioner of Public Works and the Attorney General, both of whom, as well as other members of the Government, should be invited. He agreed with other speakers as to the advantages of such an institution here, and gave credit to members of adjacent counties for assistance in obtaining it. He said in addition to the cost of the building there would be an annual outlay of $30,000.

Mr. Dickson suggested the idea of instructing the Committee to be appointed to extend invitations to members of the Government and others, and he would move, seconded by Mr. Blacklock, that the members of the Government and members of the Local Legislature from the adjacent Counties, be invited to take part in the demonstration.

Mr. Holden argued in favor of unity with the County in any demonstration that is to take place. Their interests in this matter were one, and it should be one of the objects of this meeting to secure the co operation of the County. As to sending invitations, he thought that had better be left with the Committee to be appointed.

Mr. Neilson moved, seconded by Mr. Blacklock, the appointment of the following Committee to consult with the Warden of the County and Reeves of the Municipalities, as to the best means of celebrating the occasion of laying the Corner Stone, and to report at an adjourned meeting; Messrs. K. Graham, M P.P., H. Corby, M P.P., Jas. Brown, M. P., Thos. Kelso, Thos Holden, W. A. Shepard, Jas. Blacklock, G. D. Dickson, and Jas. Kennedy.

Mr. Dickson argued that if that committee is to be appointed, this meeting should give certain instructions to it, and amongst others whom to invite He did not wish such instructions to be considered arbitrary, but this was the proper place to discuss the character of the demonstration, and have the Committee understand what the wish of the people is in regard to the manner in which the demonstration is to be carried out.

Mr. A. R. Dougall had heard a good deal said outside about the proposed demonstration, and believed if it was gone into with spirit, by both Town and County, it would be a credit to the place and people. The great question would be the finances, and it was important that an efficient Committee be appointed who would confer with a Committee appointed by a public meeting of the County or by the Warden.

After considerable discussion as to these details, during which the greater portion of the audience left the room), Mr. Corby moved, seconded by Mr. Brown, that the Secretary be instructed to write to the Warden and notify him that this meeting has appointed a Committee, and suggest the appointment of a Committee to confer with the Town Committee

Mr Neilson pressed his motion. At the suggestion of Mr Corby and approved of by others, the names of the local members were left off the Committee, as it would seem inde[illegible] ...ate for them to act under the circumstances. The name of Mr. McAnany was substituted.

Several argued as the most of the people had left, it would be injudicious to appoint a Committee to-night.

Others argued that the people who had left and who had heard the resolution appointing the Committee, supposed the business was completed, and those who remained would look after the details.

The following motion was adopted:

Moved by Mr. McAnnany, seconded by Mr Brown, and Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting the County generally should be asked to co-operate, and that the Warden be respectfully asked to call a public meeting, or in any other manner he may deem best, to appoint a Committee to act with a Committee of the Town to be appointed hereafter

Mr. Neilson submitted his motion, when a motion to adjourn until Saturday evening was put and lost. Some further discussion took place, when the meeting finally adjourned to Saturday evening, without appointing a Committee.

The Press Excursion.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 21.

The Canadian party had a splendid reception here this p. m., from the Mayor and Council, and the Press and the citizens of Rochester generally. On their arrival at the Central depot, the Ryan Zouaves' band struck up "God Save the Queen," which was followed by "Yankee Doodle." Carriages were in waiting, and the Canadians were taken over to see Ellwanger & Barry's museum, the Mount Hope Cemetery and the Genesee Valley Nurseries, in the latter of which is the famous century plant now attracting hosts of visitors from all quarters. In the evening, carriages were in waiting at the hotels to convey the visitors to Bartholemay's German Lager Beer Gardens. The evening was very happily spent listening to the fine chorus-singing of the Rochester Maennerchor and to the music by the Zouaves. Speeches of welcome and fraternal greeting were made by Mr. Mayor Smith for the Corporation and citizens of Rochester; by Mr. Jones, of the Democrat, for the Rochester press; also by Mr. Buckingham and Mr. Wylie for the Canadians.

The party leave to-morrow morning by railway for Syracuse and Oswego.

THE IRISH CHURCH BILL AGAIN IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

LONDON, July 21.—In the House of Lords, last night, the Irish Church Bill as returned from the House of Commons was taken up.

Earl Granville complimented the House of Lords on the ability and statesmanship developed in the late debate, and the moderation shown by the Opposition towards its close. The Government thought some of their amendments were good, some bad, and others quite inadmissable. He did not consider that the House of Commons had dealt superciliously or contemptuously with them, for out of 69 amendments only 13 had been absolutely rejected. He analyzed the amendments having the effect to re-endow what the Bill intended to disendow, and said concurrent endowment, notwithstanding the ability with which it had been supported, the Government was obliged to consider a breach of faith with their constituents, while an overwhelming majority of the House of Commons and public opinion were opposed to it. In respect to the disposal of surplus funds, the more he saw and heard the more he was convinced that it was disadvantageous to keep the question open, and he condemned the proposition to keep £3,000 dangling before the people, to excite and stimulate agitation. He urged the House not to adhere to this amendment, and proposed the re-insertion of the words struck out of the preamble of the original Bill.

Lord Cairns complained in strong terms that the Government had not adhered to Earl Granville's pledge that the Lords' amendments would be respectfully considered; for on the faith of this promise, many who objected to the Bill on its own merits were induced to vote for the second reading. He thought that Mr. Gladstone had used language in the other House unworthy of himself and of his position. He contended that of the amendments which had been rejected all except two had been disposed of without the slightest consideration. The modifications made in the other amendments were utterly insufficient to satisfactory.—Hoped the House would insist on the reservation of the surplus for future disposition, and on the amendments with respect to curates and to the commutation of life interests The remaining amendments being of minor importance they might be given up in order not to provoke needlessly a collision between the two Houses

The Earl of Kimberley said the Government could not give way

Earl Grey thought the words of the original preambles were offensive to the religious majority of Ireland, and urged the Government to concur in the amendment. If the Bill failed on account of its refusal to yield this point, it would be the fault of the Government.

Lords Halifax, Chanricade and Shaftesbury supported the Government

Earl Russell favoured disestablishment and disendowment, subject to existing rights. He thought the words in the preamble unnecessary and impolitic

The Duke of Argyll denied that the Government desired to provoke a collision between the House's of Parliament. He denounced concurrent endowment, and defended the provisions of the bill as not only just but generous.

The Marquis of Salisbury reproached the Government party for its change of opinion with respect to disestablishment [illegible] dowment before taking office [illegible] to be distinct matter; now [illegible] they were bound together [illegible] believed the adoption of [illegible] ment would have been wise and statesmanlike He opposed the preamble [illegible] propriation of the surplus [illegible] foolish effort of the Government [illegible] future Parliaments. The Government wished to guard against the employment [illegible] plus for religious purposes. He insisted that the Lords had a clear and well-defined duty to perform to themselves in this matter. In resisting the demands of the Government they were not resisting the verdict of the country, but the will of a single individual. They had exhausted all efforts at conciliation and compromise to give way now would be to sacrifice the independence of the Peerage as well as of the Church.

The House then divided on the motion of Earl Granville to restore the preamble, with the following result: For the motion, 95; against it, 173 Majority against the Government, 78.

THE LATEST.

FROM FRANCE

PARIS, July 21.—Deputies of the Corps Legislatif intended to issue a manifesto calling on France to sit in judgment on recent events The Tiers party has resolved to persist in keeping before the Chamber the idea and principles of their proposed interpellation.

ACTION OF HOUSE OF LORDS

LONDON, July 21.—A short time after the division against the Government in the House of Lords had been declared, Mr. Gladstone entered the House of Commons. His appearance was the signal for remarkable enthusiasm Cheer after cheer came from the Liberal side of the House, and business was entirely suspended

The press to-day is occupied with the subject of the vote in the House of Lords

The Times is satisfied the Bill may be carried this session if the principal agents on both sides divest themselves of the passions and prejudices by which they are influenced. The imminent peril is that the heat of Parliament will be carried into the Cabinet and hasty resolutions be taken to defer progress on the bill till another session, to the destruction of the country and unmeasurable peril of the Church

The Star says the Lords have rushed upon certain consequences of defying the national will. The division of last night has revealed the spirit in which the Bill has been opposed from the first.

The Telegraph thinks the Lords have virtually settled the fate of the Bill for this session of Parliament. A new Bill will be presented, more stringent in form, and it must be accepted. If anything was needed to damage the Church and arouse the country to passionate resistance, the reckless debate of yesterday has furnished it. The country has reached the great crisis The nature of the course which the Ministers should adopt admits of no doubt

The News considers the country in the midst of a great crisis. The Lords giving full swing to their reckless impulses have rushed into collision with the Government, Commons and Country. The duties and responsibilities of the situation should be weighed by the Ministers with calmness and confidence of mere sure of an ultimate victory. The Bill when presented at the Autumn session, will become law with great speed. The Lords will not require the threat of the creation of new Peers to lead them to assent to more stringent measures. They certainly will not be allowed to oppose themselves the third time to the will of the nation. The country must decide that no irresponsible debating is to be allowed to interfere between it and its deliberate purposes and convictions constitutionally expressed

WILL RECOVER

DUBLIN, July 21.—The High Sheriff of Queen's County, who was shot by a roadside assassin, will recover from his wounds

WANTS AN APOLOGY

LONDON, July 21.—In the House of Commons to-night, a petition praying for the rejection of amendments to the Irish Church Bill was presented and received with loud cheers

Mr. Milbank, member for the North Riding of Yorkshire, wanted to know if it was competent for this House to demand an apology from the House of Lords for the language used by their Lordships, insolent to the Premier and insulting to the dignity of the Commons

The Speaker declared that the question was neither a point of order nor one of privilege, this House was not cognizant of what passed in the House of Lords, and he decided that the question could not be entertained

A NEW SESSION.

LONDON, (midnight), July 21 It is rumored to-night that Mr. Gladstone will withdraw the Irish Church Bill, and as soon as supplies have been voted, will prorogue Parliament in order to introduce the Bill at the Autumn Session, under circumstances which will cause the Lords to hesitate before rejecting it

LONDON, July 22.—Another dreadful Colliery explosion occurred yesterday, at St Helen, a small place a few miles east of Liverpool. Over 30 persons was killed outright and 60 more or less injured The whole section of country is plunged in mourning.

[illegible] ion is a matter of will, or it may be the fancy. You see no beauty in the girl who has just jilted you. You never saw a man who is hunting for you to have a bill paid. BELLEVILLE MARKETS

INTELLIGENCER OFFICE,
Belleville, July 22, 1869.

The grain market for the last few days has been about deserted, farmers all being busy trying to save a heavy hay crop which, with the catching weather that has been so far, is hard to manage. A good deal of clover has suffered considerably already.

The Flour market which took such a sudden rise last week, has again settled down to the old figures, and millers are only anxious to buy sufficient wheat at present prices, to supply the home trade : for an extra fine article one dollar would be paid.

Rye and Peas there is none offering ; other grains at quotations.

The market is fairly supplied with new potatoes, and old potatoes are out of date. A large quantity of new were offered this morning and sold freely at 17c per peck.

The strawberry season is about over, and raspberries begin to come in freely and sell at 6 or 8c per quart.

Cherries bring one dollar per pail. Other articles at quotations :

FALL WHEAT—None offering.
SPRING WHEAT—80c to 82c.
BARLEY—None offering.
RYE—none offering.
OATS—30c. to 35c.
PEAS—None offering.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men when it becomes reduced from any cause whatever, the whole system suffers, the weakest part being first attacked, and a feeling of languor lassitude, and 'all gone'-ness pervades the system. Stimulants only afford temporary relief, and have the same effect as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

a protected solution of the protoxide of iron, which is so prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system.

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

An eminent divine says, "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past ; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of muscle."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass.

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is realized as such in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the means and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses :" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges, than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" requires the need for its future enlargement, everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and system in every department.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Bar room, Coffee, Wash room, Lavatories, on the ground floor ; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED PRIVATE APARTMENTS, SPECIALLY FURNISHED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot season, whilst there is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated, there being not one a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the sunny and healthy Street of McGill, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge and Suburbs, and in full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Isle d'Site" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to recommend itself to the travelling public.

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years.

MODEST PARTICULAR.—A few days since in a Boston eating house, a man discovered a cockroach in his pudding. He turned the insect over and over, examined it closely and finally remarked to a person who was sitting near him: 'That ain't right. I don't like it, and if I find another I won't eat the pudding.'

Idleness is the great corruptor of youth, and the bane and dishonour of middle age. He who, in the prime of manhood life finds time to hang heavy on his hands, may with much reason respect that he has not consulted the duties which the consideration of his age imposed upon him; assured ly he has not consulted his happiness

The New York Supreme Court has decided that if a passenger on a railway train cannot find a seat, and gets injured while standing, in consequence, upon the platform, he is not to be blamed for negligence; but that the negligence must be imputed to the conductor. It is the latter's business to find a seat for passengers, not the passenger's business to look for one.

A needy dead-beat performed a novel deed to procure his liquor the other day in Hamilton. He ordered a pint of the best gin in a grocery, and after he had placed the re-filled bottle in an inside coat pocket, he suddenly found he had left his money at home. He replaced the bottle on the counter, saying he would leave it until he returned with the cash. He never came back. The grocer was about pouring the gin back into the cask, when he was astonished to find it was nothing but a pint of rain water. The bottle tricker carried two bottles alike.

A curious recovery of a ring is narrated by a Newfoundland paper, which was shown by a gentleman from Trinity Bay, a lady's gold wedding ring, taken from the entrails of a codfish caught off Hants Harbor about the 15th ult. The ring was a very solid and substantial one, perfectly plain, and bearing inside the inscription upon the inner circle, cut in Old English or "black letter" style —"May God above continue (sic) our love." We publish the fact in order that those having any interest in the ring, or its owner, may be advised of this singular manner of its recovery.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reasons is, that it is more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that when it does cure it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect in its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known to every one almost, and we do not publish them.
A light dose as a preventive, or aid to other remedies, in commencing the disorder, or the first symptoms they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.
Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:
For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken, as no remedy in existence so surely excites and restores its healthy tone and action.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken, as required, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.
For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is usually required.
For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.
For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.
For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.
As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.
An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists, for those who feel tolerably well, to take that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the glow and freshness of youth. Baldness is frequently cured, where some of the hair remains, by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently preserve baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

QUERY?

Should we imagine the noble doctors to bring us our life and coffin at the expense of at least four times what they now cost?
If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which are the simple extracts or herbs or plants and roots, and are as readily prepared at home as at the doctor's?
Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medical properties than can be procured in any quantity of form for many times the amount of money.
We have in our possession numerous testimonials as to the practicability of, as well as the benefits derived from the use of, Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Holiday Hearts.

Holiday hearts! tis weather for wooing,
And holiday time is the best to woo;
At throb of Hostile, and school-book cooling,
The heart of man, and of maiden too
Should leap at the thought that winter's over,
And shout when the drab-attire day departs,
For summer is sweet to love and the lover,
And breathes her song into holiday hearts!

Holiday hearts! the wanderer wishes
To woo the girl he could love so well;
She's all to him—over the plates and dishes,
A Table d'hote in the Grand Hotel!
But all too soon the romance is over,
He is fairly bound, and he soon departs
By night express, with her maid to Dover,
Ah! sad break up for the holiday hearts!

Holiday hearts! the garden's pleasant,
When all the toil of pleasuring's done;
There's nothing so sad as the moonlight present,
And nothing so sweet in the world as one
Who over the lawn comes sweeping surely,
With dancing weary and best oppress'd,
Or is it with downcast eyes, demurely,
To say the ride's of love time's garnish?

Holiday hearts on Alpine passes,
And holiday hearts on the cockney Rhine,
And every so many in Bowling together—that none of
Which round the Devonshire lanes entwine
Holiday hearts! to Scarborough scramble,
And many are dreaming on Windermere,
But double or many in dorsey rumble,
And more than all are on Margate pier.

Holiday hearts! through June and after,
Throughout the honey of hot July,
There's not'ng for you but your loves and laughter,
Till latest leaves in the autumn die.
The summer is long and will not be over
Till all is yours which you love best:
So away to the scent of sea and clover,
Oh! all I wish is a moment's rest.

The Press Association.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the Canadian Press Association,—I am happy in being able to add my congratulations to those of the gentlemen who have preceded me in the position which I fill, my privileges to-day to occupy, on the continued prosperity of our association, and the increased and increasing power and influence of the newspaper press of Canada. The extraordinary development attained by the press in every country where there is freedom of thought and of speech is one of the characteristics of the age. And compared with the extent of population, in no country has this development been more marked than in our own. The last year in particular has been one of great energy and activity with us. Both in writing, towns and villages the press spirit has been infused with new life and vigor. In spite of its admitted defects, I make bold to say that it has been more potential than any other agency in instructing and guiding the people but only in regard to their political, but their social and moral duties; and by the position and influence on the part of the press enterprise, ability and sagacity, it will ere long become the paramount influence in the state. The day is already past when the power of the public conscience could afford to hold that of journalism in light esteem. For, with men of great natural gifts and high literary culling who, like Mr Howe and the late Mr. McGee, were trained to it as a specialty, there have in the years been associated those educated for other pursuits and callings who, as newspaper writers, but for the impersonality surrounding the press, would have acquired greater eminence than could have been won by them either in the pulpit or in the benches of law or of medicine.

The circumstances of the times are singularly favorable to the success of newspaper effort. Electricity and steam—the telegraph and railroad—as it were, the rays of intelli gence from all parts of the globe at the newspaper office, as the great centre from which issue the daily and weekly distributed abroad by the aid of the power press and railway—has had a wonderful effect in stimulating and quickening journalistic enterprise. But those powerful agencies might have remained late were it not for an ever-widening circle of intelligent readers, created for the literature of intelligent readers, created for the literature of the day to dwell over. Where there is a reading and appreciative community there will certainly be found a free and an enterprising newspaper press, and the existence of these pre-supposes the existence with them of an enlightened public opinion. May, in the admirable chapter on liberty of conscience, speaks of the public opinion as "what the tribunal before which rulers and their critics are by the press of modern times arraigned." "By the elevation of the functions of the press and the increase of its importance," he says, "statesmen have audience of the people. They can justify their acts to the world." "The sphere of the press," he goes on to remark, "has largely extended. Not written only, but the first minds of the age, statesmen skilest in council and debate,—are daily contributing to the instruction of their country men." The influence of the press on the political of the country is acknowledged by the ablest statesmen to be the most powerful in its effects on morals and manners. It is in reality the popular educator; the great mass of the people, to whom the newspaper has become an indispensable requisite, not giving themselves leisure to read a volume, and but very little to the study of science. If freedom has aptly said that the world now needs a new book every day, hence the newspaper. By and by it will become a matter of comparative indifference why governments, and conscientious men edit their public journals.

It is, I think, fitting that, in no spirit of vain glorious boastful, but with earnestness of purpose as men feeling the weight of the responsibility resting upon them, we should at times recall considerations such as these, with the view to make ourselves worthy of our vocation—to make ourselves more efficient. Journalistic effort has already attained a high degree of excellence. On the one hand, the readiness of the people to acknowledge and encourage the enterprise so essential to success, and should stimulate to the utmost exertion. And the annual meetings of our association tend to foster a kindly feeling and promoting personal respect the one for the other of men who, while politically are ranged in opposite sides, wire politically are ranged in opposite sides, wire politically are ranged in opposite sides, wire

Queen Victoria is said to be failing, alth h The London Medical Times and Gazette says the presence of a crowd or a succession of persons who are presented at court produces on her nervous system the giddiness and other symptoms common to landmen at sea. The Gazette adds that, considering her Majesty's habits of punctuality, and the hard labor and anxiety she has undergone during her happily protracted reign, it cannot be a matter of surprise that the nervous system should become fatigued

—A curious phenomenon on Lake Huron has been brought to the notice of the Collingwood Enterprise. On the afternoon of Saturday last, a couple of hours before the storm, with a strong southern wind blowing, the lake suddenly rose three feet six inches, causing quite a commotion among those engaged in loading timber at the dock. The water came into the harbor in three huge waves, one following the other in quick succession The rise lasted about 30 minutes, when it again fell to its usual level.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, JULY 23

TO NIGHT.—Don't forget the Minstrels to night at Ontario Hall. It is acknowledged to be one of the best troupes travelling

A VALUABLE DOCUMENT.—The address of the President of the Press Association, Mr. Buckingham, which will be found on the front page of this paper is a document not merely valuable to conductors of newspapers, but may be read with profit by the public generally, and more particularly by men in public position:

FINANCE MINISTERS.—The Ottawa Citizen of yesterday says: "It is now generally believed that the Hon. John Rose has tendered his resignation of the office of Minister of Finance, and that the resignation was accepted on Tuesday. It is rumoured that Sir George E Cartier will take the vacant office, and be succeeded in the Mastry of Militia by Sir Alexander T. Galt

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY.—As will be seen by advertisement in another column, this Society's Annual Excursion takes place on Monday, the 9th August—this year to Portland. The fare is remarkably low, viz, $3 for adults and $5 50 for children. Just as the really hot weather is coming on the Atlantic breezes will be doubly grateful, and as the time for return is fourteen days, there will be ample opportunity to go to Boston and many other places of historic interest

PERSONAL.—It will probably interest many of our readers to know that the Rev. Septimus Jones of Christ Church lately received an unanimous call from the Congregation of St. John's Church, Prescott, to be their Pastor; a call which his attachment to his present flock induced him unhesitatingly to decline. His decision is most gratifying to his congregation and numerous friends here, and none the less so because the offer he received was in many respects a very tempting one.

NEW INSOLVENTS.—The following new insolvents are gazetted:—Robert Sibbett, Perth; Graham & Granger, Belleville; Edward Anderson, London; Wm. A. Farmer, Cobourg; Adam Wilson, junior, Ramsay; John Wilson, ditto; Robt Martin, Napanee. Geo. Brasier, Stratford; John Davidson Mitchell; Dougall McDougall, Walkerton; Angus Graham, Walkerton; John Luxson, Walkerton; A. M. Sutherland, Collingwood

WHAT'S IN THE WIND ?—A telegram from Quebec, dated 22nd, says: "Some uneasiness is felt here to-night at an announcement of the Mercury, (Government organ,) stating that intelligence has been received last evening of grave importance to the people of the Dominion; as it did not want to create any unnecessary alarm, it would only say for the present that events are impending on the political horizon, which may break over the American world immediately." What's up now?

GRAIN AFLOAT IN ENGLAND.—Messrs John Bringham & Co. in their circular of the 2nd inst. states that the number of grain cargoes on passage to ports of call in the United Kingdom, according to the last return was as follows 166 cargoes wheat, 210 cargoes maize and 35 cargoes barley The quantity afloat at the same time last year was 265 cargoes wheat, 37 cargoes maize and 57 cargoes barley. On the 2nd inst., there were on the coast for sale 10 cargoes wheat, 8 cargoes maize and 1 cargo barley.

WHO IS REGISTRARS?—Why do not the proper authorities inform the public who are the Registrars under the late Act to provide for the due registration of Births, Deaths and Marriages. We have already published a synopsis of the new law, which inflict heavy penalties upon those who violate it, but the people generally, who are desirous of complying with the law, don't know to whom to apply to pay the fee and register. For fear that some innocent people who are ignorant of the law might suffer, we supply the information which should have been furnished by the authorities. The Registrar for Belleville is R. M. Roy, Esq., Town Clerk. All Births, Deaths and Marriages must be registered and any person interested neglecting to do so is liable to fine and imprisonment.

THE CROPS IN THIS SECTION.—The crops in this County and Prince Edward are looking as fine as could be expected from the weather they have had to contend with Grass was seldom known to be so heavy and stout, though the continuous rains have prevented its being properly cared for. Barley and Rye will both be excellent crops Fall wheat got through the winter nicely, and promises an abundant yield In some localities the yield is affected by the ravages of the weevil Spring wheat looks splendidly, and if it escapes the insect and rust will return a hundred fold to the farmer. Oats and grass promise to be an excellent crop. Corn is backward but the last week of warm weather has started it into visible action. Potatoes and root crops give promise of abundance Fruit will be a very large yield. On the whole we have great cause for gratification and thankfulness to the great Giver of every good gift for the promise of one of the most abundant harvests that Canada has ever gathered.

Mistaken Clemency.

Rev. Father McMahon, the Fenian Priest, has been liberated. In spite of the very plain and pointed reply of the Minister of Justice to the appeal for his liberation, which was made in the House of Commons, that the public good would not justify his pardon, this Fenian clergyman has been set free. In spite of the indignant remonstrance which came up from every part of the Dominion against the proposed release, Father McMahon went out yesterday from among his fellow Fenian prisoners, a free man, and the men whom his presence on the field of battle nerved to do their bloody work, remain in prison. And how has it been accomplished? By the persistent efforts of the Roman Catholic priesthood, who, ever since the imprisonment of Rev. Mr. McMahon, have been unceasing in their appeals for his liberation. They have gone to the Government with petition after petition, have coaxed and begged, and used the gentle pressure of remonstrance, and every means failing their, most prominent and distinguished prelate, he who did such noble work for the cause of Union in Nova Scotia, came all the way from Halifax to intercede for McMahon, and succeeded. It will be found, we fancy, when the facts are known, that to priestly influence alone, to priestly pressure alone, have the Government yielded, and in yielding committed an act which must ever be regarded as an insult to the patriotism of the people. It is to be presumed that the documents connected with the release of Mr. McMahon, and the reasons of the Minister of Justice for taking this extraordinary course will be made public, and until they appear we refrain from further comment.

A Brick of Gold.

Mr. Turley has just exhibited to us a Brick of Gold, weighing six ounces and fifteen pennyweights, valued at $135. This is the result of the third cleaning up at the Turley & Gilbert mill, in Marmora, and we understand the yield per ton averages $7. The mill is in excellent running order, and is working night and day. Thus far it has been operating on surface material chiefly, and it is expected that when they come to use the quartz at a greater depth, it will turn out better. The proprietors are making arrangements to double the capacity of the mill, which shows that they at least have the utmost confidence in the existence of gold in paying quantities.

How the Case Stands.

The Report of the Finance Committee of the Town Council with respect to the visit of the Press Association to this Town, is a most extraordinary specimen of terguversation, misrepresentation and unparliamentary. It is therein stated that a petition was presented to the Council from the publishers of the two Belleville papers; it is insinuated that these publishers asked the Council to appropriate a sum of money for the purpose of entertaining the Association; and then these gentlemen are coolly asked to call a public meeting in the usual manner, &c., &c. In the first place, there was no petition from the publishers of the Town papers. Mr. Holden, Chairman of the Finance Committee, suggested to some gentlemen in order that the question might properly be brought before the Council, and in order to give the Council some cause for taking action in the matter, that the publishers had better memorialize the Council. Supposing Mr. Holden simply wanted a notification of the fact that the members of the Association intended calling here on their way home, the representatives of the papers drew up a brief document stating the facts, and suggesting as other Towns had taken steps to welcome them, that Belleville should not be behind hand. It was not in the form of a petition, but simply as a notification of the fact, and was made, although reluctantly, at the understood desire of Mr. Thomas Holden and other members of the Council.

Neither did the representatives of the press ask or suggest for the slightest appropriation of money from the Town, for the purpose. In common with other inhabitants of the Town, they were anxious that Belleville should put its best foot forward on so important an occasion, and they were prepared to give their quota of the amount required. For years they have endeavored to bring before the people of Canada, the importance of Belleville as a manufacturing locality and as a commercial centre. Column after column has been written, giving detailed accounts of the various branches of manufacture established in Belleville and on the River Moira—of the lumbering interest, and its extensive mills—of the Iron and Agricultural Implement Works, with their vast machinery—of its Axe Factories, its Woollen Mills, its Sewing Machine Factories, and numerous other branches of industry, which have gone so far to make Belleville the most thriving and prosperous Town in Ontario. Column after column has been written about the beautiful and attractive situation of Belleville—the many and costly residences, with their beautifully ornamented grounds, which adorn the slopes to the east and west and north of the Town—the fine blocks of substantial and costly shops which are on our principal business streets, and which will compare favorably with the best in our largest cities—of the attractions of the Bay of Quinte with its splendid fishing grounds and its magnificent scenery—of the salubrity of the climate, the fertility of the soil, and the existence of mineral wealth in the region north of us. And we are confident that what has been thus written has had the effect of adding largely to our population, increasing our manufactures, and aiding materially in the growth and prosperity of the Town and country. Knowing the advantage which extended publicity to these facts would be to Belleville, we were anxious that our brethren of the press from the East and West should be put in possession of them, so that they might be scattered from one end of Ontario to the other, and which, like bread cast upon the waters would return to us after many days. It was with this view—solely for the advantage of the trade and commerce of the place—that the representatives of the press here went a little farther than under other circumstances they would have done, and suggested that the Association receive a hearty welcome. They did not want the Council to appropriate the Town money for this purpose, but they did suppose that the Council in its corporate capacity would have taken the initiative and extended to the Association a suitable welcome. And we feel confident if it had not been for the unfortunate illness of our worthy Mayor, the necessary means would have been raised, and a cordial welcome extended to the Association.

It was rather a cool piece of business for the Council to ask the representatives of the press here at this late day, or even at all, to call a public meeting for the purpose mentioned. Receptions and public welcomes usually come from Corporate bodies, and the gentlemen who compose those Corporations are the persons who should have taken the initiative. Besides it would have been exceedingly indelicate, and altogether out of character, for the representatives of the press here, who are members of the Association, to ask the people for money to get up a reception for themselves. They went as as far as their self respect would justify, and they exceedingly regret that proper steps were not taken at the proper time by the proper authorities, to do what ninety-nine men out of every hundred considers should have been done, and what the citizens generally supposed would have been done.

The Press Excursion.

The following telegrams show the progress of the Association from the time they left Rochester :—

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 22.

The Canadian Press Association arrived this forenoon, and were entertained by the Syracuse Press, by a reception and dinner at the Syracuse House. They proceeded to Oswego in a special train furnished gratis by the New York Central Railway.

OSWEGO, July 22.

The Canadian Press Association arrived here at 1.15 p. m. During the afternoon they visited the principal places of interest and this evening were entertained at a grand banquet and ball at the Rink.

From a lengthy account of the Excursion party in the Globe, we gather a few facts.—At Syracuse the Association was entertained at a banquet, and the members of the press of that city accompanied the party to Oswego. A special train had been placed at their disposal, for which no charge was made. About 2 o'clock yesterday they arrived at Oswego, and were met by the reception Committee with carriages and were escorted at once to their quarters, being divided between three houses, the Fitzburg House, the Review House and the Hamilton House. After a short time for rest carriages were again on hand, and the visitors were driven off to view the city and its surroundings. The splendid turn out of fine carriage teams was a really good horse show, and this circumstance, which was the subject of general remark, was accounted for when it appeared that most of them were in carriages of private citizens. The party after visiting Kingford's Starch Works, extended their drive to the east side of the river, coming round at last to fort Ontario, which was entered unopposed, and left again in possession of the peaceful appearance of things generally in this one of Uncle Sam's strongholds. On alighting at the hotels again diligent enquiry was made for the deputation of provincial Canadian citizens expected, but they did not turn up; and bye-and-bye it was found to the great disappointment of everybody, that they had by mistake supposed Friday to be the day, and now were not coming at all. It appeared Mr. Magill, member of the House of Commons for Hamilton, was the only Canadian present of those invited, other than the Press party. The Rink where the banquet and ball were held, is a large frame building, 200 feet by 66 feet, with a high, arched roof for summer, laid with a plank floor, and used for a velocipede rink, and its large size dwarfs all ordinary ball rooms by comparison. The decorations inside were magnificent, giving the effect of a work of art. All over floated the Stars and Stripes and the Red, White and Blue, and amongst the rest there was a very liberal display of the British colours Behind the Chairman was a large star with "Welcome" in gold letters: at the other end of the room, and stretching nearly all the way across, appeared the word "Reciprocity," in bold letters of gold on a red ground, and beneath it, and in similar style "The Press, the Preserver of Liberty." Along the face of the platform for the piano and quadrille band were in large letters of gold the names of "Jacques Cartier" and "Hendrick Hudson." Five o'clock was the hour set for the banquet, and when the company assembled, pretty nearly on time, it was found to number about four hundred. There were four tables which extended along the length of the building. When daylight began to fail gas was lighted, and then appeared a star of light under the word "Welcome;" and when the gas was fully let on, the effect produced was really magnificent, and elicited from the party the warmest expressions of admiration. The chair was taken at 5 o'clock, when the visitors marched into the hall to the music of the Oswego band.

After dinner, the Chairman welcomed the Association with the following speech

"GENTLEMEN OF THE PRESS

"We hail with pleasure your presence, and in behalf of the citizens of Oswego I have the honor to bid you welcome to this banquet, prepared and offered as a token of their regard for your worth and influence in the progress of civilization And gentlemen of Canada, our kindred from the New Dominion, we are happy to take this opportunity of manifesting our good wishes towards you and your country. Dating back as we do to a common mother from whom we alike drew our first inspiration of justice and liberty, it is eminently fit and proper that on this occasion we renew our feelings of friendship and good will. In this age of wonders, marked as it is with so many improvements and so many good things to gladden the heart no one thing perhaps stands more prominent than that of the public press. It gathers up the crude materials of unwritten thought, more precious than gold and moulds them into form and sends them as cheap merchandise to the door of the poorest. We cannot over estimate the value of the modern system of newspapers. It is essential to the glory and hapiness of every nation. It is the champion of the poor, and the sword of the oppressed. Thank God two countries can boast of a free press, the crowning glory of a free people. (Cheers.) Again gentlemen, in behalf of the citizens of Oswego, I bid you a cordial welcome to the hospitalities of our city and to this board

Speeches were made by several American gentlemen, and amongst the Canadians who delievered speeches were Mr. McDougall, Mr. Buckingham, Mr. King, Mr. McClenaghan, Mr. Camerou and Mr. Wylie.—At ten o'clock the ball opened and was kept up with spirit till an early hour.

KINGSTON, July 23.

The Press Association arrived here at 4.30 a. m. Carriages are provided to take the members around the city, and there is to be a lunch at the British American Hotel at eleven. The boat leaves for Belleville at 12 noon.

LATER.

KINGSTON, July 23.

The Press excursion reached here from Oswego at about five a. m. About nine o'clock they repaired to the City Hall, where an address was presented by the Mayor on behalf of the reception Committee, Mr. Buckingham, ex President of the Press Association, replied. From thence the excursionists proceeded to the Penitentiary and Rockwood Asylum, and returning to the City partook of lunch provided by the City Council at the British American Hotel. About 3 o'clock they left by the steamer Bay of Quinte for Picton and Belleville.

A telegram from Picton this afternoon at four o'clock says: Arrangements have been made to give the Association a reception. They are to be taken in charge at the dock by the City Fathers, and driven to points of interest. About 40 carriages are in readiness. They stop at Stone Mills on their way up from Kingston, and will not reach here before 7 or 7.30, and cannot leave here before 8.30 or 9 o'clock.

It is evident from the above that the party will not reach Belleville until about eleven o'clock.

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

THE IRISH CHURCH BILL IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS

LONDON, July 23.—In the House of Lords to night there was a full attendance of Peers and spectators, and many members of the House of Commons were present. The consideration of the amendments to the Irish Church Bill was resumed.

Earl Granville opened the debate by stating that Her Majesty's Ministers regarded the vote of Tuesday night as one of very grave character, but they were unwilling to prevent the consideration of the other amendments to the Bill, and were anxious to conduct the discussion in a spirit of peace and conciliation. He proposed the reinsertion of the original date of Disestablishment, namely, 1st January, 1871, but would not insist on a division of the House. If the motion was contrary to the feeling of the House he would withdraw it.

Lord Cairns said, since the adjournment, he had had a conference with Earl Granville. He (Lord Cairns) thought the amendments remaining were few, and capable of solution. He was glad to find that Earl Granville was actuated by a similar spirit. Nothing could be more culpable on either side than to encourage or protract controversy on a measure of this kind where materials for solution were at hand. With that view and that sentiment everything which took place at the Conference accorded — He agreed that the question of date was of secondary importance, and declared that he was ready to accept the original date. He advised the Lords not to insist on their amendments in regard to curates, ecclesiastical residences, or the commutation of annuities. If three-quarters of a diocese were willing to commute, they would have 12 instead of 7 per cent added. The question, with respect to the disposition of the surplus, might be left over; but power should be given to Parliament to apply a portion of the fund to the alleviation of unavoidable calamity. Lord Cairns concluded by admitting that he still had strong objections to the Bill; but if it was to pass at all, it was not for the interests of the country or the Church to prolong the struggle on minor details.

The Marquis of Salisbury, Earl Russell, and other leading Peers accepted the compromise, and praised the conduct of Lord Cairns in the present emergency

The motion for the restoration of the original date of dis-establishment was agreed to, and the other amendments were disposed of according to the terms of the compromise.

Clause 68 was altered so that none of the surplus shall be applied without the separate and distinct sanction of Parliament.

The Earl of Bandon and the Bishop of Tuam protested against the compromise.

Earl Granville thanked Lord Cairns for the frankness with which he had entered into confidential communication with the Government in order to smooth down the difficulties in the way of the Bill.

OPINION OF THE 'TIMES'

LONDON, July 22.—The 'Times,' this morning in an editorial, says the Ministry has received to preserve the Irish Church Bill in spite of the majority against it in the House of Lords. Therefore the conclusion is, the 'Times' continues, that the differences between the Houses in respect to the preamble and the fifth clause, do not offer insuperable obstacles to the passage of the Bill.

THE OUTRAGES IN IRELAND.

LONDON, July 22.—The 'Times,' alluding to the recent agrarian outrages in Ireland, says, 'Centuries of misrule have planted perverse weeds in the Irish peasantry, which must disappear under beneficent and enlightened legislation. For this reason we trust in such measures of justice as the Irish Church Bill which should not be left unsettled a moment longer than can be avoided. Until it is settled, there is little hope for tranquility in Ireland, and the gravest results are to be apprehended from a temporary postponement. Heavy indeed is the responsibility of those who have power to rescue the measure from delay.

THE LATEST.

THE LORDS TERRIFIED—A COMPROMISE EFFECTED.

LONDON, July 23.—The compromise on the Irish Church Bill was the result of fear on the part of the Peers of the consequences threatened by a collision of the two Houses of Parliament. Last night the Tory Lords held a large meeting at a private residence, and received to repudiate the Marquis of Salisbury and put themselves under the head of Lord Cairns. The latter was authorized to make peace with the Ministry, and express the willingness of the Peers to yield. To-day Lord Cairns sought an interview with Earl Granville, and gave in the submission of the Peers, whereupon the Cabinet agreed to the compromise announced to-night. The prompt and loud expression of popular indignation terrified the Lords, and this has postponed for a while the threatened agitation.

FROM ST. DOMINGO.

ST. DOMINGO, July 14.—The Town of Azuazes is besieged by the insurgents. President Baez has sent Troules to aid the garrison, and is confident of success in suppressing the rebellion.

THE COLLIERY EXPLOSION

LIVERPOOL, July 23.—The loss of life by the explosion at St. Helen Colliery yesterday, was much greater than at first reported. Fifty dead bodies have been taken from the pit

ARRIVAL.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The steamer 'Dorian,' from Bremen has arrived.

PRICE OF GOLD

The Herald's Washington special says: The Secretary of the Treasury on being questioned on the subject, replied that he had no intention at present of selling gold, and that he did not expect to sell any while the premium was at the present figure. The impression at the Treasury is, that it will go lower. This seems to be founded on the fact that United States Bonds have advanced in Europe, in consequence of the favorable exhibit of Boutwell's financial management, and that by the time there is a demand for the shipment of gold the crops will be ready to bring into the market.

A letter read here to-day from an American gentleman, travelling in Europe, alludes in warm language to the beneficial effect of Boutwell's policy in strengthening the credit of our Government abroad

VENEZUELA.

PANAMA, July 22.—Advices from Venezuela to the 6th says that no fighting had yet taken place. The Government was unprovided with war vessels, and the closing of the port of Maracaibo was simply a paper blockade.

President Pulaer has declared his department a separate government and will send his own consul to St. Thomas.

ST. DOMINGO

St. Domingo advices say the steamer 'Telegrafo,' has been declared a pirate, and all Governments are invited to treat her accordingly

Advices from Venezuela assert that Luperon was thoroughly beaten at Guzaara, and that he escaped in the night on board the steamer 'Telegrafo,' having abducted 40 prisoners and shot five The 'Telegrafo' opened fire on two war vessels towed by the 'Tyler' and passed by under heavy colors, having lost her bowsprit. Bass had confiscated the sloop 'Hyla' and her cargo of provisions, and imprisoned her crew. Cabrel had declared the port of Barcelona a free port. He left on the 6th to join the forces of Luperon and unite them with his own.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men; when it becomes reduced from any cause what ever, the whole system suffers, the weakest part being first attacked, and a feeling of languor, lassitude, and 'all gone'-ness pervades the system. Stimulants only afford temporary relief, and have the same effect as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

a protected solution of the protoxide of Iron, which is so prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system.

In fact medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

An eminent divine says, "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of muscle."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

To be had of medicine dealers.

Over and Over again.

Over and over again,
No matter which way I turn,
I always find in the Book of Life
Some lessons I have to learn
I must take my turn at the mill,
I must grind out the golden grain,
I must work at my task with a resolute will,
Over and over again

We cannot measure the need
Of even the tiniest flower,
Nor check the flow of the golden sands
That run through a single hour,
But the morning dews must fall,
And the sun and the summer rain
Must do their part, and perform it all
Over and over again

Over and over again
The brook through the meadow flows
And over and over again
The ponderous mill-wheel goes
Once doing will not suffice,
Though doing be not in vain
And a blessing, falling us once or twice
May come if we try again

The path that has once been trod
Is never so rough to the feet;
And the lesson we once have learned
Is never so hard to repeat,
Though painful tears must fall,
And the heart to its depths be driven
With storm and tempest, we need them all
To render us meet for Heaven

Why is a mouse like a load of hay?—Because the cat'll eat it.

Steam is described as a bucket of water in a tremendous perspiration.

A sprightly little girl being asked "What is nothing?" replied, "Shut your eyes and you will see it."

"Turn me bottom upwards, if you want to make the most of me," as the figure 6 said to the accountant.

It is a great waste of materials to put ten dollars' worth of beaver on ten cents' worth of brains.

When Jonah's fellow passengers threw him overboard, they evidently regarded him as neither prophet nor loss.

Whenever the svaricious Living Mides called for a veal cutlet, they invariably brought him a bit of the Golden Calf.

A lazy fellow once declared in a public company that he could not find bread for his family. "Not I," replied an industrious mechanic, "I am obliged to work for it."

Why is a policy of insurance, fraudulently obtained from a respectable office, not vitiated by the fraud? Because "losing" a good is unquestionably sound policy

If you call upon an acquaintance and hear him, at the top of the stairs, directing Betty to tell you he is out, never conclude he is stating that which is not true; for you have assuredly found him out.

"Kitty, where's the frying pan?" "Johnny's got it, carting mud and oyster shells up the alley, with the cat for a horse." "The dear little fellow! and what an oyster he'll yet make; but go on and get it. We're going to have company, and must fry some fish for dinner."

"Well, farmer, you told us your wood was a good place for hunting; now we've tramped through it for three hours, and found no game." "Just so. Well, I calculate, as a general thing, the less game there is, the more hunting you have."

"Pompey," said a gentleman to his servant, "I did not know until to day that you were whipped last week." "Didn't you, massa?" replied Pompey. "I—I know'd it jist de same time it occurred."

Henry the Fourth of France one day reached Amiens, after a long journey. A local orator was deputed to harangue him, and commenced by a long string of epithets—"Very great sovereign, very good, very merciful, very magnanimous—" "Add, also," interrupted the king, "very tired."

"That's a taruation tall horse," said Laidlaw. "Yes; I guess you can't account for it," replied Jonathan. "No; how I said Laidlaw. "He belongs to Hummus the livery man," replied Jonathan, "and his tailless comes through his having been regularly hyphen'd every day for the last seven years."

A clergyman, who was consoling a young widow on the death of her husband spoke in a very serious manner, remarking that he was one of the few such a jewel of a Christian mon could find. His equal you well know. To which the sobbing one replied, with an almost broken heart, "I'll bet I will."

"Mr. Stinkins has an abominable gait, don't you think so?" No indeed, I think it quite handsome, especially since it was painted." "Excuse me, but you don't understand me I allude to his carriage." "Why, sure! he has no carriage." "Oh, yes, he has; but it's only seen when he walks."

The following dialogue took place between a farmer and an Irish reaper, the latter considerably under the medium stature: Irishman—"Do you want any body for the harvest?" Farmer—"Yes." Irishman—"Will you take me?" Farmer "No, you're too little." Irishman—"Arrah now, and do you cut your corn on the top!

Mr. Kenny, the popular dramatist, in drinking a glass of wine, inadvertently swallowed a small substance which nearly choked him. A friend seeing his distress, and anxious to proclaim to his companions the sad state of the case, exclaimed, "It is cork gone down the wrong way." "I don't know whether it is the wrong way to Cork," said a wag who was present, "but it seems a very likely way to Kill Kenny."

A gentleman said, the other day, that it was a most wonderful circumstance, but that he knew at that moment at least a hundred persons in the world who had one hand to mouth. "What is their wonderful in that, we should like to know? Why there are at the present time, in London alone, three million of people who are living, not only "from hand to mouth," but from head to heel.

THE WEEKLY PRODUCE OF BIRMINGHAM.—The Engineer, of London, publishes the following curious statistics of the weekly produce of the various manufactories in Birmingham:—10,000,000 of steel pens, 9,000 iron bedsteads, 7,000 guns, 300,000, 000 of machine screws, 100,000,000 of hat tops, 1,000 saddles, 5,000,000 of copper and bronze coins, 20,000 bells, 40,000 pounds weight of papier machie work, £30,000 worth of jewelry, 20,000,000 of feet in length of wire, 40,000 pounds weight of needles, 30,000 pounds of hair-pins, 18, 750,000 of hooks and eyes, 10,000 dozen of fine irons, 500 pairs of bellows, 150 sewing machines, &c.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual antidote for nearly than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them, those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always. Hence it never fails through any fault or neglect in its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures it has made in the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action, relieve the system of the obstructions of stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring them to vigorous action to health, and by correcting wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately, to restore the stomach and bowels to healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for such case as requires the slightest action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists, one who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

ORTON'S PREPARATION!
ESTABLISHED 1866.

One box of Orton's Preparation will destroy the appetite for the use of tobacco in any form. It is warranted to fail in any case its use is perfectly safe and harmless. It is not unpalatable to the taste, by the mere exercise of needed resolution and will firmly rooted. With the there is not the least trouble. Hundreds have used it who are willing to bear witness to the fact that Orton's Preparation completely destroys the appetite for the use of tobacco, and in the person as free from any person as free from any be commenced its use, directly and indirectly affected by tobacco and blood thoroughly clean of the poison of tobacco. natural cravings for to- No more basker ing for tobacco after using Orton's Prepara- tion. Recollect it is guaranteed.

The time taken to allay all desire for Tobacco by the use of this Preparation varies slightly in different persons, the average time being about Five days. Some have no desire for Tobacco after using the Preparation Two days.

The health and Purse of every Tobacco user in the country call loudly, ABANDON THE USE OF TOBACCO.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that we have used Orton's Preparation for the purpose of destroying the appetite for Tobacco, and can assure those who are suffering from this habit that Orton's Preparation will certainly destroy the appetite for Tobacco quickly and permanently, without any bad effect upon the health, and without creating an appetite either for the Preparation or any substitute

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Turin, Italy, for which Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Hamilton in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America

For seventeen years it has, in Italy been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally used in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in Canada.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, SATURDAY EVENING, JULY 24, 1869 No. 71.

From Red River.

The New Nation, 3rd inst, has the following local items :—

The carts are beginning to return from St. Paul.

Flour has fallen twenty-five shillings per 100 lbs.

The weather has been exceedingly hot during the last two or three days.

The parties who are coming through by way of Superior City are reported close at hand.

The Rev. Thomas Baldwin, late of Ingersoll, preached in the Wesleyan meeting room on the 4th inst., and the Rev. Dr Davidson, of Alymer, officiated the same day in the Presbyterian church

Dr. Schultz leaves to day with horses as far as Abercrombie. The doctor will visit Montreal and Ottawa before his return, which will be in about five weeks

During the thunder storm on Monday last a large stack of hay, containing some forty loads and belonging to Mr. Alexander Oball, of St. Paul's was struck by the lightning and consumed.

Work commences immediately upon the Lake of the Woods section of the Red River and Lake Superior Road. Mr. Mair has succeeded in engaging fifty laborers, who started out yesterday for the stations at and beyond Point du Chene. The work is now being pushed forward with all vigor.

Dominion day was kept in our little town by the raising of the Canadian flag upon the staff—which was liberally saluted during the day by an 'Anvil Chorus,' adapted to 'God Save the Queen' and 'Hurrah! for the New Dominion.' The Hon. Company kept the day by a cruel and dignified silence. 'Not a gun was heard, or a funeral note,' or anything else; but then you see the H. B. C. is keeping her patriotism like champagne, well bottled and wired down for a future occasion, when we may expect to see it burst forth in manner calculated to astonish the natives.

A "Growing" Item.

A woman in Detroit has been arrested for smuggling tea in her stockings.—Express.

In North Carolina the women carry nails in their stockings.—Raleigh Progress.

Nothing wonderful.—The ladies of Forsyth carry calves in their stockings.—Observer.

And one of our ladies carries her corn in her stockings.—Rome Commercial.

The ladies in this city who sympathise with Andy Johnson in his fight with the Radicals carry V-toes in theirs, which are passed over their hands.—Vir. Sun.

All the women down our way carry splendid elegies (legs) in their stockings.—Kentucky News.

The ladies here all carry 'cels (bells) in their stockings.—St. Joseph Vindicator.

Down this way some of them not only carry calves in their stockings, but also brats to fatten them.—Mexico Messenger.

Almost all our ladies hereabouts carry Bunyan's works in their stockings. We consider that a sock-dologer!—Union.

How to Harvest Hay.

The Buffalo Courier hears of many farmers who could not get in any hay, during the showery or 'catching' weather of this season: and is told of one man who is not supposed to be much of a farmer, but put from three to six tons of hay in good order into his barn, every day last week. There is no secret in the process. He put up the hay in cocks and put canvass caps over them, thus shedding the rain. Then when the weather was clear again, off went the caps and the hay opened to the air and sunshine. The caps he used were made out of old bags and cost about 15 cents each. But much higher priced bags would pay well on the investment if the wet weather continues. A few hundred dollars might easily be saved in this way on even a moderate sized farm if the weather does not change, and in the country the saving would count up to several hundreds of thousands.

Prince Arthur.

The Liverpool Post understands that Prince Arthur will sail for Canada on the 14th August, accompanied by Lieut. Col. Elphinstone, V. C., and Lieut. Pickard, V. C., and Lieut. Pickard, V. C. The council of Military Education, in their report, state —"Prince Arthur remained three terms only at the academy, and devoted his attention principally to artillery, fortification, and surveying. In these subjects he passed a searching viva voce examination by the Professors in June, 1868, in the presence of Major-General Sir F. Abbott, a member of the Council, who expressed himself in the following terms in his report :—'The examination being viva voce, was much more extensive and searching than it could otherwise have been made within reasonable limits of time, yet the answers given were, with few exceptions, prompt and accurate, showing that during an unusually brief course, his Royal Highness had devoted great attention to the instruction given by the able and zealous Professors of the Academy, and proving himself to be well qualified for a commission in either of the scientific crops of Her Majesty's Army.'"

HE STUDIES SPANISH BEAUTY IN SEVILLE—A DANCING GIRL THROWS HER HANDKERCHIEF AT HIM—HE GIVES HER SIX SILVER DOLLARS

The Seville women should be seen in the Andalusian dances. Spain is still the land of the bolero and the fandango, and in Andalusia, and in Seville especially, the national, inimitable inspiring dance still survives. The castanet will stir a Spaniard even quicker than a handsome toss of a horse and picador of a splendid bull. We have already seen the gipsy dances at Granada. The dances of the gipsy are not unlike those we saw in Africa by Arab and Kabyle, and are not very unlike the Spanish dances we saw at Seville. These dances and those dancers have not changed since the Roman days. Tambourine, guitar, and castanet were described in the classics long before Cervantes described their effect as like the quicksilver of the five senses Hence I conclude, from what I have read and seen, that all these dances are from the Orient, from antiquity, and not unlike each other in kind and origin.

We found that an arrangement could be made for a funcion by our paying for the refreshments. (Funcion is the word. A funcion is the assemblage for a dance in Spain.) A funcion was, therefore, prepared at a ball in one of the narrow streets of Seville, some miles from our hotel. We went about ten o'clock. The room is full of both sexes. The men are smoking their cigarettes. This they do in every place.—We are used to it. A funcion is no exceptional piece, no more than the cars or dining-room. The women are lively, and not all of them young. Quadrilles are under way as we enter. Between the quadrilles four senoritas dance the national dance. They are dressed in short Andalusian kirtles, pretty well flounced, very gay, either crimson or yellow; bodice over the hip, and a head-dress or cap directly covering the chignon behind, with pendants of ribbon rings. A huge gilt comb, stuck in jauntily on one side, ornaments the back hair. In one dance where there was "a proposal" of marriage, the little, short, narrow black silk mantilla is added for coquettish display. These dances begin with loud screaming wail or song, of which I have often spoken, the verses ending rather musically in a tremulous prolonged quaver of—ahs. Then the guitar follows; then the dance is constant! The step is light, the motions are quick, the whirl of the body and poise of foot, the sway, the mien, the grace—these are indescribable. Did you ever see

THE LITTLE FOOT OF AN ANDALUSIAN GIRL?

In Mexico? No, sir. That will not do. In Lima, you say. Well, Lima has its satin slipper neatly filled. I will not quarrel as to Lima. The indigenous article in its neatest, smallest, plumpest finesse of a foot is to be seen only in Andalusia or in Seville; and that, also, by microscopic observation. How it twinkles! how it hides!

But time is called! Time in dancing "is of the essence," as lawyers say; and these petite feet keep it exactly. The "limbs" have not so much to do with these dances as the rest of the body; but all is decorous. There is no ill-meaning. These dances have a history and historians. I will not dwell on their peculiarities. The most graceful girl, Fatima—a Moorish name—was one whom I christened "Little Fatty." She could walk on her toes, as if she had no fleshy avoirdupois to upbear. Although she had evidently made her ivory teeth do much execution, yet her ivory castanets do more, notwithstanding her plumpitude. At this function we have a band, but the performers sing also as they play. They make the building ring with their wailing songs. The dances conclude with the famouse Ole, a dance celebrated by Martial, who was a Spaniard, and by Horace also. The master of ceremonies has this dance performed immediately before us. As the Senorita concludes her last step, bidding one foot somewhere, and with the other poising her voluptuous rotundity in the air, with head back, and arms waving, she astonishes me by dashing her spotless handkerchief into my lap. I had not read of that in Petronius or Scaliger. This is a new stanza in the poetry of motion. With much embarrassment—not unpleasant—I asked my companion, 'What must I do?' 'Do?' 'Yes; must I throw it back?' Here was innocence—paradisaical, before-the-fall innocence. 'No, no.' Will she come for it?' 'Good news! Well?' 'Well?' 'What then?' 'Put something in it; silver will do, not gold. Then you must go up and present it to her, in your best style.' I looked for little 'Fatty.' She had curled up on a footstool to save her clothes—at the foot of either her mother or a duenna; she looked like one of Velasquez's dwarfs. Was I afraid? No—never, &c. I boldly mustered—my muchos gracias—for the honor &c.; and with half a dozen chicking pesetas within the cambric I laid my tribute in her lap. As I bowed, a lovely crimson was remarked overspreading my ingenious face. 'Fatty' wrestled her self pose; and pretty features into dimples and smiled; and—I—retired.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, JULY 24

CATTLE.—Nine cars with 150 head of cattle, passed here, per Grand Trunk Railway, going East this a. m. destined for Providence

THE WEEVIL.—The Madoc Mercury says The weevil, we learn, has already destroyed from a third to half the Fall Wheat on some farms in this neighborhood. The Coarser grains are likely in future to be substituted in its place.

EMIGRANTS.—Two hundred and twenty five emigrants passed here per Grand Trunk Railway this a. m. Fifty of them were Germans, and destined for the Western States.—The remainder, all English, are booked for various parts of Ontario. Efforts were made to induce a number to remain here, but to no purpose, as all of them had been previously engaged.

EATEN BY A BEAR.—A man named Copeland, residing on the Mississippi or Snow Road, has just been horribly torn by a bear. While walking through the bush Mr. Copeland suddenly encountered a large bear, which was at once attacked by his dog. As the bear turned upon the dog, Mr. Copeland fell, and was seized by the bear, first on the arm, wrist and hand, and then on the thigh. He is much torn, but the wounds are not of a serious nature. The bear has been killed, and it is thought to be the largest seen in this country.

ALBERT COLLEGE.—We have great pleasure in noticing the arrival of two large cases of Chemical apparatus intended for the use of the Chemical, Agricultural, and Mineralogical classes of the College. The articles are from the House of John J. Griffin & Sons, Oxford Garden, London, England; and have been procured through the services of Prof. J T. Bell. The possession of such a set of apparatus will give the students in those classes a very great advantage in the pursuit of their studies

EXPORTS FROM MONTREAL.—The Daily News of yesterday publishes a comparative statement of the quantity and value of exports via Montreal, Coaticook, St. Johns, Rouse's Point, Swanton, and St. Armand, for the quarter ending June 30th, from which we extract the following:—

	1868.	1869.
The Mine	$ 96,512	$ 114,722
The Fisheries	10,000	12,000
The Forest	740,709	892,000
Animals and their produce	658,872	727,076
Agricultural Products	2,025,555	2,317,115
Manufactures	155,681	226,264
Coin and Bullion	1,486,108	147,170
Miscellaneous	107,401	146,817
Total	$5,282,951	$4,375,736

CHAMPION RASPBERRY BUSH.—The Madoc Mercury says:—Two years ago Mr. T S Wood, of this village, planted a single small raspberry cane in a twelve foot square piece of ground, which was railed off as a cucumber patch. It was well manured, and being well watered—by a spout leading from the outside of the fence direct to the roots of the plant—has attained such a size, that the canes of this season's growth are about eight feet high, and the bush almost fills up the whole enclosure, and is loaded with fruit. If this is not the champion of its kind, we should like to be informed where a larger one is to be found.

GATHERING THE SCATTERINGS.—Farmers are asked to reap and then gather their grain as will best advance their interest. A word in season may be worth many dollars to you; therefore you will take notice that if you want to sell, your grain for good prices, you must secure it in good order, and keep it clean and dry. You horse-rake wheat scatterings, and you never calculate on using the wheat for bread, especially when raked with a wire tooth rake, as that rake gathers much dirt and stone. Oats raked in this manner very injurious to horses, and the hay would be much better if kept clean. We understand the maltsters have suffered heavily the past season in consequence of gathering barley by mowing with the machine and gathering with the wire tooth rake This rake gathers the barley nicely, but at the same time gathers with it dirt and stone, and this dirt and stone will go with the grain to the brewery, and then the brewer not only goes back to the maltster for damages, but refuses to buy any more of such malt, and the result is the maltsters refuse to buy barley that is not clear from earth. We have had an interview with some of our maltsters, which causes us to write this, and they frankly say will not buy any more barley that has fine stone and earth in it. Farmers, in a word, you all know that the cleaner and nicer you can deliver property to market the more money you get for it, and the last penny you get per bushel for grain attracts your attention more than a dozen of the first.—Oneida Dispatch.

Philadelphia is to have a bigger musical jubilee than Boston has had. It is proposed to celebrate the centennial anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, on the Fourth of July, 1876, by a gigantic Musical festival, in a building especially erected in Fairmount Park, capable of accommodating 100,000 spectators and 12,000 performers. A letter has been sent to President Grant giving him the particulars of this enterprise, and asking "an expression of his kind approval, and for its success the best wishes of his patriotic heart."

Release of Rev. Mr. McMahon.

The following document explains the reason of the liberation of Rev. Mr. McMahon. It is one of the most extraordinary State papers ever issued, and we shall take occasion to refer to it in another issue.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
OTTAWA, Saturday, 17th July, 1869
Present, His Excellency the Governor General in Council.

His Excellency laid before the Council a report dated 15th July, 1869, from the Hon the Minister of Justice, which is herein annexed, recommending that the remainder of the term of imprisonment which John McMahon, a Fenian convict, is now undergoing in the Provincial Penitentiary be remitted, and that the prisoner be discharged from confinement

The reasons adduced in the report of the Minister of Justice having been fully considered, His Excellency in Council has been pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that the remainder of the sentence of the said prisoner, John McMahon, be remitted, and that he be discharged from confinement

Certified,
W. H. LEE,
Clerk Privy Council

OTTAWA, July 15, 1869.

The Queen vs. John McMahon

The defendant in this case, who is a Roman Catholic clergyman, was convicted in October, 1866, of having, as an American citizen, entered into Canada with intent to levy war against the Queen, with having unlawfully continued in arms, and with being in Canada with other evil disposed persons while committing an act of hostility.

On this conviction he was sentenced to death, but the sentence was commuted to imprisonment for 20 years, in accordance with a despatch from Lord Carnarvon, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, bearing date the 24th November, 1866

The defendant was one of a large body of men commonly known as Fenians, who invaded Canada in June, 1866, during which time they committed various outrages, resisted Her Majesty's troops, and killed and injured many of Her Majesty's subjects. Of the justice of the verdict, the learned Judge who tried the prisoner, declared that he entertained no doubt The prisoner, since his conviction, has been undergoing his sentence in the Penitentiary at Kingston.

At the same Assizes a number of persons were tried for being concerned in the same invasion, and 22 persons found guilty, including the prisoner. Among the acquitted was one David E. Lumsden, a clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States.

Since the conviction of the prisoners numerous petitions from all parts of Canada have been presented for his release, or a mitigation of his sentence. The Roman Catholic hierarchy and clergy have taken special interest in his case, and the Archbishop of Halifax made a special visit to Ottawa to intercede for him

Petitions have also been presented for some of the other prisoners

With respect to all these Fenian prisoners except McMahon, the undersigned would consider it altogether inadvisable to enter into favorably any such application, for the present at least

The Fenian organization in the United States, which caused so great a loss of life and property in 1866, still exists in full activity; its leaders still proclaim their intention of attacking Canada, and the Dominion is at to considerable expense in preparations to ward off these threatened attacks.

Until this body is formally and finally dissolved, and ceases to threaten the peace of our borders, it would be obviously improper to add to their numbers by releasing men who would in all probability rejoin the Fenian body, and be treated as martyrs who had suffered in their cause

The case of McMahon, in itself, presents no redeeming features, and, judged on its own merits, there would be no reason for extending to him any exercise of the Royal mercy. But, the undersigned is of opinion that it would be wise to make his an exception case, for two reasons, viz

1st. That there were two clergymen tried for the same offence—one a Catholic, the other a Protestant. The former was found guilty, and the latter acquitted

While the evidence against Lumsden showed some favorable features which might warrant an acquittal by the jury, enough was proved against him legally to support a verdict for the Crown

If not all, a majority of the jurors, in both cases, were Protestants; and the undersigned believes that there is an impression, however ill founded, among these co religionists of McMahon, that even-handed justice was not administered in these two cases, and a good deal of irritation has been engendered thereby

Now it is important not only that impartial justice should be administered in fact, but that the country should feel and believe that it has been so administered, and it is especially desirable that any contrary impression should be removed from the minds of the Irish Roman Catholics in Canada

The second and principal reason, however, is that her Majesty's Government and Canada owe a debt of gratitude to the whole body of the Catholic clergy in Canada. They were unwearied in their exertions in the cause of loyalty and good order they spared no pains to prevent the spread of the Fenian organization through the Provinces, and it is due to their influence and exhortations that this nefarious conspiracy made but little headway among us.

As a mark of the appreciation of the Government of their noble efforts, and in order to meet the strongly expressed wishes of the Canadian Bishops, and of the distinguished prelate, the Archbishop of Halifax, as well as for the reason first assigned, the undersigned has the honor to recommend that the remainder of the sentence of the prisoner be remitted, and that he be discharged from confinement

All of which is respectfully submitted,
(Signed) JOHN A. MACDONALD

The Press Association.

The members of the Press Association with their ladies, numbering in all about 150, arrived in Belleville per steamer Bay of Quinte last night about 11 o'clock. They were met at the wharf by the representatives of the press in this town, and accompanied by them, proceeded to the Dafoe House. It is much to be regretted that the Town Council had taken no steps to extend to them the hospitalities of the town, which we are sure would be but carrying out the wishes of the people in this respect, and we believe that in no other place the Association visited, on either side of the line, but what a public expression of welcome in some form or another was offered. The Press of the town feeling it incumbent upon them, to at least extend to their brethren some assurance of kindly greeting, invited them to partake of a supper with themselves and a few friends. The chair was occupied by the Police Magistrate, A. Diamond, Esq., and a very pleasant time was spent. A report of the proceedings we shall give in our next issue.

The following account of the reception at Kingston we copy from the Toronto Globe's telegram. The following address of welcome was presented by the Mayor of Kingston:—

To the President and Members of the Press Association of Ontario:

GENTLEMEN,—On behalf of the corporation and citizens of Kingston, I give you a hearty welcome. We all acknowledge the power of the fourth estate, and when, as in this Province of the Dominion, its great influence is exercised in promoting the well-being and happiness of the people, the gentlemen connected with it are entitled to our highest respect. During the few hours you purpose to remain in Kingston, we will be most happy to promote the object of your visit to the utmost of our power.

(Signed)
WILLIAM ROBINSON,
Mayor.

Mr. Buckingham, the ex-President, made a very effective reply.

The party then entered carriages which were in waiting, and under the escort of the Mayor and Council, were driven out to view the Provincial Penitentiary, and Rockwood Lunatic Asylum. It was intended also to have driven over Cataraqui bridge, but the time proved too short. At half-past twelve the party, leaving out the ladies who were otherwise provided for, assembled at a chamberers lunch at the British American, Mayor Robinson in the chair. The usual loyal and patriotic toasts were duly honored, and short speeches—very short indeed as the time was short—were made by Mr. Mayor Robinson, Mr. Buckingham, Mr. T. M. Ferris, Warden of the Penitentiary, Mr. Jackson, Dr. Dickson, Medical Superintendent, Rockwood Asylum, Mr. Gillespie and Dr. Barker. Immediately after luncheon the party embarked on the steamer Bay of Quinte for Picton and Belleville.

The adjourned meeting of the Association was held on board the steamer on leaving Kingston, and various resolutions as to matters of detail calculated to perfect the work of the Association, were discussed and adopted. The election of a Poet for the year was happily disposed of by the suggestion, unanimously approved, that the President elect, Mr. Wylie, of the Brockville Recorder, give his annual address next year in poetry, instead of in prose, in which way two birds may be killed with one stone. Mr. John McLean, of the Globe, was chosen Essayist of the Association for the year. It having been found that the excursion programme of this year, with the number of important receptions with which the Press was honored, had proved rather extensive for the four days in the week—from Tuesday morning until Friday night—it was resolved that the President, officers, and Executive Committee have power to take such action with reference to next year's excursion, and the time spent and proceedings taken at each place visited, as shall give less hard work and more leisure for enjoyment during the trip to the members.

CUBAN FILLIBUSTERS MAKING FOR CANADA

NEW YORK, July 23.—The 'Democrat' says a company of Cuban filibusters numbering 150 men, left this city last night via the Erie railroad with the intention of repairing to a rendezvous indicated by Col Ryan, in Canada

CUBA

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Advices received here from leaders in the Cuban army to the 17th, state that on the 12th and 14th, the troops of Quesada stationed between Puerto Principe and Nuevitas, were attacked by Lesca, and were repulsed, the first day with a loss of 50 killed and wounded, and on the second with over 100. The Cubans retain their position of siege before Puerto Principe The troops under Gen Figuerto, of Gen Jordan's command, occupying a position some 40 miles for Santiago de Cuba, were attacked on the 13th by the Spanish force, over 1,200 in number, and said to be commanded by Gen. Valmaceda. After over three hours' fighting the Spaniards were obliged to give up the attack. Next day, after being reinforced, the Spanish General renewed the attack with great vigor. Three assaults were made on the Cuban position, and in each the Spaniards were repulsed. In the last attack their loss was so great that they were compelled to retreat precipitately. Gen. Jordan participated in the second day's fight. The Cubans lost 32 killed, including two officers.—The Spanish loss is reported to be over 300 The Spaniards retreated to Santiago. The Cubans are in good spirits and affected little by the cholera.

THE FRENCH CABLE

BOSTON, July 23.—At a meeting of the Common Council last night, an order was adopted, providing for the proper celebration on the part of the city of the successful laying of the French cable. Two British steamers, with the French cable, were signalled from Highland Light, Cape Cod, at sunrise this morning. They are bound into the bay for Duxbury, where they will be landed.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., July 23.—The steamers 'Chelteru' and 'Scanderia,' with the French cable came to anchor this evening off Duxbury Their arrival so soon was quite unexpected, but it is thought the work cannot well be perfected for landing at the shore end to-morrow. The land line to Boston is not yet completed, but an office will be opened to-night at Kingston, about six miles from Duxbury.

KINGSTON, Mass., July 24.—The telegraph line to Duxbury was grounded and delayed to-day. The officers of the steamer 'Chiltern,' are to-day being tendered in a formal banquet The grand celebration takes place on Tuesday It is thought that the land line will be spliced to the cable on Monday

The Salt Wells of Goderich Platt's Evaporator.

With great pleasure we copy from the Goderich Signal the following account of the success of Platt's Evaporator at the salt well

"Having this morning inspected Platt's New Patent Evaporator, as put up in the Maitlandville Salt Works, we have no hesitation in expressing our firm belief that it will prove a grand success—will, in fact, completely revolutionize the manufacture of salt in this town, to the advantage of our local capitalists and the destruction of the interests of the Syracuse monopoly in Ontario, if not in the Western States.

"The principle of the new machine is simply that the evaporation is carried on in a large shallow pan by the action of superheated steam. By this means the heat evolved in the furnace is all saved; so that one cord of wood will do two and a half times the amount of work, as compared with the kettle system. Again, the necessary labor required in producing salt is reduced by more than one half. Hence, it is obvious that by this new system salt can and will be manufactured at the rate of, say, 55 cts, per barrel of 280 lb." whereas by the kettle system from 90c. to $1 is the very lowest ratio. The new plan, we have not the least doubt, will be adopted by all our manufacturers. It will enable them to compete with the Onondago people in all parts of Canada, West of Kingston, and even to pay 70 cts. duty, in gold, in order to introduce it into the Chicago market. Of course Syracuse influence may be sufficiently strong to induce the federal authorities to place a still higher duty on Canadian salt, but in that case we doubt not our government would do a little at the game of tit for tat which would set matters all right.

"Our salt stands at present, first in the markets of Ontario, our wells are tested to the utmost to supply the demand, and, as we have always believed, there is for Goderich, after the present hard times shall have blown over, future replete with material prosperity."

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants, the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

Latest by Telegraph.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, July 23.—There was a full attendance of members and spectators in the House of Commons this evening. When Mr. Gladstone rose to speak he was greeted with great cheering. Under a heavy sense of responsibility, but with profound satisfaction, he moved that the House agree to the amendments inserted yesterday, without exception or reservation. He called attention to the excision from the preamble of the words specifying the appropriation of the surplus; but as the point was before indicated in the Bill, he thought it would be invidious and unnecessary to require a theoretical and abstract declaration in the preamble. The re-insertion of the date of 1871 was not taken as a token of victory, but as an indication of the joint and harmonious working of the two Houses. He reviewed the other amendments which had met with objections, and said the substance of the Government proposals has remained virtually unaltered. He asked the House to discard every word that might have been uttered tending to embitter the question, and he apologized for any warmth of feeling which he might have shown. He congratulated the House on the satisfactory settlements which had been arrived at, and praised the ability and moderation with which the debates had been conducted by Earl Granville and Lord Cairns. He hoped the disestablishment of the church would develope within her the qualities by which a great career would be marked out for her, and that God wold speed her in her new career.

Sir Roundell Palmer, member for Richmond, approved of the course which had been taken. It was honorable and fair to both sides. The point agreed upon was one which all must accept. In the case of an adverse decision, we must bow to the superior force of those who control events, and when the time has come, it is folly to refuse to see and acknowledge the fact. He thought the compromise was substantially a concession to the Church, and concluded his speech with a compliment to Mr Gladstone on the tone and temper of the debate.

Mr. Disraeli said that when the difference between the Houses was only in a matter of details he felt that delay in the settlement was only a doubtful advantage, and might result in disasters and difficulties of no inconsiderable kind. Compromise was not unconditional surrender. The most essential points of the amendments had been assented to, and he thought that the House and country would deem the compromise fair and just. He hoped the present would be the last occasion when political subjects would be dealt with by by abstract principle. We had been out on the eve of a collision occasioned by a misunderstanding between the two Houses, at a time when such had deported itself in a manner to show the possession of confidence and the satisfaction of the country. Surely all would hail with satisfaction, and ratify with pleasure, the sentiment arrived at, which was satisfactory and statesmanlike. After the conclusion of Mr. Disraeli's speach the amendments were agreed to without a discussion. The result was received with great cheering

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travelers, than many of the so called, "first class Hotels;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career, everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and systematic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of Rooms RICHLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general State in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Lots d'Aim" and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public.

From its situation on McGill Street, almost the highest and commercial centre of the City, it could scarcely be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men; when the iron is reduced from any cause whatever, the whole system suffers, the weakest part being first attacked, and a feeling of languor, lassitude, and general prostration of the system. Stimulants only afford temporary relief, and have the same effect as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

a protected solution of the protoxide of Iron, which is so prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system.

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

An eminent physician says, "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of muscle."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass.

The Three Little Chairs.

They sat alone by the bright wood fire,
The grey-haired dame and the aged sire,
Dreaming of days gone by;
The tear-drop fell on each wrinkled cheek,
They both had thoughts that they could not speak,
As each heart uttered a sigh. [speak,

For their sad and tearful eyes beheld
Three little chairs placed side by side
Against the sitting-room wall;
Old Children! enough as there they stood,
Their seats of flag, and their frames of wood,
With their backs so straight and tall.

Then the sire shook his silvery head,
And with trembling voice he gently said,
"Mother, those vacant chairs,
They bring us such sad, sad thoughts to-night,
We'll put them forever out of sight,
In the vacant room upstairs."

But she answered, "Father, no, not yet,
For I look at them and I forget
That the children went away.
The boys come back, and our Mary too,
With her apron on of chequered blue,
And sit here every day.

Johnny still whittles a ship's tall mast,
And Willie his tender bullets casts,
And Mary her patchwork sews
At evening-time three childish prayer
Go up to God from these little chairs,
So softly that no one knows.

Johnny comes back from the billowy deep,
Willie wakes from his battlefield sleep,
To say a good night to me.
Mary's a wife and a mother no more
But a tired child whose play time is o'er,
And comes to rest on my knee.

So let them stand there, the high empty row
And every time when alone we bow,
At our Father's throne to pray,
We'll ask to meet the children above,
In our Saviour's home of rest and love,
Where no child goeth away.

How Negroes Manage A'''gators.

'Alligators chaw a feller all up,' said a little darkey we engaged to carry our baggage from the port landing at Port Hudson to the miserable shanty called by its proprietor a hotel.

'Yes, Sam, but it's a sleepy time now for alligators, isn't it?'

'Lor bress you, massa, you must have cum frum de Nort, shuah, to tink de alligators sleeps. Do yer see dat ar great whurlumpool whar de riber is swinging the trees and logs and sich round and round. Well, de Federal snipers used to go in dar to wash up, and he black alligators first loosted dem rite under water without wickin at em.' But dose soiers didn't no how to manage um.'

'How would you manage one, Sam?' we asked.

Why, I do jist as de cullud folks do down on old Wetherby's plantation. He cotch him by de tip of his tail and jist make him scull me ashore. Der ye see? When a pusson of color gets an alligator after him he jist cotches him by de tail, turns it kind a sidewise, so, and de ole feller gits mighty mad dough, but he can't bite de feller what is steer'g him. An' he has to git in what d'rection der steerer says.

'White folks cum down her from up Nor' and de alligators first eat em without stop pin.' But a pusson ub culler, he jist take de alligator by de tail and tells him, Mr. Alligator, de nigger wants to cross de riber, lead me per tail, and away goes alligater and pusson ob culler obey to de ole plantation. If the alligator spressed his opinion, I spec he'd say de pusson ob culler was takin liberties with a fellah Lord made spressly for to alligator. But de'r alligators were made afore steamboats no how.'

We rather doubted the feasibility of making alligators perform ferry-boat duty, but as we soon after reached the top of the sandy knoll upon which our hotel was situated, the alligator question was dismissed.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all, the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reasons, that it is a sure remedy and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that it does cure and does always do that which we calls through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the most remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we do not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action, restoring the derangements of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint in its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case to correct the diseased action or remove the obstruction which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, driven cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to a youthful color with the gloss and freshness of youth. The hair is thin-

ened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain may be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently preserve its beauty. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil whit- ambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

QUERY?

Should a company the noble desires to bring on our tea and coffee or bottle, as an expense of at least four times when they now cost?

How, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which are the simple extracts of herbs or plants and roots, and are so readily prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of DR. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medical properties than can be procured in any other form for four times the amount of money.

We have in our possession numerous testimonials as to the practicability of, as well as the benefits derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt rheum, blotches, spots, pimples on the face, swellings, tendency to boils, old sores, pimples or roughness of the skin, it regulates the secretions, and will restore the hair and promotes the general vigor of the system, without the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per package.

DR. THOMPSON'S
Stomachic Bitters.

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and Indigestion. For consumptives it has no equal. It is a mild and safe stimulant and corroberant for delicate persons; a good alterative tonic for ordinary family purposes, a general recuperant after the system has been reduced by sickness, an excellent as well as an agreeable tonic for convalescents after all bilious diseases, and diseases having their origin in an imperfect digestion or a deranged state of the stomach. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6.
OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds such as cold chills, colds and fever, measles, pains in the joints or limbs, neuralgia, rheumatic pains—in fact it is a good property so called Pain Killer—it can be used for all purposes for which Pain Killers or Relievers are used, such as cramps in the stomach, diarrhœa, &c. It can be administered in plain water, or, in female complaints, in camomile tea. It is a powerful diaphoretic and has already been used with great success as a liniment. Sold at 25 cents per package.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present condensed style of putting up medicine in packages, as he is desirous of placing his medicines in reach of the poor as well as the rich. Each package contains the regular price of similar preparations.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Dal Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry, in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparerat the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the same Certificate, and awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Grateful, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the élite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Holding Vanderbilt's Horse.

A TRUE STORY FROM WALL STREET—HOW AN OPERATOR CONTROLLING MILLIONS CAN MANAGE THE MARKET AND REALIZE FORTUNES FOR HIMSELF OR FOR OTHERS.

From the New York Sun.

A young man from an adjoining State, who has recently been rescued from a score of hungry creditors, and who still has a credit at his banker's of about $100,000, but who not long ago was in reduced circumstances and obliged to live in retirement on Staten Island, makes the following solutions of his sudden acquisition of a competency. The gentleman—Holt by name—was residing in one of the fashionable hotels on Staten Island. He was extremely down-hearted. This was the reason of his low spirits: About two years ago he had married a very handsome woman, on whom he fairly doated. At that time he had $25,000 in cash. Soon after the nuptial ceremony, Holt removed to this city, and became a broker on Wall street. He was too honest to succeed there. The bull's end bears gored and tore him—financially—and in less than a twelvemonth he had not a dollar left. Disgusted, he retired with as good a grace as possible, leaving his cash to fulfil its mission. With wife and child he went to the country, and finally, as before stated, settled down in a hotel on Staten Island. His wife had some means, and she gave it freely for the support of the family.

About two weeks ago, late in one hot afternoon, a gentleman drove up to the hotel where Holt was living, and gruffly asked whether there was a boy there who would hold his horse. "I will do it, sir," said Mr. Holt, and he did hold the animal during the time consumed by the elderly gentleman in obtaining his dinner.

A few days later the same gentleman, driving the same horse, stopped at the same hotel, and hunted for a boy again to hold his horse. No boy being present, Holt again volunteered. He held the horse until the hostler came to take the horse to the stable, and then retired within the hotel to dress for dinner. Mrs. Holt had a way of making her husband get himself very respectable at least once each day, and that was for the dinner hour. Usually he had been rather negligent of his costume, and since his financial fiasco had really become seedy. When Mr. and Mrs. Holt entered the hotel dining room that evening Mrs. Holt was resplendent. Her husband was at least dressed in gentlemanly style. At an adjoining table sat the elderly gentleman whose horse Mr. Holt had on two different occasions the pleasure of holding. The eyes of the elderly gentleman were observed to dilate considerably. In fact, he stared at Mr. and Mrs. Holt. But he said nothing at the time. After dinner, however, he sought out Mr. Holt, and bluntly asked his name. "Holt, sir, at your service." "And who do you think I am?" again asked the elderly personage. "Oh, you! You are 'old' Vanderbilt! I know you; and the horse I have held is Mountain Boy, an animal any man might be proud to draw a rein over."

Instead of taking offence at the epithet "old," Mr. Vanderbilt—for it was the Commodore—seemed to like it, and he had some inquiries about Holt's antecedents, took a fancy to him, and peremptorily ordered the young man to make his appearance at his up-town office on the ensuing forepoon at precisely 11 o'clock. Holt promised to obey, did so, and had an interview of over an hour's duration with the millionaire.—What was done or said on that occasion no one has ever been able to learn. But a few days later Holt made his reappearance in Wall street and speculated strongly and successfully in a certain line of stocks known to be mostly controlled by Commodore Vanderbilt. So well did he work his card with the instructions undoubtedly obtained from the Commodore, that in a few weeks he had over $100,000 in cash, which he deposited with a prominent banking house whose vaults are protected by burglar-proof locks, and who keep day and night watchmen expressly paid to see that no unauthorized person tampers with these safeguards. Two days ago Vanderbilt sent for Holt again and said to him: "Young man, I hear you have made some money. I am glad to learn it. Now just take my advice a second time: Never put foot in Wall street again. You are not suited for that atmosphere. Shun it as you would the devil. You've got enough. Keep what you have and be contented."

Holt now shuns Wall street as he would a pestilence.

The South Ripe for a Monarchy.

A correspondent of the New York World traveling in the south, sends home to his journal a somewhat remarkably frank statement of his investigations into the rapid growth of imperialism in the south and west. He says, in the letter to which we refer:

But it is not secession, or the rightfulness of secession, that occupies the first place in the current political conversation of the south. That place is allotted to the Empire. This idea has much popularity, and the paper devoted to its propagandism finds a ready sale. Of that paper, I have been repeatedly asked, in Memphis, New Orleans, Mobile, Montgomery, and other cities, who edits it? what does it mean? who backs it? &c., &c. So general, indeed, have I found the interest in this imperialism business, that I have sometimes thought the coming man, when ready for his coup d'etat, could make a very successful bid for southern support. This state of affairs arises from that ceaseless devilment to which the people of this section have been subjected. Everything seems at loose ends, and it is supposed that an empire would be immediate solidity. To be let alone to have something fixed and stable, is the earth's prayer and yearning of the south, and if empire business ever should take a definite shape, and proffer some reasonable guarantee of a permanent status to this section, it will, beyond doubt, receive men and money.

Wheat after Peas.

We employ peas too little as a farm crop as a rule throughout most [of] this country, but they are growing in favor and in use. "F. G." writing to the Prairie Farmer in regard to the value of peas as a crop to precede wheat says: "It is the practice of some of our own farmers in Central New York, to turn down sod in the spring and put on peas; sow early and reap early, and then replant and put to wheat. This prepares the ground, and puts it always in excellent order.

It is known that peas have a mellowing influence on the surface; that they also enrich the land, only less than clover; and that the turned up, rotten sod is just the thing for a seed bed, while the soil turned down is also mellow—the whole in a good condition throughout, not too loose, somewhat compact, just what wheat wants, and the manure (sod) well rotted, which will favor the berry and the brightness of the straw.

If this soil has been a clover bed, all the better; this will enrich it below, as well as mellow it, and enrich it at the top and throughout. A heavy crop of clover, continued for two years, if the soil lacked vegetable matter, is the best thing that can be done for it, and cannot well be valued too highly—so much clear gain from the atmosphere, such mellow, dry soil; the effect so deeply extended, and throughout, a plant food and seed bed available at once. For wheat you get no better land it seems.

Peas are next to clover; and we have seen those who think peas equal if not superior to clover, to be followed by wheat. This opinion is based upon experience alone, and we have seen the effect, which it is hard to surpass.

Plough the land the same depth as before, so as to get just the sod; this makes two ploughings the same season, and is equivalent to a fallow, while you have your crop of peas for your labor; and this crop, it is found, is a good one. There needs a little plaster—just a dusting—to start it, or a sprinkling of ashes; but if the soil is good, these are not needed.

After the wheat, a crop of barley or oats, or, if for feed, a crop of barley and oats, making a heavy growth, and then seeded down; or, if the soil needs recruiting, and it is desirable, seed down after the wheat, always sowing on the light snows of spring. This never fails here of a good catch."

A Ragged Gentleman.

A few days since, a man, evidently down in the world, with torn and ragged apparel, but yet with an appearance and manner that betokened better things, was arrested on the levee in New Orleans as a dangerous and suspicious character. When informed by the officer that he should take him in custody, tattered emallon grew very indignant and demanded of what he was accused.

'Of vagrancy, sir.'

'What, a loafer?'

'Yes, sir; or by whatever name you choose to call it.'

'And I'm arrested on this charge?'

'Yes, of having no visible means of support.'

The poor fellow contemplated himself ruefully for a moment and then, with a sad smile, replied:

'Why, officer you must be insane. No visible means of support? Why, look at me. My hands, feet, legs, even my body's visible. Why, I'm the most visible person you've ever seen in your life.'

The Russian Princess Sunworry is the greatest female gambler in Europe. She makes the tour of the various gambling resorts, going from Baden to Monaco and spending all her time at the tables. She is young, but has been married three times, and is now separated from her last husband. Sometimes she wins largely and other times loses very heavily, but plays incessantly, and is still very rich. She is superstitious about her luck, and sometimes holds her face in a particular position to attract good fortune. At other times she is careful to ask unlucky persons to leave the table, and those whom she regards as lucky to stand by her side while she plays.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, JULY 26.

RAILWAY RECEIPTS.—The Railway receipts for June were $910,871 ; for the same month last year, $803,225

HOUSE.—Thirty-two double decked cars containing about 2800 hogs, have passed this Station going east since yesterday morning

INWARDS.—The steamship Prussian passed Father Point inwards on Saturday evening with 44 cabin and 519 steerage passengers

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.—Remember the Moonlight Excursion, to-morrow, Tuesday Evening, by the Steamer Prince Edward. She leaves her dock sharp at 9 p. m

DOMINION NOTES.—The Dominion notes in circulation on the 7th July amounted to $5,-791,000 ; specie, $1,175,000, debentures held by Receiver General, $3,400,000

WHAT IT MEANT.—Respecting the report of the Government organ at Quebec, which was of such an ominous character, and which excited the people of the ancient capital, a later report says that the intelligence relates to Feniasism, and that General Windham had been telegraphed for to Murray Bay.

THE RUMORED RESIGNATION.—The Montreal Gazette says with reference to Mr. Rose's resignation that though there may have been good reason for the rumour at the time, it is at least premature, that no ministerial changes will take place for some time, and that any offers made to Mr Rose have not reached a point which will deprive the country of his services

DOMINION RIFLE MATCH.—Lt. Col., Stuart of the Militia Department, Secretary of the Dominion Rifle Association makes the announcement that at the approaching annual Wimbledon, the Adjutant-General, Lt. Col. Robertson Ross, will offer a prize of $100 and a silver medal. Match open to all non commissioned officers and privates of Volunteers, 800 yards range, 5 rounds, finder, rifle any position No entrance fee to be exacted.

COMMUNICATION WITH THE NORTH WEST.—The Daily News, of Montreal, in speaking of railway communication with the North-West, says, "We believe that in this matter a bold and vigorous policy is the best, and that anything the Government may and can do towards the construction of a railroad will be endorsed by the public opinion of Canada. We cannot afford a large money grant, but we have hundreds of thousands of acres which are positively useless until a railroad is built, and these might be made available."

THE MONTREAL REGATTA.—The 'Path finder' of Ogdensburg won the first prize, $30, in the first race of six miles, in the Regatta which took place on Saturday at Lachine. The championship in the two mile race was won by the 'Skylark' of Boston, in 13 minutes, 23 seconds. Prize, $100. The Canoe race was won by the 'Caughnawagas. The four oared race in rigged boats, was won by the 'Emma' of Toronto. The four mile race, outriggers, for $150 was won by the Paris crew, making it in 17:32. Some other races were made. There was a large attendance.

Gold News.

We have again to notice with pleasure another clearing up of the Gilles Mining Company of Marmora, under the management of Mr. Gilbert, on Saturday, the 24th inst. The result was a brick of gold weighing 7 oz., 5 dwts, and 20 grs., which was obtained from one week's actual crushing. Our informant says this cannot, by any means, be considered a fair test, from the act that the material consisted principally of loose surface material.

The mine to every appearance indicates permanence, as the gold continues to be found free in the sulphurets.

There is a prospect of a general revival in mining in that section, there being no less than three mills in contemplation for erection at an early date

Asylum Demonstration.

At the adjourned meeting of the citizens held on Saturday evening last, the Secretary, Mr. Dickson, read a letter from the Warden advising of his having named a Committee to co operate with the Committee to be named from the Town. The indisposition of the Mayor preventing his attendance, Mr. McAnnany was called to the chair. Mr. Bell, Mr. Dean, Prof. Carman, Mr. Diamond, Dr. Hope, Mr. Neilson, Mr. Dickson, Mr. Dougall, Mr. Kelso, Mr McGann, (of the Hamilton Asylum), and Mr. Kempster, the contractor, addressed the meeting.

The majority were of opinion that the proper time to have the demonstration was when the building was finished, and that the laying of the corner stone was for the contractor. The joint Committees from the County and Town will soon meet and determine

It was suggested that when the demonstration take place, a public holiday be proclaimed and excursions to the Town organised. A capital idea, which we hope will be acted upon

Entertainment of the Press Association.

The entertainment given to the Press Association on Friday night at the Dafoe House, was got up in excellent style, and reflected great credit on Messrs. Chittenden & Crouch. Abraham Diamond, Esq., P M., occupied the Chair, supported by Mr. Buckingham, the retiring President, and Mr. Wylie, the President elect of the Association, Messrs. J. Brown, M. P., K Graham, M. P. P., A. Thomson, W. H Ponton, W. Sutherland, D. Pitceathly, D B. Robertson, G. D, Dickson, E. R. Benjamin, and others. After full justice had been done to the repast Mr. DIAMOND, before giving the toasts, said :

MR. PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS OF THE PRESS ASSOCIATION OF CANADA.—I am sure you must be tired with your labors of the past week. It is a great privilege to me to have the opportunity of saying a few words before you depart to your respective homes. The Corporation of Belleville are not here. Had the citizens been aware of your coming they would have been happy to have given you a reception, and make the thing worthy of the occasion. You are the guests of the two newspapers of this town. (Cheers.) In saying this I do not wish to disparage the feeling and enterprise of the town of Belleville. I wish to put the blame on the right shoulders of those who consider it not the proper thing to recognize such an occasion as this. As an ex-member of the Press I am very glad to have the chance of meeting and greeting you. We regret you could not come at an earlier hour, as arrangements had been made to give you a better reception. That is, arrangements had been made for a Moonlight Excursion, so that you could "trip the light fantastic toe" on our fine Ferry Boat, the Prince Edward, called, not after the Island which has not yet come into Confederation, but the County to the South of us, which is noted for its wealthy farmers and pretty girls But "the best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft aglee." You must take the word for the deed. Most of you have, no doubt, been feted in that style which characterizes our American friends across the border. Having been there myself I know there is no people that know so well how to exercise hospitality as they do, and I feel we are still behind in this entertainment

The CHAIRMAN then gave "The Queen" and "The Governor General and Dominion of Canada," which were severally received enthusiastically. As the hour was so late he would leave out a number of the standard toasts, and come to the toast of the evening. He was quite sure it would be well received. They had rather an inauspicious hour to receive their guests. He would like them to have seen our river, filled as it was with logs, and other evidences of wealth and prosperity. It was not necessary for him to go over the benefits of a free press and the good it did to their country. His friend on his right (Mr. Buckingham) had written a very eloquent address on the subject. He then proposed "The Press Association of Canada," coupled with the names of Mr. Buckingham and the President elect, Mr. Wylie. (Hear, hear.)

MR. BUCKINGHAM rose in the midst of a perfect storm of applause. He said that at such an hour and fatigued as they were by their journeys through the United States, and the receptions they had met with there, he would not detain them long. When in the United States and made the subjects of such magnificent demonstrations he had felt that perhaps the Press Association was overrated. But entertained as they were in Belleville he began to think that perhaps it was not so He alluded to the temerity of those, who some years ago, brought together the incongruous elements of which the Press of Canada was then composed. It was like bringing the lion and the lamb together — But it had had a very ameliorating effect on the politics of the country They had had no such criminations and recriminations as previously existed. All that tended to the benefit of the newspaper press and the country. They could carry on their discussions in a much more beneficial spirit than they previously had done. On the other side he found that at all events the Press of Canada was well appreciated. They had heard while over there a good deal about annexation, but it occurred to him that the time was very far distant before those political bonds should be severed which would cause them to drift into the arms of the United States. (Loud cheers.) If the Alabama claims were to be settled it would be much better to have it done by the efforts of their fair friends who they had with them in such numbers (Hear, hear.) This demonstration, got up as it was by the two papers of Belleville, was magnificent, but he would give place to his senior friend, who would doubtless do justice to it

Mr. WYLIE who was unable to get a hearing for some time owing to continued rounds of cheering said he wished Mr Campbell would come and hold his eyes, (laughter) He was almost demoralized It was not very long ago, five years he thought, since he had the pleasure of being chairman of the Press Association, dining in that very hall, and he was very glad to be there again and to find the two newspapers of Belleville were so prosperous as to be able to provide such a sumptuous repast as they had done out of their own private funds (cheers) With regard to the Press Association he might allude to one of the benefits which those who arranged the Press Excursion last year were able to judge of from their own experience. They had a journey up to Fort William last year. Before two months after that Excursion the Government of Ontario took their Excursion on the Chicora in order to judge for themselves as to what the country was The consequence was that the entire system of their management was altered and very greatly to the benefit of Ontario, and to the benefit of any body who might go there to toil and struggle for a living under the mountains of iron and copper that might be found in that vast region. As the chairman had remarked no country could be free without a free press. Mr. Wylie was very glad to acknowledge the great kindness and liberality of the "Globe" in furnishing such satisfactory and truthful reports of the doings of the Association. They should recognize it. The "Globe" was entitled to every consideration in that respect. He thanked them for the manner in which they had received the toast, and as the hour was so late, he would propose "Prosperity to the Intelligencer and Chronicle of Belleville." (A voice "including the Police Magistrate)." (Loud applause).

MR. SHEPARD, (Intelligencer,) was very sorry that Mr. Bowell was not there. He had told him (Mr. S.) before his departure for the old country, that he intended to have entertained the Press Association at his own residence, and he regretted his absence in England prevented him carrying out that intention. (Hear, hear.) Together with his old friend Mr. Gillespy, on his right, Mr. Bowell had been one of those who assisted in bringing the Press Association to its present position. The representatives of the press in Belleville regretted that the corporation had not given the Association a suitable welcome. Had the citizens thought the Council would not have taken the initiative in according a welcome, and had not an impression gone abroad that the corporation contemplated taking action in the matter, the citizens would have taken it up and given them a magnificent reception. Under the circumstances, however, and feeling that it would not do for the credit of the "City of the Bay of Quinte" to allow the Press Association to pass through without some recognition, the members of the Press here had done the best they could. (Cheers.)

Mr. MASON, (Chronicle,) was repeatedly called for and said he was almost re-luctant to speak. If they had done anything it was because they felt it would have been too bad to let the Press Association go through this part of the country without some demonstration. He was glad to see the Association doing so well, and hoped they would come to Belleville first the next time they had a trip. (Hear, hear.)

The Chairman here stated that our worthy Mayor (P. D. Conger, Esq.,) had just risen from a sick bed, and at one time they were afraid it would have been his death bed. He stayed here until half-past eleven o'clock to receive them but was obliged to go home, or else he would have been here, if not in his capacity as Mayor, as a private citizen.

The next toast was "The House of Commons and the Local Legislature of Ontario, "coupled with the names of James Brown, "Esq., M. P., and K. Graham, Esq., M. P. "P."

Mr. BROWN rose to respond. He said the acts of the House of Commons were well known. They hoped that the future of Canada would be a great one; and that with the great North West they would become one of the great family of nations throughout the world, ready to give assistance to the mother country if the necessity should arise, not only as Volunteers, but to raise another regiment as we had done before (hear, hear). He regretted that the citizens of Belleville and the County of Hastings had not had an opportunity of welcoming the Press Association as they ought to have done. It had been the intention to give them a moonlight excursion, whether there was any moon or not, but if there had been, they would have enjoyed one of the greatest pleasures in British North America (Cheers) He had intended to make a speech of about three hours and a half long, but he saw his friend Mr. Graham there (laughter), who would tell them more about the Government of Ontario than he could about the House of Commons.

K. GRAHAM, Esq., M. P. P., was very sorry that the demonstration given them there was not given in the name of the citizens of Belleville, instead of as it was As a rate-payer, and as a private individual he would only have been too glad to have done his share. He looked upon the institution of the press as being invaluable to the country and worthy of confidence, and he believed the press of Canada would compare favorably with that of any country in the world. He was proud to see the position taken by the two newspapers of Belleville in joining together on this occasion. The proprietor of the INTELLIGENCER and himself had been school-mates together, and nobody was better pleased than himself, to see that the public so appreciated his merits as to send him to Parliament as one of the members for the county. (Applause.) Mr. Graham paid a handsome compliment to the late editor of the Chronicle, (Mr. Diamond,) and was glad to see him filling the chair. He would like to give the Commissioner of Crown Lands, another trip to the mineral lands back here, that he might learn something which would have a tendency to make him try to develop the country. (Cheers.) As far as the Local Legislature was concerned they no doubt had their shortcomings; but the press had been very charitable to them, for which they were very thankful. Mr. Graham was sorry that the excursionists had not been able to see the beauties of our Bay.

Mr. SHEPARD here exhibited a brick of gold from Marmora, value $135, the result of the cleaning up of the Turley & Gilbert Mill on Saturday the 17th inst Considerable interest was manifested by the gentlemen of the Association in such a practical evidence of our mineral wealth, and great amusement was caused by Mr. Wylie asking if a similar specimen would be given to each member as a souvenir of their visit.

Mr. BUCKINGHAM proposed the health of Mr. Diamond, who although no longer a member of the Press was still a member of the Association. He had been no mere copyist, but had always expressed his opinions as an independent man. It had been said of a certain editor of the London Times when he was made a member of Parliament, that he wouldn't do for the Times so they made him M. P So in the present case. He supposed Mr. Diamond wouldn't do for the Chronicle so they made him P. M. (Police Magistrate.) (Great laughter.)

MR DIAMOND responded

Mr. SHEPARD gave the health of Mr. Gillespy, the first President of the Association. Mr. Gillespy replied in a very humorous speech.

The health of the Treasurer, Mr. Jackson, of the Newmarket Era, was then duly honored, and after Mr. King had proposed the old toast, "Happy to meet, sorry "to part, happy to meet again," the proceedings were brought to a close by all singing "Auld Lang Syne," followed by "God Save the Queen."

—Buffalo was never so dull in twenty years as it is now, and a grand commercial crisis is feared.

—Secretary Boutwell decides that all manufactures of which copper is the chief component part, imported into the United States, shall pay a duty of 45 per cent. ad valorem. Bronze powder and Dutch metal are included.

—A chap being asked to explain the paradox of how it was possible for a lazy man to attain so much education, answered wearily, 'I didn't attain, I just heard Jerry work there and was too lazy to forget.'

—A Richmond negro, who bought his freedom eighteen years ago, is now worth $50,000, and owns the largest livery stable in Virginia.

It is said that many of the English converts to the Church of Rome are quietly returning to the English Church. Among the number are Thomas Arnold, Mr. Falgrave, Mr. Walford, and a son of Mrs. Hemans.

—Over five hundred convicts in Sing Sing are still held in close confinement on bread and water, and will be kept in cells until they agree to recognize the prison rules.

—The Algerian steppes occupy millions of acres between the Sahara and the Tell, and it is suggested that this vast tract carpeted by wild thyme and alfa grass, is well adapted for sheep grazing on a large scale. An explorer goes so far as to declare it equally suited to agriculture as the Tell itself while the alfa grass can be profitably used in the manufacture of paper.

—An Illinois editor, named Steele, reports having received an offer from a printer named Doolittle to go into partnership He respectfully declined on account of the bad sound the firm name must have.—'Do little and Steal,' or vice versa. 'One of us would soon be in the poor-house, and the other in the penitentiary.'

—The announcement of an express train that shall run from Liverpool to London in four hours is a remarkable event. The distance is two hundred miles, and in order to make the fifty miles per hour it will be necessary to make it a through train ; that is, to allow no stop between the two places. The necessity of stopping for water is obviated by mechanical means.

—We heard an anecdote of a school boy the other day, which illustrates the honesty of the youth. The little fellow had a dirty face, and his teacher told him to go and wash it. He went out and stayed a few moments, and then came back with the lower half tolerably clean, and the upper half wet and dirty. 'Johnny, why did you not wash your face?' asked the teacher 'I did wash it,' said Johnny. 'Why did you not wipe it, then, all over?' 'I did wipe as high as my shirt-tail would reach,' was Johnny's conclusive reply

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth The day for reading the will at last came the room was crowded with anxious expectants ; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

BATTLE IN SPAIN

MADRID July 26.—A fight has taken place near Ciudad Real, between some Carlists and national troops. The Carlists were defeated and dispersed, losing many killed and wounded. The agitation is general throughout the country, but no further hostilities are reported.

NEWS BY FRENCH CABLE.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The 'Herald's' Dar-bury, Mass. special says —The following despatch has been received over the French Cable

LONDON, July 24, 6:10 p. m.—A clause has been introduced into the Telegraph Bill, protecting submarine cables on the shores of the united kingdom and building a post office to collect and distribute messages.

After Wednesday's Cabinet Council Lords Granville, Cairns, Dr. Ball and the Irish Attorney General met to discuss the compromise The government and Opposition accepted the conditions after the Premier's statement that yesterday the Irish Bill awaited the Royal assent. Granville Murry was ejected from his Club by a vote 190 to 10.

A NEW CABLE.

It is reported that a new Cable is projected direct from Milford to the American continent

YELLOW FEVER.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The bark Lyman Cann, of Halifax, from Mantanzas for Queenstown, put in here to-day with the crew sick with yellow fever. Capt. Gonday, wife and one man died and were buried at sea. Six men 3 men at Mantanzas and left three in the hospital.

THE COLLISION ON THE ERIE ROAD

The particulars of the collision on the Erie Road on Wednesday last are published. One of the parties on the train states that on Wednesday evening at about 8 o'clock the freight train which left Paterson at 8:45 p. m., ran into a passenger train near the Jersey City Depot.—The caboose of the freight train was smashed and thrown from the track, and Mr. Bogert, of Passaic, and Mr. James, of Paterson, N. J., were thrown from their seats in the caboose and injured the latter dangerously. The accident was caused by a misplaced switch.

CARLIST OUTBREAK.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The Herald's special from Madrid 25th, at last the Carlist outbreak so long expected, has occurred. Five hundred well drilled troops under command of General Sabario have taken the field near Ciudad Real, where they were defeated and dispersed by the national troops under Gen. Torrabill. The battle took place in the morning, and it is reported the Carlist party lost 15 killed and a number of others wounded. Only 3 officers are reported killed on the side of the Government troops. Near the town of Manzanarb a strong party of the Carlists also made a demonstration, and subsequently succeeded in intercepting the Railroad trains and cutting the telegraph wires. The latest accounts state that 4,000 Carlists had arrived in the Province of Lamancha, and Government troops had been despatched to the scene of action. The agitation is general throughout the whole country. No further hostilities are yet reported, although it is feared a general rising may be expected all over Spain, now that Don Carlos has crossed the frontier, and has opened communication with his numerous partisans

BATTLE IN CUBA.

HAVANA, July 25.—The Spanish Troops at Barracoon have captured and shot sixty rebels.—The Cholera is decreasing at Puerto Principe.

THE WRECKED CREW.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—News from Falkland Isles states that twelve of the crew of the British ship 'Blue Jacket,' which was burned at sea had arrived there.

ARRIVED.

BOSTON, July 25.—Steamer 'Siberia,' has arrived from Liverpool.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The steamship "City of Brooklyn," from Liverpool, has arrived.

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel and in reality first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" proclaims well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and system attic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor; will form such a source of luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Jets d' Eau" and Mount Royal on the right. It cannot fail to commend itself to the travelling public

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City It cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been, a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men; when it becomes reduced from any cause whatever, the whole system suffers, the weakest part being first attacked, and a feeling of languor, lassitude, and all gone-ness pervades the system. Stimulants only afford temporary relief, and have the same effect as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

a protected solution of the protoxide of Iron, which is so prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system.

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

An eminent divine says, "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of muscle."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass.

An African Love Song.

Oh, Ebony Queen of my bosom, arise,
And lighten the gloom with the whites of your eyes,
Oh, come to your lover—but light, as you pass,
Be your foot on the ground as the dew on the grass;
For route Gogo, your brother; or father, Nongpaw,
And they'd certainly kill me, and eat me up raw.

Wah! boorie sle!
Woorie bangaree bo!
The rib-nosed baboon
Tells his love to the moon
Woo-o wungalee go!

If you will not consent to take me for a hub,
I must tenderly strike on your head with a club,
Till your scruples give way and your bashfulness ends,
And I send you senseless away to my friends,
Who, supposing by chance that too hard I have struck,
Will dine off you, deeply lamenting my luck,

Wah! boorie sle!
Woorie bangaree bo!
The rib-nosed baboon
Has a voice out of tune,
Woo-o! wungalee go!

Johnny Shrimp's Composition.

ON BOATS AND BOAT MAKING.

I like boats. When I am big, I mean to have as many boats as I want. I once read a book written by Mr. Sparrowgrass. He said that a boat was a good thing to have in the house, especially if there is any water near. I think so too.

Pa says he'll buy me a boat when he gets rich. He says he's too poor now, he can hardly get clothes on the kids. He bought a nice new coat only last week. He says he can't afford a boat, though; he has to buy cigars, and a pew in church, and John Barleycorn, and other necessaries of life. I think a boat is more a necessary than a pew in church, any day. I wonder who John Barleycorn is, and why he wants to buy him.

Aunt Jerusha says if that boy has a boat he'll be sure to tumble overboard and be brought home wringing wet, and dead as a door nail, by the police, on a shutter. It would be fun. The cops bring me home by the collar or by the ear. It hurts—I think a shutter would be much better.

I rowed pa over to Hoboken once. Pa says its good for boys to row, and good for men to sit in the stern of the boat and be rowed. Sometimes boys have too much of a good thing. I had it then.

I caught crabs when rowing to Hoboken. I caught 'em with my oar, and they knocked me off the seat. Pa said not to care—it would make me grow to be knocked in over the bottom of a leaky boat; it wets their trowsers, and makes them feel sticky. I don't call that growing.

I don't like to bail out boats. When the boat is leaky, I take Dicky Mopps with me. He's littler than I am, and I can make him do all the bailing. Once pa said he'd whip me if I didn't, yell quickly as I did, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, Jaundice, Biliousness, when arising as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the whole system of the nervous system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fearfulness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and in every quarter of the globe, it has risen higher and higher in the estimation of the people, as its virtues have become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. When adapted to the first stage of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a preventive against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although so valuable in checking, it is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where this disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral, when no remedy or skill could avail. Through long years of public trial, it has proved itself the most reliable cure for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and terrors of the throat and lungs. As a preventive against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully sustained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is in no wise injures any patient. The number and importance of the cures in the ague-ridden districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected by obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. No person residing in a district, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is a valued remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Remittent Fevers, Dumb Agues, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this extraordinary medicine enjoys is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, in which the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured, and in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be told of the virtues of its cures.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and subtle tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it may be developed in action throughout the body, and in some one favorable occasion, rapidly develop but some other of its baleful forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles are suddenly deposited in the lungs or bronchial tubes, formed in the liver, or it shows itself in running ulcerations on the skin, or foul ulcerations in the bowels of the Sarsaparilla is admirably adapted to this assassin of health, and no active ingredients of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sores, Tumors, and other superficial or internal Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing the obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will root the complaint. Fevers Sores or Ulcers, Cutaneous Eruptions, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, Jaundice, Biliousness, when arising as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the whole organism of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fearfulness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 27, 1869. No. 73.

The Press Excursion.

From our own Correspondent.

Rochester, July 21st, 1869.

The members of the Press Association, accompanied by their ladies, after partaking of breakfast at Cobourg, prepared for departure to Rochester by the Str. Norseman. A very fresh breeze was blowing from off the lake, and some fears were entertained by not a few of the party, that old father Neptune would demand from them his usual tribute in the shape of an auditing of accounts, and from the hearty manner in which breakfast was partaken of, it would be a difficult task for some at least, to present a clean balance sheet. Their fears were realized in the worst form. About 10:30 a. m., the party were all on board, and the steamer headed for the other side of the line. Before proceeding very far in that direction, however, the wind increased in strength to a perfect gale, the steamer to roll and pitch heavily, and some of the passengers to feel rather "squeamish" to use an expressive word, and also to look "rather pale around the gills." The deck began to get deserted, a great many going below "to see a man" while the few who remained outside on deck, found it an exceedingly hard matter to retain their break fast inside, and they seemed particularly fond of looking over the railing, (to see how deep the water was, we presume). Looking into the cabin, an almost indescribable prospect met the eye. The most disconsolate and blue looking lot of humanity in the shape of an excursion party that could possibly be imagined, were here collected, lying around in every position, each one seemingly totally oblivious to everything except the state of their own feelings. Still the storm raged without, the water sometimes dashing over the deck of the steamer, and still others were added to those who were already hors de combat.—Some, who were the first to laugh at the sick ones, now took their turn in the ranks, and a rank lot we were I can assure you. Out of the whole party of about 150, only some four or five escaped an attack of the maladie du mer, and they had not much to boast of. The state of their feelings was not particularly bright and they were observed to keep very quiet, and according to the words of one of the party a sicker looking lot was never seen. But to quote Tennyson

"Then came a change
As all things human change."

Even sea sickness, as was demonstrated on this occasion. The boat neared Charlotte, the water was smoother, the people began to feel better, brushing themselves up a bit, and some to express themselves to the effect that they had not been so very sick after all, and things generally presenting a brighter and more favorable appearance. Charlotte was reached about 4 o'clock. A train was in waiting to convey them to Rochester, which latter place after a pleasant run of seven miles was reached about 5 o'clock. A large number of very handsome carriages and hacks were at the depot. Scott's Band of Ryan Zouaves was also there, and played some fine music. The party having entered their carriages, in each of which, one of the reception Committee, composed of the City Council, members of the Press, and other citizens, was placed to point out the different places of interest along the route, proceeded through State, Main and Chesnut streets, then to St. Paul street and Mount Hope Avenue, to the Nurseries of Messrs. Ellwanger & Barry, through which the party walked, and which was greatly enjoyed.—The establishment is a very extensive one, and contains a large number of glass houses heated with steam, in which are to be seen almost every flower indigenous to American soil, from the common plant to the most rare species. The ground contains an immense number of shrubs, plants, and ornamental trees, and really deserved a more lengthy visit, and the regret of most of the party was that their stay could not be prolonged.

Mount Hope Cemetery was the next place visited, and as the party drove through this romantic looking, and very beautiful "city of the dead," exclamations of delight came from all at the many beauties of the place. Frost's & Co., Nurseries were next visited and with no small degree of pleasure for the, there great Century Plant was to be seen, which is obtaining a celebrity throughout the continent, and a great curiosity it is, and of itself, fully repaid one for their visit to the city. The circular containing a description of this celebrated production of nature lies before me, and among other particulars some of which we had the privilege of verifying by our visit, contains the following :—

"The Century Plant, now about to flower at the Genesee Valley Nurseries at Rochester, New York, is the Agave Americana folio variegata or striped leaved American Aloe, (we believe none of this variety have ever flowered before in this country); it is now seventy years old, and was purchased by the late Hon John Jarvis, of Canandaigua, New York, in the year 1809, from Princes Garden, Flushing, L. I., and at that time was supposed to be nine or ten years old. Owing to its large size, and below so unwieldy, it was sent to Rochester and placed in our green-house, about the year 1856, and has been in our possession ever since. On the 26th of April, 1869, indications of its flowering were observed, and being gratified at the idea of seeing it in bloom, we determined to particularly observe the growth of the flower stem, and accordingly have kept a journal of its growth since the 5th of May. The circumference of the whole plant is 30 feet; it has 56 leaves, measuring 6 feet 6 inches long, 7 inches wide, and four inches thick at the base. The flower stem is four inches in diameter, and to day, July 10th, the total height of flower stem is 17 feet 6 inches, and is growing on the average 3 inches daily. There are now 21 arms or branches—the lower ones averaging 18 inches in length, and tapering to pyramidal form to the top. At the end of these branches the flowers will appear in large clusters, the lower cluster now 11 feet 6 inches from the ground, contains 500 buds well developed."

The roof of the green-house has been raised 30 feet to allow of the excessive growth of this majestic plant, and for the accomodation of visitors a platform has been erected, from which a better view of the flowers can be obtained when in perfection.

Much regret was felt by the party, that they had not the opportunity of seeing the plant in bloom, which event is expected to occur in two or three months, when the leaves first, and then the stem would rapidly decay, and the whole plant die. Blooming once in its existence. It is expected when the plant is in flower, it will be taken to the cities of New York and Chicago for exhibition, and the owner will no doubt make a fortune out of it

Leaving the Nurseries, the party returned to the Osburn, Clinton and National Hotels where accommodations had been provided. After partaking of supper, to which full justice was done so, after the trip across the lake and the preparations that their stomachs had gone through with for its reception, no doubt giving Yankee waiters a most favorable idea of the great capacity of the Canadian Press, the carriages were announced to be in waiting to convey them to Bartholomy's Lager Beer Gardens, where they found a most novel entertainment in full progress, and to a great many of the Association, and especially the ladies who accompanied the party, something entirely new. Entering what is called the reception room, we discover a bar on one corner, behind which are the proprietor and his assistants drawing out the Lager at a fearful rate, and conveying it to the numerous small tables which occupy the entire room, (a very large one), and around them are seated in parties of twos, threes and fours, a lot of Germans, men, women, and I also may say, children, vociferating at a fearful rate in their vernacular tongue.—Some of the men smoking pipes and cigars, filling the room with their abominable smoke, while all were more or less engaged in disposing of that, to them, delectable fluid—the national drink of the Germans—called Lager Beer, which is said to be, as some one expressed it, not only meat and drink but lodging to them. It is actually astonishing the quantity of this article that a good healthy Dutchman can put himself outside of; the very look of some of them is suggestive of a barrel of the fluid on a pair of short legs. Such was a portion of the scene that presented itself. In another part of the room was a raised platform for the band, which played some very good music, as also did the Mannerchor City, a party of German singers, belonging to the Club, among whom were some very fine voices, singing some German songs very nicely, making the time pass very pleasantly. Before leaving the Gardens, Mayor Smith arose and addressed the assembly—although it was very difficult to keep some of the Germans, whose tongues were loosened by the effects of the Lager, quiet long enough to hear his remarks. He regretted their stay was to be so short in that city, as it afforded but little opportunity for seeing it, and also of their citizens of becoming acquainted with the members of the Canadian Press, whom they had been much gratified to meet, and that they should know each other better, as the commercial relation, between New York and Canada was of a most important character. He trusted that the visit would produce a good result, and hoped that it would not be the last visit to which he should have the pleasure of welcoming them. Mr Buckingham, the retiring President of the Association, replied in a very happy manner. An exchange of sentiment and good feeling followed, in which Mr. Jones, of the Rochester Democrat, Mr. Wylie, the President elect, Mr. McDougall, and others participated. After which, about half-past ten, the company returned to the different hotels all heartily pleased with the very pleasant time which had been spent in Rochester, and with a favorable impression of the people thereof.

Oswego, July 22nd.

The Association left Rochester for this place at 7 a. m., this forenoon. Upon arrival at Syracuse, representatives of the Press of that City met them at the depot, with cordial greetings and an invitation to partake of a collation at the Syracuse House. Arriving there, some few, some minutes more allowed to prepare the toilet, the party entered the Dining Hall, where a most bounteous spread awaited them, provided entirely at the expense of the Press in that city, and very heartily enjoyed by all present. Sentiments were exchanged by the members of the Syracuse Press, and replied to by Mr Doyle, of the Pictou Times, the last Vice President, and others, after which the cars were again taken, and on the party speed for Oswego by special train, with one of the best engineers on the line attached, running the entire distance, 36 miles, without stoppages, and in the short space of 59 minutes. Carriages in waiting at the depot, and the company were conveyed to the different Hotels of the city where half an hour was given them to prepare for a ride through the City, which was enjoyed exceedingly, and much surprise was evinced at the very handsome residences on each side of the street.

A short visit was also paid to the extensive Starch Factory of Messrs. Kingsford & Son, said to be the largest establishment of the kind not only in America but the whole world, and whose manufactures have obtained a great celebrity. Mr. Kingsford himself had the kindness to shew us through this immense factory or factories, as there are two of them, and was exceedingly good in explaining to the party the way in which the starch was manufactured, from the corn going into the hopper to be ground to the packages of the different kinds of starch ready for the market. To give the reader a faint idea of the extent of the manufactory, it is necessary to go into statistics. The entire works cover a space of seven acres of ground. It has the capacity to use 800,000 bushels of corn annually, and to produce 16,000 tons of starch, or 21 tons daily, requiring 4,500 tons of coal to dry it. Over 500 persons find employment in the establishment. It has 329 cisterns or vats, the total capacity being 2,500,000 gallons of water for the purpose of cleansing the starch during its manufacture from all impurities. Forty-one large force pumps supply the works with water and pump the starch into its proper vats. There are more than sixteen miles of steam pipes for drying the starch and warming the establishment. A large number of girls are engaged in putting the different qualities of fine starch in small packages for market. During our visit a large quantity of corn starch, well known to housekeepers for culinary purposes, was being put in shape and branded for the English market. A sample package which was kindly offered by Mr. Kingsford to each of the party, to take home with them.

Leaving the Factory we returned to our respective hotels to prepare for the grand banquet to take place at the Skating Rink at 8 o'clock. After the banquet and ball, the particulars of which you have already received, the steamer Norseman started with the party about 10 o'clock for Kingston, arriving there at 4 30 a. m.

BELLEVILLE July 23rd

The reception at Kingston was a very cordial one, and though the old fashioned city may be slow to some other respects, she presented an example in this that might have been followed with advantage by others. It was with some degree of pleasure that we boarded the old favorite steamer Bay of Quinte, after the many leavings and receptions of the city or three days previous, and the prospect of a delightful sail up our picturesque bay was heartily enjoyed. As the many very fine, and to ourselves, familiar views of its shores presented themselves one after another, many were the expressions of delight, and much it is to be regretted that the finest part of the Bay, between Picton and Belleville, would not be seen by daylight, on account of the lateness of our departure from Kingston.

It was the intention to have stopped at the Stone Mills to allow the party to obtain a view of the celebrated Lake on the Mountain, but the lateness of the hour would not permit, so Picton was the first stopping place, and right nobly did the romantically situated little town receive us, and to the astonishment of many, that a place of the size could produce so many good "turnouts" in which we had a most enjoyable drive to that beautiful hill known as the Lovers Walk, of itself so suggestive of love, and a more desirable spot for a walk of that description could not be found. It commands a magnificent view of the town and harbor, and far off in the south, a glimpse of the waters of Lake Ontario can be discerned. Leaving Picton amid the cheering of the large crowd assembled on the hill overlooking the dock to witness our departure, the waving of handkerchiefs, and a hearty shake hands with our friends Boyle and Conger, whom we there left behind, our steamer sped onward to Belleville, leaving Picton in our wake. Eleven o'clock, and home we are again, meeting the hearty welcome of our friends.

Mr. Gladstone's Speech on the Application of the Intercolonial Railway Loan.

Mr. Gladstone said he was desirous of saying that as far as Canada was concerned there was no imputation against her.—Indeed, he should no more think of casting doubt upon the good faith of the Government of Canada than of casting doubt on the good faith of the Government of this county. It was true, however, that there was such a thing as punctuality in complying with the provisions of an Act, and neglect in such compliance might deserve the censure of the House. It was the duty of the house to watch strictly over the application of Acts of Parliament, and most of all over those which dealt with guarantees. This subject would, doubtless, be brought forward again, and he wished to say, as the part of himself and his colleagues, that if any of the correspondence now going on between the Government and the Government of Canada should appear, he hoped it would be considered subject to the general principle—namely, that the whole question raised was one of strict compliance with an Act of Parliament. It was the duty of the Government to raise the question, but they had raised it simply as a matter of business, without impugning the good faith of the Canadian Government. Independently of that, he desired to point out to his hon. friend some reason why he should not take a vote to-night. In the first place, the motion, though it did not impugn the good faith of the government of Canada, was in the nature of a censure on the proceedings of that Government. His hon. friend was not justified, however, in taking up such a position, because he was not in possession of the information necessary to enable him to form a correct judgment. It was sincerely to be hoped that the motion would not be pressed, as the correspondence on the subject was not placed before the House.

Certainly I do, but he spends his evenings with me, replied the other. Yes, at what a price!—My dear friend, a shrewd woman avails herself of her husband's faults to repress them.

CANADIAN FLOUR IN NOVA SCOTIA.—A correspondent of the Halifax Reporter says: The people of Pictou are fast awakening to the value of Canadian trade. Large quantities of flour are now brought direct from Canada This article until the past year or two used to be purchased in Halifax at a cost considerably beyond that for which it might have been imported The failing off of this trade—amounting as it does to 2,000 bbls of flour per month—must be very sensibly felt in Halifax by dealers. The explanation of this I may say is the quantity sold in Pictou town monthly—added to this the quantities required by New Glasgow and other, portions of the country, which would certainly very much more than double it, and you will see fruitful cause of the dullnes of trade in Halifax. The picture is an unpleasant one, as seen viewed from aHalifax standpoint, but gives rise to very different feelings when seen with a Pictonian's eyes as that which is injurious to Halifax is of great benefit to Pictou county and vicinity. The correspondent adds, the people of Pictou are also becoming aware of the value of trade with Canada (that was), the cultivation of which would prove highly remunerative to them. I mean the exporting of fresh fish to Montreal, Toronto and other cities of that part of the Dominion."

A BOY LIFTED BY A KITE.—The Vicksburg Times of the 10th inst., relates the following incident: "A young lad of Lake Station, Miss., had a very large and beautiful kite presented to him, about six feet four in size, which he attempted to raise on the 2d inst, just as the wind was increasing and a storm was threatening The wind drew the kite so heavily as to drag the boy along also. To prevent losing his favourite he wound the cord around his body. At last the gust bore kite and boy along in the rapid air currents. The boy seemed to be about one hundred feet above the earth, and the kite about five times that distance. At last the young kite-flier caught in the top of a tree, and was suspended seventy-five feet above the ground. A flood of rain came on, slacking the line, slanting the wind, and allowing the little sufferer to be rescued. He was found to be unconscious and no bruised and marred as to be scarcely recognized but he was restored the same evening, and is now doing well

The Release of McMahon.

We cannot express the feelings of pain and indignation which the perusal of Sir John A. Macdonald's despatch, advocating the release of Father McMahon, caused, and we would gladly forget it if we could, but duty as public journalists compels us to refer to it. When the subject was spoken of in Parliament a short time ago, the Premier's emphatic and decided language against the release now granted, was accepted with pleasure and reassurance by the majority of the House and of this Province, and most assuredly it did disarm all suspicion. What then can account in so short a time for the great change in his views? Can it be possible that he has not changed them at all? That then he was simply using words to hide his thoughts, to deceive and lull the members of the House he was addressing; all the time having secretly determined to do just the opposite, and to sustain the release by arguments which cut up the words he was using? Or is it that he really has been convinced by the arguments used in this despatch, that the Fenians were innocent on the floor of the House were wrong?

Turning to the document itself, the arguments it advances are humiliating in the extreme to the Protestant subjects of the Dominion. Every sentence after the recital of facts is an insult to them Not only they, but the jurors who tried him and Lumsden, and the brave Volunteers who eagerly responded to the call when the Fenians threatened, and cheerfully spilt their blood to repel the brutal marauders, are pointedly insulted.

The Government admits the justice of the verdict and of the sentence, and justifies it) the release on the grounds—

1st. Because a Protestant Clergyman was tried at the same time for the same crime and acquitted. 2nd. Because the country owes a debt or gratitude to the Roman Catholic Hierarchy, who demand his release for its services during the Fenian troubles.

Such reasons! we can understand their effectiveness upon the most ignorant mob prejudiced in favor of the end to be attained, but to address them to the intelligence of the Dominion is to outrage and insult it. Because one man is declared innocent, another who is beyond all doubt properly declared guilty, must escape punishment for his crime. We understand the just sentiment; better that ten guilty should go free than one innocent suffer But upon what principle of jurisprudence or state craft Sir John bases his present argument is to us a mystery. To support this reason he alleges that "if not all a majority "of the jurors in both cases were Protestants," insulting in one short sentence the juries which tried, and the lady from which their "majorities" were drawn. What other inference can be drawn from this sentence than that the jury were false to their oaths and that they were so false because they were Protestants? Does the Premier wish to establish, as a precedent, that where a felon is convicted by a jury whose majority is of a faith different from him, that this is a reason, an ample reason for his being pardoned

The second and "principal reason" is more insulting and galling even than the other. The Roman Catholic Clergy demand it, and "as a mark of the appreciation of the Government of their noble "efforts * * * * the undersigned "has the honor to recommend that the remainder of the sentence of the prisoner "be remitted." What were these noble efforts? let the despatch answer

"They were unwearied in their exertions "in the cause of loyalty and good order, "they spared no pains to prevent the spread "of the Fenian organization through the "Provinces, and it is due to their influence "and exhortations that this nefarious conspiracy made but little headway among "us." Then are we to understand that there was the willing mind which only their influence and exhortations could keep from rebellion? We know there were many Fenians in this country, (many in our town, we have their names,) and many sympathizers, but we were not aware that the disaffection was so widely spread among our Roman Catholic fellow subjects as this miserable sham excuse would have us believe—nor do we believe it

In the name of all that is Canadian or patriotic, we ask what great sacrifice did the Roman Catholic clergy make for our common country, that at their demand the constitutional laws of the land should be turned aside, the prison doors thrown open, and the outlaw, murderer and invader set free? Did they do anything more than their duty? Did they do more than any other class? Did they, or any one of them venture fame, or life or limb to save the country? No, their action in keeping their flocks quiet and suppressing Fenianism, (as Sir John says they did), directly tended to the preservation of these things to them Their educated intelligence would tell them that their effort could not be successful, and it would have been madness, suicide for them to have taken part openly with the Fenians. We do not taunt, or intend or wish to cast the slightest suspicion upon their loyalty, but as the Premier attempts to give reason, we show its absurdity.

Is the demand of the Roman Catholic clergy entitled to any greater consideration in this matter, than the demand of the volunteers at Ontario? We trow not Is the fact, that a criminal is a Protestant and a Roman Catholic, a clergyman or layman, to make any difference in the punishment awarded? Shall justice be blind for one section, and not to another? God forbid

Does not the fact of the prisoner being a clergyman doubly intensify his crime? He was educated and intelligent; his education and position of Priest gave him large influence over the rank and file of the marauders, and of all he was the greatest criminal; and yet he is spared, while as to his fellow prisoners, morally not as guilty as he, the Minister of Justice "would consider it altogether inadvisable to enter "tain favorably any such application for "the present at least"

We have ever held and taught that no difference should be made between the Protestants and Catholics; that every effort should be made to make each one feel that he enjoys the full rights of citizenship, and that no difference will be made in the treatment of either. The statesman who commits an act plainly tending to an opposite result, commits an exceedingly grave error that error Sir John has committed in pardoning McMahon; by it he has proclaimed that there are two bodies, Protestant and Roman Catholic, and that criminals shall be punished and pardoned according to their religious persuasion, not according to the decrees and laws of right and wrong. We the more regret it from its following so fast upon the Nova Scotia subsidy that we can deemed; feeling that it would tend to disturb the confidence of Ontario in the confederation bond This act we fear will greatly add to that feeling of distrust, a feeling we are bound to say we share in

On behalf of the Province of Ontario we warn the Government that it is endangering the stability of the Dominion, and that this Province will not consent to be sacrificed to pacify any province or any sect

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer

DEAR SIR,—The other evening, when walking to the Railway Station with a lady friend, I was somewhat surprised to hear the following hasty expression: "Confound the burrs! what a disgrace to the town!"—at the same time pulling off a number of these little torments from her fine muslin. Of course editors are supposed to know everything, I shall therefore be glad if you will kindly inform me if the Act applies to these noxious weeds; if so, whose duty is it to see that they are cut down or destroyed? Please "stir up" the drowsy official, and I am sure that you will receive the thanks of the ladies as well as yours truly,

ROSE THE DU.

Belleville, July 26, 1869

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer

MR. EDITOR,—As it may not be uninteresting to the readers of the 'Intelligencer,' allow me to give a few more incidents of forty years ago, and perhaps I could not do better than give the prices of some articles as sold when I remembered them, and also the prices asked by me on opening my store to the public

There were 14 stores open on my arrival here, and, on opening out mine, I obtained from those who came to call on me, the following list of prices as asked for goods in most, if not all the stores in town

	Old Selling Price	Mine (as good)
Factory Cotton	1s 6½d. yd	6½ yd.
Indigo	4s. lb.	2s. lb.
Salt	30s. bbl.	15s. bbl.
Tea	5s. lb.	2s lb.
Nails	9d. "	4½d "
Iron	6d. "	2½ "
Pepper	2s "	9d. "
Pimento	2s "	9d. "
Tobacco	2s "	9d. "
Lemon Sirup	2s "	7½d. "
Lozenges	7½ each	1d each
Opodeldoc	2s bottle	10d. bottle
Glass 7 x 9	6d. light	2½ light

And other goods in proportion.

I was informed by my customers that tea, sugar, indigo, and some other articles, would not be given in exchange for butter or eggs, and great astonishment was expressed when asked, "I suppose you won't give any tea, wm you?" that I answered "yes, or any other goods I have I will give you."

The first customer who called on me after opening my store, was an elderly man who wanted 'a quart of whiskey;' my answer was, 'we don't sell whiskey here.' He replied, 'Oh, you're a d——d Methodist.' I handed him a tract, entitled the 'Sweaver's Prayer,' and he left with anything but civil language. I am happy to be able to state that the old man lived long enough to see the evils attached to the use of whiskey; he gave it up, and I have reason to believe made a happy exit from this to a better world on high.

Did you ever hear of eggs being bought according to size? Well, it was told me that one merchant, long since dead, bought eggs in that way. He had an iron ring, and all eggs that passed through that ring had to go for one penny less or for 3d per dozen, while those that would not pass through the ring brought 4d per dozen. It was also stated that after buying eggs in this manner, he used to put them all together, and sell them at one price. I was told that this merchant sold liquor to the Indians; that an Indian of the name of Jim called on the day and got a gallon of rum, and, not having money, purposed a good deal. Some months after, he called to redeem the coat, when no coat could be found. After searching all over, Jim says, 'What you link got my coat?' 'Don't know, unless the mice have eaten it up.' 'What! mouse eat up my coat!' 'Yes' 'Where's buttons?' 'Don't know.' 'You link mouse eatum buttons too?' 'Yes.' And poor Jim lost his coat. I heard this from an Indian who said he knew it to be true.

In my next I may say something more about poor Jim, as well as give some further incidents of forty years ag

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless and lauded proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came, the room was crowded with anxious expectants, the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

THE IRISH CHURCH BILL.

LONDON, July 26.—The Times to-day refers to the Irish church establishment as follows:—The Irish Church now knows what it is, and what it can do, and for the first time in its history has a real honest independent character."

HOUSE OF LORDS

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Lords to-night, the royal assent was given to the Irish Church Bill. In the course of the evening the Marquis of Ormonde called attention to the inefficiency of the police and magisterial [illegible] Ireland for the prevention and detection of crime. He said the constant recurrence of agrarian outrages in that island was a disgrace to the country; and the impunity with which murder and outrages were committed showed that the Executive were powerless and assassins powerful. He urged the necessity of having more efficient constabulary. Lord Dufferin said Her Majesty's Government deplored the recent outrages in Ireland, and was ready to consider any proposals for their repression. It was now considering the desirability of establishing a secret police force. He added that no measure had been neglected to bring the perpetrators of outrages to punishment.

The House of Lords has passed the School Bill.

In the House of Commons, the announcement that the Royal assent had been given to the Irish Church Bill, was received with cheers.

The Telegraph Purchase Bill passed the Committee. There was a decided majority in favor of making a permanent monopoly of telegraph lines.

AMERICAN VISITORS

LONDON, July 26.—The United States practice ships 'Macedonian' and 'Savannah' have arrived at Portsmouth. The officers are now visiting the different Government establishments there.

CONTINENTAL RUMORS

It is rumored that a treaty has been concluded between France, Austria and Italy, whereby the latter in case of war is to support France with a contingent of 50,000 troops and occupy Vitter bo. It is also rumored that Prussia has offered the Pope 10,000 men if the French forces evacuate Rome.

AQUATIC

The interest in the Harvard and Oxford boat race exceeds that of the annual University contest. Betting is in favor of Oxford.

The Ocean race of the Royal Yorkshire Yacht Club for a prize valued at £100 came off on Friday last. The race was open to yachts belonging to any Royal Club, with allowances of time by Acker's scale. The course sailed over was from Lowestoff to Hull Roads, about 100 miles in a direct line. The race was won by the 'Cumbria,' which beat all her competitors by ten hours.

AN AMERICAN CITIZEN ARRESTED.

PARIS, July 26.—The Journal Official denies that J. O. A. Warren, the American citizen who was arrested during the late riots received ill usage—and asks for a suspension of public judgment pending the judicial enquiry into the circumstances of the case.

APPOINTMENTS.

Marshall Neil, Minister of War, has ordered that the number of cadets admitted to Military Schools be increased. The following appointments are announced:—Baron de Talleyrand Perigord, to be Senator; M. Benditti, to be Ambassador to St. Petersburgh, and M. Charles Baudin to be Ambassador to Berlin.

THE NEW CABLE.

PARIS, July 26.—The Journal Official congratulates the country on the completion of the Franco-American Cable. It says:—"The new route of communication now opened between France and the United States will henceforth render our intercourse more frequent and our relations more intimate. It will draw closer the bonds of friendship which now unite the two countries.

A LOAN.

NEW YORK, July 27.—A Boston paper says the result of Mr. Boutwell's administration of the Treasury Department, appears in a proposition from a German house in Frankfort, to loan our Government three hundred million dollars at five per cent, which the Secretary has been obliged to decline; his view is that we may within a year borrow all the money we want at four per cent.

A private letter from a well advised source in England, expresses the opinion that a Bond at 4½ per cent can easily be negotiated in Europe within six or eight months.

ARRIVED.

The steamship 'Ville de Paris' from Brest, has arrived.

A FENIAN MEETING.

A public meeting of the Garry Owen circle of the Fenian Brotherhood, was held last night at their headquarters for the purpose of inducing Irishmen to join the organization. The Speakers united in advising Irishmen not be bamboozled by the disestablishment of the Irish Church, which, however, they regarded as the first great triumph of the Brotherhood. From what was said it appears the Fenians do not intend hasty or immediate action. When they go to Ireland next it will be not only with arms but with men to use them. It was also mentioned that during the late outbreak in Ireland, a Fenian ship lay on the coast for twenty days loaded with arms, and afterwards returned to America.

An armed Fenian body called the legion of St Patrick, which has long had a secret existence is now organizing more publicly its members, and pledged to go to Ireland, arms in hand, and fight for freedom. Those Irishmen who join the Cuban cause were spoken of in not very complimentary terms.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

A WOMAN'S IDEA OF WHAT A KITCHEN SHOULD BE.—To begin with, I would have a kitchen well lighted—sound, yes a great deal of the broad, rich, expansive sunshine coming right in boldly, and if it had a perfect right to be there. That would, of course, necessitate large windows. And then I would give as much attention to the ventilation of a kitchen as I would to that of a sleeping room. I would have a large circular device suspended over the cooking stove, with a hole in the centre, and a tube leading to the top of the house, to carry off the savory smells which the process of cooking generates, and prevent them from permeating the entire house. For these smells, however savory and agreeable, are apt to take away something from the keenness of our appetite; or, at least, to cause us to anticipate something better than the reality. Then I would have a large sink, with a permanent soapstone or marble wash bowl, for washing the dishes; and another for draining. I would also have an adjustable pipe, leading from the hot water tank to either of these basins. Besides this, I would have sundry closets and cupboards arranged upon the wall so as to be tasteful and decorative, as well as very convenient.

Then I would have a space devoted to clay drawers, such as one sees in a drug store, and labeled in this manner: soda, allspice, cream of tartar, etc; so that at a glance I could discover just what I wanted, without rummaging to find these things in some out-of-the-way corner, placed there by some careless, untidy Bridget. This would save a world of care now devoted to instructing every new servant us to all the places of things. Cooking is becoming so complicated now a-days, that one needs all the arrangements, and as many utensils as a chemical laboratory; and the good architect would give the good materfamilias "a place for everything" American Builder.

—A celebrated Parasian belle, who had acquired the habit of whitewashing herself so to speak, from the soles of her feet to the roots of her hair with chemically prepared cosmetics, one day took a medical bath, and on emerging from it was horrified at finding herself as black as an Ethiopian. The transformation was complete. Not a vestage of the supreme Caucasian race was left. Her physician was sent for in alarm and haste. On his arrival he laughed immoderately and said: 'Madame you are no longer a woman, but a sulphuret. It is not a question of medical treatment but of simple chemical action. I shall analyze you. Come, I shall submit you to a bath of sulphuric acid diluted with water. The acid will have the honor of combining with you; it will take up the sulphur, the metal will produce a sulphate and we shall find as a precipitate a pretty woman." The good natured physician went through with his analysis, and the belle was restored to her membership with the white race. Young ladies who are ambitious of having snowy complexions should remember this, and be careful what powder and cosmetics they use, if they use any at all.

Lager beer triumphs in Massachusetts A vast quantity seized by the constables from the vaults of one Efaff, a celebrated vender of the noble liquid, has been solemnly returned by the authorities to its owner in an unconfiscated condition. The circumstance and its reasons set fourth by one of the poets of Boston in the following melodious strain:

Take back the virgin beer,
Whole and unbroken still;
No hand of constab here
Shall this brown liquor spill.
We love the faderland,
We love the German vote,
So comrades, bear a hand,
And put the beer a tote

AFRAID OF LIGHTNING.—Washington Irving and Lewis Gaylord Clark, while walking near Sleepy Hollow, were overtaken by a storm. There was great thunder and lightning, and Mr. Irving took refuge under a tree, asking his companion 'Why don't you come in here and be as comfortably housed as I am?' 'I don't do it my dear sir,' replied Mr. Clarke. 'I am afraid of lightning. My father was once nearly killed by it while standing under a tree in a thunder storm and he always enjoined it upon his twin boys never to do the like.' 'Oh,' said Mr. Irving, 'That alters the case. If lightning runs in your family, I commend your caution.'

OLD HANK'S STORY.—"Some years ago I took a bed-bug to an iron foundry and dropped it into a ladle where the melted iron was, and had it run into a skillet Well, my old woman used that skillet pretty efficiently for the last six years, and here the other day she broke it all to smash, and what do you think, gentlemen, that ere insect just walked out of his hole where he'd been lyin' like a frog in a rock, and made tracks for his old roost up stairs! But, by George, gentlemen, he looked mighty pale!

The New Bedford Mercury says, that in view of the drunkenness prevalent in that city, in spite of the new Massachusetts prohibitory liquor law, "the question is not where the pins go, but where does the rum come from."

The New Jersey Court of Pardon, at its recent session, pardoned forty convicts four of whom are murderers. The others are highwaymen, burglars and criminals of other grades, who were serving out sentences of from two to twenty years' imprisonment.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The exceptional efficacy which this medicine has exhibited in the cure of the following complaints, has long been known to the public, and it is unnecessary to do more than assure the people that its virtues are still maintained. Although it is not claimed that Sarsaparilla will cure all the diseases and ills that afflict humanity, it is certainly the most effectual remedy for the class of complaints for which it is recommended that has ever been discovered. Many of the cures it has wrought are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which disfigure and torture the body, and render life a burden, are frequently inherited from contamination until a great majority of the most destructive diseases we have. Often, this unseen and unfelt cause of suffering and death undermines the constitution, and lays the seeds of enfeebling or fatal diseases, before we are aware of the presence of its poison. Again, it is developed by a predisposition to some particular form of complaint, which, on a favorable occasion, rapidly develops itself in a violent disease, or one of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or brain, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by ulcerations on the skin, or foul sores on the limbs or body. Hence the occasional use of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Purify the blood, and health will follow; generally full immediate relief, and, at no very unfavorable occasion, rapidly develop some or other

The Daily Intelligencer.

Let there be Harmony in things Essential—Liberality in things not Essential—Charity in all.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 28, 1869. No. 71.

From the Intelligencer.

Descriptive Remarks on the Buildings in course of Erection for a Provincial Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb.

The buildings now being erected by Messrs. Kempster, for a Provincial Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, present a front facade from west to east of 208 feet, 9 inches. Depth in centre from north to south, 159 feet 4 inches. The front wall to plate is 50 feet, and to ridge of roof, 68 feet. It may be well to observe here that the buildings assume the form of the letter I, inverted, the upper part of which or frontage is laid out in five divisions, the East and West ends and centre projecting six feet from the main walls, with brick buttresses between them. The main line of the E forms the principal hall 76 feet long and 12 feet wide, leading into dining room, 60 feet long by 30 feet wide, and having a capacity to seat 350 inmates.—The kitchen at its rear is 32 by 24 feet.—The principal entrance is under the tower, the height of which to top of vane is 154 feet, with a very steep roof and spire termination. On the ground floor of the main building are the Principal's apartments, reception room, library, and Clerk's Office, with four class rooms. The sitting room of boys on the ground floor of the East wing, and that of girls on the West wing, are each 100 feet long by 37 feet wide. A covered passage leads from these to the dining room, over which is situate the lecture hall, capable of seating 350 pupils, and 500 visitors.

The first floor is wholly taken up with dormitories for pupils and teachers, clothes rooms, and museums. The hospitals for both sexes are situated over the kitchen and store rooms. The attic story is fitted up with dormer windows and gallets, giv a height of fourteen feet to the ceiling. The upper windows or lowers will be grouped two each with flat arches, and connected together with stone mouldings. In short, the whole edifice will impress the mind of the beholder with feelings of reverential grandeur and majestic sublimity. It has been designed in the domestic style of Gothic architecture, and so modified to suit the requirements of the unfortunate class of that afflicted portion of the human family for whose benefit it has been designed. It is collegiate in appearance, and capable in its interior structure to ward off the rigor ous effects of a winter climate, which in Belleville is more severe than in Hamilton The building will be heated with steam throughout—the boiler room being away from the main building, but so situate as to connect with the fuel cellars under the kitchen extension. The arrangements relative to the ventilating flues secure perfect ventilation. The architect, Mr. Smith, of Toronto, is a genius. Mr. Kivas Tully, Government Architect and Engineer, has now charge of the works. He is thoroughly efficient

THE FARM

Contains 80 acres of land, at present in an impoverished condition but by the application of scientific agriculture it will, in a few years, realize our most sanguine expectations in exuberant fertility. This is a prospective view, no doubt, but when contrasted with the productive powers of the farms by which it is bounded, we must arrive at the just conclusion that that of the Deaf and Dumb will, in due progress of time, become a model one in the East. Of this I entertain no doubt. At present it contains a crop of thistles four feet high, a crop which gives no small alarm to the owners of property North, West and East of it. The site of the buildings is on a rising ground, 200 feet from the Trenton road, from which it is distant from the shore of the Bay of Quinte (Kantie) 200 feet more. The length of the farm is 4,522 feet, terminating on the North at the Marshall Road The width is 616 feet. In the centre of this strip of land, only of 940 feet wide, there is a hill 600 feet above the level of the Lake As it is the site commands a magnificent view of the beautiful Bay of Quinte, and the exquisitively diversified and romantic scenery on the shores of Prince Edward County, one of the finest panoramic scenes in British America, Dundurn, in Hamilton, and the "Lover's Walk," at Picton, excepted. The vernal freshness of the foliage of the trees on the rising grounds over the Bay on the opposite shore, with its blue waters intervening, winding its sinuous course from South to Belleville, will contrast finely with the majestic edifice that will accomplish enduring good and more lasting benefits on a large number of our fellow creatures who labor under the "crushing calamity" of deaf dumbness, than any other institution on this continent! What a very picture this magnificent scene will present to the eye of the philanthropists and christians is inconceivable to those unacquainted with the study of mental philosophy, when applied to the abnormal condition of the deaf mute mind previous to instruction The peculiar condition of the mind of deaf mutes corresponds to outcroppings of geological strata and each gives a view of some of the secrets of nature unexplored But alas, alas, like every picture, however embellished and tipt off, there is a dark background unseen by the human eye of those who cling to the belief of Cain. "Am I my brother's keeper." In that fertile County of Prince Edward, interspersed as it is with scenic beauty unrivalled in Canada, there are no less than twenty-four human beings—the unfortunate offspring of one family—who labor under deaf dumbness, idiocy, blindness and malformation of physical organization, and thrice that number the innocent victims of scrofula, all resulting from consanguineous intermarriages. Away, with further particulars on this point.

THE PROGRESS OF THE BUILDING—WHEN SHALL IT BE COMPLETED, AND FIT FOR THE RECEPTION OF ITS OVER 300 INMATES.

The contract for the erection of this Institution was awarded Messrs. Kempster & Brother, Hamilton, at $47,900. Their estimate was the lowest of some 80 or more contractors, and only $5,000 less than the estimates of a few contractors of Belleville, who feel deeply impressed with the conviction that the work cannot be performed for the amount, and that the result will be a failure, both as regards the due performance of the contract and the specified time in which it is to be done

That Mr. Kempster will fail to realize fair remuneration, if indeed he gets scot free at all, I entertain grave doubts, and these doubts have been strengthened by a scrutinizing survey of the work done But when I reflect on the energy and perseverance which have hitherto characterized Kempster & Co., in their business transactions, and acquainted as I have been with the sterling character the scientific knowledge and long experience in the line of building of Mr. Price, the Clerk of Works, whose appointment to that office reflects the highest credit upon the Government I feel quite satisfied that it will be well done, and considering unforseen drawbacks will be completed in the specified time

Mr. Price first commenced in Toronto as superintendent over the erection of the new Barracks, Garrison Common. He built the Baptist and Unitarian Churches, the Wholesale Houses of the Hamblys, W. H. McMaster, and J. McMurrick, and others too numerous to name. His reputation added to the "pluck" of Mr. Kempster, impresses the unprejudiced mind that the completion of the work is a foregone conclusion. Already the excavation of cellars is done—the foundation of the west wing and main building executed, having two course of plinth, each 12 inches high, of buil hammered cut stone, finishing at the under side of joist, forming a handsome basis to the building and impressing the idea of a durable foundation built as it is on the bed of a solid rock

The number of men at work numbers 130. The Superintendent of the masons and laborers is Mr. Cannill, a very smart and energetic man. Mr. Nicholson, foreman mason. Mr. Sprig, foreman carpenter. Mr. Conklin, overseer; and Mr. Robinson time keeper. This staff of Belleville men should inspire confidence in the ability of Kempster to get through his contract.

In conclusion I feel devoutly thankful to the good Providence of Almighty God, that the Institution is located near a town, the inhabitants of which, of every grade in society are widely known for benevolent efforts to mitigate distress, and the evils which afflict humanity. They are amiable, courteous and kind. The site is most healthy, no marsh even of small dimensions, being within a mile and a half of the buildings. Provisions are sold at remarkably reasonable prices The tone of the inhabitants is Quakerish, and their habits temperate. I find that there are at least four young ladies to one young man. This operates to produce a dearth in amusements, giving, as it invariably does, a staid deadand-alive tone to public spirit. I have forgotten to state that Mr. Kempster is bound by bonds, &c., to have the Institution ready for the reception of the Deaf and Dumb on the 1st of September, 1870. Mr. Price possesses arbitrary power to have the terms of the contract carried into practical effect at the time specified above.

J. B. McGANN

Belleville, July 26th, 1869

—The Columbus, Ohio, papers report the killing of an immense snake on the Chittenden farm near that city last week. The monster had been seen on several occasions and on Monday it chased two boys nearly half a mile. On Thursday morning the same two boys again visited the Chittenden farm, better prepared to encounter the foe should he put in an appearance. They had not been on the grounds a great while before they discovered the monster who was approaching them with evident warlike intent. The boys took position, and as soon as an opportunity presented, made such well directed shots as to place their enemy entirely in their power, when they soon despatched him. The monster was 16 feet in length, and was proportionably large.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, JULY 28.

NEW DOMINION MONTHLY.—The August number of this popular Canadian Monthly has been received. It has an excellent list of contents suited to different classes of readers. Published by John Dougall, & Son, Montreal at $1 a year.

DENTAL ASSOCIATION -The annual meeting of the Dental Association of Ontario is now being held in Belleville. About thirty delegates are present. A daily report of the proceedings was promised us, but it has not yet come to hand.

BASS FISHING.—We have heard it said by some that black bass fishing was over.—Whatever may be the reason for saying this is hard to tell. Certainly, there are lots of fish, and they are easy to catch, taking any thing either in the way of bait. Two gentlemen went out yesterday afternoon, leaving Henry's boat-house at a few minutes before five p. m., and returned at about half past seven, having taken fifty-three fish, all with rod and line, thirty seven of which were bass. Can this be beaten in Toronto or any other place?

THE ARBITRATION CASE.—A Conference is being held in Montreal to adjust the basis on which the arbitration between the Dominion and the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec is to take place. There are present Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir George E. Cartier, Mr. Rose, Mr. J. S. Macdonald, Mr. Chauveau, Mr. Wood, and Mr. Dunkin. Mr. Langton, the Auditor, is also present. The Montreal Gazette of yesterday says: "We understand that the utmost cordiality prevailed, and that a basis has been agreed upon. Some figures of detail only require to be settled."

The Deaf and Dumb Institute.

In another column will be found a descriptive article on the buildings for the Deaf and Dumb now in course of construction from Mr. McGann's pen. The article has been specially written for the information of the members of the Press Association with the view of airing the subject in the columns of the Press.

Fenian Rumors.

Instructions have been sent from Ottawa to have the gunboats ready for instant service. Some rumor of a Fenian movement is said to be the cause of the order, and there is some talk of the Cuban junta of New York moving its quarters to Canada, which might tend to involve us in a breach of neutrality, if it were not provided against.

The Ottawa Citizen which is presumed to be better informed through Government sources than most of its contemporaries, says:—

"The notices which we have observed in our American exchanges confirm the declaration of Sir John A. Macdonald, if any confirmation were necessary, and have convinced us that the Fenian organization occupy at the present time a more threatening and dangerous attitude towards this country than it has done at any previous period. That they are collecting men and material for an onslaught upon Canada, has never been concealed, but what makes their movements the more conspicuous just now, and more formidable, is their carrying on their preparations and arranging their plans with the utmost caution and secrecy. The Head Centres and Circles have never ceased from activity in levying contributions upon their dupes, and the reason why their efforts are at present, when we are upon a very extensive scale, have not attracted much public attention is that they are not conducted so formerly with loud blowing of trumpets and swaggering speeches. They act more like men in earnest, and less like lunatics escaped from Bedlam. Yet just because of the guarded secrecy with which their efforts to prepare for another raid are being put forth, they are the more deserving of the attention of our authorities and will doubtless receive it.

"We feel very well satisfied that they contemplate an attack upon our territory at no distant period of time, on a larger scale than the previous one, and that their preparations for it are supposed by themselves to be almost complete. The large reductions made in the regular forces stationed in Canada have encouraged the Fenian leaders to choose this time for their attack, and to hope for better success than last time. In this, we believe, they will find themselves decidedly mistaken, and that a warmer and sharper reception will await them than before. The regular troops are not all gone, and if they were, our brave Volunteers are ready at the briefest notice to take the field, and to give a good account of any Fenian hordes that may venture to meet them."

Now if these be facts, and Sir John A Macdonald's statement that the "Fenian or "ganization in the United States still exists "in full activity," be a fact what are we to think of his conduct in liberating Rev. Mr. McMahon? Did he expect thereby to purchase the neutrality or active co-operation of the Roman Catholic hierarchy, who were so persistent in their efforts to obtain Mr McMahon's release from prison? Did he suppose it would lessen the hatred of Fenians to Great Britain, or put a stop to their movements against Canada? Did he fancy that it would make sympathisers amongst them here more loyal to Canada, or prevent them from extending aid and comfort to their friends when occasion required? It was a mistaken act of clemency, and will have the effect of emboldening the Fenians rather than pacifying them—while it humiliates and disheartens those who are willing to sacrifice their all, and lay down their lives, if need be, for the preservation of their country.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

QUEEN'S HOTEL,
LIVERPOOL, July 13, 1869.

A trip across the Atlantic at the present day, is not after all so great an undertaking when one's mind is made up to make a start, which by-the-by is not the easiest thing in the world to do, particularly when business and other cares interpose at every attempt. Long years of thought, however, upon any given point, is almost certain in the end, to find some excuse to gratify the whim, if such it may be designated, but which I would rather term a laudable desire to visit the scenes of one's childhood after a long absence, and gaze again, though it be for the last time upon play grounds and "timber hills," where, when weary of play, the boy sank behind the knoll, and slept as soundly as if laid upon a downy pillow. Well, such an excuse presented itself to the writer. Two intimate friends were upon the point of visiting England, and like the truant school boy, it did not require much enticing to induce one who has had this visit to his native land uppermost in his mind for some fifteen years past, to form the trio, and brave the" perils of the sea," in quest of pleasure and information, which can alone be obtained by personal observation.

This feat of determining upon the trip being once accomplished, a couple of days sufficed to make ready, and upon the 2nd of July, away we went, taking the Grand Trunk from Belleville, three hours behind time, a very unusual occurrence you are aware. Two o'clock, a. m., found us in Montreal, and at 2:30 a special train carried us to Richmond, where after no little delay, why, no body could understand, we were again eastward, arriving in Quebec on Saturday at 11:30 a. m., and at 12 noon all were safely ensconced on the Montreal Ocean Steamship Austrian, Capt. Wylie; not however, until some little impertinence had to be submitted to, from the Grand Trunk Baggage man at Point Levi, who I doubt not, fancying he may never see the passengers again, indulges in little annoyances and gross impertinences, with impunity

At 12:15 the cannon on board belched forth its thunder, which was not only echoed from the shore, but replied to, by another piece of ordnance, and away steamed the fine vessel down our noble and unrivalled St. Lawrence. The day was delightful, the sun shone brilliantly, and every soul on board seemed happy, and rejoicing in the prospect of a fine voyage. So many have made the trip down this river, and so much has been written upon the subject, that I should only weary you by a repetition of what has been published hundreds of times. Suffice it to say, that every person who can, during the summer season should make this trip. The islands, the bluff shore, the indentations, and the many bays, all tend to make the St. Lawrence route one of the most charming and pleasant on this continent, particularly so, when the voyager has left the dusty street and busy hum of trade and business

Luncheon bells ring, and a general rush is made for the Dining Room. No sooner had we arrived there than we found that there was one thing not provided against, when securing staterooms and tickets, and that was a good seat at the table, for there are such places, as all who have travelled know, and it is mentioned here to put future voyagers across the sea on the alert. When a person purchases his ticket let him at once secure the same seat at the table as far forward as possible, or he may find himself in the uncomfortable position of having to take his seat in the extreme stern of the boat, and as a consequence receive "all the tossing the s gong," and the full benefit of the everlasting rumbling and shaking of the screw, not at all pleasant when the sea is rough and the bile well stirred up. This may be of service to others, and I am sure it will to some who have enjoyed the pleasure of the situation. To those who have good appetites and enjoy good living, by all means let them go to sea, where the epicure can indulge his tastes ad libitum. Breakfast at 8:30; lunch at 12; dinner at 4; tea at 7; and supper from 9:30 to 11 p. m., with a "bill of fare" equal to the best hotel in the country.

SUNDAY, the 4th, was another lovely day, and all went merry as a marriage bell, no one forgetting however that it was the Sabbath. At 10 o'clock the church bell tolled, and the passengers, cabin and steerage, seamen and officers, except those on duty, repaired to the saloon, where the Rev Dr. Jenkins, of Montreal, who was one of the passengers, read the Church service, after which he delivered a short, but highly instructive discourse upon the goodness of Christ. Those who have never been at sea can scarcely conceive the solemnity of such an occasion, when priest and people join in praising God in the beautiful and sublime liturgy of the Church of England In the evening, the Rev. Mr. McTavish, another clergyman, preached in the steerage. The balance of the day was spent in reading and pacing the deck.

MONDAY, again fine, wind ahead and blowing from the north-east, rendering heavy coats necessary. To-day Antcosti was reached, and by night the light house at the entrance of the narrows in the Straits of Belle Isle was visible, and by Tuesday the broad Atlantic would be reached, and our bark fairly committed to the waters, which had not so far disturbed her passengers in the least. The voyage so far having been of a delightful character, the passengers enjoying themselves at what is termed shuffle-boards, curling and quoits, peculiar to the sea, whist, reading, gossip, flirtations, old and young. Such, in short, "is a day at sea," when fine

TUESDAY, July 6th.—What a change has come over the passengers. No sooner had the ship passed through the straits of Belle Isle, than the open sea was before her, with its waters turbulent and tumultuous, and ere the morning broke, groans and "the casting up of accounts" could be heard in every directions. Then did the timid and sea sick wish themselves home again, but it was too late now, sea sickness had to be borne with patience, if possible, and if not with that virtue, at any rate In short, there was a general upheaving, not only of the sea, but of people's stomachs.—The ship in the short space of a few hours was turned into a hospital, with a few left to attend to and laugh at their suffering fellow mortals; the most attentive among whom was the Hon. Robt. Read, whose loud and joyous laugh could be heard o'er the raging of the billows, while administering to suffering humanity, until he became a general favorite, old and young designating him by the name of the "kind old gentleman." Of his two companions it is useless to say more than they found his services of some benefit at least.

WEDNESDAY, July 7th.—Wind still ahead, blowing fresh from the north-east, and a second edition of Tuesday. So far as relates to the comfort of the sick, some sulking, some too sick to raise their heads, some with a disagreeable nauseous and "nothing more," some rolling on the deck utterly helpless, and among the whole might be heard the roar of the "kind old man's" voice, as he like the good Samaritan, prescribed "courage," the giving up of "sulks," "lemonade" and other comforts."

THURSDAY, July 8th.—Wind not so fresh, day charming, deck literally strewed with overcoats, rugs, pillows, etc., and men and women lying about promiscuously, each enjoying the warmth of the sun's rays, and the now mild and invigorating breeze from the south, and fast recovering from illness.

FRIDAY, July 9th.—WAS inaugurated with a slight shower, which had not the effect of driving people "below," however, for they submitted to a sprinkle, rather the confinement of their staterooms. The afternoon was fair, and the good ship made a capital run.

SATURDAY, July 10th.—Another of these delightful days which sends joy and gladness to the hearts of land lubbers upon water. The St. David, bound for Glasgow, which sailed upon tue 1st July, was sighted to-day, being the first ship seen since we left the Straits of Belle Isle. It must be borne in mind that the route which this line of steamers traverse, is about 200 miles north of that taken by sailing vessels, thus fully accounting for the absence of vessels.

SUNDAY, July 11th.—The good produced by the genial breezes of Saturday, was counteracted to-day, by a good blow from the nor'east, and passengers became languid again, and not caring whether they got out of the rains that pelted down upon them or not.—The solemn notes of the bell warned them that divine service was about to commence, and as many as could dragged their weak limbs to the cabin, where an hour was spent in the worship of God, the scene being of the most solemn character. What a frail creature man is. The afternoon turned out fair, men's spirits became buoyant again, with the prospect of sighting land on the morrow.

MONDAY, July 12th.—About six o'clock in the morning Tory Island light house was seen, soon passed, and the north shore of the green Isle in full view. Never was the "glorious 12th" ushered into being more gorgeously. The clear blue sky above, and the genial rays of the sun poured upon the earth, gave evidence of a smiling providence, while the beautiful light pea green of the Isle itself, was enchanting. All tending to arouse those who had "given up" from their lethargy, and all soon made their appearance upon deck. Truly, Ireland was not misnamed when christened the green Isle Everything looked green, though of different hues The dark green of the potato, which looks remarkably well, and the very light green of the crops with a different shade of the ivy that covered the walls of the ruins of which, in other days, were buildings. Apparently not a yard of ground upon the almost barren hills of the north coast but gave evidence of the husbandman At 12 30 p.m., while waiting for the tender opposite Moville, in Lock Foyle, the thermometer stood at 65 only, not too hot for a procession, and I could not help thinking of the last 12th of July in Madoc with the thermometer ranging over 100 in the shade, and what it might possibly be even this year in Canada. It was our intention to have landed at Derby to witness an Irish celebration of the 12th of July, but we arrived too late to reach the city in time, and deferred our visit to the maiden city until our return home. The tender at last arrived, received the mails for Derry, and off we were for Liverpool The sail from Loch Foyle along the Irish coast, passing close to the Giant's Causeway, and in view of one of those mysterious old round towers, the origin of which historians and antiquarians have failed to inform us, on the one side, and Islands belonging to Scotland, where the Bruce hid himself for a time, and from which he made his last attempt for the Crown, on the other, was wild and romantic and enjoyed by every one on board. Cowe's light-house is now passed and we are again at sea—eleven o'clock p. m.—with a certainty of reaching Liverpool about 4 o'clock in the morning.—To night I witnessed the most glorious sun I ever saw While admiring it I took my watch out, and at 8:45 the glorious old Sol sunk beneath the horizon, only to appear between three and four the next morning Do not suppose that darkness followed a few minutes after, as in our beloved Canada, the twilight of which we have heard and read so often, follows and lasts until after 10 o'clock What a delightful time for thought and serene contemplation; but I must not enlarge.

TUESDAY morning, July 13.—Here we are in the busy hive of the Commercial Metropolis of the world, of which more anon.

I am closing this at 12 o'clock at night, with the street fiddlers and tumblers hard at work upon the sidewalk beneath, trying to pick up a few half pennies from the night wanderers, of whom there are plenty in all such cities as Liverpool. To-morrow we leave for Manchester. Adieu

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer

SIR,—I beg through your daily paper, to draw the attention of the Chief Magistrate and police of Belleville, to the fact that my family and neighbors were disturbed last night by some young men who have been admitted into respectable society in this place, but whose conduct last night would justify all order loving people in excluding them from their houses, and from associating with their families. I do not hesitate in attaching my name to this note, nor will I shrink from making public the names of the offending parties, if such gross and ungentlemanly conduct is repeated.

Your obd't. servant,
JAMES LISTER

Legal Principles.

The following general rules are worth preserving

1. That which is originally void, does not by the lapse of time grow valid.
2. A personal right of action dies with the person.
3. The law compels no one to do impossibilities
4. No one shall be twice vexed for one and the same cause.
5. The greater contains the less
6. The law favors things which are in custody of the law
7. The husband and the wife are one person
8 Every act shall be taken most strongly against the maker
9 When two titles occur, the elder should be preferred
10. Agreement overrules the law
11. He that derives the advantage ought to sustain the burden
12. No man should take advantage of his own wrong
13. When the right is equal, the claim of the party in actual possession shall prevail
14. He has the better title who was first in point of time
15. A right of action cannot arise out of fraud
16 It is a fraud to conceal fraud
17. Who does not oppose while he might oppose, seems to consent

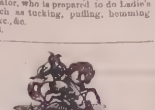

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

CHEAP WAY TO CLEAN STRAW HATS.—Pounded sulphur, cold water, and brush. Make a paste of pounded sulpher and cold water, wet the hat or bonnet, and cover it with the paste till you do not see the straw. Rub hard. Hang the hat up to dry. When dry, brush the sulphur off with a brush till the straw gets beautifully white. This method is easier than the sulphur bleaching box and can be done very quickly.

A novel sight was witnessed a few days ago by Mr. Giffany who lives at Bodega Bay, Cal. While plowing near the coast his attention was directed to an unusual commotion in the water nearly a mile from shore, which proved to be a conflict between five sword fishes and a sperm whale. The ocean was quite calm, and as they neared the shore their movements could be plainly seen. The whale was no match for his smaller antagonists, who seemed to understand his only means of defence, and displayed considerable knowledge of tactics in parrying with their formidable antagonist. In making their thrusts into his sides, they would keep clear of his tail, one blow of which would have been fatal to them. With maddened fury the huge monster of the deep would strike right and left, causing the water to boil by the force of the blow, and then he would dive deep to escape the relentless fury of his tormentors; but he was followed and soon brought to the surface. Deep gashes could be seen in his sides, and the blood flowed freely. The fight was witnessed for nearly an hour, when the whale, in the agony of despair, started for the shore, flinging himself upon some low rocks and soon died from the effects of his wounds. Gashes two feet deep and six feet long were made in his sides. He was between fifty and sixty feet long.

Although the "Bush times" have passed away on the Mississippi, they still have some queer and sometimes rough customers on the river boats. On a recent trip of the HighFlyer, crowded passengers, the clerk had allotted the last stateroom, and was about to close his office, when he was astonished by the apparition of a tall Missourian, who exclaimed, "I say, stranger, I want one of them chambers." "Sorry," said the official blandly "but our staterooms are all taken

The d—l they are, responded Missouri I'm paid my fare, an I want one of them chambers. "Allow me to see your ticket," said the still polite clerk. Putting his hand to the back of his neck, the passenger pulled out a ten inch bowie knife, and driving it quivering into the counter, said, "I'm from Pike county, young feller, and that's my ticket I want one of them Chambers Before the word had ceased to vibrate the prompt clerk quickly thrust a loaded and capped six shooter under Pike's nose, and coolly answered, "I've only got six staterooms, and you see daylights at four." The Missourian edged out of range and putting up his toothpick, ejaculated "A full hand's good, by——" and strode off to seek such quarters as he could find

A lady reached the passenger depot in Dayton, O., the other day, just as the train she intended to take was leaving and as she stood almost crying with vexation on the platform, a gentleman arrived at the depot on full run, with his carpet bag in his hand, his coat on his arm, his face streaming with perspiration. As he looked on the train now fast moving away, he sat down on his carpet bag, wiped his face, and very deliberately said, 'D——n that train!' The lady heard him, and smiling upon him with a lady's sweetness, said, 'Thank you, sir.'

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been open'd under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first of all classes in respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than any merit else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future success, everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and evident attention to comfort.

The large Hall, commodious offices, spacious Reading room connected Dining saloon, Waiting Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor. Also the Reception Room and Sitting ROOMS, both of ENLARGED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES PARLORS, on the first floor, will form no small luxury during the approaching heat. And, what is somewhat new to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all ventilated and lighted, therefore there is no dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and finest Street in Montreal, commanding a fine open View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Mountain and the Cathedral, Convent, Court House, and Mount Royal on the right, it is considered the healthiest part of the travelling part of the city.

From its situation on McGill Street, which is the main thoroughfare connecting the Business part of the city with the Railway Depots, it will always keep a strong footing as the Most desirable Hotel.

Notwithstanding the very large extent of building and extending far back, the Rooms are all of moderate size, and are therefore very cheerful.

We, therefore, beg to call the attention of the patronage of the travelling public to the fact that we have

Gossip.

I

Considerable interest is being awakened in England in a new system of transportation for short distances and in places where railroads are not applicable, by what is called a wire tramway, providing a simple and cheap substitute for a line of rails. An endless wire rope is suspended on a series of pulleys, which are carried on posts like those of the telegraph. Boxes are hung on this rope by a pendant which is ingeniously arranged to preserve a perfect equilibrium, and at the same time to pass without hindrance over the supports. The motive power is supplied by a small stationary engine, the wire rope running around a drum, and the boxes carry from 100 to 600 pounds of merchandize. It is stated that a wire tramway, capable of transporting 50 tons a day, with the necessary motive power and rolling stock, can be constructed for £350 per mile, and £1,500 per mile would build one equal to the transportation of 1,000 tones per day, at a speed of six miles per hour. The equipment is now being prosecuted with complete success between some Leicestershire stone quarries and a railway station three miles distant, and several on the same model are in course of erection in France Italy and Spain.

II.

The recent denial "by authority" of the newspaper report that Patti Caux is dangerously ill from the effects of excessive dosing with chloral, reminds one of the frequency with which stories of a similar character are told of persons of whom newspapers reporters have not the slightest possible knowledge. For example, a few years ago, the statement that the Crown Prince of Prussia was in the habit of kicking his wife down stairs went the rounds of the press, and was firmly believed by very many people. Aside from the intrinsic improbability of the story, the sceptical reader was inclined to doubt whether the Crown Prince, even if he did kick his wife, would send invitations to the press to witness the august ceremony, or whether he would summon his servants to be present. And if his marital discipline was inflicted in private, how could the penny a liners learn the saddening tale? So, too, of the personal disputes between Napoleon and Eugenie, in the privacy of the palace, of whom the reporters from time to time give us the most circumstantial accounts, including what the Emperor said and what the Empress replied, and what the imperial Prince thought of the family dispute, and what costly ceremonies accompanied the final reconciliation. Perhaps Napoleon is in the habit of furnishing a stenographic report of the private disputes between himself and the Empress, and then, again, perhaps he isn't. We rather think the latter will be found to be his invariable custom, and that the newspaper men get their version of the Imperial squabbles from the Empress, who is in the daily habit of visiting the editorial rooms of all the Parisian journals, and smoking confidential pipes with each inegber of the staff in turn.

Things worth Knowing.

A correspondent sends us the following scraps of useful and interesting information which we lay before our readers:

CUCUMBERS FOR PICKLES.—Instead of putting the little cucumbers in strong brine as is usually done, a layer of salt should be placed in the bottom of a tub or crock, on which a layer of cucumbers, then a layer of salt, and so on. On the top of all is placed a heavy stone to press well down. Cucumbers prepared in this way retain both their colour and their firmness, and will fetch three times as much in the market as the shrunken yellow things done in brine

STRING BEANS.—Now is the time to think of preparing string beans for winter use. They are treated just as cucumbers are, above. They keep in that way perfectly the year round, and when cooked in the winter, colour, flavor and tenderness are exactly as on the day they were plucked.

THE HOUSE FLY.—By accurate computation, the common house fly occupies the middle place, with regard to size, in the animal creation. The whale is the largest animal, and there animalcula, as many millions smaller than the house fly, as the house fly is smaller than the whale.

A WINE BIBBER.—Every one knows that if he leaves a little sherry in the bottom of glass in summer a host of very small flies will drown themselves in it. These flies are a perfectly distinct species from the house fly, but you never see them by any chance, except in the sherry. Where they come from is a mystery

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, derived from its cures among of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination make it a potent antidote for the many painful and dangerous complaints that the public scarcely need to be told of the virtues of sarsaparilla. A powerful constitutional remedy, it does not merely palliate, but eradicates the disease from the blood, and thus cures it permanently. Hence the cures it performs are real and lasting. Not only is it the best blood purifier known, but it imparts the vitality of health to the whole system. Under its use the impurities which make sickness are thrown off, and the foundations of health are established. Hence it cures not only the special disease against which it is directed, but all others which have their origin in impure blood. Such are Erysipelas, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and Sterility, when arising from a vitiated condition of the blood. Every one of these complaints is caused by the poisons in the blood. Expel these poisons from the blood, and the complaint disappears. Health follows. Keep the blood pure, and the system is fortified against disease. Hence, when you feel a pimple coming, or know that your blood is impure, don't wait for the pimple to develop into a loathsome sore, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and get the blood pure. Don't wait for the fever, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep the blood pure. Don't wait for the cancer, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep the blood pure. Don't wait for the consumption, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep the blood pure. Don't wait for the rheumatism, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep the blood pure. Don't wait for the dyspepsia, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep the blood pure. Don't wait for the liver complaint, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep the blood pure. Don't wait for the kidney disease, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep the blood pure. Don't wait for the female weakness, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep the blood pure. Don't wait for the sterility, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep the blood pure. Don't wait for the dropsy, but take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep the blood pure. Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, THURSDAY EVENING, JULY 29, 1869. No. 75.

The Young Widow.

She is cunning, sometimes witty,
Free and easy, but not bold;
Like an apple, ripe and mellow,
Not too young, and not too old;
Half inviting, half repellant,
Now advancing, and now shy,
There is mischief in her laughter,
There is danger in her eye.

She has studied human nature,
She is schooled in every art,
She has taken her Diploma
As the mistress of the heart
She can tell the very moment
When to sigh, and when to smile,
Oh! a maid is sometimes charming,
But a widow all the while.

Are you sad? oh! then how serious
Will her pretty face become!
Are you angry? she is wretched,
Saddened, friendless, fearful, dumb
Are you mirthful? how her laughter,
Silver sounding, will ring out!
She can lure and catch and play you
As an angler does a trout.

Ah! old fossils, nearing fifty,
Who are plotted deep and wise:
And Adonises of twenty,
Will the love-light in your eyes—
You may practise all the lessons
Taught by Cupid since the fall;
But I know a little widow
Who can win and fool you all.

A People who Never Heard of England.

It can hardly be believed that there is a people on the face of the globe that has not heard of England and seen an Englishman, yet such is a fact. Mr. Wallace, in his most interesting and instructive volume just published, giving an account of the Malay Archipelago and his eight years' residence in and among the East India Islands, presents his readers with much that is new. Among the places visited by him were the Aru Islands, a group lying south of the Western end of the great Island of Papua or New Guinea, between the 134th and 138th degrees of longitude east of Greenwich. The largest island of the group is nearly a hundred miles in length and fifty in breadth, and is populated by a race known as the Papuans, superior in point of intellect to the Malay race.

Mr. Wallace spent several months among this people in making collections of birdskins, insects, and other objects of natural history. He learned to speak the Malay and some other languages, and everywhere treated the natives with great kindness. He employed them to shoot birds and collect insects for him, always paying them what they considered liberally for their services. His conduct towards them is so different from that which they had been accustomed to receive from the Dutch and Malay traders, that they were puzzled to know who he was, where he came from, and his object in collecting such things as shells, bird-skins, butterflies, beetles and other insects.

One day, he says, "two or three of them got around me and begged me for the twentieth time to tell them the name of my country. Then as they could not pronounce the name of England they insisted that I was deceiving them. One of them became very indignant in his efforts to pronounce the name. 'Ung! ung!' said he, 'who ever heard of such a name! Inglang—anger-lang,—that can't be the name of your country; you are joking with me.' Then he tried to give a convincing illustration; 'My country is Wanumbai—any one can say Wanumbai. I'm an orang Wanumbai, but Ungliang or N'glang! (meaning England) who ever heard of such a name! Now do tell us the real name of your country and then when you are gone we shall know how to talk about you.' To this luminous argument and remonstrance I could oppose nothing but assertion, and the whole party remained firmly convinced that I was, for some reason or other, deceiving them. They then attacked me on another point—what all the animals and birds and insects and shells were so carefully preserved for? They had often asked me this before, and I had to explain to them that they would be stuffed, made to look as if alive, and the people in my country would go to look at them. But this was not satisfying; in my country there are better things to look at, and they could not believe that I would take so much trouble with their birds and beasts, just for people to look at."

A Revolution in Steam Engines.

The Jersey City "Times" has a description of a machine, now in operation in that city, which is destined to work a revolution in one department of mechanical industry—namely, a new steam engine, which, one quarter of the weight, and occupying one quarter of the space required for an ordinary ten horse engine, will give the same power with 25 per cent less fuel.

This little machine sets at defiance all preconceived notions on the subject. Its motive power is all contained within the circumference of a broad, stout wheel, about three feet in diameter, revolving upon a hollow shaft which receives the steam and delivers it alternately into two opposite reciprocal cylinders, and fixed between the centre and the periphery. The power, therefore, instead of being at the centre, presents a singular anomaly of being at the circumference. Or, in other words, the true centre of power is at the periphery of the wheel. To use a familiar simile, the wheel is like the hand or drum of a squirrel cage, in which two squirrels were constantaneously, one in the usual position, and the other in the opposite, but with head down, and with a motion similar to that of a fly walking on the ceiling; both, of course, in continually reversing positions, as the wheel turns. It is an application of the simple principle by which any one can see, a grindstone may be easily turned by placing the hand upon its surface while only with considerable muscular exertion a man's hand grasping the shaft can produce the same motion

The inventor, Mr. Ruset, a Frenchman resided at Communipaw until quite recently where he was still known as the author and patentee of several useful minor inventions. The Times says it is expected that a stock company will be formed immediately for the manufacture of the Ruset engine, whose value for all uses requiring lightness of construction, combined with economy of fuel, may be seen by the simple statement that it will give ten horse power with no more fuel than would be required in a caloric engine of two horse power, occupying one-fourth of the space, and at much less first cost. And one important feature is, that the same engine can be used either to attain a high rate of speed or to do heavy hoisting.

Gossip.

I.

A California reporter describes Anna Dickinson as "oxeed." There is some little foundation for the epithet, for Anna certainly has enough of acid in her composition to make an oxide.

II.

A young German merchant of Boston lately asked a young lady in Austria a very interesting question, and received the "happy yes" by the Atlantic cable. A Vienna paper, in chronicling the fact, says: "Perhaps the groom may exchange in the same way their first kisses, which would be electrifying indeed."

III.

It is reported of the Emperor Julian, a Neoplatonist as noted for his hostility to the Christian religion as for the purity of his life, that upon the battlefield, his life blood ebbing away, he threw up his sword exclaiming, "Thou hast conquered, oh, Galilean."

IV.

The present liberal Government of Portugal is expected to shortly bring forward a measure for altering the penal code referring to religious liberty and securing to the non-Catholic Portuguese the freedom which other European States enjoy. The acquittal by the criminal court of Oporto of the British merchant who had been condemned by a lesser authority to six years' removal from the country for preaching Protestantism, is hailed with congratulations by the whole Portuguese press.

HOW TO TREAT SERVANTS.—One of these days dawns—washing day it may be—when everything seems to go awry. The father is grave and unapproachable; the mother cross; the children naturally feeling the infection of the evil spirit that has invaded the home, develop different degrees of naughtiness. Before breakfast is over the smouldering fire begins to burn, and Bobby or Fred commits some overt act which brings a penalty upon his head. Susie cries for buttered cakes, and is sent up stairs to regale herself on bread and water. By the time the uncomfortable meal is over, and the family dispersed in its various directions, the mistress finds her morning dimmed by a wretched feeling of ill-temper, which she tries conscientiously to control. Only half succeeding, she goes into her kitchen, where on this particular day she discovers half a dozen legitimate subjects of fault-finding. She speaks of them to Bridget in a manner which makes Bridget consider herself ill-treated and quickly arouses her temper. A few moments more, and the words of dismission are spoken. Bridget, who has really been good "help," goes away, ready to take offence with greater ease in some other house and to begin a crusade from family to family, until she becomes a pest instead of an acquisition. In her place arrives Ellen who is migratory in her habits, and only stays a week; and after her comes Catharine, who is far from clean; and for weeks Noras, Marys and Lucys are coming and going, till the last stage of that house is worse than the first. How much better it would have been for the mistress to have hushed the improper words by a decided "Silence! You must not speak in that way;" and after the lapse of some hours, when both had had time to grow cool, to have remonstrated quietly and seriously with her handmaid upon the matter and manner of her speech.

Said a Baptist to a Methodist: "I don't like your church government. It isn't simple enough. There's too much machinery about it." He true, replied the Methodist, "we have more machinery than you; but then you see, it don't take near so much water to run it."

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, JULY 29.

STOCK OF WHEAT IN NEW YORK.—On Monday the stock in store in New York was 750,000 bush, of which 345,000 bush are new California, and 125,000 bushels Spring.

ONTARIO LIGHTHOUSE SUPPLIES.—The propellor City of London has been chartered by the Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries to take the annual supplies of the lighthouse in Ontario and has left Montreal on this service.

RECEPTION.—The Kingston News says: "It is stated in private letters from Belfast Ireland, that the Orangemen of that town were making preparations for giving a public reception to Mackenzie Bowell, Esq., M.P., Grand Master of Ontario East, who was soon expected to visit them."

PROFITABLE PUBLICATIONS.—The Government of Great Britain publishes three papers, the Gazette of London, Edinburgh, and Dublin. All three make money, but the London Gazette is far the most profitable.—The net revenue from the three last years was more than $90,000.

SCHOOL OF GUNNERY.—The Trenton Courier says:—We are pleased to learn that Mr. William J. Byam, of Trenton Garrison Battery, passed a highly creditable examination before Capt. Le Grice, Adjut. of the School of Gunnery, at Toronto, Monday, 26th July, and not only obtained a first class certificate but was paid the compliment of being, the best up, and most accurate in drill, of any in the squad, and a most efficient gunner.

THISTLES.—There is a law which inflicts a heavy penalty on parties for allowing Canada thistles to go to seed on their premises. It has been observed to a considerable extent, but there are hundreds of places in town and country where this weed is now in full bloom and unless cut at once, there will be enough seed scattered to crop the whole country. The law also provides that every overseer of highways shall enforce it under a penalty of $20. Let there be a general enforcement of the law for a year or two, and the nuisance will be abated.

CUTTING GRAIN.—While our farmers have had considerable difficulty in housing their hay this rainy weather, and a good deal of grass remains to be cut, they find themselves in the grain harvest before they are really prepared for it. Several fields of wheat, barley and rye have been cut, and a good many more are ready for the sickle. Like another harvest we have often heard and read about, the fields are already white unto the harvest, but the laborers are few. Let the laborers go forth and secure the golden grain while it is yet in fit condition

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.—This old favorite for July has come to hand, with the first part of a promising new story, and other interesting articles. The contents are: A Year and a day, Part III; recollections of Lord Byron; Sketches of Polynesia—the Figis, Morris's Poems: A new Theory of Earthquakes and Volcanoes; A story of Eulenberg, Part I; The Church Bill in the Lords. The magazine is published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, N. Y., at $3 a year.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER.—A complimentary dinner was given to Hugh McMahon, Esq., of Brantford, (formerly of Belleville), on the occasion of that gentleman leaving that place for London, which city he proposes making his future residence. There was a large attendance, amongst whom were some of the leading gentlemen of the Town, and the speeches and whole proceedings were highly complimentary to our young friend, who has evidently made hay while the sun shone since he left Belleville. We trust he may have a prosperous career in the "Forest City."

METRICAL WAIFS FROM THE THOUSAND ISLANDS.—This is the title of an unpretending little volume from the pen of D. Wylie, of the Brockville Recorder, and President of the Canadian Press Association for the ensuing year. It is little wonder that any one living in the vicinity of the beautiful scenery of the Thousand Islands as long as our friend Wylie, and possessing his fine taste, his keen conception and his poetic imagination, should get off the many gems which adorn this little book, and which we might add, would adorn any one of those handsomely bound volumes, which are the production of more pretentious minds, and which are to be found in every library. Mr Wylie has written a good many excellent poems which have gone the rounds of the press during the last twenty years, and he deserves the thanks of the Canadian people for gathering them together in this shape for preservation. The volume before us contains sixty-nine pieces. One of the best evidences of its real worth is the fact that the Educational Department of Ontario has ordered, unsolicited, one hundred copies for the use of schools, and school libraries. No better compliment could be paid the author than this fact itself.

What it Meant.

It seems after all that there was some ground for the rumor of the Quebec Government paper that some trouble was brewing. It appears that the Fenians in the United States have in a quiet way exhibited considerable activity, and the British Minister at Washington, Mr. Thornton, communicated with Secretary Fish on the subject, expressing his fears that a raid on Canada was contemplated. Mr. Fish, however, made light of the matter. The sensational rumors referred to were founded on correspondence, portions of which had been communicated to the Dominion Government. The Montreal News of yesterday says respecting these rumors: "We understand on good authority that a secret effort has lately been made on the part of certain Fenian leaders to induce the "rank and file" of that organization to again venture upon a raid into Canada. A portion of them were to have been first sent into the country by two's and three's, and meeting by appointment at certain points in some of the larger towns of Ontario, to try and do a little in the way of incendiarism and assassination, while a formidable armed force crossed the border." The whole plan, we are informed, was made known to Mr. Thornton, who at once communicated with the Dominion authorities. We do not believe that there is much ground for anticipating another Fenian raid, but it is gratifying to know that the plans of these miscreants are known to our Government almost as soon as they are laid.

Death of Captain James.

We deeply regret to record the death of Captain GEORGE JAMES, late Chief of Police for the town of Belleville, which event took place yesterday evening. Capt. James was a man of more than ordinary talents, and like a great many, his real worth was not properly appreciated by the community in which he lived From a circular issued some time since we learn that Capt. James joined the Irish constabulary in October, 1837; promoted acting constable, June, 1840; constable, September, 1840; head constable, February, 1848; resigned, 31st March, 1855. Joined the Land Transport Corps, 1st April following; promoted Troop Sergeant Major, 6th April, 1855, embarked for the Crimea on 10th May, 1855, present at the final bombardment and capture of Sebastopol, on the 8th of September; commissioned as Cornet, 21st October, 1855; nominated Adjutant of the left Wing, 31st December; and Gazetted Lieutenant, 1st February, 1856; retired on half pay on reduction of the Corps, 1st April, 1857; gazetted as Lieutenant to Military Train in September, 1859; served in camp at Aldershot until October, 1859; retired by sale of Commission.

He came to this country some years ago and settled on the Hastings Road. Subsequently he removed to Belleville, when he was appointed Chief of Police, which position he held until about a year ago, and which he filled with credit to himself and with very general satisfaction to the public. He had been ill from dropsy for some months past, and gradually sunk until yesterday evening when death put an end to his sufferings. At the time of his death he occupied the position of Quarter Master of the 49th Battalion, an office which he was peculiarly well qualified to fill. He was buried this afternoon with military honors the Belleville Rifle Company, Capt. Hambly, acting as a firing party. Capt. James made a good many friends during his residence here, and his death is universally regretted.

Dental Association.

The Dental Association of Ontario held its annual meeting in this Town on the 27th and 28th inst., Dr. Rowe, chairman, presiding. This being the first meeting since the Union of the two Societies, it became necessary to adopt a new Constitution, which occupied most of the afternoon session.

The first business on the programme at the evening session, was the election of officers, which resulted in the election of C. S. Chittenden, editor of the Canada Dental Journal, for President. H. J. Wood, vice President. J. B. Willmott, Secretary, and Geo. Bone, Treasurer.

J. Remans read a paper on the probability of extracting and re-inserting the same tooth, which elicited a warm discussion, in which most of the profession took part

The proceedings of the second day were occupied with essays, discussion, &c., &c.

Dr. Nichol read a paper on Syphilitic affections within the scope of Dental Surgery. Dr Potts also favored them with an essay on Dentistry, its relation to Surgery. Dr. Chittenden filled a tooth at Dr. Relyea's office, and exhibited a new dust compressor, which was very favorably received

Dr. Reyles brought before the members of the profession, at his office, a patient who had lost the entire upper set of teeth, and arch, by the kick of a horse, and was there undergoing treatment

This was considered one of the most interesting cases brought under their notice during the entire session, the particulars of which cannot now be noticed, but Mr. Relyea has promised to give a report soon in detail.

The members were treated to an excursion on the steamer Prince Edward, five or six miles down the bay, which they enjoyed very much. Owing to many of the members being called home, on account of urgent business and engagements, the session was one day shorter than was expected, and the very interesting and pleasant re-union was brought to a close at about 11 o'clock on Wednesday. The entire session was characterised by the most perfect harmony, union of feeling and sentiments, and will long be held in remembrance by all who participated.

School Trustees.

WEDNESDAY, July 28, 1869.

PRESENT—F. MCANNANY, Chairman; and Messrs. Robertson, Sisson, Sawyer, Tennant, Shepard and Coleman.

A letter from Miss Kerr, resigning her situation as assistant teacher in school No. 3 was received, and the resignation accepted.

A proposition from Mr. Dunbar to sell or rent his building for a school was ordered to lie on the table

The Finance Committee presented a report of the estimates required for the maintenance of the schools for the year 1869-70, which, after consideration were adopted. The following is the amount required

Salaries	$4705 00
School in Bellevin Ward	3000 00
Renting, repairing, warming, &c	1100 00
Other necessary expenses	750 00
	$9555 00
Less Government grant	477 00
	$9078 00

making the amount required from the town the sum of $9,078.

Mr. Sisson asked what had been done with the account of Ross, Bell & Holden, for coats in the Blacklock lot case

Mr. Shepard supposed the Blacklock lot was good for those coats as well as the other coats.

Mr. Sisson said the account had been a month in the possession of the Board, and it was time it was paid.

Mr. Shepard said even if it had been provided for in the estimates, no money could be obtained until the taxes were collected, and besides, there were other accounts not paid a much longer time due than that.

Mr. Shepard and Mr. Falkiner promised to have it paid

Mr. Shepard said he had waited a week or more expecting Mr. Falkiner would be home, and he had called the committee together at the last moment to consider the estimates. The committee presuming that the Blacklock lot would be sold concluded to leave that off as well as other coats incurred in the suit, and for which the Board was held reponsible, to be paid for out of the proceeds of the sale.

Mr. Coleman said there was no hurry about passing the account, besides it would have to be taxed.

Mr. Sisson said there was a way to make the Board pay the account.

After some further discussion a by-law and estimate and requisition upon the Town Council for the amount required, were on motion adopted, and the chairman was authorized to sign the same and attach the corporate seal thereto.

Mr. Tennant reported respecting the occupancy of school No. 5. The question was referred to the Committe for that school.

Some other routine business was transacted, and the Board adjourned.

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and sunable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came the room was crowded with anxious expectants the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters

Growls.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—Will you have the goodness to inform me through your columns whose duty it is to prevent the erection of frame buildings within the prohibited limits of Front Street, and if the duty properly belongs to any of the officials of the corporation, what good reason is given for its neglect, and also let me know what has become of that very efficient body known as the Board of Health; surely they are not living in or travelling about the Town or they, as a matter of personal prudence, would have the best of reasons in the way of slaughter houses, hog pens, cesspools and other things of that kind breeding pestilence and disease in our midst, abated. If these things are to be, why should the Town be put to the expense of paying for services not rendered? Perhaps these officers have no power to enforce the performance of the commonest sanitary measures, and I think one of the rights of tax payers is that of breathing pure air, or perhaps they are afraid of offending some of the parties who are violating the law in these respects. If the latter be the cause it is a mistaken kindness, and the sooner the matters are set right, the better for all concerned. Those who are allowed to erect frame buildings, which they are, or ought to be aware, is a violation of the Town By-Laws, will make a terrible howl when they are compelled to tear down the frames they have erected, and will then blame those who should have prevented their erection in the first instance.

Yours, &c.,

RATE PAYER.

The Gold Regions.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer,

SIR,—I perceive in your weekly issue of last Friday, under the head of "Gold News," the announcement that the rock at Gilbert's Mill, in Marmora, has yielded six dollars a ton. This news is gratifying, for while it shows the defectiveness of the mill, it proves the richness of the Lode.—The gold in that vein is chiefly locked up in Arsenical iron pyrites, and as there is no arrangement made there to destroy those pyrites and liberate the gold, (a process that can only be effected by a suitable constructed furnace) the greater part of the gold must unavoidably be lost. In careful hand assays that I have made of specimens from that same vein, I have noticed the terrible effect of Arsenic on quicksilver, so that if, with their present simple process, they have realised six dollars a ton, I take it as a proof that the vein contains not far from three times that amount. Indeed, from what I have seen of that vein, I am satisfied that a hundred men might be advantageously employed there; making good wages for themselves and fortunes for their employers, were there but a suitable mill there of sufficient power to work up the rock. We have amongst us at least, one gentleman whose skill and experience fully qualify him to erect and work such a mill, and from movements now on foot, we trust that that gentleman will soon have an opportunity of showing the country what sort of a Mill we require to make gold mining a success in North Hastings.

A Lake Superior Legend.

In the summer of 1864, while in the Lake Superior country, I took a notion one day to have a swim. So, donning a light bathing dress, I dropped into the water. The plunge almost took my breath away; I was accustomated coldness, but I had not anticipated such icy coldness as this. The Lake Superior Indians never bathe; the reason they assign is, that the water of the lake is never warm. A great many years ago the waters of the mighty lake were warm in the summer season. The Indians were the sole inhabitants of the lakes in those days. Manabozho was a great manitou(good spirit), and the Lake Superior tribes were his favorite children. But sometimes Manabozho used to put on his seven league boots, and stride away over the mountains on a visit to his mighty brother of the setting sun. He had gone on such a journey one melting day in July, and the Indians lay in their forests, dreaming dreams about the fairy lands of the East.

There was a bad spirit who hated the Indians fiercely. This bad spirit was a monstrous snake. He was very much afraid of the good intentions Manabozho, and when Manabozho was at home the bad spirit stayed in his fiery lake, away back into the forest.

But now Manabozho was gone on a journey, so the bad spirit resolved to take advantage of his absence to destroy the tribes whom he hated. He had a large number of demons in his service, who were ready for any work he might set them. He had dispatched an army of these demons to annihilate the Indians.—For his part he set himself to watch for Manabozho, in case that good manitou should return unexpectedly

The Indians saw the army of demons coming, and knowing that in the absence of their chief they were powerless to fight against them, they gathered their women and children together, and paddled away in their canoes across the lake. The demons could not swim, and had a great dislike for the water, and when they saw the Indians paddling away they howled in their rage, and belched forth great clouds of flame and smoke. But as soon as the Indians had safely reached an island, a thick covering of ice suddenly overspread the lake, and the demons yelling with joy rushed upon it. When they were all safely upon the ice bridge, it parted as suddenly as it had appeared, and became an ice-raft, and floated hither and thither. The demons were in great distress, being unable to get to either shore. And now the form of Manabozho rose to view. Manabozho understood the situation at once, and stretching out his mighty arm, larger than a pine tree, roared with a voice louder than thunder, "Sink, sink, and rise no more!" And the raft sunk, and the demons perished, and the Indians came back and worshipped Manabozho. And this is why the waters of Lake Superior are so cold!

AGRARIAN OUTRAGES IN IRELAND.

LONDON, July 28.—In the House of Commons to-night, in reply to an enquiry of M. Heygate, concerning recent agrarian outrages in Ireland, Mr Fortescue, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said Her Majesty's Government gave careful attention to the suppression of such crime, and would not shrink from exceptional legislation, if convinced of its necessity, provided it was not violent and was adapted to protect life and property. The vigilance of the police and the action of the government prevented much crime. He trusted the absence of any unjustifiable exercise of the right of property, such as caused the late disturbance in Tipperary, and the continued exertions of the Government would tend to keep down violence and crime.

THE FRENCH CABLE.

DUNDUFF, July 28.—The French Cable is now in good working order, and the following dispatches have passed over it this morning to-day:—

PARIS, July 28, 4:45 a. m.—To the Hon. Secretary of State, Washington:

The Emperor of the French to the President of the United States at Washington;

I am highly gratified to inaugurate the new line of telegraph which unites France with the United States, by sending to you the expression of my good wishes for you and for the prosperity of the United States.

(Signed) NAPOLEON.

Reply of the President:—

The President of the United States to the Emperor of the French.

I cordially reciprocate your good wishes, and trust that the liberal policy of the United States pursuant to which this cable has been landed may result in many such means of circumstances, especially between this country and its earliest ally and friend.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The Herald says the House Committee on naval affairs will soon embark on the United States steamer Michigan, and make a tour of the lakes, for the purpose of examining what additional legislation, if any, is necessary for the better enforcement of the revenue laws on its frontier, and for the suppression of smuggling.

ARRIVALS.

The steamer "Denmark," from Liverpool, and "Germania" from Bremen, have arrived.

SWEDISH DAY AND NIGHT.—The peculiarities of day and night in Sweden strike the traveller very forcibly, after being accustomed to the temperate zones. In June, the sun goes down in Stockholm a little before ten o'clock. There is great illumination all night, as the sun passes round the earth toward the north pole, and the refraction of its rays is such that you can see to read at midnight without any artificial light There is a mountain at the head of Bothie where on the 21st of June the sun does not appear to go down at all. The Steamboat goes up from Stockholm for the purpose of conveying those who are curious to witness the phenomenon. It occurs only one night The sun reaches the horizon, and rises the whole face of it. and in five minutes more it begins to rise. At the North Cape, latitude 72 degrees, the sun does not go down for several weeks In June it would be about 25 degrees above the horizon at midnight In the winter the sun disappears and is not seen for weeks; then it comes and remains for ten or fifteen midtutes, after which it deseends, and finally does not set at all, but makes almost a circle around the heavens The Swedes are very industrious, and labor is reckoned a day's work. Birds and animals take their accustomed rest at the usual hour. whether the sun goes down or not

NEW ALBION HOTEL,

MCGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices.

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travellers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses;" which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career; everything associated with its construction has been carried out with artistic taste and systematic correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Wash Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Reception Rooms and Suits of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED Ladies' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form no small luxury during the summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there not being a dark room in the House.

Being situated on the widest and healthiest Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Bridge on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous "Acts of Zion" on the right, it cannot be excelled in the position it commend itself to the travelling public

From its situation on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the old price of $1 50 per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years.

GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being extremely cheap. Years very truly,

F. DENNY.

Montreal Tea Co:

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from breath burn which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue to consume.

Yours respectfully,

PLANTAGENET MINERAL WATER,

CONTINUES to be the favourite with the people, in consequence of the quantity of Iodine, Iron, Magnesia, &c., it contains, as compared with other Springs, and its superior medicinal combination so providentially supplied. It is unsurpassed as a

Tonic, Alterative, Laxative and Diuretic.

As a beverage it is at once cooling and healing. When aerated it takes the place of Soda Water and Seltzer. It is of much service to ladies, and should be used by gentlemen of sedentary habits

The Song of the Horse.

A poor old stage-horse, lank and thin,
Not much else than bone and skin,
I jog along, week out, week in,
Kicked and cursed and meanly fed,
Jammed in the sides and jerked by the head,
And the thing I can't at all make out
Is, what on earth is it all about!

Why was I made to toil and tug
For this old little human bug,
Two-legged, clumsy as a jug,
Who sits aloft my ribs to batter—
Or is it was he made for that matter?
And if I needs must be created,
Why is it that I was not fated,
To prince and cursel, finely mated,
Silver-harnessed, sleek and fat,
With groom and blanket, and all that?

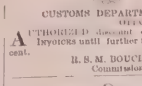

Here I go, day after day,
Rounding out slipping down Broadway,
Dragging these curious biped things,
With fore-legs gone, and yet no wings—
Where they all go to I don't know,
Nor why in the world they hurry so,
Nor what good use heaven puts them to!

It wasn't my fault, you see, at all,
That my joints grew bigand my muscles small,
And as I missed of a rich man's stall,
I'm clumsy, crooked, stupid, slow,
Yet the meanest horse is a horse you know,
And his ribs can make with the kick or blow,
As well as the glossiest race that go.
O, how long will they use me so?
And when may the equine spirit go
Where glorified horses stand in a row,
Switchtail their bright tails to and fro,
Careless of either wheel or whoa—
Where oats are always apropros,
And flies don't grow—
Oh, no!

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the prevalent contamination until they painfully afflicting, have been relieved in a few days by the same remedy. Cases of this character are numerous and well known in almost every section of the country.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to lie in wait for development in the blood, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional need of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla in alterative, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, in time, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA—Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Humors and Pores, and other eruptions of visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine affections of the menstrual and nervous system.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for exhibiting the infectious character of any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa, Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly relieved and permanently cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, will quickly yield to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA in a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Thousands of Dumb Agues, Fevers, Dotages, Dumbness, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the numerous symptoms of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has been highly and blessings of relief in the hour of distress and to young children, it is the unfailing antidote of croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. We complete in its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers and great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are these facts known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully sustained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,
For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no case injures any patient. The number and importance of the cures in the agueish tracts, are literally beyond account, and we believe it stood a parallel in the history of Ague, so complete that prove is gratified in the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and who no other remedies had ever been found to benefit. Even the system, poisoned by the long-continued use of quinine, which real disease is made worse by taking the Ague Cure.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Fevers and Liver Complaints, it is the best remedy that has yet been discovered. In the worst cases, and under the most unfavorable circumstances, it rarely fails to cure. Even patients reduced to the last extremity by these diseases, and whose cases have baffled the skill of physicians, have been restored to health and vigor by the use of this remedy.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our tea and coffee in bottles, at an expense of a dollar per ounces when they now cost?

Certainly not; they should no longer adopt that system in reference to medicines when there are the simple extracts of herbs or plants and roots, and are already prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medical properties than can be procured in any other form for four times the amount of money.

Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines are much cheaper in the practicability of, as well as the benefits derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as Scrofula, Rheumatism, Scrofula, White swellings, tendency to boils, old sores, pimples or roughness of the skin. Irregulates the stomach and bowels, it tones the liver, and promotes the general vigor of the system, without debilitating. The strength of the patent. Sold at 80 cents per package.

DR. THOMPSON'S
Stomachic Bitters.

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Indigestion. For convenience it has no equal, it is a mild and safe purgative and excellent for delicate persons; a good alterative tonic for ordinary family purposes; a powerful recuperant for those whose health has been reduced by sickness; an excellent as well as an agreeable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility, and diseases having their origin in an imperfect digestion or a deranged state of the stomach. Sold at 85 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6.
OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds, such as cold chills, the s and fever, headache, pains in the joints or limbs, neuralgia, rheumatic pains—in fact it may properly be called PAIN KILLER, as it may be used for all purposes for which Pain Killers or Reliefs are used, such as a purge in the stomach, colic, cholera, dysentery, summer complaints, cholera morbus, female complaints or obstructions. It may also be used when great exertion is necessary. Sold at 25 cents per package.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present condensed style of putting up the medicines in packages as will be readily enabled to supply them on account of medicine for one-half the price of similar pre ar ations.

The Twelfth in Ireland.

GREAT GATHERING'S OF ORANGEMEN.

The twelfth of July was celebrated with more than ordinary enthusiasm in Ireland this year, the proposed legislation respecting the Irish Church exciting all Protestants in the North and causing them to make unusual demonstrations on the anniversary.

The most important gathering of the day was at Kilyman, County of Tyrone, where Mr. Johnston, M. P., presided. It is stated to be one of the largest ever held in the North. More than 25,000 persons were on the ground, many of whom had travelled on foot 20 miles under a broiling sun to be present. The lodges came from all the surrounding districts to this central point. At one o'clock a great procession, extending for about a mile, and numbering 5,000 or 6,000 Orangemen marched in from Cookstown. About 30 lodges were represented, and as each carried a brilliant flag the spectacle was picturesque and imposing. Thousands of spectators lined the road, and as each lodge filed past, greeted them with hearty acclamations. Shots were fired at intervals with significant effect, and above the tumultuous din of voices, expressing wild enthusiasm, could be heard the familiar notes of "The Boyne Water" and "The Protestant Boys" beaten upon the drums with untiring energy, as if to show that the spirit of "ascendency" was not yet crushed, but still active and defiant. Other processions gave their tributary streams to swell the concourse as it approached the place of meeting, and on arriving on the field, where a platform had been erected, the lodges, with their standard bearers and officers carrying the insigna at the head of each, and the members arrayed in their gaudy sashes and glittering decorations of the several orders, marched round the whole area and took up their allotted positions.

The total number of Lodges which took part in this singular demonstration was 189. They consisted of the following:—Killyman, 26; Stewartstown, 17; Cookstown, 11; Benburb, 14; Pomeroy, 9; Castlecaulfield, 15; Creagh, 9; Loughgall, 26; Dyan and Caledon, 10. The platform was handsomely decorated with flags. Orange lilies blossomed in profusion around, and were woven into the fanciful devices. The meeting was graced by the presence of the fair sex, who were not the least demonstrative in the display of the favorite color. The ground was studded with carriages containing numbers of the gentry of the neighborhood who had come to see the pageant, and numbers attended on horseback. Excellent arrangements had been made by the police for the preservation of order. A force of 100 men was placed at Trew railway station, which is within two miles of the place of meeting, and another detachment at Annaghmore. There was no attempt, however, to create disturbance. The Orangemen, in fact, had the field to themselves, and were in such strength that no fear was entertained of any interference with them. At 2 o'clock, on the motion of Mr. Richard Lloyd, Deputy Grand Master, the chair was taken by Mr. Wm. Johnston, M. P., of Ballykillbeg. There was a numerous array of the clergy and gentry of the surrounding districts, including some Deputy Lieutenants and Magistrates, upon the platform. The proceedings were, as usual, opened with prayer. The Chairman expressed the gratification and pride with which he viewed the "magnificent assemblage," and his satisfaction that no intimidation or discouragement had damped the ardour of the loyal Orangemen of Ulster. They had not come, he said, to arouse angry feelings or to assume an attitude of hostility to their Roman Catholic fellow countrymen, but to vindicate their rights and their liberties, and ... rally round the Orange flag. He thought it was well that a voice should go forth from that platform to tell the proud Parliament of England that the Orangemen of Ulster will stand by its Protestant religion and their Protestant brethren. Some said that all hope for Protestantism was gone if the Established Church was disestablished and disendowed, but he maintained that it was not—that the Protestant religion will last forever. They protested against its disestablishment and disendowment, but at the same time they were not afraid of the result. With respect to the future of the Church, he observed:—

"We claim for the laity of the churches that they should have a share in the government of any disendowed and disestablished church. (Hear.) We cannot consent to be trammeled by any connexion with the State in the event of disestablishment. We must be perfectly free to manage our affairs, (cheers), and the Protestants of Ulster and of Ireland are perfectly competent, God being their guide, to form anew the Constitution, and rightly to govern the Protestant Church of these countries. The old cry of 'Church and State,' which was formerly so dear to many of you, has lost much of its significance. The State is not now represented by the principles of Protestantism, but a heterogeneous mass of different creeds and classes governs the Established Church in these countries. The alliance is not the pure alliance which formerly subsisted between Church and State in the olden times. The State is now represented by such men as Gladstone and Bright, and therefore the Church suffers by the connexion. . . . A free church in Ireland will be more of a Protestant Church than it would be if tied neck and neck to the Church of England. There is another principle much in vogue with certain members of the aristocracy—'Oh, you Church clergymen of Ireland, be satisfied, if you get your glebes, to give the same privileges to other churches out of the Irish church funds.' We protest against the endowment of the Church of Rome in any shape or form."

His sentiments were applauded to the echo. He deprecated the utterance of any words of vanity or boasting from which they should retire when the day of difficulty and danger came. They should be ready, he said, to maintain the Orange principles, and be ready, as some of the boasters would not, be, to go to gaol in their defence. He declared that he had the warmest feelings of kindness and affection for his Roman Catholic fellow-countrymen. He complained that efforts had been made—which, however, had been futile—to stir up ill feelings in the minds of the Roman Catholics against them, by misrepresenting their principles and maligning their cause. They should make their principles better known to the noble hearted people of England. He added a word of explanation and reproof:—

"They do not know what Orangeism is They have seen it too often misrepresented both on this side and the other. They have seen our representatives in parliament allied with semi Romish aristocratic Toryism, and they have looked on Orangeism as a mere means of obtaining place and power for those who have sought Orange votes at election times and then gone and sold them. To the gentry and clergy of Ireland I would respectfully venture to say—'You have stood too long aloof from the Orange Institution (cheers); you have looked coldly on the Orange flag when floating from the church steeple; you have hesitated to come forward on the platform on the 12th of July, and now you expect us enthusiastically to rush into your arms, to receive you with cordial welcome in the day of your difficulty and danger.' We are ready, as we ever were, to admit every Protestant in Ireland, on strict trial and due examination, to the rights of the Orange Institution; but we must look with suffi... suspicion upon all newer new candidates for Orangeism who, because the church is in danger and because their properties are threatened, are anxious to rush into the ranks of the Orange Institution. If they are good men, by all means admit them, but do not admit them into the Orange ranks merely because they are landed gentry or clergymen."

With respect to the exclusion of the Irish bishops from the House of Lords, he offered some outspoken remarks, which were loudly cheered. He said:—

"The bishops of the Established Church would be far better at home minding their dioceses than occupying seats in the House of Lords after the Church is disestablished. We want more practical ministerial efforts on the part of the dignitaries of the Established Church of Ireland. We want more sympathy with the people, we want more sympathy with Protestantism, and then the Protestants of Ulster and of Ireland will be ready, heart, pocket and hand, to maintain their orange obligation, and to stand by the Protestant ministers. The question of the Queen's supremacy in regard to the Church after it is disestablished and disendowed has been before the House of Commons. The Queen's supremacy means the Prime Minister's supremacy, and the Prime Minister's supremacy means the supremacy of Archbishop Cullen; and I, for one, will be no party to keeping up the sham of Royal supremacy in the disestablished and disendowed Church."

He justified the holding of such demonstrations on the 12th of July in the following passage

"For what object do we follow our Orange Banners, and listen to our music of 'The Protestant Boys,' and 'The Boyne Water?' It is not boastful or arrogant exultation over the defeat of those who were vanquished at Derry and the Boyne. It is not in hostile opposition to our Catholic fellow countrymen. It is simply and solely to declare that the principles of Protestantism are the principles of the Bible; that the principles of Orangeism are the principles of Protestantism; that the Orange institution is the ark that shrines the sacred deposit and sacred principles; and that our processions and demonstrations are the outward and visible sign to all whom it may concern that Christianity and Protestantism exist in full force to the last hour. William of Orange came across the sea in a twofold capacity—to protect the lives of beleaguered Protestants in Ireland, and to secure civil and religious liberty for the three kingdoms. In vindication of that civil and religious liberty we meet here to-day under the orange and blue banner. The blue represents the old true blue banner of the covenant of Scotland, and the orange the color of Orange William. While we claim for ourselves perfect freedom, and we shall challenge any government or parliament to take it away from us, we are perfectly prepared to concede the same to all classes of our countrymen; and those who would not accord to Catholics the same privileges we claim ourselves are acting hostile to the spirit of Protestantism, and hostile to the Orange institutions. No subject of regret during the past year has caused me more anxiety and annoyance than the action of some people who called themselves Protestants, and fired upon the Roman Catholics on Patrick's day at Pepoix Pass. These people have stood more in the way of the repeal of the Party Processions Act—they have been worse foes of Protestantism and Orangeism —than the Roman Catholics who went out on that day and walked."

The meeting was then addressed by Mr. W. McCormick, secretary to the Grand Orange Lodge, Belfast; Mr. W. H. Chamber, who warned England that she could no longer depend upon the allegiance of the North, that they were now open to act as they pleased; Mr. W. Dawson, district master of Killyman, who complained that the government had sent troops into the North to shoot down Orangemen; Mr. W. McDavid, and others. Resolutions were passed against the Church Bill and Processions Act. When Mr. Johnston left the platform he was carried by the crowd to his carriage.

The Woman of the Period.

They who sow the wind must reap the whirlwind. They who sow tares with the wheat shall gather them in greater abundance. The preacher who promulgates false doctrines will, by and by, have a people like unto himself. The teacher who inculcates lax morality will have pupils of easy virtue. The little sprig of Mormonism, how rapidly it has grown into a giant tree. The germ of free-loveism, how it has planted whole communities with its noxious, pernicious doctrines. The leaven of the women-rights doctrine, how it has spread through all the American continent until the whole is nearly leavened. The Girl of the period has developed into the Woman of the period, and what a Woman! Demanding a place in the halls of the legislature, at the ballot box, in the pulpit, the Girl, emboldened by the success she has met with, is prepared to unsex herself if she could. The latest platform established by the Woman of the Period is to change the costume into that worn by man. The Lucy Stones and the Stantons, aided by the Phillips and Greeleys, have created such a revolution in public opinion as to astonish even themselves. Having gained all the positions for which they have for long years fought, they have struck out for new ones. But they have evidently gone too far in the estimation of some of their defenders. It is not much wonder that the New York Tribune, looking upon the work which has been accomplished mainly through its advocacy, should stop and ask, where is this going to end? The Tribune brought these isms into birth —it was mainly responsible for free-loveism—it was the stoutest advocate and defender of the so-called Woman's Rights—it has been the champion of Lucy Stone and Mrs Stanton—it assisted in making the Girl of the Period, and now that that Girl is being developed into a Man-Woman, it thinks it has gone far enough. It believes in letting the Girl alone, and not forcing her into positions which Nature never intended her to occupy. Mrs. Stanton wants to wear pantaloons, but this is too much for even the Radicalism of Greeley, and he has set his face against it. He will have up-hill work to undo what he has aided to accomplish. The wind has been sown, and the whirlwind is being reaped. The tares have been scattered, and a great harvest of them is being gathered. An antidote is needed, and the Tribune even at this late hour, is prepared to give it. In an article under the heading of "That Girl," the Tribune closes with "How shall we obtain an antidote? Happily, easily. By making our girls recognize the fact "that home duties are steps in the upward "pathway of life, and that the Roman "mother who looked upon her nursery as "her casket was, by the intention of the "Creator, a more perfect being than the "Amazon who sought distinction from her "quiver; by teaching her that woman's "voice, while often discordant in public "halls and crowded auditoriums, never "fails to chord with the harmony of nature "when heard in conflicts of a lowlier life, "drying with a smile the tears of the unfortunate and directing messages of love "to those who need her nursing." Golden words! and though in remarkable contrast to the early teachings of that journal, let us hope they will have the effect of inducing women on the other side of the lines to occupy the sphere and position which God and Nature designed her to fill.

Sauce for the Goose.

The New York Tribune is down on the Grand Army Association, a Republican organization. It says: "We denounce this secret organization as inimical to the Constitution and the Union. The country wants peace and rest, and harmony and justice. These men want a distracted country, that offices may be gained." Why does not the Tribune go a little farther, and come down on the Fenian organizations, which are allowed to arm and drill, and threaten to make war upon a neighboring nation, in defiance of the Constitution and of the Neutrality laws? If the Tribune and other leading American papers would refuse aid and comfort to this Association, we think it would tend very much to "peace and rest, and harmony and justice."

Is Any One Missing?

Mr. Callaghan, log foreman for Rathbun & Son, reports that on Monday evening, about half an hour after the heavy squall which visited this section that afternoon, a capsized sail-boat, one mast, drifted in to the Cove at Ox Point, with sails set. The boat was painted black outside with white streak, and green inside, having a new stern seat. The sails being set would lead us to suppose that the boat had been in use at the time of the squall. We have not heard of any one being missing from this quarter. The fact only became known to Mr. Callaghan when he visited the logs yesterday, which accounts for the report not being given earlier. The boat is in possession of the man now in charge of the logs at Ox Point.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, JULY 30.

BREAK IN THE CANAL.—A break occurred in the Beauharnois Canal yesterday which will delay steamers for twenty-four or thirty-six hours.

NOT VERY COMPLIMENTARY.—The Port Hope Canadian in noticing the fact that Lt. Col. Jarvis, D. A. G, 3rd Military District, has obtained three months leave of absence from the 1st August, hopes the inspection of the East Durham Volunteers will take place within the next three months Complimentary to Lt. Col., Jarvis, rather.

CANADA COPPER.—Among the imports at the Custom House at Portland, Me, is a large quantity of copper ore. This ore is sent to Baltimore, where the sulphur is extracted for acids and the copper left. About 5,000 tons daily arrive by rail from Canada, where the mines are situated from which the ore is obtained.

A GREAT FEAT.—We observe in the N. Y Tribune an account of a great feat performed the other day in Missouri. In order to have the gauge of the Missouri Pacific Railway the same as the great Pacific Railway, it was necessary to widen it. A gang of 1,350 men were put on the road, 89 miles in length, and in twelve hours both rails were moved and the change was accomplished Truly, a great feat.

REFINED CANADIAN OIL.—At length, after considerable opposition on the part of American shippers and workers of refined petroleum, our Canadian oil has found a place in the New York market. We quote from the New York Herald of the 13th:—Refined Canada oil is attracting the attention of shippers, and to-day it sold to the extent of 10,000 barrels for shipment within the range of 28c to 29c

FUNERAL OF CAPT. JAMES.—At the funeral of the late Capt. James, yesterday evening, a squad of the Grand Trunk Rifle Company, under Capt. Nunn, joined in with Capt. Hambly's Company, of the 49th, to form a firing party. A number of the volunteers of the 15th Battalion also turned out, as well as a large number of the officers. The bearers were composed of officers of deceased's own Battalion, they coming from Trenton, Stirling, Madoc and other places to attend the funeral.

NIAGARA FALLS.—A letter from Niagara Falls states: "The change in the falls this spring is the greatest that has been witnessed by any one generation. In the Horse-shoe fall, where the green water is seen, the rock has crumbled away to the depth of about thirty-five feet on the side nearest Goat Island. The circular appearance of the horseshoe is now changed, and is more in the shape of a triangle than anything else. The American fall has undergone alteration, which old habitues notice this season; more particularly is it seen on this side toward Luna Island, and were a pointed projection of rock to give way the appearance would be changed to that of a horseshoe. It is estimated by competent geologists that some 150 tons of rock must have given away from the horseshoe alone. The beauty of the falls is not in the least marred, but enhanced, and old habitues seem to like the falls this year much better than ever."

From a Correspondent.

LEAVENWORTH, July 24th, 1869

After my long and tedious journey I arrived here yesterday afternoon, thoroughly tired and with a desire for railroad travelling fully satiated.

The journey through Canada was decidedly the most pleasant part of my trip. The cars were not so uncomfortably crowded as they were on the American side, nor was the weather so warm there as it was on this side.

From Toronto to Port Huron, as seen from the cars, grain looks decidedly better than any I have seen on the road between Belleville and this city, except in that small tract of country lying between Cameron and St. Joseph, in Missouri. On account of the frequency of rain, the grain appears short and heavy, but the land being hilly the storms have not had such a disastrous effect on the crops as they have had in Michigan, along the line of the Central, Northern Indiana, Illinois and North-eastern Missouri Railways.

From Michigan City to Chicago, a great deal of the country is under water, and the best grain that I saw there "Corn," was not more than two and one half feet high. Wheat in that section of the country is a decided failure, having become "scabbed."

From Chicago to Windota, on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy R. R., which by the way, is certainly the best Railroad I have ever gone over, the country is in the same bad predicament as that between the two cities I have just mentioned. In the vicinity of Windota, the grain becomes rolling, and I saw in that vicinity the best grain between Chicago and Quincy.

I arrived in Quincy about nine o'clock on Thursday evening and crossed the Mississippi on the new railroad bridge. Arriving on the Missouri side of the river we do a little of what called by one of my fellow-passengers, "steamboating on the cars." The "Father of waters" here has inundated the country for about four miles.—The rails of the track in some places are from about three inches to over three feet; in fact the lower step of the car is fully three inches under water, and the train moves just as fast through it as it does when the road is perfectly clear. My sensations whilst riding over that portion of the road, can be better imagined than described, for during the time we were "steamboating" I stood on the platform of the car ready to jump off in case occasion required it. Happily for us, however, no accident happened

From Cameron to St. Joseph I saw splendid Corn, standing fully from five to seven feet high. Oats and Barley; the latter looks decidedly better in Canada than any I have seen here.

From St. Joseph to Weston, seven miles from this city, a great tract of the country is under water, caused by the Missouri River overflowing its banks, and some of the Railroad was, I am informed, washed away only as late as last Wednesday. The road is now in perfect running order, that is as is understood here. On the whole my journey, though very tiresome, was at the same time a pleasant one.

In my next I will give you a description of the city and country adjacent to it, the crops, &c

Yours, &c.,

QUINTE.

The Canadian Railway Loan.

In the British House of Commons on the 13th inst.

Sir C. Adderley asked the First Lord of the Treasury when the further papers relating to the Canada Railway Loan Act would be laid upon the table; and whether he would inform the House of any instructions or regulations or control which might be imposed, beyond the terms of the Act, on the freedom of Canada in dealing with the loan appropriated to the railways to the best advantage.

Mr. Gladstone said that the papers referred to would contain the correspondence between the two governments; but he was not at present able to say when the correspondence would reach its close, but the whole information relating to the matter would be communicated to Parliament at the earliest possible period.

CUBA

NEW YORK, July 29.—The Tribune's Washington special says:—From Santiago De Cuba comes news of a thousand atrocities committed by the infamous Francisco Perez, to whom a government in that part of the Island had entrusted the direction of matters in Guantanamo and Baracoa. These bad men, wanting in every sentiment of humanity, and of every moral principle, had been robbing and assassinating every Cuban who was believed to be a liberal. Whole families in the vicinity of Guantanamo, had been murdered by this bandit. Young and old persons had been butchered by his knife, and his companions not being satisfied with the villanies committed here, passed on to Baracoa, where aided by a few other assassins they went from house to house. Hundreds of persons were in this way murdered, and with the full consent and knowledge of the authorities

—The New York Times assures us that the outbreak of the Fenians, which appears to have scared the authorities at Ottawa, is confined to New York, being an internecine and fratricidal strife, as far as it goes—but certainly not so far as the frontiers of Canada, and believes that "gunboat policy" is as little called for at present on the lakes as it is in the interior of China

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came, the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

A CLUE TO THE OCEAN BANK ROBBERY.

LIVERPOOL, July 29.—A despatch from Crewe Junction Railway centre, 34 miles from this city in Cheshire, contains the following:—"A man whose name is unknown committed suicide here to-day by throwing himself under the wheels of a passing train. Upon an inquest being held a number of securities of various parts of the proceeds of the Ocean National Bany robbery of New York some time ago were found upon the body

MEXICAN BONDHOLDERS.

LONDON, July 29.—In the House of Commons to night, Mr. Otway, Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, in reply to an enquiry from Mr Sheridan for information, said the present condition of relations between England and Mexico prevented Her Majesty's Government from officially aiding the holders of Mexican bonds in the prosecutions of their claims, but owing to the importance of the subject it would be glad to hear of any satisfactory arrangements for a settlement

PROPOSED POLITICAL REFORMS.

PARIS, July 28.—La Patrie has reason to believe that the political reforms soon to be proposed to the Senate will be more liberal than the Emperor's message to the Corps Legislatif indicated. The Patrie intimates that the right of parliamentary initiative and of presenting orders of the day will be granted to the Corps Legislatif, while alterations will be made in the Senate. The sittings of the Senate will probably become public.

A JEWISH PETITION.

ST PETERSBURG, July 29.—The Jews of the Empire have united in a petition to the Czar for an extension of their rights of religion and education

MILITARY FURLOUGHS.

PARIS, July 29.—A large number of military furloughs have been granted and extended, which it is estimated will be equivalent to a reduction of the army of 18,000 men.

THE CARLIST AGITATION.

La Liberte reports that the Spanish Minister here has received information that the disturbances in Spain have only commenced, not ended, but the Carlists in Paris deem their cause lost. The Carlist agitators are dispirited. A plot to assassinate the Captain-General of Catalonia has been discovered and frustrated. The forces in the province of Ciudad Real fled on the valley of Alcadia with the government troops in swift pursuit. Several of the Carlists captured with arms in their hands have been condemned to death by a Council of War; but efforts will be made to have their sentences commuted.

American Despatches.

A NAVAL ENGAGEMENT.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Commodore R. F. Williams, commanding the Union States steamer 'Oneida,' reports to the Navy Department that on the morning of the 30th June, the Mikado's fleet moved on and attacked the ships and fortifications of the Northern party under Enomotte, and after an engagement of twenty-six hours took possession of the town, and destroyed the vessels 'Eagle' and 'Emperor,' belonging to the Northern party, after one of their own vessels blown up by a shell which entered her powder magazine. The forces of Enomotte have possession of Komado fort and Fort Fenter, and the line of earthworks extending across the Peninsula. Enomotte has about 9,000 men, and the Mikado 8,000. The earthworks and forts were invested, and batteries thrown up preparatory to a regular seige of all the works held by Enomotte's party.

AN EXPECTED VISIT.

NEW YORK, July 30.—It is stated that a gentleman who is connected officially with the Emperor Napoleon's household, was in Saratoga on Sunday last, and engaged two cottages, situated in the Union grounds, for members of the imperial family, early next season.

VIRGINIA ELECTION.

NEW YORK, July 30.—E. A. Pollard writes to the Sun regarding the Virginia election. He says, paradoxical as it may appear, it is nevertheless actually true, that an intelligent party in the South regards the Virginia election as unfavorable to the interests of their section, for the very reason that the best men in the South have thus been called into office, and assumed the exercise of power. It is the very respectability of the successful candidates that is a fatal blow to the aspiration that since the war has lingered in the South of forming something of a political school and public sentiment distinctively southern.

RIOT ON THE MISSISSIPPI STEAMER

CHICAGO, July 29.—A terrible riot is reported on board the steamer Dubuque, at Hampton, on the Mississippi river, about ten miles above Rock Island. A number of raftsmen, who took a passage on the boat at Rock Island insisted on being allowed to occupy the cabin, and on being refused, commenced a row which became general, not only with the crew, but the passengers. Eight men reported killed. The Sheriff of Rock Island was telegraphed for, and immediately started for the scene of the riot with a large force of police

CUBA

HOW TO KEEP POOR.—There is no man but who would rejoice to have a way pointed out by which he might honestly attain riches. No one would thank us for a prescription to insure poverty, and yet there is many a man who keeps himself poor by indulging in the following:—Two glasses of ale a day at ten cents, seventy-three dollars; three cigars, one after each meal, one hundred and nine dollars and fifty cents; board for a big dog thirty dollars—all in one year, two hundred and twelve dollars and fifty cents—sufficient to buy six barrels of flour, one barrel of sugar, one sack of coffee, a good coat, a respectable dress, a frock for the baby and half a dozen pair of shoes.

"WITH THY MIGHT.—A physician was once returning to his home, when he saw a little child in great peril in the street. Another instant she would have been crushed under the iron hoofs which were almost upon her. At great peril toward himself he rushed forward, and seizing the little one, bore her in safety to the sidewalk. Curiosity impelled him to look into the little child's face, that he might see if he knew whom he had rescued. Pushing back the little bonnet, what were his feelings to see that it was his own little daughter whose life he had saved. So he who hastes to save the perishing often finds rewards he little dreamed of. "Whatever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."

NEW ALBION HOTEL.

McGILL STREET,

MONTREAL, CANADA.

THE "NEW ALBION HOTEL," the largest Hotel in Montreal, has just been opened under the most favorable auspices

Whilst the "Old Albion" has been long noted for the strict attention paid to its numerous guests, the "New Albion" takes its position as a first class Hotel, and is really first class in every respect, except the charges, which better suit the ideas and requirements of the majority of travelers, than many of the so called, "first class Houses," which deserve the title more through the amount of their charges than aught else.

Already the crowded state of the "New Albion" promises well for its future career, everything associated with its construction having been carried out with artistic taste and system as to correctness.

The large Hall, commodious office, spacious Reading Room, convenient Dining, Coffee, Waiting Room, etc., etc., on the ground floor; and the Handsome Room and Suite of SPLENDIDLY FURNISHED and THOROUGHLY VENTILATED LADIES' PARLORS, on the second floor, will form an apart luxury during the hot summer season. And, what is an exception to the general Rule in Hotels, the Bedrooms are all well ventilated and lighted, there being no dark room in the House.

Being situated at the widest and best Street in Montreal, commanding a Magnificent View of the River St. Lawrence and the Victoria Square with its numerous Acts of Love and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot but recommend itself to the travelling Public.

From its situation on the best Street, the most thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

Notwithstanding the very large outlay in building and furnishing the house, the terms of per day will not be departed from.

We, therefore, bespeak for ourselves a continuance of the patronage so liberally accorded to us during the past twelve years

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

[illegible] proportion of iron in [illegible] used remedy to all medical men; [illegible] arising from any cause whatever, the whole system suffers, the weakest part being first attacked, and a feeling of languor, lassitude, and 'all gone'-ness pervades the system. Immediate only relief, and have the same effect as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

a preparation of the protoxide of iron, which, being prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system.

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

Unreservedly do I recommend it. I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of muscle.

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass.

Canadian Dominion Directory

FOR 1870-71.

THE SUBSCRIBER proposes to issue in SEPTEMBER next, 1870, if sufficient support (SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS) can be obtained to cover the cost of Publication, a CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY comprising the Provinces of ONTARIO, QUEBEC, NOVA SCOTIA and NEW BRUNSWICK; to which will be appended the Provinces of NEWFOUNDLAND and PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND. The Directory will contain the names of Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants in the Cities, Towns and Villages, together with a large amount of general information, including Alphabetical Directories of Post Offices and Postmasters, Banks, Governmental Departments and Employees, Houses of Parliament, Law Courts Educational Depositories, Forts of Entry, Landed Customs, List of Postal Facilities, Canals, Railways, Railway and Steamboat Routes, Steamboat and Steamship Companies, Geography of Denominations, Registrars and Division Courts, Newspapers and Periodicals, &c., &c.; also, Statements of Imports and Exports, Revenue, Expenditures, Trade, Population, &c., &c.

Issued August, 1870.

The Canada Directory for 1857-58, published by the Subscriber, contained the names of the Principal Inhabitants in U. C. Cities, Towns and Villages in Upper and Lower Canada. The CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will contain a short description of at least 3,500 Cities, Towns and Villages in the forty Bridges on the left, and a full view of the Victoria Square with its numerous Acts of Love and Mount Royal on the right, it cannot but recommend itself to the travelling Public.

From its situation on the best Street, the most thoroughfare and commercial centre of the City it cannot fail to be, as the "Old Albion" has always been a strong favorite with the Merchants of Canada.

How to Make Good Butter.

In making good butter, there are several operations to be gone through with, which require an eye to cleanliness, and some little experience.

1. On milking clean, fast, yet gently, regularly twice a day, depends the success of the dairyman. Bad milkers should not be tolerated in a herd; better pay double the price for good ones.

2. Straining is quite simple, but it should be borne in mind that two pans about half full each will produce a greater amount of cream than the same amount in but one pan. The reason of this is in the greater surface.

3. Scalding is quite an important feature in the way of making butter. The cream rises much quicker, milk keeps much longer, the butter is of a better color, and also churns in one half the time.

4. Skimming should always be done before the milk becomes loppered; otherwise much of the cream turns into the whey and is lost.

5. Churning, whether by hand or otherwise, should occupy forty or fifty minutes.

6. Washing in cold, soft water, is one of its preserving qualities, and should be continued until it shows no color, of the milk by the use of the lade. Very hard water is highly charged with lime, and must in a measure impart to it alkaline properties.

7. Salting is necessarily done with the best kind of ground salt. The quantity varies according to the state in which it is taken from the churn: if soft, more; if hard, less, always taking the taste for the surest guide.

8. First working, after about twenty-four hours, is for the purpose of giving it a greater compactness.

9. Second working takes place at the time of packing, and when the butter has dissolved the salt, that the brine may be worked out.

10. Packing is done with the hands or with a butter-mall, and when butter is put into wooden vessels, they should be soaked two or three days in strong brine before using. After each packing, cover the butter with a wet cloth, and put a layer of salt upon it. In this way the salt can be easily removed at any time, by simply taking hold of the edges of the cloth.

Butter made in this way will keep any length of time required.—Vermont Farmer

Agricultural.

This your fruit, every branch of it! Take the same pains with it that you would in picking. It is just as necessary; it is more necessary; it gives you better fruit, and more of it, and that decidedly. What you then pick is so much the more worth picking.

The following recipe will preserve all kinds of grain and garden seeds from the ravages of, cut-worms, birds, etc.: Use one pound sulphate of iron, one pound alum. Dissolve in water heated to ninety or ninety-five degrees, and pour over one bushel of grain, and in a similar proportion for a greater or lesser quantity.

Twelve cows, if fair milkers, on good feed, should make during the season 5,000 pounds of cheese, and some butter besides. This is only a moderate estimate, but it will be sufficient, perhaps, to show the amount of money that can be turned from them. If we put the price of cheese at fifteen cents per pound, the 5,000 pounds would come to seven hundred and fifty dollars. A comparative estimate may be made from this, whether grain growing or the dairy will bring the most money.

The currant worm will not disturb bushes under which coal-ashes are liberally sprinkled. In confirmation of this, a correspondent of the Rochester Express says that "to prevent the currant slug on currant bushes, persons have only to mulch thoroughly all the ground under the bushes with anthracite coal ashes. This should be done late in the autumn, or early in the spring of the year, before the bushes leave out, as the worm that feeds on the leaves after its growth drops off and goes into the earth immediately under the bushes. The grub, when it comes up to change into a fly, cannot make its way through this coarse, sharp, gritty ash-heap, and perishes there. Thus far my bushes are unmolested by fly or slug this year; while last year they were almost entirely stripped of their leaves by slugs. An easy and cheap remedy, surely.

How to Milk.—Prof. Law, of the Cornell University, in a treatise on "garget" and its cause, says: "Diseases of the teats will sometimes induce garget, as when they have been injured by the reckless use of teat tubes, or if the milk is only partly drawn off, in consequence of open sores, resulting from foot and mouth disease, cow pox or warty growths. But the retention of milk in the udder is not the only evil attendant on bad milking. Some milkers seize the root of the teat between the thumb and the forefinger, and then drag upon it until it slips out of their grasp. In this way, teat and udder are subjected to severe traction for an indefinite number of times, and in rude hands, are often severely injured. The proper mode of milking is to take the teat in the entire hand, and after pressing it upward, that it may be filled from the capacious milk reservoir above, to compress it first at the base between the thumb and the forefinger, then successively by each of the three succeeding fingers, until completely emptied. The teat is at the same time gently drawn upon, but any severe action is altogether unnecessary and highly injurious. These remarks on the mode of milking, and those on milking clean, are of more moment than many at first suppose; and in some localities more cows are ruined from faults of this kind than from all other causes which act specially on the udder."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its intrinsic merit, by many of which are truly marvellous. Extensive cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous constitution until the ... painfully afflicting, have been radically cured by it. Its power to eliminate ... disease, is unparalleled, and the public scarcely need to be told its virtues or uses.

A scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of rebelling or fatal disease, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it reveals itself in full action throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or in some of the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or brain, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers either on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, in length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: Ery. sipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions of the skin, arising from internal causes. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Pain, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterous affections of the muscular and nervous system.

Syphilis or Foureeal and Mercurial Disease are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, Female Diseases, are common soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of strumeous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the whole system of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Dragon-dged, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Nervousness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Colds, Coughs, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protective against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases in the first stage are not settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is it in subduing all irritation of the lungs and throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not do more than assure the people that it maintains

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it Cures Fully, and does it! Still, containing neither Arsenic, Mercury, Quinine, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it leaves no chance for injuries by any patient, however great the number and importance of the cures in the ague districts, are known to the people, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or traveling through, miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many cures remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our tea and coffee in bottles, at an expense of at least four times what they now cost?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which are to be supplied to us at herbs or plants and roots, and are so readily prepared as we can offer?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medical property than can be procured in any other form for four times the amount of money.

We have in our possession numerous testimonials to the genuineness of, as well as the benefit derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, etc.

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt-rheum, scrofula, King's evil, white swellings, tender feet, and all ulcerous and cutaneous diseases of the skin. It regulates the stomach and bowels, clears the liver, and promotes the general vigor of the system, without reducing the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. THOMPSON'S
Stomachic Bitters,

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Indigestion. For constitutions it has no equal, it is a mild and safe stimulant and corroborant for delicate persons; a good alterative for ordinary family purposes; a powerful escharotic after the trains has been subdued by sickness; an excellent tonic where appreciable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility; and does not impair digestion, but on imperfect digestion or a deranged state of the stomach. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6.
OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

Is used with success for diseases caused by cold such as cold chills, chills and fever, headache, pains in the joints or limbs, neuralgia, rheumatism, etc. In fact it may properly be called PAIN KILLER, as it may be used for all purposes for which Pain Killer or Relief are used, with the change in the formula. Cholera, cholera morbus, dysentery, summer complaints, cholera infantum, and diseases of the bowels are checked in a few hours when used with great success as a Liniment. Sold at 50 cents per package.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present condensed style of putting up the medicines in packages, as he is thereby enabled to supply double the amount of medicine for one-half the regular price of former preparations.

ORTON'S PREPARATION!
ESTABLISHED 1856.

One box of Orton's Preparation is warrantedto destroy the appetite for no matter how strong falls in any one instance. Perfectly safe and harm most impossible to bres by the most careless. needed to assist nature firmly rooted. With the there is not the trouble that others have used it who are willing fact that Orton's Preparation completely destroys the appetite for tobacco, and leaves the person as free from any desire for it, as before he commenced. The Preparation acts directly upon the same glands and secretions through which the tobacco has given the blood thoroughly clean so from the system and the saliva, the nauseating, offensive taste of tobacco, after ing the poison of tobacco thus allaying the unhealthy craving for tobacco. No one is a cure. No one is a failure using Orton's Preparation. Directions to that effect accompany each box. Full warranted.

The Cure takes place gradually according to the use of this Preparation. The first Preparation varies slightly in different persons, the average time being about Five days. Some have no desire for Tobacco after using the Preparation Two days.

The Health and Purse of every Tobacco user in the country will greatly ADANDON THE USE OF TOBACCO.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that we have used Orton's Preparation for the purpose of destroying the appetite for Tobacco, and can assure those who are suffering from this habit that Orton's Preparation will certainly destroy the appetite for Tobacco quickly and permanently, without any bad effect upon the health, and without creating a new appetite either for the Preparation or any substitute.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1868, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally preferred in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in Canada.

Prepared and sold wholesale by the Proprietor,

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, SATURDAY EVENING, JULY 31, 1869. No. 77.

Our Old Church.

The following lines lately appeared in the Claremont Republican, and are from the pen of a Christian lady:

"Take them out tenderly, lift them with care,"
For every old timber is seasoned with prayer:
And gently remove them—the old plastered walls—
Where sadly and faintly the last echo falls.
And take out the windows; with the light streaming through
Though not "dim and religious," it lit every pew,
Where fathers and mothers united in prayer,
And we felt "that the spirit of worship was there."
There the youth and the maiden together have stood,
And plighted their troth in the presence of God,
There parents have promised in tenderly rear
Their children in "holiness, justice and fear,"
While out from that pulpit, so old and so worn,
Dark warnings and threatenings often have come,
And gently God's promises fell on the ear,
To whisper of mercy dispelling each fear,
In darkness and silence is dying away;
And toiling so mournfully sad, like a knell,
Fall the deep, moaning tones of the old worn-out-bell.
And silent the voices that once filled the choir;
They sang with the spirit, and theirs the true fire.
But soon have gone home—they are still praising God,
While others yet "meekly pass under the rod."
But thy days are all numbered, old church on the green,
The last of thy stately pews soon will be seen,
And old things must go to make way for the new;
For the hearts that once loved these are scattered and few.
Then take down the pillars and unhinge the doors,
Remove the old pulpit, and take out the floors;
For one of the lessons that here we were taught
Was "the best work of man cometh only to nought."
Good-bye, then, dear church, with thy windows so tall,
With thy very plain aisles, and thy old battered wall;
We love the old gallery, empty and cold,
Now frescoed all over with cobwebs and mould,
But much as we love thee, old church on the green,
Thou art growing too old, it is plain to be seen.
And Time's busy fingers have done their work well,
From pulpit to porch, from the aisles to the bell.
But while Time has been spoiling our Church on the green,
Crowds of true worshippers weekly were seen,
And the record is kept, for God's angel of love
Has written it down in the Temple above.

The Severed Tresses.

A mother had once two little girls who, though perhaps two years apart, were so nearly of a size they were often mistaken for twins. The elder had beautiful golden ringlets clustering about a face of rare beauty. The younger had straight, dark hair; and the chief beauty was in the loving, light and sweet expression of her face.

Every day the elder heard her praises spoken by injudicious friends or strangers. "O what a beautiful child!" said a visitor one day; "what lovely ringlets!" and she invited upon her many caresses; while the younger sister was comparatively unnoticed. The little one had noticed the difference; and when the visitor was gone, she stole softly to her mother's side, and looking up with dewy eyes, lisped out the query—"Isn't Nellie's hair pretty, too, mamma?"

The mother clasped her to her bosom, and explained how beautiful and dear to her were both her darlings. So the little heart was comforted, but the mother was oppressed by anxious thoughts. How could she prevent others from praising her beautiful child, thus making her vain and selfish, while the other was saddened by neglect?

It required an effort to make the sacrifice, but the Christian mother was equal to it. The child's eternal future, the beauty of her heart, was more to her than any outward adorning. In a few moments the beautiful golden fleece was tenderly severed, and laid in a paper beside the straight black locks of the younger sister. Then the difference between the two was much less marked.

At an early age little Helen's dark hair was crowned with a chaplet of snow-white buds, as she lay on her coffin pillow. The other sister lived on to a beautiful, noble womanhood, with her fair head crowned with that loveliest of all garlands—the wreath of humanity.

Ever did she bless the memory of that loving mother, who had so wisely trained the young vines of her heart, repressing the evil shoots of vanity and selfishness.—Presbyterian.

Personal Labor.

Dr. Wayland says: "After leaving college I entered upon the study of medicine. I was sitting alone one day in the office of the physician with whom I studied, when a plain man, evidently from the country, entered to procure some medical advice. After we had sat some time in silence, or in conversation upon different subjects, without any introduction he turned to me and asked.

'What is the difference between hope and expectation?'

'I was taken by surprise, and gave him such an answer as occurred to me. He said:

'We may hope for a thing when we have no definite ground on which our hope rests, and while we are making no effort to secure it, as we hope for fair weather or rain. When we expect a thing we at least believe that we have some solid ground on which our expectation rests, and we, of course, make efforts necessary to secure it. I suppose every man hopes to be saved at last, whatever may be his life, or how much he may neglect the great salvation. A man, however, never expects to enter heaven unless he has some solid reason on which his expectation may be realized.'

'He then made a brief application of the subject to me personally, and shortly afterward left the office. I have never seen him since, I never knew his name; but I never think of him without gratitude and love. If ever I shall be so happy as to enter the gates of the New Jerusalem, I know that I shall meet him there, and shall thank him, in better language than I can now command, for his Christian care for a thoughtless stranger. I can remember no sermon that made so deep an impression on my mind as this brief conversation.'

Sounds of Trees.

BY HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The sounds and motions of trees constitute subtle but important elements of pleasure. It is not enough that a tree shall have a comely form as a whole—that it cast a dense shade in the sultry days of summer, and that, perhaps, it yield a nut or fruit—and finally that, when it gives up its light to the inevitable axe, its prostrate trunk shall furnish good timber. Besides these uses of bodily comfort and of economy, a tree, like a rich-hearted person has a hundred harmless ways, which we hardly stop to analyze; but which, if they were suddenly taken away we should miss them.

The murmuring of trees is profoundly affecting to a sensitive spirit. In some moods of imagination one cannot help feeling that trees have a low song, or a conversation of leaves. They whisper, or speak, or cry out, and even roar. No one knows this last quality so well as those who have been in old oak forests in a storm, with violent winds. A dense forest opposes such a resistance to the free passage of the air that the wood is much deadened. But in a park, or oak opening, where spaces are left for the motion of the air, and among open branched trees, a storm moves with such power and majesty that not even the battles of thunder clouds are more sublime, and chiefly because the resistance becomes terrific. At the beginning of the tempest the trees sway and toss as if seeking to escape; as the violence increases, branches bounce back, the leaves, turning their white undersides to the light, fairly scream. The huge boughs creak and groan like a ship in a storm. Now and then some branches which have grown across each other are drawn back and forth, as if demons were scraping infernal base viols. Occasionally a branch breaks with a wild crash, or some infirm tree, caught unawares in a huge puff of the storm, goes down with crashing as it falls, and with a thunder stroke when it reaches the ground. I would go further to hear a storm-concert than any music that man ever made. No one who is familiar with forest sounds but is sure, when he hears Beethoven's music, that much of it was inspired by the sounds of winds among trees.

There are milder joys, however, in tree converse. Only this morning I awakened to hear it rain. That steady splash of drops which a north-east wind brings on, is not easily mistaken. I flatter myself that my ear is too well trained to pit the ordinary sounds of nature to be easily deceived. I rise and throw back the blinds, when lo! not a drop is falling. It is the wind in my maple trees. I had thought of that, and listened with the most discriminating attention, and was sure that it was rain.

Twice in our lives we lived in houses built on the edge of the original forests. These had been thinned out and recesses opened up. It happened in both cases that ash and hickory had been left, which shot up, without side branches, to a great height. The trunks were supple and tough. When ever the winds moved gently, these long and lithe trees moved with singular grace and beauty. As there was no perceptible wind along the ground, their movement seemed voluntary. And yet there was in it that kind of irresolution that one sees in sleep-walking. But as soon as the breath became a breeze, the wind circles through which these rooted gymnasts moved were wonderful. They seemed going forth in every direction, and yet surely and quickly springing back to position again. And in every motion, such was their elasticity, they manifested the utmost grace. The sighing of winds in a pine forest has no parallel sound except upon the sea-shore. Of all the sounds of leaves it is the sweetest, and saddest, to certain moods of summer leisure.

The pine sings, like the poet, with no everyday voice, but in a tone apart from all common sounds. It has the power to change the associations, and to quicken the poetic sensibility, as no other singing tree can do. Every one should have this old harper, like a seer or a priest among trees, about his dwelling. Under an old pine would naturally be found the young maiden, whose new love was far across the sea. In the sounds that would descend she could not fail to hear the voices of the sea—the roar of winds, the splash of waves running in upon the shore. A young mother, whose first-born had returned to God, who gave it, would at twilight, go to the pines; for, to her ear, the whole air must needs seem full of spirit voices. They would sing to her thoughts in just such sad strains as would soothe sorrow. Nor would it be strange if in the rise and fall of these sylvan syllabes, she should imagine that she heard her babe again, calling to her from the air.

Every country place should have that very coquette among trees, the aspen. It seems never to sleep. Its twinkling fingers are playing in the air at some arch fantasy almost without pause. If you sit at a window with a book, it will wink and blink, and beckon, and coax, till you cannot help speaking to it! That must be a still day that does not see the aspen quiver. A single leaf sometimes will begin to wag, and not another on the whole tree will move! Sometimes a hidden breath will catch at a lower branch, then shifting, will leave that still, while it shakes a topmost twig. Though the air may move so gently that your cheek does not feel it, this sensitive tree will seem all of a shudder, and turn its leaves upward with a shuddering chill! It is the daintiest fairy of all the trees. One should have an aspen on every side of his house, that no window should be without a chance to look upon its nods and becks, and to rejoice in its innocent witchcraft. I have such fair spirits too in human form. But one does not get off so easily if he takes too much sport with them. The aspen leaf makes no wounds, its frolics spin no silken threads which one cannot follow and will not break.

The musical qualities of trees have not enough been considered in planting around our dwellings. The great leafed magnolias have no sound. Willows have but little. Cedars, yew-trees, and Lombardy poplars are almost silent. It is said that the Lombardy poplar is the male tree, the female never being brought over. It is very likely. It is stuff enough to be an old bachelor.—It spreads out on side branches. Its top dies early. It casts a penurious shadow.

But my band is tired. The winds move; all the leaves call me. Let me go forth.

This ocean above is surer to cure trouble than the waters of Jordan were to cleanse Naaman. Leprosy. My soul sings. Its thoughts and moods below may roll like a disturbed sea; but, drawn up into the heavenly air, like the waters of the sea, they forget their wrath, and descend again in gentle dews and nourishing rains.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, JULY 31.

LACROSSE.—A meeting of the Belleville Lacrosse Club will be held at Hambly's on Monday evening next, August 2nd, at eight o'clock.

M. E. CHURCH.—We are requested to announce that the Rev. I. B. Aylsworth, M. A., will preach a sermon on Temperance, in the M. E. Church, to-morrow evening at half past 6 o'clock.

FIREMAN'S EXCURSION.—We understand that the Firemen of Belleville intend having a Grand Union Picnic in connection with the Kingston and Picton Brigades on Wednesday the 4th August, at Picton. It is expected that ten Fire Companys will be present on that occasion, and a good time may be expected.

THE NORTH WEST.—A telegram from Ottawa says: "Hon. W. McDougall will shortly leave for Red River. It is said he intends to go up to Fort William, making an excursion into the interior to see the works in progress east of the Lake of the Woods, and then returning and taking the route by Superior City to the Red River. Hon. Joseph Howe is expected to accompany Mr. McDougall on the trip. The North West, it is thought, will be made part of the Dominion by Imperial proclamation in October next."

IT WON'T DO.—The Stratford Beacon refers to the efforts of its Town cotemporary to cast among the members of the Press Association, the fire-brands of political discord, by pointing out the circumstance that in the new officers there is a preponderance of Grits. The best answer the Beacon could give would be to state the fact that the gentlemen who moved and seconded Mr. Wylie as President of the Association, were both politically Conservative. Mr. Wylie is one of the staunchest of Grits, but that does not make him less the man. Such attempts to create discord amongst members of the Association cannot be too strongly condemned. Frown it down.

THE MARKETS.—There was a busy market to-day. The principal business done was in vegetables, meat, butter, eggs and fruit. Nearly every waggon had its supply of cherries and berries, and although there was a very large supply, prices did not go down much. Berries brought 5 to 7 cents, and cherries from 8 to 10 cents per quart.

ROAD TO THE NORTH WEST.—The Red River Nor'-Wester of the 10th inst., says: "Mr. Dawson is pushing on rapidly with the works on the Superior end of the Red River road. Mr. Snow is also instructed to progress with the Lake of the Woods section as fast as possible. It is the determination of the Government to have the road between this and Thunder Bay in running order in one year from this time. Mr. Snow proposes if possible, to have his road made passable, for carts at least, by the latter part of August next.

The Ontario Farmer, a monthly journal of Agriculture, Horticulture, etc, edited by Rev. E. W. Clarke, Toronto. Terms $1.00 a year. This publication is very attractive in its appearance, and filled with practical matter just suited to those who are engaged in the cultivation of the soil. Mr. Clarke thoroughly understands how to cater for the farming community, and we advise all of our readers, who have anything to do with agriculture or horticulture to subscribe for the Ontario Farmer.

Fillibusters in Canada.

The Montreal Daily News of yesterday says:—Colonel Ryan and his associates who have for some days past been staying at Niagara Falls, are said to be busily at work organizing an expedition which will leave either Montreal or Quebec. It is reported in Toronto that two reliable agents of the Cuban Insurrectionary Junta left for Montreal a few days since, their object being to buy or hire a vessel in which to transport arms, men, &c., to Cuba. Upwards of 200 men it is stated are awaiting orders in Toronto and Montreal on this side the frontier, and in Ogdensburgh and Buffalo on the American side. There may be no foundation for these stories except the fact of Colonel Ryan's being in Canada. Still there appears to be reason for the authorities to be upon their guard, in order to prevent any infringement of the neutrality laws."

Overtrading.

The lesson of over-trading which so many wholesale merchants in Montreal have learned to their cost, does not seem to have produced much effect. While protesting that their importations this year would not be anything like the amounts of former years, it turns out that they are actually importing more than last year. Returns now that during the last three months they have brought into the country $1,153,197 of leading dry goods, against $1,127,357 for the same period last year. The total importations of dutiable goods for the same time this year were, as compared, it is like period last year. This does not look much like profiting by the lessons which so many wholesale men have dearly purchased. Let us hope that the example furnished by the Montreal men will not be copied by retail dealers. Because there is a prospect of a good crop is no reason why shops should be overstocked or why the number of dealers should be increased. It's a good rule to buy only what is needed for present wants. If the crop turns out to be as good as expected, and prices are good, and good times are experienced, it is a very easy matter to replenish when the stocks are cleared out. Above all, let those who are preparing to rush into business under the excitement of good times carefully survey the ground, and be certain there is room for a safe and profitable business before embarking therein. A little care now will save many a shipwreck before a twelve month or two years are over.

Visit of the Press Association.

Our Western exchanges received during the week contain lengthy accounts of the excursion of the Press Association, and many of them have a kind word to say of the reception received at Belleville, while some copy a full account of the entertainment given here. We regret the members of the Association did not reach our Town at a more seasonable hour, when they could have had an opportunity of taking a drive round Taylor's and Murney's hills, and seeing the beautiful and costly residences our merchant princes and business men have built, of visiting our College, our large Manufactories and Mills, and of beholding the magnificent scenery of our beautiful Bay. A few hours examination of the Town and vicinity, would have convinced them that no livelier, healthier, or prosperous locality could be found in the Province. The brick of gold exhibited by Mr. Shepard has been referred to in nearly every paper represented, the only regret expressed being that each individual member had not a similar specimen to take away as a souvenir of their visit. The Stratford Beacon says: "We were allowed, among others, 'to take the thing in hand' (would we could have kept it!) and it appeared to us to be of great richness and purity."

While referring to this matter we cordially endorse the following sentiments expressed by the Beacon, in reference to the courtesy and enterprise of the Globe:

"Mr. Wylie struck a note at the Press Association supper in Belleville, which met with a hearty response from all the newspaper men present, when he referred to the enterprise and courtesy of the Globe in giving such interesting and lengthy telegraphic reports of the proceedings of the Association from day to day. During the whole time there was an able representative of our great contemporary with the excursionists, and at Oswego there was present, in addition, one of the best of its excellent staff of shorthand writers. The Globe may be assured that those attentions are fully appreciated."

Excursion to the Sea Side.

It will be seen by referring to our advertising columns that a very favorable opportunity is offered by the St. George's Society of this town, for a trip to Portland or an extremely low figure. During the heated term a more desirable trip could not be taken, and to those who are unable to spare the time or means to cross the Atlantic, the next best thing that can be offered is the pleasure of a view of it, and a dip in its briny waves, and no better spot to indulge in these luxuries could be chosen than Portland—of itself a beautiful city, and since the great fire in 1866 a superior class of buildings have been erected on the burnt district that would do credit to a place of much greater pretentions. The hotel accommodation is extensive and reasonable in charges, and the many sea side resorts in its immediate vicinity renders it a most attractive place. The beautiful harbor, in which are over 300 islands, some of them commanding magnificent views of the ocean, the city, and on a fine day even the far off White Mountains of New Hampshire can be discerned from some of them, excellent fishing from off the rocks, good hotels and boarding houses, many beaches for bathing, hundreds of vessels, fishing smacks, yachts, &c., dotting the harbor in every direction with their white sails, ferry steamers plying continually from the island to the city, all combine to render the most varied and delightful attractions to the place. Deep sea fishing may also be engaged in, and the pleasure of sailing twenty or thirty miles out to sea, and hauling up Codfish and Haddock, and chasing Swordfish, Porpoises, and even Whales may be seen sometimes, adding additional attractions to the trip. For those who wish to visit Boston, the great city of nations, this excursion offers a rare chance. The fare, by steamer, from Portland to Boston is, we believe, only $1 50 American money, and no doubt many will take advantage of this opportunity to pay a visit to the "Hub," a place so replete with historic associations. Where can be heard or see Bunker Hill monument, Old South Church, Faneuil Hall, old State House, Washington Mansion, (now the residence of the Poet Longfellow,) the Printing Office where Benjamin Franklin worked, and other places of revolutionary and historic interest. In what other place can be found such places and things as the great organ, Boston common and public gardens, the Masonic temple, and many other institutions peculiar to that city. And in its environs may be found Mount Auburn Cemetery, Harvard University, Cambridge, Brighton, Charlestown, and other places of great interest. We also remind our readers of the opportunity to visit the White Mountains. The route to Portland by the Grand Trunk Railway passes directly through the White Mountain range, and the traveller stopping at Gorham station, some ninety miles this side of Portland, will find coaches to take him direct to Mount Washington, which is 6,243 feet above the level of the sea, and which with the diversified scenery in its vicinity, will repay him a thousand fold for the lover of nature in her grandeur, possesses great attractions. All those who can possibly find time to participate in this delightful trip to the sea side should do so.

Closing of Bridge Street.

MR. EDITOR,—May I ask a small space in your valuable paper to let the public know how their rights are being interfered with.

Sheriff Taylor has taken upon himself the responsibility of closing Bridge street between lots 11 and 12, on the South East side of Ann street, claiming it as his own private property, and that it was never intended for a street.

I find by searching in the Registry Office that lot 11 was sold by Wm. Johnston Taylor, brother of Sheriff Taylor, to one James T. Young. Young sold to Bogart; Bogart to Baker; and Baker to George Taylor; in each case the lot bounded in the same way.

Now, Sir, I think our Town Fathers should at once investigate this matter to its fullest extent, for I have been given to understand that another street or road should still be open, as shown on the original plan. Let not the same mistake be made again.

JOHN BRENTON.

Belleville, July 30th, 1869.

THE MACKEREL FISHERY.—The Charlottetown North Star of the 20th says:—"Since our last issue the catch of Mackeral has been quite good about the Island. The fish vary considerably in size. Some are quite small. At Big Rustic some boats took as high as 1200. From 100 to 300 to a man has been as high a catch as has yet been obtained so far as we have been able to learn. One boat took 300 of the light at Georgetown harbour one day last week."

LEMONS.—Hall's Journal of Health says: "When persons are feverish and thirsty beyond what is natural, indicated in some cases by a metallic taste in the mouth, especially after drinking water, or by a whitish appearance of the tongue, one of the best 'coolers' internal or external, is to take a lemon, cut off the top, sprinkle over it some fine loaf sugar, work it down into the lemon with a spoon, and then suck it slowly, squeezing the lemon and adding more sugar as the acidity increases from being brought up from the lower point. Invalids from feverishness may take two or three lemons a day in this manner, with a most marked benefit, manifested by a sense of coolness, comfort and invigoration."

DR. LIVINGSTONE.—H. A. Churchill, Esq., C. B., Her Majesty's Consul and Political Agent at Zanzibar, has just arrived in England, on medical certificate. We are happy to hear that Mr. Churchill speaks with confidence as to the safety of Dr. Livingstone, from whom he has had letters of a date more recent than that of his reported murder. It is Mr. Churchill's opinion that Dr. Livingstone, having heard of the discovery of the northern portion of Lake Albert Nyanza by Sir. S. Baker, has directed his route in search of the southern boundary of that Lake; and that in the course of a few months it is probable that further news will be be heard from Dr Livingstone himself.—Medical Times and Gazette.

Business Notice.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

THE FRENCH CABLE.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The following correspondence has just been made public:—

Washington, July 16, 1869.

SIR.—I have the honor to address you on behalf of the "Societe du Cable Transatlantique Francais," whose interests I represent in the United States. Having been informed in the first instance by Mr. Thornton, H. B. Majesty's Minister, and afterwards by the Count de Faveloney, the French Charge d'Affaires, of the views of the United States Government as to its authority and duty regarding the proposed undertaking, I have lost no time in coming to Washington to confer with you upon this subject; and as the result of the interview which I had the honor of having with you this p. m. in company with Count de Faveloney, I beg to assure you that the French Cable Company agree to accept the basis upon which their operations are to be conducted, as the provisions of the Bill, of which a copy was enclosed in your letter to Count de Faveloney, or of such other enactment as may be passed during the approaching session of Congress with a view to regulating the operation of telegraph cable companies connecting the United States with foreign countries. The Societe du Cable Transatlantique Francais will do their utmost to induce the Government of His Majesty the Emperor of the French so far to modify their concession, under which the Company have been established, as to permit the landing upon French soil of any cable belonging to any company incorporated by authority of the United States, or of any State in the Union, and they further agree, on their own part, not to oppose the entering upon their soil of any such cable belonging to any company incorporated by authority of the United States, or any State in the Union.

I have the honor, &c., &c.,

(Signed) L. G WATSON

To Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State.

The Assistant Secretary of State replied in effect as follows:—"In reply, I have to say, in accordance with the verbal assurances already giving you by the Secretary of State, that, having received such representations and assurances from you, no opposition will be made on the part of the Government of the United States to the landing and working of the Cable before the meeting of Congress in the approaching session."

THE ROW ON A MISSISSIPPI STEAMBOAT.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Further particulars of the riot on the steamer Dubuque, on the Mississippi are given. The raftsmen ordered the boat up the river, and the captain being powerless to act by his own will headed the steamer up stream, telegraphing to the Sheriff at Rock Island. The Sheriff chartered an extra train, and collected a force of well armed men. The boat was overtaken at Clinton, and possession taken by the Sheriff on its arrival at Rock Island and captured. The raftsmen have been taken to gaol, and no further trouble is anticipated.—Rock Island is full of raftsmen, who came ashore; but an extra force of police have been stationed throughout the city, and it is thought all will be quiet for the night.

Stock Market.

The Montreal 'Gazette' of yesterday quotes Stocks as follows:—

The demand for all securities for investment has continued active, throughout the week, and the transactions have been to a very large amount, especially in Government and Montreal City Bonds.

BANK OF MONTREAL—Is very firm at 161½ to 162, with very little stock in market.

BANK OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA—104½ would be paid, but there are no sellers at this price.

CITY BANK—Has advanced to 100; closing very firm at that price.

MOLSON'S BANK—In consequence of large amounts offering, this stock is rather heavy at 109 to 109½.

MERCHANTS' BANK—The transactions in this stock were to a very limited extent at 104, 104½, and 104¾, closing rather weak under prices.

MECHANICS' BANK—Remains without change at 92½ to 94.

BANQUE DU PEUPLE—Has been much enquired for, but there is none in market; 100½ would be paid for large amounts.

BANQUE JACQUES CARTIER—None in market; 100 to 103½ would be paid.

QUEBEC BANK—There are buyers at 100½ and sellers at 101. No transactions reported.

BANK NATIONAL—Remains without change.

UNION BANK—Closes very firm, with buyers at 109, and sellers at 110½.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS BANK—Buyers offer 99, but there is no stock in market.

BANK OF TORONTO—There has been an active enquiry for this stock, with sales at 122, 122½ and 122¾; closing firm.

GORE BANK—There were RUMOURS transactions at 50, 49, 49½ and 49, at which prices there are buyers.

ROYAL CANADIAN BANK—Is in demand at 47½ to 50; holders asking 52½ to 55.

CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE—Has been dealt in at 102 to 102½, but a higher price would now be paid.

MONTREAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY—There are buyers at 131½, but no sellers under 133. The latest transactions were at 132.

CANADIAN NAVIGATION COMPANY—Buyers continue to offer 99, and sellers to ask 101.

RICHELIEU NAVIGATION COMPANY—There are buyers and sellers at 120 and 125 respectively.

CANADA DREDGING—There is large demand for both five and sixes at outside rates. Dominion stock is freely offered at 107½, with buyers to a considerable extent at 107.

MORTGAGES—Have been negotiated to pay seven per cent., and are still in demand at that rate.

MONEY—Is very abundant, and is procurable in large amounts at 5 to 6 per cent.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron in the blood is well known to all medical men; when it becomes reduced from any cause whatever, the whole system suffers, the weakest part being first attacked, and a feeling of languor, lassitude, and general debility ensues as a consequence. Stimulants only afford temporary relief, and have the same effect as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

a protected solution of the protoxide of Iron, which is so prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor, and new life to the whole system.

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

An eminent divine says of "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, and elasticity of mind."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass.

Canadian Dominion Directory FOR 1870-71.

THE SUBSCRIBER proposes to issue in SEPTEMBER, 1870, if sufficient support is RECEIVED, a DIRECTORY and ADVERTISEMENTS can be obtained to cover the cost of Publication, a CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY, comprising the Provinces of ONTARIO, QUEBEC, NOVA SCOTIA and NEW BRUNSWICK; to which will be appended the Provinces of NEWFOUNDLAND and PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND. The Directory will contain the names of Professional and Merchant Men, and of the principal Inhabitants in the Cities, Towns and Villages, together with a large amount of general information, including Alphabetical Directories of Post Offices and Postmasters, Banks, Governmental Departments and Employees, Houses of Parliament, Law Courts, Educational Departments, Custom Houses and Officers of Customs, Post Offices, Tariffs of Customs, List of Patents of Inventions, Canals, Railways, Railway and Steamboat Routes, Benevolent and Religious Societies, Clergy of all Denominations, Registrars with their Divisions, Newspapers and Periodicals, &c., &c., and Settlements of Immigrants and Exports, Revenue, Expenditures, Trade, Population, &c., &c.

To be corrected to August, 1870.

The Canada Directory for 1857-58, published by the subscriber, contained the names of the principal Inhabitants in 1, 99 Cities, Towns and Villages in Upper and Lower Canada. The MARITIME PROVINCIAL DIRECTORY for 1970-71 will contain a short description of at least 3,500 Cities, Towns and Villages in the Provinces of Nova Scotia, the Provinces of Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, together with the Names of the Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

Dominion of Canada Subscribers $12 Cy. per copy
United States $15 Cy. "
Great Britain and Ireland do £3 Stg. "
France, Germany, &c. do £3 Stg. "

RATES OF ADVERTISING will be made known on application to the Publisher.

No money to be paid until the Work is delivered.

This notice is given for the reason that unprincipled men are in this section canvassing canvassing for, and collecting moneys in advance on account of Books which they falsely represented that I was about to publish.

Persons desirous of aiding in the Publication of the CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will please send in their Orders for SUBSCRIPTIONS and ADVERTISEMENTS to re Montreal Tea Company: MONTREAL, 1868.

A YEAR'S TRIAL

GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap.

Yours very truly,
F. GENNIE.

Montreal Tea Co:

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from heartburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer.

Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS T. GRENE.
64 St. John Street,
Montreal.

Montreal, April, 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal: We notice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded, we have only had occasion to return one box which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.

PLANTAGENET MINERAL WATER,

CONTINUES to be the favourite with the people, in consequence of the quantity of Iodine, Iron, Magnesia, &c., it contains, as compared with other Springs, and its superior medicinal combination so providentially supplied. It is unsurpassed as a

Tonic, Alterative, Laxative and Diuretic.

As a beverage it is at once cooling and healthy. When aerated it takes the place of Soda Water and Seltzer. It is of much service to ladies, and should be used by gentlemen of sedentary habits.

To obtain the genuine article from the Springs, now 80 years in use, ask for PLANTAGENET WATER, at Hotels and Druggists.

For sale by Charters & Webster, L. W. Yeomans & Co., J. H. Hambly, Apothecaries Hall, J. C. Holden & Co., and at the Dafoe House, Belleville.

Rules for the Watering Places.

Rule 1. In selecting a watering place, choose if possible, some place at the seaside or inland. Either will be found in most cases about equally preferable, and all other places should be carefully avoided.

Rule 2. Having settled upon the proper spot, the next thing is to get to it.

Rule 3. For this purpose, if the place so chosen should be at all remote, it will be found advisable to go to it either by railway or steamboat. Travelling on foot is less expensive, but it takes time, and the velocipede is not yet very well adapted to the transportation of baggage.

Rule 4. In the matter of baggage be liberal. Babies are less essential. Take as many trunks, valises, satchels, hat and bandboxes, parcels, umbrellas, greatcoats, shawls, etc., as possible, or as your wife's scruples will allow. On the journey, looking after them furnishes an agreeable occupation to the mind, which in case of loss, is intensified into a positively exhilarating amusement, and landlords of watering places are proverbially eager to provide their guests with ample accommodation for luggage. Beside, the more trunks you have in your apartments the less room there will be for mosquitoes, bugs, and gnats—which are likely to dispute your tenancy. With this rule, make it a point to prefer the Grand Trunk lines.

Rule 5. In travelling always pay for your tickets in advance. In the long run this plan will be found most advantageous. When bought put them away carefully, and forget where you have put them. This is apt to induce pleasant and familiar relations with the conductor or ticket collector, with whom it is important to be on friendly footing.—Don't get on or off the boat while in motion, or on the cars when going at the rate of sixty miles an hour. Should you miss the train or boat, wait for the next. In going from one car to another while in motion, don't go. If a pretty girl kisses you in going through a tunnel, don't make an outcry—it is impolite. Be courteous to all; do everything that anybody wishes you to do, unless you prefer to do differently; and, above all, cultivate a serene and equable temper. If treated with rudeness or insolence by any employee of the boat or railway, do not resent it, but carefully convince the offender that he is wrong by citing the appropriate legal authorities.

Rule 6. On arriving at your destination, leave the car or boat, and, if possible, secure the removal of your trunks and family also. If either must be left, let it be the latter.—They will be less liable to depredation, and if unprovided with tickets, will probably be put off at the next station, whence they can walk back.

Rule 7. Always go to the biggest hotel. They are quieter, less expensive, and the civility of their employees is notorious. Take small rooms, if possible, on the top floor; this insures good air and plenty of exercise.

Rule 8. As soon after arrival as possible, obtain an introduction to the correspondent of the Daily Gossip or the Weekly Tattler, and present him with a complete inventory of the number and value of your dresses and jewels, if you are a lady; if a gentleman, of your horses and wagons; in either case, with a brief sketch of your antecedents and personal habits, the details of your recent amours and a synopsis of your best physical points. Promptness and accuracy in this respect will save trouble on the one hand, and, on the other, the mortification of seeing one's self misrepresented in print.

Rule 9. As at most of the watering places, dress is much worn, every lady should be provided with a certain number of costumes—to the number, say, of at least two. For evening dress, white linen, loose wrapper, with ruffled collar and sleeves, and bonnet de nuit is greatly admired. One ought to have one's toilet articles also. Those provided by the hotel are subject to disadvantages.

Rule 10. The best time to drink the water is before breakfast or after breakfast, also before or after dinner, at rising or retiring; before or after walking or riding; or taking other exercise, and at other times. Many people at mineral springs injure themselves by injudicious drinking. As a rule, it is safe to say that from one hundred and fifty to two hundred glasses a day is an allowance which few ought to overstep.

Rule 11. A small quantity of spirits just after or before drinking is by many deemed agreeable and salutary.

Rule 12. The same general principles apply to sea bathing also.

Rule 13. Reading will be found a pleasant way of passing the time at a watering place. Therefore, before going, one should learn to read, and procure a stock of light and entertaining literature. "The Book of Martyrs," "Crabb's Synonyms," "The Diversions of Purley," "Shepard's Touchstone" and the "Tribune Almanac" are suggested. For engaged couples, "Drake on Attachment" is suitable reading.

Rule 14. If you find any difficulty in passing the time by the means we have recommended, do something else.

Rule 15. Do whatever you like.

Rule 16. Generally speaking, do at a watering place just what you would do under similar circumstances at home.

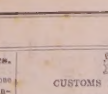

Rule 17. Stay at home.

A hog, says the Rural World, does not sweat like a horse or a man, but through the forelegs. There is a spot on each, just below the knee, in the form of a selve.—Through this, the sweat passes off, and it is necessary that these be kept open. If it gets closed, as is sometimes the case, the hog will get sick, he will appear stiff and cramped, and, unless he gets relief, it will go hard with him. To cure him, just open the pores. This is done by rubbing the spot with a corn cob, and washing with warm water.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys is derived from its cures. Many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections of the disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they became chronic, have been radically cured. Its great numbers in almost every section, prove, not the public scarcely need to be told of its virtues or uses.

Every year adds to the list of its most destructive enemies in our race. Often, the unseen and subtle tenant of the system undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again it lies in wait in the midst of the blessings of health, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tuberous growths, of a deadly character, in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence in eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers about or on some part of the body. Hence the occasional necessity of using the Sarsaparilla to rid ourselves, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Purified blood will rid the system of the painful, generally fatal, consequences of many a dangerous disease. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While added to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and for the various affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, it should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral, as compiled in its mature state from the discovery of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral. The slight cough that hangs on after other complaints have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral, is complete in its mastery over the disorders
